Dispute Raging Over Viet Peace Maneuvers

Question Raised If Hanoi Ever Issued Feeler

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration found itself caught up today in a stormy dispute over its publication of correspondence reporting and probing a conditional peace offer from Communist North Viet Nam.

The storm overshadowed the central question whether Hanoi had in fact made an authentic approach for a settlement on its own terms and might yet respond to a U.S. request for clarification of conditions in it.

President Johnson could try to revive the roundabout peace exchange with President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam by sending some kind of new message in Ho's direction, but administration officials said today that there had been no decision on any new U.S. action. The secrecy covers were torn from the incident last Friday afternoon after the St. Louis Post-Dispatch reported that a new peace offer from Hanoi had been rejected by the United States.

Dr. Giorgio La Pira, former mayor of Florence and a left-wing Christian-Democrat, one of the principal intermediaries in the affair, virtually accused Secretary of State Dean Rusk of sabotaging what La Pira took to be a hopeful exchange on peace.

"Rusk is to blame," La Pira was quoted in press dispatches from Florence, "because he obviously wanted this mission to fail by disclosing in advance what had been done."

State Department officials, calling the charge outrageous, said the publication was forced by concern for what they contended was a partially erroneous account which had already become public. Rusk was reported angered and upset by the criticism.

Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and another who played the role of go-between, said Sunday on ABC's "Issues and Answers" the administration would have "preferred to carry on this discussion in privacy" but was faced with a "crisis of confidence" with the public over the credibility of its peace policy. Goldberg argued the administration acted correctly in releasing the correspondence.

Goldberg said he did not think disclosure of the exchange over peace negotiations would hurt any chances that now exist for such talks.

"I think we would continue to hope that this matter will be transferred from the battlefield to the conference table. So I do not feel discouraged," he said.

"If there is a genuine desire on both sides to negotiate, that desire will surmount whatever the difficulties are of disclosure."

But Dr. Benjamin Spock and H. Stuart Hughes, cochairmen of the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, attacked the administration on the ground that it was "avoiding negotiations (by publication of the correspondence) in order to keep the National Liberation Front (the political arm of the Communist guerrilla forces in South Viet Nam) out of any future government in Saigon."

North Viet Nam itself denounced the whole thing Saturday as a hoax and in effect denied that a peace probe had been made.

The Communist Chinese chimed in Sunday, calling the report of peace feelers a "U.S.-made hoax" which "fools nobody."

U.S. officials here were impressed by the degree of confirmation in the Hanoi broadcast, however, of the main mechanical fact of the reported peace offer — the meeting Nov. 11 between La Pira and Italian Professor Mario Primicerio, with Ho and Premier Pham Van Dong.

The North Vietnamese announcement differed in its emphasis from the account which La Pira passed on to Italian Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani, the U.N. General Assembly president, and which Fian-

$300,000 Fire In School at Prairie du Sac

PRAIRIE DU SAC, Wis. — A raging fire swept through the three-story Sauk Prairie Junior High School Sunday night with damage estimated at $300,000.

The 50-year-old brick building was called a total loss by authorities, but firemen succeeded in keeping the flames from leaping to adjacent school facilities and nearby homes.

The 700 pupils at the junior high school and adjoining elementary school will not return until after Christmas. They had not been scheduled to begin their holiday vacation until Tuesday afternoon.

Gerald Eyer, superintendent of the Sauk Prairie school system, made the damage estimate and said the fire apparently originated on the first floor. He blamed either defective wiring or spontaneous combustion. The wooden interior of the building, built in 1915, was consumed "like a matchbox," said one official.

There were no injuries reported.

Firemen were summoned from Prairie du Sac, Sauk City and Baraboo. They battled for three hours to bring the flames under control and keep sparks from igniting nearby rooftops.

A brisk wind carried the sparks as far as three blocks, authorities said.

Prairie du Sac is located on the Wisconsin River about 20 miles northwest of Madison.

Warrant Issued In Trap Dispute

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — A warrant charging aggravated assault was issued today against a rural Cloquet man in the shotgun wounding of a youth during a trapline dispute.

The charge was filed by the St. Louis County attorney's office against Alvin Wuorinen, 32, of rural Cloquet. Wuorinen is accused of wounding Robert Pachter Jr. of Sawyer, Minn. last Friday. Zacher, who suffered leg wounds, was released today from a Cloquet hospital.

Zacher and his father told deputies they had obtained permission from the owner of property at Side Lake, near Brookston, to set a muskrat trapline. They said the shooting occurred after Wuorinen ordered them off the lake and they refused to leave.

Laird Sees 'Fight Now, Pay Later'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., chairman of the House Republican Conference, predicted Saturday the cost of the Viet Nam war will be $8.8 billion more than what has been budgeted for the current fiscal year.

"The idea seems to be fight now and pay later," said Laird.

Gen. De Gaulle at 75 Wins 7-Year Term

PARIS (AP) — France settled back for more years of Gaullism today following President Charles de Gaulle's re-election to another seven-year term.

Although De Gaulle's failure to win on the first ballot two weeks ago gave clear notice that his popularity had slipped, almost no one expected the autocratic old man to alter his policy goals. He may soften his methods, however.

In the run-off election Sunday, complete returns from European France and all overseas territories except Guiana and Polynesia gave the 75-year-old president 13,063,134, or 55.18 per cent. Leftist Francois Mitterrand got 10,609,744.

About 84 per cent of the registered voters balloted, a near record turnout.

Mitterrand termed De Gaulle's victory "mediocre" and said he would turn his attention to the National Assembly elections in November 1967. "All my efforts," he said, "will be to make the legislative elections the decisive engagement which will save the republic from the adventure into which a discounted Gaullism is going to plunge it."

De Gaulle, who begins his new term Jan. 8, issued no victory statement from the seclusion of his estate in eastern France. His supporters were overjoyed that he had pulled out a comfortable margin after his humilating first-round setback, in which he won only 43.9 per cent of the vote.

On the international scene, De Gaulle faces two items of unfinished business.

One is the negotiations in the six-nation European Common Market, which De Gaulle brought to an abrupt halt last June to block attempts to give the economic community's executive more power.

De Gaulle opposes any move toward supranationality by the Common Market administration. The five other members scheduled a meeting in Brussels today to discuss the impasse. They hoped for some word from De Gaulle that he is ready to talk again.

The second major international item on De Gaulle's agenda is reform of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. De Gaulle has called for an end to military integration in the 15-nation alliance and has warned that if a basic change is not made, France will bow out by 1969. Concrete proposals by De Gaulle for changes in NATO are expected early in 1966.

State Highway Deaths Pass 1964 Figure

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Four persons died in Minnesota highway accidents Sunday, pushing the 1965 death toll one over the count for a year ago today.

This year's toll now is 808, compared with 807 one year ago. In 1964, the count wound up with a record 844 persons dead.

Killed Sunday night when her car slammed into a freight train in the northern Minneapolis suburb of Brooklyn Park was Annabelle Hill, 47, of Crystal. She was alone in her car, and died at the scene near 63rd St. and Highway 52.

Two other persons died in Minneapolis Sunday evening.

Rose Aronovitch, 61, of Minneapolis died when struck by a car as she ran to catch a bus in north Minneapolis. The driver of the auto was identified as George Casey, 39, Golden Valley who told police he didn't see the woman until he hit her.

Glenn R. Erickson, 25, Minneapolis, died when his car crashed into a bridge abutment in north Minneapolis. The Hennepin County medical examiner's office scheduled a post mortem today on Erickson.

Clyde Wishkop, 43, Grand Marais, died near there early Sunday when his car apparently hit an icy spot, skidded over a 20-foot embankment and into a ravine. The accident was on Highway 61 about 3½ miles east of Grand Marais.

In addition, four teenagers died in crashes Saturday. They were John Lopac, 18, Minneapolis; Donald J. Crow, 19, Farmington; Myron Anderson, 17, rural Webster; and Richard Topp, 15, Farmington.

A Minneapolis couple, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Franklin Pickard, about 60, died in a two-car crash near Bucklin, Kan., Saturday. Driver of the other was Eino Nikula, 47, also of Minneapolis. Nikula and his wife both were injured.

Man's Dependence Upon Plants

WHILE man is an independent creature in many ways, possessing reason, intellect and will power, he is, nevertheless, subservient to certain environmental conditions which, if unfavorable, may limit his very existence.

The extent to which trees and other plants purify and cool the air we breathe generally is not given the consideration that it merits. Man and other animals take oxygen from the air and exhale carbon dioxide. The plants, on the other hand, absorb the carbon dioxide from the air and convert it into oxygen which is then given off into the atmosphere. One plant physiologist has estimated that 1,500 square inches of leaf surface can withdraw all of the carbon dioxide from 350 cubic feet of air in one hour's time.

Carbon is an important element in the composition of plant foods and, also, in the walls of the cells. It comprises approximately one-half of the dry weight of all plants. All of this carbon is derived solely from the carbon dioxide in the air, of which it forms only a small part.

Plants are composed of cells of various kinds that perform different work. The cell walls make up the body of the plant and give it stability. Each cell in turn contains a substance known as protoplasm which contains various bodies. There is a free intermingling of the protoplasm in the various cells through delicate pores in the cell walls. Thus, the living substance of the whole plant body forms one united mass.

THE PROTOPLASM has the properties of absorbing various gases and fluids, reducing them to simple elements, reuniting them into foods and casting out those substances that are not required. Therefore, the living tissues of plants are composed of various chemical elements that undergo great changes and are strongly influenced by light, heat, cold, gravitation and moisture.

The sun, of course, gives great quantities of energy to the earth in the form of light and heat. The chlorophyll, which is the green coloring matter of most plants, is entirely dependent upon light. A portion of this light is taken up by the chlorophyll bearing tissues of the plant in the formation of starches, sugars and other carbohydrates. This process is known as photosynthesis, is very complicated, and not yet fully understood by plant physiologists.

Photosynthesis is of great importance to our welfare in many ways. Owing to the volumes of carbon dioxide that are given off by industrial plants, fires and animals, so much of this gas would fill the atmosphere that all animal life would cease to exist were it not for the fact that so much of it is taken up by plants. Therefore, plant life in general does for us what we cannot do for ourselves.

THE LEAVES of plants absorb and store up the energy of the sunlight. Also, they have the function of transpiration which is the giving off of water. This is accomplished through the pores on the underside of each leaf. When there is ample moisture the leaves are turgid and stiff, but when the moisture is low the leaves droop and wilt. In order to conserve the moisture in hot, dry weather, the openings of these small pores close tightly.

Man and other animals eat in order to obtain the nourishment and energy that is locked up in foods. In breathing, the oxygen breaks up the food compounds and frees the energy that gives the power to move and work as well as providing heat for the body. The plant lives in the same way. It differs from the animal only in having the added power to build up the complex food compounds from crude materials. This, the animal cannot do.

Lake Tomahawk Couple Dead In Suicide Pact

LAKE TOMAHAWK, Wis. — A middle-aged couple was found shot to death Sunday night in what authorities called a suicide pact.

The bodies of Elmer F. Kroening, 48, and his wife, Marie, 49, of Rothschild, near Wausau, were found in separate bedrooms of their mobile home in a trailer court near Tomahawk Lake just outside of this Oneida County village.

Sheriff Alfred E. Sommers said a 30-06 rifle was found near Kroening's knees. He said a 12-gauge shotgun lay partially beneath Mrs. Kroening's body.

Both victims were shot in the head.

Coroner John E. Hyde described the deaths as the result of a "suicide pact."

Minnesotan National Teacher Finalist

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert F. Arnold, Richfield, Minn., has been chosen one of the five finalists in the National Teacher of the Year contest.

Arnold is a sixth grade teacher at Lincoln Hills School and was chosen earlier as Minnesota's Teacher of the Year. He is a native of Hawley, Minn.

Today we're going to muse on some meaningful observations surrounding stop signs. That's right, stop signs, which, by the way, can be a matter of life or death.

At the scene of an accident, people are quick to point out the error of the driver who ran the stop sign. Somehow, running a stop sign carries with it, the accusation of neglect, the lack of responsibility, or that you're a daydreamer of the worst sort. Yet, I question if any of us who drive and have spent much time behind the wheel, are without blame.

Most of us, at one time or another, have run a sign. My dad managed this violation in the presence of the local Chief of Police. Seems Dad stopped to give this city official a ride. They both became so engrossed in their conversation that before they knew it, my father had slipped through the sign, officer and all.

I RECALL that once while in the Twin Cities in Minnesota, I came to a corner known as 7-Corner. I became a bit confused as to which of about three signs I was to obey. Finally choosing one, I drove reluctantly on through. Shortly thereafter, a police car stopped me for running a sign. I explained how I was confused, as to which of a number of signs I was to follow, during which the officer looked at me as if I were from outer space and insisted that there was only one sign in the first place, and that I ought to wake up if I intended to do any more driving. After considerable discussion, it was discovered that I was talking about one set of signs and the officer about another, and that chances were now good that I had run not one, but two signs. You know, he didn't even give me a ticket. I guess he was happy just to get out of the discussion.

MOST OF US drive so much we seem to be operating our machines through the subconscious, which is equivalent to saying we are driving in a state of mind a bit removed from putting first things first. For example, one will drive up to a fixed metal sign with the word STOP spelled across it in large letters, while a block away an electric sign is controlling the flow of traffic. And then one sits there as if waiting for this permanent non-electric sign to turn to GO. After a horn peeps to bring you back to reality, you realize what it is you're doing, or either, not doing. The reason I think for such a stunt is that far too many of us become pre-occupied and start driving by impulse. We move with the traffic. If the car ahead begins to move, we assume we should go. When you're the first car to the corner and there is no car ahead of you, one just sits — not thinking.

STOP SIGNS are pretty important things and serve well as a symbol of life if obeyed; a symbol of death, if ignored. Whenever we see one, we would do well to check our driving manner to make sure we are driving by intent, not impulse, as this can prove to be "Something to Live By."

And now a last minute thought-provoker is that you can carve your own tombstone by chiseling in traffic.

Ridgeway Area Schools Sold

RIDGEWAY, Minn. — Ridgeway Consolidated school board Saturday sold the five rural schools that had been used until the new building was ready and occupied late in November.

Gordon Nagle purchased the Whitlock School adjacent to his farm. Bush School, plus the acre of land on which it stood, went to Hector Olson, Homer, for $1,100.

Alfred Mueller bid in the Ridgeway School for Grace Lutheran Church here. It is adjacent to the school grounds. Cooper School was sold to Duane Zenke, Nodine, and the 2-room Boynton School went to Arthur Aldinger, who lives about a mile from the building.

The school bells went for more than $100 each, according to Robert McNally, rural Houston, district clerk. McNally said the board would meet soon to tally the receipts from the sale, because the contents of the schools also were sold. Freddie Frickson, Dakota livestock dealer, was the auctioneer.

Santa Claus to Perform Wedding

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — A department store Santa Claus will perform a wedding Tuesday in a store elevator.

Santa is the Rev. Jack Perkins, a moonlighting minister who won't have time to remove his costume before officiating at the marriage.

The couple to be wed are Robert McClure, 39, of nearby San Bernardino, an elevator serviceman, and Lea Bonham, 27, of Riverside.

They met two years ago when Miss Bonham was an elevator operator and McClure was making his inspection rounds. She has since been transferred to the housewares department.

Best man will be Pat Harrison, the store's maintenance engineer.

Mondale to Tour India And Viet Nam

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., will leave next week on a 12-day tour of India and Viet Nam for the announced purpose of seeing how American food surpluses are being used to alleviate hunger.

Mondale said Sunday he will leave Dec. 29 and go first to India. The trip, he said, is under the auspices of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Before departing for India, Mondale said, he will go to Washington to talk with Chidambaram Subramaniam, India's minister of food and agriculture. Mondale then will be in India Dec. 31-Jan. 4 and Viet Nam Jan. 5-8. He also will receive military briefings from U.S. officials in Viet Nam.

City Judge Hears Four Guilty Pleas

Judge John D. McGill heard four guilty pleas and scheduled a hearing on a motion for summary judgment in a traffic case in action today in municipal court.

Darrell R. Horner, 48, 4230 7th St., pleaded guilty to charges of speeding, failure to yield the right of way to an emergency vehicle and refusing to display his driver's license to a patrolman Saturday at 11:33 p.m.

A total of $75 in fines imposed by the judge was satisfied from posted bail. The alternative to the fines was 24 days in jail.

Horner was clocked at 50 m.p.h. in a 30 zone on 5th Street from Junction to Pelzer streets, refused to yield the right of way to an emergency vehicle at West 5th and Pelzer streets and refused to show his driver's license to patrolmen at his home.

WILLIAM R. Storlie, 129 W. 3rd St., pleaded guilty to charges of careless driving and driving after revocation of his driver's license Dec. 5 on CSA 32 in Goodview. He was arrested by a sheriff's deputy.

Storlie began serving a 22-day sentence in county jail when he could not pay the total of $65 in fines imposed by Judge McGill.

Melvin Iverson, 63, 414 E. Sanborn St., won a suspended sentence after he pleaded guilty to a charge of assaulting his wife Saturday at 5:55 p.m. at their home. Judge McGill suspended Iverson's $35 fine or 12-day jail term but warned that Iverson's sentence would be doubled if he is charged with the same offense within six months.

John F. Sommers, 50, 422 Dakota St., pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving on a Dec. 20 on 5th Street to his home Sunday at 9:20 p.m. He made arrangements to pay his $30 fine as the alternative to 10 days in jail.

CITY Prosecutor James W. Soderberg moved for a summary judgment against Arthur D. Huebner who was scheduled to stand trial on a careless driving charge Thursday at 9:30 a.m. Judge McGill scheduled a hearing for arguments on the motion Dec. 28 at 10 a.m.

Attorney Martin A. Beatty represents Huebner, 18, 479 W. Mark St., who was arrested and charged Dec. 2. He was to be tried Thursday by a jury of 12, but the trial was postponed until Judge McGill rules on the motion.

Former Staffer In Peace Corps

Charles N. Wheeler, St. Mary's College graduate who was on the staff of the Daily and Sunday News in the summer of 1964, has been named a Peace Corps volunteer.

The Joliet, Ill., youth, has completed 15 weeks of training at the Peace Corps camp in Puerto Rico. Wheeler will leave for Panama Dec. 28. He and others will work in community development programs in the major cities of Panama City, Colon, David and Santiago, replacing volunteers who have completed their two years of service.

Approximately 160 volunteers are in Panama.

Durand Firemen To Farms Twice

DURAND, Wis. (Special) — Durand firemen were out twice Sunday.

Joining Durand volunteers at the Arnold Hume farm five miles north of Plum City were the Elmwood and Plum City fire departments, where a hoghouse, 1,000 bales of straw and a plow were destroyed. The 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hume discovered the fire at 3:15 a.m. As the family moved to the farm recently, they had no hogs. Firemen fought the blaze until 5:30.

The Durand department was called at 11:55 a.m. to the Thien Tappe home 2½ miles east of Durand on Highway 85 where fire of undetermined origin started on the back porch and in the kitchen. Some of the porch was destroyed and there was damage in the kitchen and smoke damage throughout the house. Mrs. Tappe discovered the fire.

Requests covered a wide range of gifts, Jaycees said. One child wanted "a mink coat for my mother." A little girl reeled off a long list of requests, and, as an afterthought, shrieked: "I cleaned up the living room today, too."

Second Driver In Fatality Gives Version

The driver of the second car involved in a fatal accident Friday afternoon on U.S. 61-14 about a mile east of Winona gave his account of the mishap today.

A. F. Shira, Homer Road, said that he drove up to the highway on the entrance road to the Black Horse Tavern and stopped while two eastbound cars went past. He intended to drive west on the highway to Winona, Shira said.

THE RURAL Winona man continued, "I looked both ways and saw a car approaching from the west, quite a distance beyond the bridge." Seeing no reason why he couldn't make his turn onto the highway, Shira started out.

He was in the lane nearest the median ditch of the highway, Shira recalled, when "the car just zoomed up in front of me." He remembers wondering why the other car hadn't gone behind him, where there was room to pass, Shira said, before the cars impacted and he blacked out.

Shira said that he suffered a shoulder separation in the mishap and was "sore all over" on Sunday. The first thing he remembered after the accident was standing on the pavement beside his car. He had already given a highway patrolman his driver's license, but he doesn't remember doing it, Shira said.

RICHARD Kelleher, 20, Elmhurst, Ill., was killed instantly in the mishap. He was riding beside the right-rear door of a car containing five St. Mary's College students driving home for Christmas.

Two of the students received minor injuries in the accident and went home by train this weekend. Two others were reported "doing very well" by an official at the Community Memorial Hospital.

It was not known today, however, whether John Hendele, 20, Joliet, Ill., and Joseph Kerns, 19, Riverdale, Ill., would be released from the hospital here in time to join their families for Christmas. Kerns suffered pelvic and rib breaks, and Hendele had multiple face cuts.

Social Security Office Open 2 Nights This Week

The social security office will remain open until 8:30 p.m. today and Thursday.

V. E. Bertel, district manager, said the purpose in evening hours on these two days is to give the people who work during the day an opportunity to come in and enroll for Medicare.

Bertel said all persons who will be age 65 on or before Jan. 1, 1966, must enroll by March 31, 1966, if they want full protection under the hospital and medical insurance programs. He urged people in this age group to take advantage of these special hours. People with questions about social security other than Medicare also are invited to visit the office on these two evenings.

Bertel said that the office will be closed all day Friday, Dec. 24, and Dec. 31.

The social security office is at 356 E. Sarnia St. Regular office hours are from 8:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Downtown Plan To Be Offered Tuesday Night

The final draft of a comprehensive downtown neighborhood renewal plan will be presented Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. to the Housing and Redevelopment Authority of Winona.

Authority board members, city officials and other interested persons will hear the report by William Chapman at the community room, Arthur C. Thurley Homes. Chapman represents the planning firm of Nason, Law, Wehrman & Knight Inc., Minneapolis.

The plan, financed by a federal grant of $77,600, will provide the basis for any urban renewal which the city may eventually decide to put in motion.

The plan will deal with present and recommended land uses, rehabilitation standards and a possible sequence of renewal projects.

Damage Slight In Collision on Mankato Avenue

About $50 damage to each car resulted from a two-car collision at East Broadway and Mankato Avenue Saturday, police reported.

The fender-bender mishap Saturday at 4:43 p.m. was the last traffic accident reported by Winona police through today at noon. Winona drivers apparently came prepared for Sunday night and Monday morning snow on the streets.

CITY ACCIDENT BOXSCORE

	To Date—	1965	1964
Deaths	6	1
Accidents	446	470
Injuries	183	182
Property Damage	$182,907	$103,466

Casimir J. Kowalewski, 1063 E. Broadway, was driving east on Broadway, and David W. Napoleon, 22, San Antonio, Tex., was driving south on Mankato Avenue when the two collided. Access to Mankato Avenue at Broadway is controlled by stop signs.

Cigaret Blamed For Home Fire

Coals from a cigarette were blamed for a blaze which roused Leo Hazelton, Sugar Loaf, from his sleep today about 3 a.m.

Hazelton woke up to find the davenport in his upstairs apartment in flames. Alertly realizing that the flames could touch off a Christmas tree in the same room, Hazelton wrestled the couch part way out of the living room while firemen rushed to the scene, according to Fire Marshal Cleo Keiper.

The blaze was put out with one 1½-inch hose line in a dense smoke which forced firemen to don gas masks as they worked. Keiper said that flame damage was confined to the davenport and to the woodwork of the doorway to the kitchen where Hazelton had pulled the burning couch. Smoke damage was heavy, but confined mainly to the second floor of the house owned by Mrs. Glenn Wood, Keiper said.

Hazelton lives alone in the upstairs apartment. He told firemen that he had been smoking on the couch earlier that night.

Countdown for Safe Journey

At Cape Kennedy they wouldn't dream of blasting off a rocket without a countdown. But many drivers seldom think to see if all systems are GO before taking off in their cars.

The Winona Safety Council and Police Chief James W. McCabe recommend that motorists give themselves a safety countdown before turning the ignition key this winter.

"A 'NO' to any of the following six questions should be the signal for a 'hold' while corrective action is taken before you put yourself and your car on the line, according to the safety council and Chief McCabe.

ONE — Rest breaks mapped out along the way if the trip is long?

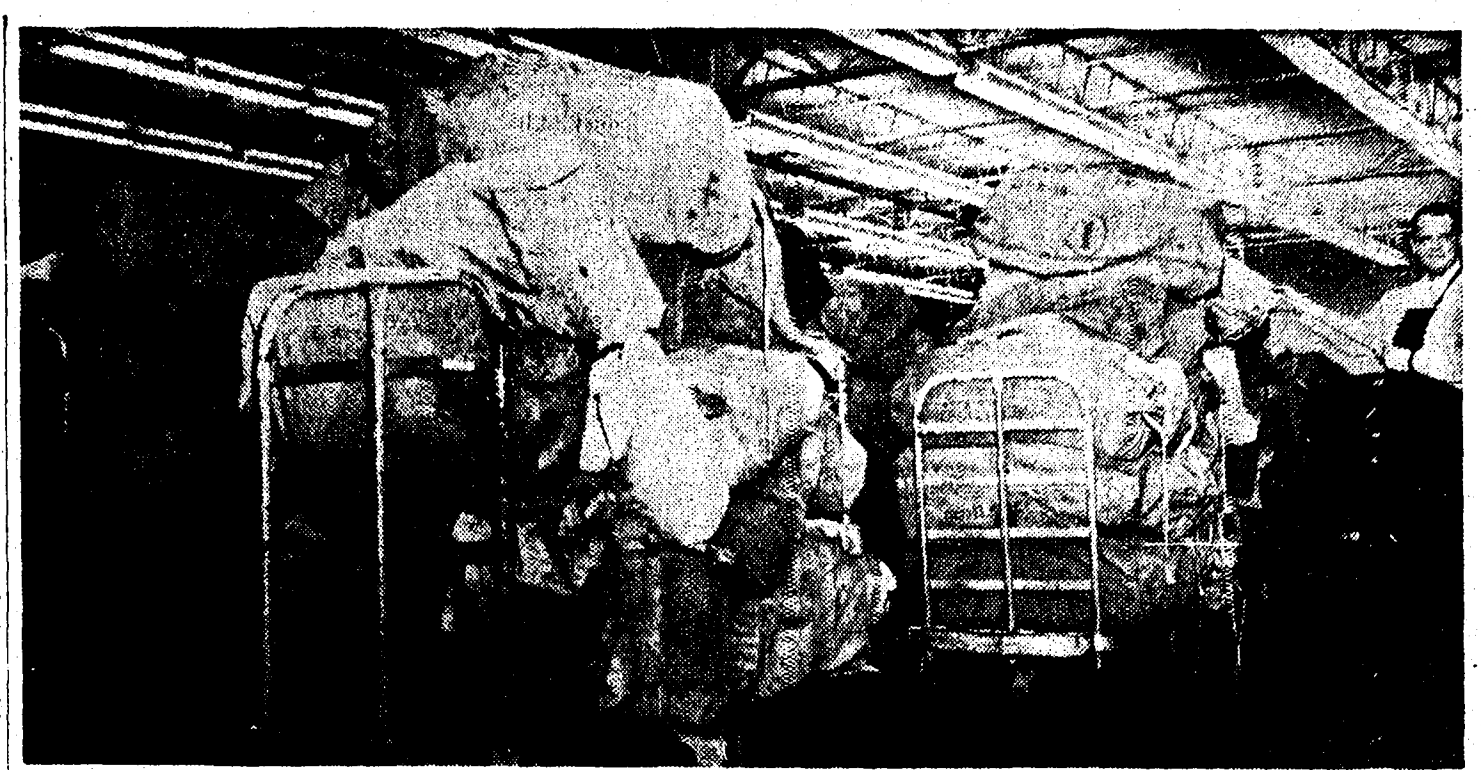

ONE — Seat belts fastened snugly?

IGNITION — Take a deep breath, relax and drive for safety.

SAFE driving starts with a safety-check, Winona Safety Council reminds Winona and area motorists. The council asks that motorists put their cars' brakes, tires, lights, steering and exhaust in safety shape for winter driving.

The council and chief McCabe reminded motorists that posted speed limits are for favorable driving conditions only. Drivers should adjust their pace as road, traffic and weather conditions change.

And remember to make the safety countdown before moving out onto wintry streets and highways, they urged. It's as easy as 1-2-3.

BIG DAY TODAY . . . For the man who delivers the Christmas mail, today was the big day. Here are some of the bags of parcels which greeted John Swensen and the remainder of the crew at the Winona Post Office early this morning. (Daily News photo)

Vandals Like To Smash Yule Bulbs

Several groups of juvenile boys went on destructive rampages over the weekend, Police Chief James W. McCabe reported today; but some of the vandals are now in the hands of juvenile authorities.

Carl Peterson, 710 W. 5th St., caught three boys who broke a bay window in his service station at 1656 Service Dr. over the weekend. The boys, whose age was not given, were turned over to juvenile court. Value of the broken window was not estimated.

William Heise, 287 E. Broadway, reported that 70 bulbs were taken from a Christmas lighting display in his front yard this weekend. However, he caught one of the youthful vandals, and police rounded up four others who had participated.

The boys were 10, 12 and 13 years of age. They explained that Christmas light bulbs make a pleasing sound when dashed against a sidewalk.

A group of boys were apprehended in the city's West End Saturday after similar exploits in their area. Chief McCabe did not give their ages or how many were involved. The group has been turned over to juvenile court.

Kenneth Benck, 575 Wacouta St., reported that vandals took two strings of lights with 15 bulbs on each this weekend. He valued the lights at $30. Earl Stokke, 258 Center St., told police that he had lost 15 bulbs over the weekend.

Butcher Hogs $1 Higher

CHICAGO (AP) — Butcher hogs sold as much as $1 a hundredweight higher today on a very active demand for the smallest Monday supply in more than three months.

Offerings of 5,000 head, down 2,000 from a week ago, topped fairly freely at $30.75, within 25 cents of the 17-year high which was paid on Dec. 9. Other mixed No. 1 and 2 grades moved at $30.25 and up.

Cattle supply also was small for a Monday and slaughter steers sold strong to 50 cents higher, with the top unchanged at $28.

Prices were steady for woolled slaughter lambs at $25-27.50.

Fire Near Ettrick

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — A wall in the kitchen on the Willard Crivels farm in Bear Creek six miles north of Ettrick burned out Sunday noon. Fire started in a chimney on the outside of the wall. Ettrick firemen were called.

La Crosse Chest Exceeds Goal

LA CROSSE, Wis. — The La Crosse United Fund has exceeded its goal in an over-the-top campaign, officials announced today. A total of $275,054 was subscribed. The goal was $272,844. This was a 4.1 percent increase over last year's $264,230 goal, according to campaign co-chairmen Kenneth Dahl and Ralph Steele.

The largest increases from the large industrial firms were Trane Co.; Allis-Chalmers; G. Heileman Brewing Co.; Northern States Power Co.; La Crosse Garment and Elvira Sportswear; La Crosse Cooler Co.; and Dairyland Power Cooperative.

Bank Debits Increase 16%

Bank debits in Winona and nearby areas appeared to reflect a sharp upturn in business throughout the region in November.

The total for Winona was $36,809,000, 16 percent greater than for the same month a year ago. Other cities reported similar trends, according to the monthly report issued by the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis.

At Rochester, debits showed 15 percent rise, at Mankato the gain was 20 percent and at La Crosse the rise was eight percent. Among cities of this two-state area, only Eau Claire showed a drop. There debits last month were one percent below those of November 1964.

Smaller cities of this area also showed percentage rises. Wabasha showed a 64 percent increase. Lewistown gained 30 percent, Plainview, Caledonia and St. Charles were in the 19 to 20 percent range.

Area Wisconsin cities showing gains included: Mondovi 22 percent, Arcadia 21 percent, Durand 18 percent, and Galesville 17 percent.

THESE RISES paralleled those of the 9th Federal Reserved District generally which registered a gain of 18 percent among all reporting cities. The Minnesota average was a 19 percent increase.

Bank debits for the most part are checks against depositors' accounts, thus representing payments for goods, services, payrolls and debts. They also include transfers of funds which have no business significance and so are a general but not fully accurate indicator of business activity. The debits chiefly include those against checking accounts of individuals, partnerships and corporations, states and political subdivisions.

Total bank debits for Winona in the first 11 months of 1965 stood at $354,873,000, an increase of 8 percent from the same period last year. At Rochester the gain was 6 percent and at La Crosse it was 7 percent.

In Minnesota as a whole the average 11-month increase was 11 percent. For the entire Federal Reserve district, the gain was 10 percent.

Following is a detailed report for this area ($000 omitted):

EXTENDED FORECAST

MINNESOTA — Temperatures Tuesday through Saturday will average 10-15 degrees above normal high of 17-24 north and 23-30 south, and normal low of 3 below to 4 above in north and 5-12 above in south. Warming trend early in period, then continuing mild. Precipitation will average one or two-tenths inch melted, with heaviest snow in north, coming about mid-week and near end of the week.

It's Big Day For Carriers—So It Snows

Today ends the big weekend for the Winona Post Office.

It began Friday, which appears to have been the big day to mail for Winonans, and ends today, which appears to be the big day for them to get mail.

Machine cancellations of outgoing mail at the post office Friday were 70,543, the peak day, and Sunday clerks were busy distributing mail into carriers' cases so that a complete delivery could be made today. Carriers were greeted with the first real snow of the year.

Total machine cancellations through Sunday were 434,595 for the Christmas rush beginning Dec. 11. That's virtually the same as a year ago, when the total for the same period was 434,377.

These totals exclude business mailings through postage meter machines; they remain about the same said Acting Postmaster Lambert Hamerski. The Christmas rush is reflected in the machine cancellations at the post office.

He noted that special delivery articles will be delivered on the day of arrival at destination up to the limits of the local night delivery times. Also, special delivery articles will be delivered on Christmas Day and on Sundays.

Postmaster Hamerski also emphasized that special handling service on mail provides speedier transmission between post offices. Special handling mail is transported and handled in transit along with first-class and other preferential mail.

Only U.S. Withdrawal Will Start Peace Talks

TOKYO (AP)—Premier Chou En-lai of Communist China declared today there is no other alternative to a withdrawal of all U.S. troops for peace in Viet Nam.

Chou's remarks at a Viet Cong fifth anniversary ceremony in Peking were another indication of Chinese pressure on the North Vietnamese to oppose unconditional talks with the United States.

Will the college problem change our speed?

It will slow us down, if we let it.

College enrollments are rising by several hundred thousand every year—and that's the problem.

Higher education needs funds to help finance the facilities, equipment and teachers to educate all these potential leaders.

This is where it hurts. Progress calls for leadership. Leaders are needed, in great abundance, to make wise use of our resources, manpower and human skills.

If the supply of leaders doesn't keep pace, can we expect to maintain our high level in jobs, opportunities and living standards?

This is everybody's concern—and everybody can help. Give to the college of your choice.

College is America's best friend

Menu Snatcher Irks Bette Davis

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Bette Davis thinks she's been mistreated — and when she thinks things like that, she doesn't go hide in a cave . . . she speaks out . . . While dining at a luxurious new restaurant in the 50s (initial "L"), Bette asked Yogi Berra to autograph a menu to her son Mike.

Yogi signed his name on the menu (no mean feat for Yogi) and Bette was glowing over her trophy when a woman associated with the management snatched it away saying, "You can't have this menu, we're short of menus!" Yogi had to sign his name again — on a card. Bette has several words for such conduct which are doubtless still ringing in the lady's ears and they include "Appalling," "monstrous," and "How dare she?"

My B.W. went to buy a silk nightgown as a Christmas gift — and there, with many other women waiting to buy nightwear, was an older man purchasing a sexy nightie which had to be blue and flimsy. He even had the salesgirl hold it up against her own figure. "Why is he so particular?" one woman wondered. "Probably," said another "he plans on wearing it himself."

The Nelson Doubledays' reception at the Waldorf for Authress Lena Horne was remarkable because, in the days before civil rights, Lena couldn't even get in the Empire Room as a customer — the other night Lena was the heroine, the star, the doll.

AND THE BELLE of the ball next to Lena, was a Negro beauty named Fleur-de-Lys, whose tight-fitting purple sequined gown and the contents within led many a male including John Sargent, Doubleday president, to ask permission of her escort, Charles Preston of the Wall Street Journal, to dance with her.

Jack Benny told Marty Rackin that the afternoon after he was robbed of $400,000 worth of jewelry in New York, Mary Benny was back at Winston's buying diamonds. "But MARY!" Jack said. "Listen, Jack," Mary said, "if you fall off a horse, you have to get right back on."

ONE REASON J. Paul Getty's rich is that he refuses to pay overdue postage on mail sent to him . . . It came out at Raymond Lee's party for John Roosevelt at Bob Taplin's that John and James Roosevelt each have wives named Irene . . . Brigitte Bardot insisted on a suite at the Plaza Hotel fronting on Central Park and why shouldn't she? . . . Richard Burton and Liz Taylor on the Samany Davis TV special will sing "What Do The Simple Folk Do?" . . . Leda Edmund Jr. of Hullabaloo has been getting wild letters from Herman of Herman's Hermits. . . Joe Levine the film tycoon left the hospital after about four days of reducing treatment . . . and went home to try it there . . . but will return to the office immediately "I'm sick of hospitals," he said . . . The Peter Lawford's lunched together at the Lafayette . . . What's going on?

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Hugh O'Brien went to a party given by Jack Benny and reports: "The wine flowed like NYC crosstown traffic!"

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A diner at the Kobe Steak House said teen-agers in his neighborhood are so romantic they're mugging people by candlelight.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Any man who says he can see through women is missing a lot." — Anita Halidie.

EARL'S PEARLS: Norma (Disc Au Go Go) says her new apartment is so small, she walked into the living room and tripped over the chandelier.

Buddy Hackett, a diet expert, claims there are "minus 20 calories" in a stalk of celery: "It has 5 calories, but you burn up 25 calories just chewing it" . . . That's earl, brother.

Gemini 7 Astronauts Begin Medical Checks

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr., who sailed far enough during their two weeks in space to make 10 round trips to the moon, begin three days of medical checks here today to determine what physical rigors space travel has on man.

People who talked with the astronauts said their main complaint of the 14-day flight was the confinement — they couldn't stretch out. They asserted they dreamed a lot during the mission, sources said. And Borman was quoted as saying that Lovell was dreaming "all the time."

Food on board the spacecraft — some of it dehydrated — got tedious and somewhat objectionable toward the end of the flight, the sources noted.

Air Force Lt. Col. Borman and Navy Cmdr. Lovell, as well as Gemini 7 astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford, praised the Titan 2 booster and Gemini spacecraft.

All four also remarked how easy it was to see through each other's spacecraft windows while they were rendezvousing high above the earth Wednesday.

Schirra was quoted as saying that the Gemini 7 capsule appeared twice as bright as the brightest star, Sirius, when he was approaching it and Schirra and Stafford indicated that rendezvous was easier than they thought.

Stafford and Schirra copiloted two small airplanes on Thursday from the prime recovery ship, the aircraft carrier Wasp, to Bermuda.

On the way, sources said, they tried to fly their two aircraft in formation and noted that it was much easier to pilot two Gemini spacecraft in formation, even though the spaceships were speeding at 17,500 miles an hour.

Persons who talked with the astronauts quoted Borman as saying he thought future space men should not have to fly in bulky space suits on long-duration flights. And if a "back up" pressure system is needed, Borman suggested it be built into the spacecraft rather than the space suit, sources noted.

The two Gemini 7 pilots flew much of their mission in their underwear, and would have done it even more if Mission Control permitted them.

Borman and Lovell are scheduled to stay at Cape Kennedy until Wednesday, concentrating on medical examinations. They then plan to fly to the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex., to begin eight days of telling and retelling the story of their marathon flight to project officials.

Navy Capt. Schirra and Air Force Maj. Stafford flew from nearby Patrick Air Force Base to Houston Sunday afternoon, after a playful reunion with Borman and Lovell.

Schirra and Stafford were not on hand to meet two Navy planes that flew the Gemini 7 crew from the Wasp to Cape Kennedy.

Instead, Schirra was crouched in a doorway at astronaut crew headquarters on neighboring Merritt Island. When Borman and Lovell walked down the hall, he jumped out and began beating the air with his arms as if the Gemini 7 crew needed landing instructions.

Borman and Schirra had a well-publicized bet over which spacecraft would land closest to its target, the Wasp. Officials said Schirra acknowledged that Borman got slightly closer, but blamed it on an instrument in the Gemini 6 capsule which was slightly off.

Astronaut Donald K. Slayton, director of the Gemini 7 crew, said the bet was called off.

"There was a lot of handshaking and mutual congratulations," said Slayton of the meeting of the two Gemini crews.

The reunion was a brief one. Schirra and Stafford had to leave for Houston only 45 minutes after Borman and Lovell arrived at Cape Kennedy.

Of prime interest to researchers is finding out how much calcium was lost during the space flight.

Other tests will show whether a heart gets "lazy" in the weightlessness of outer space, and how much of a strain it puts on a spaceman returning to earth's gravity.

Some researchers fear that over a long period of time calcium loss could make bones dangerously brittle.

Wabasha Sets Parties, Rites For Christmas

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) — The screeching of fire sirens heralded the first visit of Santa Claus Saturday afternoon.

The Star of Hope, lighted by contributions for underprivileged children is gleaming atop the Foley building on Main Street, plans are complete for the home lighting contest, church Christmas schedules have been announced, and yule parties abound in Wabasha this holiday week.

SANTA appeared in the local stores Thursday and Friday nights and will again greet his customers in the stores tonight and Tuesday night from 7 to 9. The merchants have arranged for free movies at the Pem Wednesday and Thursday afternoons at 12:30 and 2:30. Stores will be open every evening until Christmas eve, when they will close at 4 p.m.

The Star of Hope, an annual project sponsored by the Jaycees, lights another bulb for each dollar donated. Donations may be mailed to Star of Hope, Box 31, Wabasha, or given to any Jaycee.

The Jaycees also are sponsoring a Christmas home lighting contest again this year. Chairman is Donald Yarolmek. Judging will be held between 8 and 10 p.m. Dec. 27. Co-sponsor is Northern States Power Co.

Plans for Christmas programs and services are complete at Wabasha's four churches.

Our Redeemer Lutheran Church, the Rev. Lawrence E. Lillegard, pastor, presented its annual Sunday school program and pageant Sunday night. Robert Dose, son of James Dose was narrator. Christmas matins will be held Christmas Day at 9 a.m. Festival services are scheduled for 9 a.m. Sunday. A Communion service will be held at 9 a.m. New Year's day.

Pastor Lillegard announced that the Nelson Sunday school program will be Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Grace Lutheran Church there, with Christmas matins, festival service and Communion on New Year's day at 10:30 a.m., instead of 9 a.m.

The Rev. George Spratt, rector of Grace Memorial Episcopal Church, announced Christmas Eve services at 11, with worship at 10 a.m. Christmas morning. The Sunday School Christmas program was held at the church at Sunday night. Bags of candy were distributed to the children.

At the Sunday school program at United Church of Christ, Rev. Alfred Ward, minister, the pageant, "The Prophecy," was presented Sunday night. Mary was portrayed by Carol Armaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gifford Armaton, and Joseph by John St. Jacques, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter St. Jacques. Mrs. William C. Fischer,

Three other Masses are scheduled for Christmas day, at 6:30, 7:30, 8:30 and 10 a.m. Confessions will be held Wednesday from 7 to 8 p.m.; Thursday, 3 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 8 p.m., and Friday, 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 3 to 5 p.m.

PUBLIC Christmas parties included one for the St. Elizabeth's Hospital senior citizens by St. Felix Church parish council Thursday afternoon at Kennedy Hall in the hospital; the annual Wabasha council, Knights of Columbus, Christmas party at St. Felix school Sunday for the children, the senior Girl Scout party for the Wabasha County ARC children at the armory Dec. 12, and the Plainview 4-H club party to be held at Kennedy Hall Tuesday.

Vice Commander For Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson named a new deputy commander for U.S. forces in Viet Nam today but the White House said this did not indicate any major step toward an expanded military buildup.

The position, second to Gen. William C. Westmoreland, is a new one. It will be filled by Lt. Gen. Jean E. Engler, now commander of the U.S. Supply and Maintenance Command in Washington.

Westmoreland heretofore has had no No. 2 man.

CONGRESS MEETS JAN. 10

Viet Nam to Be Dominating Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders are in general agreement that the dominant issue in the session convening Jan. 10 will be the Viet Nam war.

Sharing the spotlight in what may be a long and bitter session will be labor legislation, the administration's "Great Society" programs and perhaps taxes.

Many members took advantage of the fall recess to visit Viet Nam. They returned with conflicting opinions on how the war is being conducted and their differing views should touch off sharp debate.

There is little that Congress can do about how the war is being fought, except to appropriate money to foot the bill. But the fact that it is being waged and is costing a lot of money will be reflected in consideration of nonmilitary legislation.

"One of the basic issues," said Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, House Republican leader, "will be the need to curtail nondefense programs. We are face to face with the decision between guns and butter. The war is real and we must pay for it."

"But some other programs," Ford added in an interview, "while perhaps worthy, do not have the same top priority. We must take a hard look at the 'Great Society' measures rammed through during the recent session. They are expensive and will continue to be expensive. We Republicans are going to try to cut down some of this unnecessary spending."

"We are going to solidly oppose any new taxes," Ford said. Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, took a somewhat similar stand on taxes.

Said Mills: "If federal government spending is held under reasonable restraint, the growth of the economy will both make possible and require periodic tax reductions."

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said in an interview he looked for no division in Congress over foreign policy.

"The people of the country are united behind the President's leadership in foreign policy, particularly in Viet Nam," McCormack said.

McCormack said he believed major domestic issues would center on legislation to increase and broaden minimum wage coverage, improve the unemployment compensation program and "to strengthen America by carrying out important programs enacted last year."

Another labor bill, the House-passed measure to ban state laws prohibiting union shop labor contracts, will be a sizzling issue in the Senate. It was dropped in that branch this year after a short, but effective, filibuster but is still alive.

LBJ Welcomes Pope's Call for Viet Nam Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today President Johnson welcomes the latest call by Pope Paul VI for peace in Viet Nam and is doing all he can to bring that about.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers, asked for official comment on the Pope's endorsement Sunday of the idea of a Christmas cease-fire, said:

"The President welcomes this new expression by the Pope of the need for peace in the world and specifically in Southeast Asia. He regards the Pope as one of the great men of peace and believes his concern for peace is an indication that most men throughout the world want peace."

Moyers said nothing about the Viet Cong offer of a Christmas cease-fire but instead restated the view that "we will talk unconditionally any time the other side is ready."

Cattle Rustlers Get 4 Animals

Cattle thieves made off with four young animals from two uninhabited county farms over the weekend, Sheriff George L. Fort reported today.

Everett Larson, rural LaMolle, Minn., called the sheriff Saturday morning to report that three young cattle had been stolen from a barn on his "other" farm Friday night. Some other cattle kept in the barn had been let loose, Larson told the sheriff.

Robert Wolter, Dakota, reported Sunday night that a calf was taken from his "other" farm, a mile west of Nodine, sometime Sunday. The calf, a 5-month-old Holstein, weighed about 200 pounds, Wolter said.

Larson is missing a 6-month-old black Angus and a 6-month-old, brownish-black Holstein, both weighing from 250 to 300 pounds. Also stolen from Larson was an 85-pound, 1-week-old Guernsey.

Sheriff Fort is investigating the thefts. Clues include tire tracks and footprints in the fresh snow near the Wolter barn.

Humphrey Tells Of President's Aim in Viet Nam

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — President Johnson is trying to prove in Viet Nam that aggression doesn't pay, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said Sunday night.

Humphrey addressed about 500 at a dinner where he received the Harry S. Truman commendation award for humanitarian service. The award is made annually by the State of Israel bond organization.

"The Communists," the vice president said, "reserve to themselves the right to support what they call 'wars of national liberation' which is Communist double talk for any effort by Communists to seize power by force of arms in any area of the world they so will — any hitherto free nation."

"President Johnson is seeking to show the Chinese Communists in particular — who have a great deal more to learn than their experienced Soviet counterparts — that war does not pay."

Humphrey said "we seek peace and we seek it with a passion...and we shall persist...until all of God's children have the chance for freedom and the full dignity of human beings to which they are entitled."

Former President Truman presented the award to Humphrey and said: "...Tonight I salute him as a man truly of the people and for the people, a man with a profound sense of public service, a man of probity, integrity and, above all, as a man of peace."

Humphrey told Mr. Truman that if anyone deserved commendation, "it is you."

Winter Driving Warning Issued

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A trio of troublesome factors were called to the attention of highway users today as winter driving conditions changed with the arrival of new snow and colder weather.

Dan F. Schutz, Motor Vehicle Department safety director, identified the factors as: Reduced visibility, inadequate traction and sudden temperature changes.

He suggested: Keep windows, lights and directional signals clear of snow and road dirt; have good tires and brakes and avoid the grand slam technique in stopping; mindful that ice near the melting stage is much more slippery than when temperatures are near zero.

Wincrest Not Logical Site For Tech School

WINCREST ADDITION has been suggested as a site for Winona's new Area Vocational-Technical School and, without debating certain short-term cost factors that have been cited in support of this location, we feel that there are several significant long-range aspects that should be considered carefully by those charged with the responsibility of ultimate site selection.

This $1.4 million facility will be a major addition to the already notable educational resources of this community and it seems only logical that its location should be such that the greatest benefits can be realized from the investment made in its construction. Frankly, we feel that schools — just as churches, auditoriums, cultural centers and other buildings that are an integral part of community life — should be seen, as well as used. We want to look with pride at this newest extension of our educational plant and we want to show it with pride to those who visit our city. This, obviously, would not be as conveniently possible were the new school to be erected on the blufftop site.

ASIDE FROM THIS purely aesthetic aspect, there are economic implications in site selection. Without question the enrollment of 1,400 or more post-high school age students in the new vocational-technical school, a student body in part drawn from far beyond Winona's immediate trade area, will generate additional business activity in this city.

The new school should be located where the needs of these students can be served conveniently and efficiently by the business community. It also has been shown historically that when a new school is built — and especially a vocational or technical school — that new business and service enterprises spring up in its locale; hopefully, this bonus dividend on our educational investment might be realized at a location from which the entire community might realize the maximum benefits.

There are, of course, other practical matters which would indicate that Wincrest — a noteworthy and needed residential development — would be something less than desirable as a school site. There's the problem of access, for instance; the traffic problems that would emerge with several hundred cars using limited roadway facilities during peak hours of travel to and from classes and the high cost of construction required to adapt roads to the swell in traffic.

The course in practical nursing will be a part of the vocational-technical school's curriculum and the school's location ideally should be conveniently located in respect to Community Memorial Hospital where the student nurses take their practical training.

IN ALL, IT WOULD seem that a more central, more easily accessible location than Wincrest should be selected as a school site if we are to reap all of the benefits that this new school gives promise of providing.

Teachers Pay — When A Reasonable Level?

(Mankato Free Press)

THIS MAY BE construed in some quarters as heresy, but we are about to ask a question concerning the salary of public school teachers. When is it going to reach a reasonable level?

Read any newspaper you choose, and you'll get the same story. The teachers want more money. They don't want just enough to match the increasing cost of living, if any. They seek a figure commensurate with their standing on the professional ladder, this standing to be determined by themselves.

This has been going on for years, and for a long time with the full approval of the public. Perhaps we now need what is referred to in intellectual language as re-evaluation. We've got to figure out what a teaching job is really worth.

THE TOUGH PART of the negotiations the school boards go through every year is that the teachers play one board against another. The teachers talk about the necessity for paying what are politely referred to as competitive salaries. The threat is veiled, but it is unmistakably clear. If the teachers don't get what they're asking from one school system, they can always go to another.

Nobody wants to be cruel about this, but what the teachers are worth, and what they think they are worth, are not necessarily one and the same. We need well-trained, competent teachers, and the profession must be attractive enough to enlist intellectually superior people. The public long has been cognizant of that fact, and has done its best to upgrade the incentives. The question which now may be logically asked is simply, have we reached the desired stage?

PERHAPS WHAT the harried public ought to have at this point is a comparison of salaries by professions. Probably we ought to determine what is being paid to other people who need qualifications and training similar to that of the teachers.

It is highly possible that we have gone far enough in submitting to the gun-at-your-head approach and should start determining our answers by other methods. If we continue permitting one school district to be played against another, there is no telling what astronomical figures the teachers ultimately will dream up.

And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes.—Revelation 21:4.

TODAY IN WORLD AFFAIRS

NATO Called on For Viet Troops

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The most significant development in world affairs today is the appeal that the United States has just made to other nations for help in fighting the Viet Nam war. Two members of President Johnson's cabinet — the secretary of state and the secretary of defense — have presented to the council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization the blunt facts about the big burden the United States is carrying virtually alone.

The NATO treaty specifies that member states will come to the aid of each other if attacked by any European power, but Messrs. Rusk and McNamara pointed out that the conquest of Asia by Communist regimes could be the forerunner of wars to take over Europe as well as Latin America.

THIS IS THE first time that spokesmen for the United States have laid the Viet Nam case on the line. Secretary McNamara analyzed the meaning of Red China's threat in Asia. He said the Peiping regime will soon have nuclear material to make not only bombs for aircraft but missile warheads. He mentioned that the Chinese Communists have a standing army of 2.3 million men and huge reserves as well as a large air force, with planes supplied by the Soviet government. The secretary declared that Red China has already "targeted" Thailand for future attack.

These realistic statements were made to convince the NATO members that a world situation confronts them which transcends in importance their own preoccupation with Europe. For, while Mr. McNamara didn't say so, he implied that, if the United States gets tied up in Asia, it might be difficult for this country to furnish all the military aid necessary should an attack by Communists develop inside Europe.

UP TO NOW, though there has been some token aid given in the Viet Nam war by other countries, the United States has borne almost the entire burden. The mission of Secretaries Rusk and McNamara was designed to warn NATO that the members had better start thinking of ways to strengthen the alliance rather than talking about ways of weakening or decentralizing the whole defense mechanism.

It is, unfortunately, not fully realized in the free countries of Europe that the people of the United States are growing a bit disillusioned about the attitude heretofore taken by its allies toward rendering help in the Viet Nam war. Europe's aloofness could result in the formation of a public opinion in this country favoring withdrawal of American forces from Europe and transferring the full responsibility for defending that continent to the European members of NATO.

A DISINTEGRATION of the whole situation in Southeast Asia, however, is bound to encourage the Communist imperialists in both Peiping and Moscow. This is why the mission of Secretaries Rusk and McNamara can hardly be brushed aside as a perfunctory step in diplomacy. For the United States cannot police the world alone, and there is no other way to do it except by an alliance of the free countries of Europe, bolstered by their big armies willing to go to Asia to thwart the Communists at the inception of their march rather than to await their invasion of Western Europe.

So the world is confronted today with a growing crisis, and it will not be overcome by appeasement or "peace at any price" negotiations.

'MAYBE NEXT CHRISTMAS — EH?'

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Chancellor Prefers Washington to Texas

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It was a bit of a blow to LBJ's famed hospitality that Chancellor Ludwig Erhard didn't want to meet him again at the Texas ranch. Their first meeting in December 1963 took place at the ranch, and Lady Bird had gone out of her way to make the chancellor of Germany feel at home.

She put a book on Erhard's bedside table, "Pioneers in God's Hills," describing the German colonization of Texas. She had Fierre Salinger secure the longest, fattest cigars. She prepared quiche Lorraine a cheese custard pie, one of the chancellor's favorites, and when he arrived at the ranch house a big picture of him was on the front porch together with the German greeting "Wilkommen."

During their talks the new President of the United States took the new chancellor of Germany deer-watching, for a tour in his convertible, and to church services where the pastor preached in both English and German.

PRIOR TO his present trip, however, Erhard made it clear that he didn't want to go to Texas. He wanted the additional press coverage of a formal visit at the White House. That's what he's getting now.

Johnson and Erhard know each other quite well. They have had four talks, and the President almost feels as if he could get along without the interpreter. Erhard speaks English, through haltingly; and Johnson used to speak German as a boy but has forgotten most of it. So they will rely on an interpreter, which handicaps the President because he likes to deal in direct, persuasive, personal conversation.

Erhard not only likes the President, but is grateful to Johnson for his support, which has gone much further than most people realize. In the summer of 1964, when Erhard was having trouble inside his own Christian Democratic party, LBJ came to his rescue.

THE INCIDENT occurred after President De Gaulle had called on the new chancellor, found him rather vague about German-French relations, and not as co-operation as his predecessor, Konrad Adenauer. When De Gaulle later reported this to Adenauer, there was criticism inside the party and Erhard was asked to attend a party meeting in Munich to report on his behavior.

Prior to the meeting, Erhard seemed worried. When he entered the room, however, he was cocky.

There was good reason. For the new chancellor pulled a letter from his pocket from Lyndon Johnson stressing the joint aims of the United States and Germany.

That ended the intra-party rebellion.

Today, six months later, Erhard faces new pressures at home — chiefly the demand that Germany now be admitted to the nuclear club. More and more, Germans are arguing that their country is no longer an enemy, that it has done its part in upholding the democratic defense of Western Europe, that it now has the largest army supporting NATO.

ON THE other hand, smaller NATO countries, once overrun by Nazi armies, are worried over the possibility of renewed Nazi militarism. This worry is shared by many Americans who point to the fact that two former Nazis are members of the Erhard cabinet and that three convicted war criminals are now operating the old I. G. Farben cartel. They are:

Heinrich Buettelisch, sentenced to six years at Nuremberg.

Dr. Otto Ambrose, sentenced to eight years.

Walter Duerfels, also sentenced to eight years.

Despite their convictions, all three are now high up in the direction of German industry.

These were some of the reasons why President Johnson has already sidetracked the multinational force aimed at sharing nuclear weapons with Germany.

And on this trip Chancellor Erhard will renew his plea but will probably be disappointed again. It's reported that the chancellor will offer to send German troops to Viet Nam in return for nuclear weapons. But, tempting as this would be to LBJ — now on the verge of sending 200,000 more U.S. troops to the Far East — it will probably be declined.

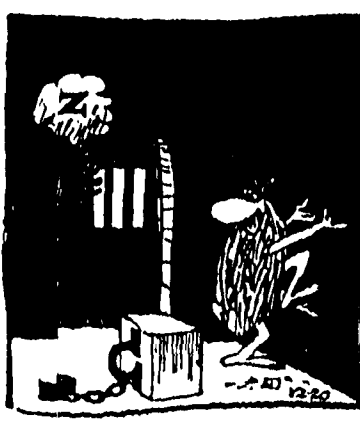

THE CHANCELLOR will have to be content with a White House after-dinner show giving thanks to Germany for its contributions to Christmas.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Gulf Between Pakistan, U.S.

(Editor's Note: This column will be a substitute for the Marquis Childs article while Mr. Childs is on vacation.)

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

WASHINGTON — No twist or turn in all the story of the cold war has produced a more poignant meeting of leaders than the meeting just concluded between President Lyndon B. Johnson of the United States and President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan.

It was a confrontation, in a world where small men sometimes seem positively to teem and swarm, of two large men with large and ardent purposes and demands and equivalently robust faults. So it had within it almost everything that could be described as hopeless — a presently insoluble clash of compelling national interests in a world neither participant has made; a wide division upon the terrible issue of Chinese military expansionism. And it had most everything wrong with it except pettiness and hypocrisy and meanly-mouthing.

Only those resolute optimists who can see a perfectly blinding sunshine in every cloud that covers the sky could call this conference, at its end, a positive success. For Pakistan, as of now at any rate, plainly proposes to go on doing business with Communist China in a desperately honest belief, however wrong it seems to the American side, that Pakistan's real threat comes from India and not China. The United States for its part, must go on refusing to become a partisan of Pakistan to the harm of India, a giant fact of life in Asia, which, too, has its claims on us.

THE GREAT gulf is therefore not bridged upon Ayub Khan's departure. So in a flat sense the meeting was a failure. All the same, if it was a failure it was in a subtle sense a successful failure. For though Johnson and Ayub could not come together upon the highest of policy matters, they could and did come together as men no longer separated by 9,000 miles. They met at first in wary grapples and active skepticism, if also in respect. They parted in less doubt, in less skepticism, in even more respect and also in mutual liking.

How can it be said that all this means very much? It can only be said if one accepts first the principle that while blind events must at last largely direct the actions of leaders, leaders are nevertheless able sometimes to soften if not quite to shape events, to blunt if not to remove the sharp blade of antagonistic interests.

Ayub Khan goes home knowing at least that Johnson fully understands his point of view — and understands it from Pakistan's headquarters, which is in the hat of Ayub Khan. This Ayub did not quite know before. Diplomatic exchanges by lesser officials can never quite give the flavor of what the top men think and feel. Johnson on his side knows at least that while the great rock of basic disagreement remains between the United States and Pakistan it is just possible that time and tact and circumstance may yet begin to erode it away.

AT ALL events, it was a meeting that will remain in memory. For rarely, surely, have heads of state talked with such remarkable mutual human sympathy, considering the hard realities over which they had to meet. Rarely, too, have heads of state so plainly put aside the airs and graces of the diplomatic minuet as these two put them aside in the White House dinner given by the one for the other.

They looked each other in the eye and each said to the other, and to the assembled diners, what he thought, without apology — and, curiously, also without giving or taking offense. It was a rare, big diplomacy of big fellows. Each refused to hide behind the polite foreign office rhetoric that ordinarily pervades such occasions. Each acted as well upon the notion that it is quite possible to tell a man in plain words that he is wrong without telling

To Your Good Health

Grave's Disease Severe

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is Grave's disease? Has a cure been found for it?—R. F.

Dear Doctor: About five years ago I had an operation for an overactive thyroid and part of the gland was removed. Now I am having the same trouble. Is it possible for the thyroid to act up again?—MRS. R. B.

Grave's disease is a severe form of hyperthyroidism (overactive thyroid). It features such symptoms as rapid heart beat, nervousness, prominence of the eyeballs.

Yes, indeed, there is effective treatment. The method depends on age and other factors. In some instances antithyroid drugs slow down the gland's activity to a suitable rate. In other cases radioactive iodine does the job. In still others, surgical removal of the gland is preferable.

It is possible in some cases for the remaining portion of the thyroid gland to become overactive, although this is not by any means the usual experience. When this occurs, further surgery or one of the other methods is in order.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does drinking about three glasses of cold milk a day harm the stomach?—V. K.

There are several ways of combating constipation. No, I can't see how three glasses of cold milk could harm you unless (and this is rare) you happen to be allergic to it. And if you customarily drink that much milk, we can be confident that you aren't.

Dear Dr. Molner: I recently read an article by a male columnist that there is a successful hormone for men that will stop falling hair. Please give me any information you have in regard to this.—S. E. B.

You'll have to ask that columnist — because, no matter what somebody may have told him, I don't know of any hormone or anything else that will prevent falling hair. It's like a cure for cancer. We all hope one can be found, so every claim of success is greeted with excitement. Yet the fact is that no solution has yet been found.

(Let's remember, though, that one cancer in three can be cured by finding it early and removing it before it spreads. And some cases of falling hair, if due to skin disease, can be halted by treating the skin disease.)

him he is a dreadful fellow as well as a wrong one.

EACH TO the other is today undoubtedly what the British, with their gift sometimes for getting to the heart of the matter, would call a good bad-type. Good bad-types are ridden by determination, right enough, and they can fight with total implacability. But they are entirely free of the rubbishy qualities of shrillness and sham and pompous littleness.

Wisconsin Auto Deaths Close To 1,000-Mark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wisconsin's traffic toll closed in on the grim 1,000-dead mark for the second straight year as nine persons were killed in weekend crashes.

Among the victims Sunday were two Beloit teen-agers, a man walking home from church, a college student, and a young mother who froze to death.

The year-long fatality list mounted to 982.

It compared with 1,036 on the same day last year when the final figure eventually reached a record 1,059 deaths. The 1964 count passed 1,000 on Dec. 7.

Steven Bonafede, 18, and Dennis Porter, 18, both of Beloit, were killed Sunday when their auto smashed into the abutment of an overpass on Interstate 90 two miles south of Janesville. Charlotte Warrick, 18, Jenkintown, Pa., remained in critical condition at a Janesville hospital early today.

A pedestrian, Andro Shimo, 83, who was walking home from a church meeting, was struck and killed by a car as he crossed a Kenosha intersection Sunday night. It was Kenosha's first traffic fatality in 307 days.

Paul G. Case, 19, Milwaukee, a student at Ripon College, died Sunday when his car crashed into a tree along Highway 23 in the town of Rosendale in Fond du Lac County.

The body of Mrs. Sharon Glaser, 26, Prairie Farm, was found on the bank of Turtle Creek west of Prairie Farm in Barron County Sunday about four hours after her car had plunged down an embankment and landed on its top in the icy stream.

Authorities said Mrs. Glaser evidently escaped from the flooded car but collapsed as she climbed the steep bank and died of overexposure. Her husband found the body as he searched for her. She was the mother of four children.

Michael Halko, 45, Chicago, Ill., died in a Milwaukee hospital Saturday night six hours after his car plunged down a 22-foot embankment at the entrance to an overpass.

Burdette L. Kimball, 26, of near Zenda, died in a two-car crash on Highway 50 east of Delavan Saturday.

Robert Radichel, 17, of rural Elkhorn, was killed Saturday when his car struck a tree on Highway 11-15 east of Delavan.

Mrs. John Van Doorn, 41, of rural Green Bay, was fatally injured when her car struck a utility pole near Green Bay Saturday.

Not counted in the weekend toll was the death Saturday of Gillie McClure, 76, Milwaukee, who was struck by a car Oct. 8.

Toys Donated To Orphans

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Toys, candy and cookies donated by St. Louis area residents have been sent to the 11 children of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Harlow in Grafton, N.D., for their Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlow were killed in an automobile accident last July, leaving seven boys and four girls ranging in age from 1½ to 17.

The children also are getting new sets of clothes from a St. Louis clothing manufacturer. A fund drive started when the Harlows were killed has reached $5,418. Tom Dwyer of suburban Delwood, chairman of the fund committee, announced Sunday. Dwyer, Delwood City clerk, said the committee was still receiving donations.

A similar drive in Grafton collected $12,000.

Three Groups Open Redistricting Probes

ST. PAUL (AP) — Three groups have launched studies into ways to break the stalemate over legislative reapportionment in Minnesota, but none is likely to come up with any answers for the next couple of weeks.

The Senate Elections Committee is the latest to begin its deliberations. It met Saturday at the Capitol and concluded that its best avenue of approach may be to go back to its original bill presented during the 1965 session of the legislature.

The House Elections Committee and the Governor's Bipartisan Reapportionment Committee began their work last Friday.

Nobody knows what will come of their separate efforts.

As matters now stand, Gov. Karl Rolvaag is adamant about not calling a special session of the legislature until Conservative leaders of the legislature agree to "guidelines" for a special session.

The Conservatives won't agree because they say the governor is trying to dictate the terms, and it is the legislature's business to redistrict, not the governor's.

The third party in the hassle is a group of suburban Minneapolis officials who have gone to the courts and want Federal Court to do the job of reapportioning the state's legislative districts.

The Senate Elections Committee took no action Saturday, but Majority Leader John Zwach said after the meeting was over that he believes his committee may wind up drafting a bill similar to the one it approved in the last session. This bill was changed before the House accepted it. Rolvaag vetoed the final version.

The Senate group is asking the Legislative Research Committee to analyze its original bill, along with one proposed by Edina Conservative Sen. Alf Bergerud.

Senators also asked Sen. Robert Dunlap, Rochester conservative, to distribute to them data from the University of Minnesota law library about reapportionment actions in other states.

Both studies are to include figures on percentages the districts vary from ideal population size. Those percentages are one subject which would be before a three-judge federal court that ordered the Minnesota redistricting if it also is called upon to pass on a new law.

The court is to be asked next month by a suburban Minneapolis group which pressed the original case to take the whole redistricting job from the legislature and perform the task itself.

Sen. Donald Sinclair, Stephen conservative, injected one new possibility Saturday, saying federal courts in three or four other states had ordered governors to call special sessions of the legislatures to pass reapportionment bills.

Bergerud suggested the committee might investigate the legal basis for such actions.

Another new idea came from Sen. Mel Hansen, Minneapolis conservative, who said a special session ordered by federal court might consider a constitutional amendment to take the veto power from the governor in redistricting cases. He would not press that idea if the governor were to call a special session on his own, however, Hansen said.

A group of legislators had challenged Rolvaag's right to veto the regular session reapportionment bill, but lost in a State Supreme Court decision last month.

Zwach said the Senate committee might present a new bill

Swift Sales Up Earnings For '65 Down

CHICAGO (AP) — Swift & Co. reported record dollar sales for 1965 Sunday, but lower earnings for the year.

Consolidated net earnings for this year were $16,350,888, or $2.70 a share, compared with $25,294,331, or $4.17 a share, for 1964.

Sales for the fiscal year ended Oct. 30 totaled $2,750,956,717, compared with $2,614,945,977 for 1964. Swift Chairman Porter Jarvis and R. W. Rehoker, president of the company, said both fresh pork and processed meat departments had poor results due chiefly to soaring live hog prices. They added that the "combined results of food departments were profitable and beef earnings were higher."

Titan 3 Set To Fire Four Orbiting Vehicles

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A triple-barreled Air Force Titan 3 is scheduled to kick four separate satellites into an orbit more than 20,000 miles above the equator Tuesday to climax one of the most complex unmanned space missions ever planned.

Riding on the nose of the three-legged booster, the nation's most powerful rocket now in use, will be two experimental communications satellites, a satellite which will study activities of the sun and a fourth satellite for ham radio operators. Liftoff is scheduled for 9 a.m. (EST).

The amateur radio satellite, called Oscar 4, is sort of a poor man's Telstar. Like three other Oscar satellites which preceded it, Oscar 4 was built by the American Radio Relay League, a group of space engineers whose hobby is ham radio.

Oscar stands for Orbiting Satellite Carrying Amateur Radio. Oscar 4 is a complete radio frequency transmitter capable of simultaneously receiving voice and telegraph signals at 144 megacycles and retransmitting them at 432 megacycles.

Monday, December 20, 1965 WINONA DAILY NEWS 9

The two communications satellites, developed by the Lincoln Laboratory of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and named Les 3 and Les 4, are designed to test devices for future military defense communications satellite systems.

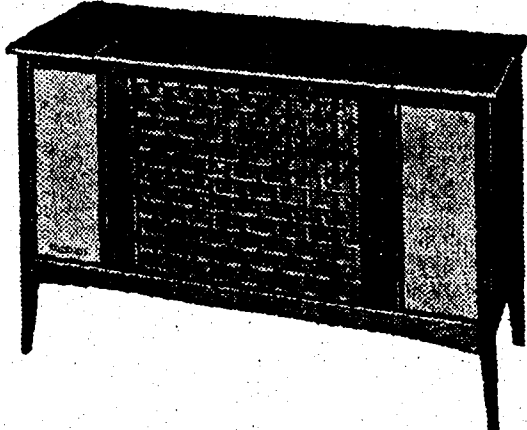

The sun - studying satellite, called OSV-3, will carry 15 experiments, the Air Force said, including various tests of the effect of natural radiation on living tissue. The mission will be one of the most complicated ever undertaken, lasting some six hours and involving over 150 events. The four satellites — which make the entire payload weigh 931 pounds — will be placed in space so they hover above the equator more than 20,000 miles over Galapagos Island, west of Peru.

Grenade Hurlled At Truckload Of U.S. Soldiers

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The Viet Cong gave Saigon a day of rest from terrorism on the fifth anniversary of their National Liberation Front today but renewed their violence at nightfall.

A terrorist hurled a grenade at a truckload of U.S. soldiers after dark as the vehicle passed over a bridge on the northern outskirts of the city en route to a U.S. base.

The grenade bounced off the rear of the truck and exploded in the street, injuring only one American, police said.

The incident occurred despite the tightest security in years in the city of more than 1.4 million to guard against any major birthday incident. Officials said the wave of terrorism could continue until the new year.

The Communists took no holiday in the field.

Two Viet Cong companies attacked two outposts of the Tuyen Nhon Special Forces camp in the Plain of Reeds 40 miles west of Saigon. The U.S.-advised government forces threw back the Communists with tactical air support and claimed 29 Viet Cong killed.

Twelve miles farther west, battalions of South Vietnamese regional troopers slammed into a Viet Cong hideout, killing 26 Communists and destroying 30 sampans and 63 buildings, spokesmen reported. The attack force also captured 12 sampans and found more than 100 grenades and a dozen weapons.

With an improvement in the weather, U.S. warplanes ended a two-day lull in the raids on North Viet Nam. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs dropped 49 tons of bombs and rockets on the Bac Can highway bridge 75 miles north of Hanoi, spokesmen said. Pilots reported two spans down, a third damaged and damage to six anti-aircraft positions nearby that protect the strategic supply route from Red China.

One F105 went down after being hit by ground fire. The pilot ejected 45 miles south of Hanoi, North Viet Nam's major port, and was picked up by an amphibious rescue plane.

A small U.S. Army observation plane collided with a South Vietnamese single-engine aircraft on a support mission 27 miles south of Da Nang, killing both two-man crews.

Over the weekend, U.S. Marines and Army men marked the Viet Cong birthday by killing nearly 200 Communists in three clashes with sizeable Viet Cong forces.

With U.S. military personnel restricted to quarters by a dusk-to-dawn curfew, Saigon passed through the night without incident. A heavy guard patrolled the area of the U.S. Embassy and the U.S. Information Service office, both potential prime targets for Viet Cong birthday violence.

In the last six days, the Communists have staged at least an

GRIN AND BEAR IT

"Great news, man! We've received a large research grant to find a scientific name for that mysterious malady we know as 'Just-something-that's-going-around!'" incident a day in the Saigon area.

The National Liberation Front was founded in 1960 under Communist leadership to give the growing guerrilla insurgency a political organization.

A Viet Cong call on Saigonese to observe 15 minutes of silence Sunday to protest the war passed unheeded as traffic flowed and business continued uninterrupted.

"It was a flop, a fiasco," commented a U.S. official.

The only terrorist action took place on the outskirts when a Viet Cong cyclist hurled a grenade at a police station, wounding six policemen. Police gunfire killed the terrorist.

In a flareup of action at the start of Christmas week, the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Division fought a Communist battalion 12 miles northwest of the coastal town of Qui Nhon, about 265 miles northeast of Saigon.

The Flying Horsemen came under Communist groundfire as they landed by helicopter in an area held by 1,500 to 2,000 Viet Cong. But by the time the shooting died down, the Americans counted 72 enemy dead. U.S. casualties were described as light. Most came when Viet Cong fire hit four 1st Cavalry helicopters.

Just 30 miles east of Saigon, the 173rd Airborne Brigade joined with the 1st Infantry Division to seek out and destroy a hard-core Viet Cong unit in a joint operation called "Smash."

Strengthened by South Vietnamese and Australian troops, the two U.S. units split the Viet Cong in a linkup following tactical air assaults and 1,600 rounds of artillery.

Moving into the Communist camp, Operation Smash claimed an early count of 16 Viet Cong dead, 4 captured and 20 suspects detained. The Aussies destroyed a large store of Viet Cong rice.

In Death Valley south of Da Nang, U.S. Marines collided with 400 Communist troops Saturday, breaking a lull in Operation Harvest Moon, which began Dec. 8 to trap a large Viet Cong force. The Marines said 103 Reds were killed in the latest encounter in the 20-mile-long

Battle Hurts Dominican Peace Efforts

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The precarious peace efforts in the Dominican Republic appeared today to have been dealt a shattering setback by a battle between army troops and former rebels.

At least 13 persons were believed killed in two shooting incidents Sunday. Twelve were reported killed in a six-hour battle that raged around a hotel on the outskirts of Santiago, the country's No. 2 city.

There were conflicting reports on the cause of the battle that pitched army tanks against an estimated 125 former rebels barricaded in the rambling, two-story Hotel Matum. Shooting ended following the arrival of 150 U.S. paratroopers of the Inter-American Peace Force.

The violence spread to Santo Domingo, 120 miles to the south, where a policeman was disarmed and fatally shot through the head by a member of an angry pro-rebel mob, one of many roaming the littered downtown streets.

The tensions and threats by civilians in Santo Domingo to bring out hidden weapons prompted the IAPF to reinforce its small garrisons in the former rebel territory downtown.

Farm Programs Open to April 1

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers in most states may enroll in the agriculture department's 1966 wheat, feed grain and cotton programs between Jan. 31 and April 1.

However, the department says signups may begin earlier, at any time a State Agricultural and Stabilization Committee

(ASC) determines its county offices are ready.

It also says the signup deadline will be extended two weeks—to April 15 in 13 states including North Dakota, Wisconsin, Minnesota and South Dakota.

Signup for the cropland adjustment program will begin not later than Jan. 31, but may begin earlier if the ACS committee desires. The signup deadline for this program will be set later.

Monoxide Victim Still Critical

DULUTH (AP)—A young Duluth woman remains in critical condition in a local hospital today after suffering carbon monoxide poisoning Saturday night. Her male companion died in their parked car.

Police identified the dead man as Clyde R. Bergren, 24, Duluth. Hospitalized is Miss Diane J. Hansen, also 24.

A deputy St. Louis County coroner said the pair were victims of a broken exhaust pipe under Bergren's car which allowed fumes to rise into the car as it was parked in north Duluth.

Anaheim Stadium, new home of the California Angels of the American League, will cost $24 million.

Shooting could be heard in scattered parts of the capital late into the night. IAPF sources said none of the shooting involved the hemisphere army that was organized and brought here in early May to help forge a peace in the Dominican revolution.

A violent explosion rocked the western part of Santo Domingo at midnight. There was no immediate report of the cause of the blast.

The Santiago hotel battle appeared to dash hopes of reintegrating rebel troops into the regular armed forces—a key step toward creating a peaceful climate for the general election planned for next June.

Angry labor leaders blamed the army and demanded that Provisional President Hector Garcia-Godoy fire the military chiefs or face a general strike. The president persuaded the labor leaders to wait until he has a chance to investigate and punish those responsible.

The Santiago fighting took the lives of nine army regulars and two rebels, including Col. Juan Lora Fernandez, former chief of staff of the rebel army. An unidentified civilian who joined the rebels inside the hotel also was killed, the hotel manager said.

Thirteen out of 18 Americans registered at the 45-room hotel were evacuated safely to a nearby air base, U.S. Embassy sources said. The other five were not at the hotel at the time.

All the Americans are working on a technical aid project initiated by Texas A&M University at the School of Superior Agricultural Studies near Santiago.

Commodore Francisco Rivera Caminero, the armed forces secretary, said the rebels started the battle by firing on army patrols.

Holy Trinity Students Give Advent Program

ROLLINGSTONE, Minn. (Special) — Holy Trinity grade and high schools presented an Advent-Christmas program Sunday evening.

Beginning with the theme of yearning in "Prophecy and Fulfillment," the high school students sang "Come Set Us Free, O Saving Light," and continued throughout with song to set the stage for the theme of fulfillment and celebration interpreted by the grade school children. By way of illustration, silhouette scenes were presented within a frame on the stage depicting the cry of God's people for redemption, the promises given through His prophets and the fulfillment of these same promises in the coming of Christ.

Following the Advent preparation program, grades one through eight sang Christmas songs. They also gave tableaux depicting the family, the place of the Christmas tree, and a dramatization of "The Twelve Days of Christmas." Interspersed among these were scenes emphasizing the true meaning of Christmas in the coming of the Christ Child. The tableau was placed within the wooden frame on stage, thus enhancing the overall effect of the theme "The Windows of Christmas." Accompanying the tableau in song was the grade school chorus. A narrative was provided by Faye Speltz.

Miss Jonelle Millam, Winona, directed the high school chorus and Miss Barbara Speltz, Rollingstone, was pianist. Lighting was provided under the direction of James O'Toole. Sister M. Michon directed the grade school performance.

Central Junior High School Concert Slated

The annual Christmas program will be presented at Central Junior High School Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. Taking part will be the Winona Junior High School Orchestra, the Central Junior High School Choir and a first semester seventh grade chorus.

Selections to be presented by the junior high orchestra include: "Merry Men and Maids," Handel; "A Little Latin," Muller; "Bratislava," Holosovsky; "Bring a Torch, Jeanette, Isabelle," French; "What Child is This" English carol.

Seventh grade chorus: "Christmas Greeting," Valentine; "Dona Nobis Pacem," Anonymous; "Christmas Bells," Gibb; "Lullaby on Christmas Eve," Christiansen, and "Jingle Bells," Pierpont.

Central Junior High School Choir: "Sing Noel," French carol; "Still, Still, Still," Austrian carol; "Fum, Fum, Fum," Spanish carol; "The Birthday of a King," Neidlinger; "Silver bells," American, and "Christmas was Meant for Children," American.

Choir and orchestra: "O Come, All Ye Faithful," Reading; "Silent Night," Gruber, and "Joy to the World," Handel.

The orchestra is under the direction of John D. Wood; the choral music, under the direction of John D. Wood; the choral music, under the direction of John R. Duell, and the accompanist is Sharon Herzberg.

The public is invited. There is no charge.

WEAVER GAR

WEAVER, Minn. (Special) — The Grand Army of the Republic held its December meeting at the Gilmore Olson home. Mrs. Victor Holland was assistant hostess. A memorial service was held for the late Arvilla Hoffman and the charter draped in her honor. A noon meal was served.

Bambenek Invested As St. Gregory Knight

The Most Rev. George Speltz, auxiliary bishop of the Catholic diocese of Winona, was celebrant of the Mass when one of his parishioners, Alfred J. Bambenek, was invested into the pontifical order of St. Gregory at St. Mary's College Sunday morning.

The investiture was by the Most Rev. Edward A. Fitzgerald, bishop.

The order dates back centuries when popes were temporal as well as spiritual forces in the world.

The ceremony included reading of the paper decree conferring the distinction on Bambenek, who has been active in support of the Christian Brothers and St. Mary's College.

At a dinner following the ceremony, Bambenek thanked his family and friends for their loyalty and gave special recognition to the Christian Brothers and Sister Camille, president of the College of Saint Teresa. He said he intended to continue working for the cause of higher education.

Mrs. Bambenek was awarded the Bishop Fitzgerald Medal for "outstanding charitable works particularly among the young people of the area."

Bemidji Man Killed in Crash

VINCENNES, Ind. (AP) — A one-car accident on an icy highway bridge 12 miles south of here Sunday killed Robert Kunz, 37, of Bemidji, Minn., and critically injured his 8-year-old son, Lawrence.

State police said the Kunz car, going south on U.S. 41, skidded on the White River bridge, hit a divider strip and then crashed through a guard rail.

Mrs. Donna Mae Kunz, 37, wife of the victim, who was driving, was not injured. Kunz died several hours after the accident in Good Samaritan Hospital here, where the son was listed in critical condition.

Car Rolls Over Near Lake City; Injury Slight

WABASHA, Minn. (Special) — A rural Lake City man escaped with a bruised ankle when his car turned onto its top after traveling 198 feet out of control Saturday at 9:30 a.m.

John Vining, 21, was driving on Wabasha County Road 4, 2½ miles southeast of Lake City. On a curve he met a car which was over the center line, according to Deputy Robert Loecher. Vining turned left to avoid hitting the other vehicle, lost control, went crossways on the highway 108 feet, then forward 90 feet, and rolled onto its top. The driver of the other car didn't stop. Vining's 1960 car was a total wreck.

Russ Schoenbeck, Minneapolis, arrested on complaint of Ridley's Motel, Wabasha, for not paying a bill for a period when he stayed there, pleaded guilty before Judge Kenneth Kalbrenner in municipal court Thursday. He was ordered to make restitution and was fined $25, of which $10 was suspended. He paid $15.

Big City Leaders Deny Surrender To Crime Groups

By JERRY BUCK

NEW YORK (AP) — Leaders of some of the nation's largest cities disagreed today with a Republican charge that zooming crime rates can be traced to a surrender to criminals by big-city political machines.

A panel of top Republicans, in a report issued Sunday night in Washington said municipal leaders "have, in effect, confessed that criminals, not the police, lawlessness, not the law, are in control."

"Insofar as surrendering to the criminal is concerned, we've done the opposite," said a spokesman for Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh of Detroit, a political independent.

"Obviously, New York is not one of the cities they have in mind," said a spokesman for Mayor Robert F. Wagner, a Democrat who will be succeeded by a Republican Jan. 1.

Those comments were typical of the reaction of officials in big cities across the country—that the Republicans must have had some city in mind other than their own. The Republican panel named no cities in the report.

The report, prepared by a coordinating committee task force headed by Robert Taft Jr., a former Ohio congressman, said in part:

"There are sectors in most of our large cities where crime is so rampant that citizens are advised to stay away. Administrators in some cities have really ceased to make an adequate effort to prevent crime in these sectors."

"Urban local government has become so large, party machinery so cumbersome, federal and state contacts so confusing that many people feel that their governments are no longer related to them.

"We suggest that some of the present difficulties are related to the development of large urban political machines. Citizens feel no sense of loyalty to governments dominated by such machines."

Minor Wilson, chief administrative aide to Police Supt. Orlando W. Wilson of Chicago, said: "It seems hard for me to believe that they really arrived at that conclusion. It seems almost absurd."

"The essence of Supt. Wilson's reorganization of the Chicago police force was to effect more centralized control of police operations. Before that time the police had been district controlled. The situation was not good."

The spokesman for Detroit Mayor Cavanagh said the city has no political machine because of its nonpartisan government. In fighting crime, he said the city has increased police salaries 26 per cent over the past four years, provided other incentives to the police and supports the force in all possible respects.

In Boston, Mayor John F. Collins, a Democrat, said: "I have to disagree as far as Boston is concerned. Far from surrendering, we have accelerated our drive against organized crime."

A spokesman for Mayor Samuel W. Yorty of Los Angeles said there are no areas in Los Angeles where citizens are advised to stay away because of lawlessness. He said the city is doing the best job possible with 5,000 policemen in a city of 459 square miles.

A spokesman for Mayor John F. Shelley of San Francisco, a Democrat, pointed out that the city's charter makes its offices nonpartisan.

HARRIS SURVEY

Majority Wants Students Deferred While in College

By LOUIS HARRIS

As the manpower needs for Viet Nam mount, the draft is now favored by 80 percent of the American people. Nonetheless, 71 percent of the public still believe that college students should receive deferments until they have completed their education, despite the rather wide association made between anti-Viet Nam war demonstrators and students.

Part of the reason for this is that Viet Nam is not quite looked upon as a full-scale war; part is the conviction that college graduates can be highly useful in the armed forces after graduation. But the chief reason is that the deep respect for a college degree simply takes precedence over national service in the war in Viet Nam.

One in five Americans believes that a majority of college students oppose the draft. (An earlier study of a cross section of college students showed that only 36 percent actually were opposed to the draft.)

The cross section of the public was asked:

"Most undergraduate college students are deferred from the draft until they have completed their college education. Do you approve or disapprove of deferring college students from the draft?"

	Dis-	Not
Approve	approve	Sure
Nation-wide	71	19
By education
Eight grade or less	57	28
High school	71	19
College	85	9

A large gulf exists between the views on the draft question of the less well-educated and those with college backgrounds. Still, a majority of all groups approves of deferring students. When asked the reasons for their feelings about deferring men at college, the underlying motivation of the American people emerged.

In Kingsport, Tenn., a 38-year-old service repairman with five children objects to college deferment: "Some young people can't afford to go to college. If you think about it, the poor are being penalized, the lives of the rich being saved."

But this is a minority view. In Adamsville, Ala., a 50-year-old housewife said, "The better a man's education, the better serviceman he'll make." In Andover, N.Y., a lathe operator said, "Education is too important to be interrupted, even for a war. You can't get ahead without an education." A clerk in a department store in Mason City, Iowa, said, "If they're getting good grades, are serious, they should be deferred. Otherwise, they'll never go back afterward."

When all of the volunteered reasons were added up, here is the pattern of answers:

Reasons Behind Views On College Deferment

Total Nation Percent

Why favor deferring:	71
Education comes ahead of military	23
Only if students are doing well	17
College graduates useful to military	14
If leave school, may never go back	11
Good jobs depend on college	3
Future leaders are in college	2
Enough others to be drafted	1
Why oppose deferring:	19
All able-bodied should fight	10
Can get education after war	3
Students no better than others	3
Some there to avoid draft	3
Rich can buy way out	1
Not sure	10

But even though college is considered a special achievement in this country, most Americans agree that all able-bodied young men should eventually be subject to the draft. The number in favor of the draft has risen sharply since earlier this year. Back in March and again in December, cross sections of the public were asked:

"Do you feel that all young men who are able-bodied should be eligible to be drafted for military service (or offered noncombat service for religious reasons) or do you oppose the draft?"

	Dec.	March
Favor draft	90	64
Oppose draft	5	29
Not sure	5	7

As the demands of the fighting in Viet Nam have heightened, the public has responded with a willingness to send its young fani reported to Washington in a Nov. 20 letter to President Johnson.

STORMY

The La Pira-Fanfani account said the Vietnamese were prepared for peace negotiations on the basis of the 1954 Geneva agreements creating Viet Nam provided the United States would accept the Communists' four-point program, which Hanoi called its definition of the Geneva treaty, as a basis for the talks.

The Hanoi account which denounced the State Department disclosure said flatly that "the United States must recognize these four points and show this with practical deeds so as to find a political solution to the Viet Nam problem."

That is in line with North Viet Nam's standard public position but it is harder as a statement of policy than the La Pira version reported by Fanfani and released in the Fanfani letter to Johnson.

Diplomatic authorities said privately they thought the Hanoi government might have considered it necessary to issue Saturday's denial to preserve its position with Communist China, which is regarded here as vehemently opposed to peace in Viet Nam. But officials said it was equally possible and perhaps more logical that North Viet Nam's leaders simply aren't ready to negotiate yet on any terms other than their own.

The principal Communist term which the Johnson administration has been totally unwilling to accept is Point Three, which requires that the Communists have a decisive role in the future of South Viet Nam. Johnson and Rusk have taken the position that on this issue there can be no compromise.

Fanfani's letter to Johnson was answered by Rusk Dec. 4 and Fanfani sent the essence of the reply along to North Viet Nam. Rusk asked for clarification on several points of La Pira's version of Ho's statement. Diplomatically, therefore, the next move would appear to be up to Hanoi. "No answer has reached me as of today," Fanfani said Friday.

When the sequence of events became public, U.S. officials went to great efforts to emphasize that the apparent peace feeler had not been rejected as reported by the Post-Dispatch.

But the next day, the Post-Dispatch quoted "well-placed diplomats" at the United Nations as saying U.S. bombing last Wednesday of an electrical power plant in the vicinity of the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong constituted a clear answer to the peace offer.

In a story by U.N. correspondent Donald Grant, the paper said Johnson had been informed in advance of the air strike that any such action would "close the door to negotiations." Goldberg, however, said Sunday that this is "completely untrue."

There were these other week-end developments:

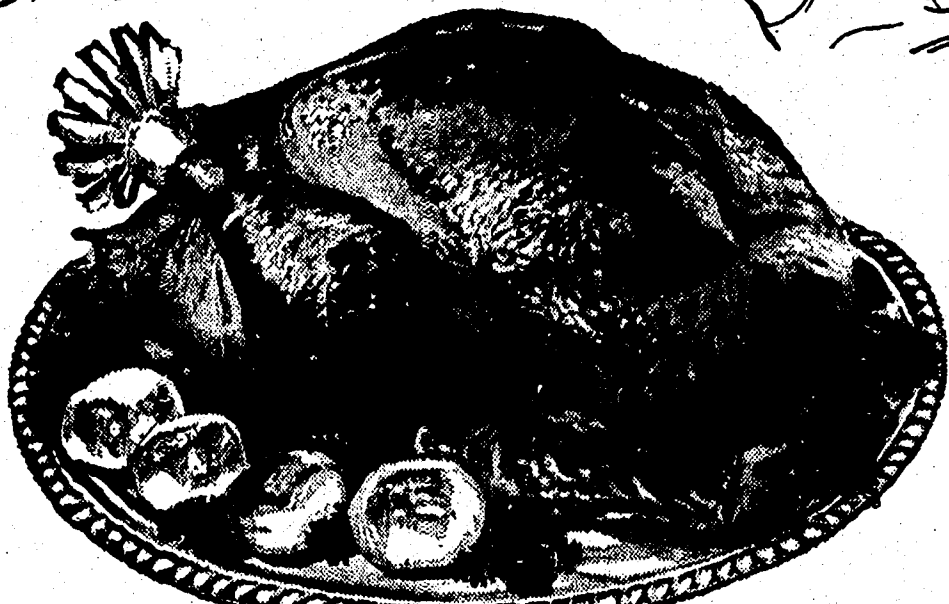

President Johnson received a report Sunday from Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield on a 30,000-mile fact-finding trip dealing mainly with Viet Nam. Mansfield and four colleagues who accompanied him said upon their arrival in Washington Saturday night that "the longer a solution is delayed, the more extended the destructiveness of the conflict will become and the more difficult the restoration of a rational and durable peace." —Pope Paul VI, speaking to 20,000 persons in St. Peter's Square, appealed to "responsible leaders" to heed at the least a Viet Cong proposal for a 12-hour Christmas Eve cease-fire in Viet Nam. "We hope that from the cease-fire there would follow reflections and negotiations, then finally the equilibrium of concord and peace..."

—Goldberg, commenting on the Pope's appeal, said that the United States seeks peace "not only for Christmas but for all time." As for the Viet Cong proposal, Goldberg said "our local commanders have been authorized to work that out provided it can be done without themselves being fired on."

NASON ON EDUCATION

Schoolwork Must Seem Worthwhile

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.
University of S. Calif.

Dropouts are not the only children who get the impression that school is not worthwhile for them.

To many students, homework assignments seem merely an attempt to keep them busy. Formal arithmetic, grammar, and dates and events of history all have little possible future use in the minds of some children.

It is difficult to make schoolwork have just the right challenge for all. The more capable pupils are bored. Others find the work too difficult. They either eventually give up or tend to develop habits of misbehavior.

Many things contribute to pupils' negative attitudes toward school. For example, parents and teachers, anxious that the children show up well, sometimes do too much for them. Other parents assume an attitude of domination and demand that the child do his homework.

A SUCCESSFUL approach in the case of both the successful student and the underachiever is to interest them in developing their own abilities.

Studying history becomes an opportunity to improve their reading ability, enhance their memories and learn to organize materials.

For example, arithmetic becomes an opportunity for practicing the analysis and solution of problems. Attention to careful writing of solutions brings increased speed and higher marks. Not just the homework, but how it is done, provides the source of interest.

The pupil must make the effort. Neither parent nor teacher can do this for him, but they can help him plan his schoolwork in such a way that he sees some benefit to himself in doing it.

Another spur to interest in the development of individual abilities is to discover some unusual or special ability of the child that may not have been recognized in the past either at home or at school.

The fulfillment a student finds in this new endeavor will carry over and provide enthusiasm for success in the required areas.

AS A HIGH school sophomore, Jeff was on the verge of falling in almost all of his subjects. He could see little use for the whole struggle. It took some conversations to discover that Jeff had a secret ambition to go on the stage. He felt that neither his parents nor his teachers would approve of this goal.

Actually, Jeff's parents were happy with this choice of goal. Once out in the open, it led to his inclusion in the cast of school plays. His high school courses from that time on were chosen appropriately. All of his grades showed improvement. He graduated from high school and continued in post-high school training in his chosen field.

For school to seem worthwhile to a student, it is not enough that adults tell him that it will make his future brighter. He must be convinced that he is gaining knowledge, ability and skills.

Erhard and LBJ Begin 2-Day Talks

By DON CARSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and President Johnson opened two days of talks today with the emphasis on Germany's efforts to gain a larger role in Europe's nuclear defenses.

The Germans have no nuclear weapons and rely on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as a deterrent against what Erhard has said are 1,000 middle-range Soviet missiles aimed at Western Europe.

Erhard was expected to present a plan for expanded control of those nuclear weapons now in Western Europe.

Administration officials knew in advance the broad outlines of his proposal, but declined public comment until after Erhard fills in the details.

As understood prior to the German's arrival, this would involve general support for the British idea of an Atlantic Nuclear Force — ANF.

The Erhard-envisaged force, as understood in Washington, would be a fleet of American and British submarines equipped with Polaris missiles and jointly owned by interested nations. At the outset this probably would include the United States, Britain, West Germany, Italy and the Netherlands.

Thus, three nations — Germany, Italy and the Netherlands — would have a bigger say in the use of nuclear weapons.

Among those with Erhard in Washington are Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder and Defense Minister Kai-Uwe von Hassel.

They arrived late Sunday afternoon and were greeted by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

A state dinner was scheduled at the White House tonight.

1,265 Graduate at UM Ceremony

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The University of Minnesota conferred 825 bachelor, 305 master's and 135 doctor's degrees in fall quarter commencement exercises Saturday night.

Dr. Howard R. Bowen, president of the University of Iowa, told the graduates that the technological revolution is running roughshod over the human being, fouling the air and exploiting the natural resources. He urged the graduates to direct technology toward fulfillment of human and community needs.

Snow Vehicle Breaks Through, Man Is Saved

GRAND MARAIS, Minn. (AP)

A Grand Marais man went for an unscheduled dip in the icy waters of Mountain Lake about 35 miles northeast of here on the Canadian border Saturday. Kenneth Drowley, along with Wayne Schlenz and his son, Gary, also of Grand Marais, were riding on a snow vehicle across the lake heading for a cabin to go moose hunting.

The snow vehicle hit a soft spot in the ice and broke through. Schlenz and his son leaped free of the rig, but Drowley went in with it. With the others' help, he soon got out, however.

The snow vehicle and all their equipment went down in the lake, but the trio returned to the site Sunday hoping to retrieve the rig.

Name Duluth Man Public Defender

ST. PAUL (AP) — John Durfee, Duluth attorney, was appointed 6th district public defender Saturday by the Minnesota State Judicial Council.

Also named were four assistant public defenders for the district, and the council confirmed the recommendation of the 6th district judges.

C. Paul Jones of Minneapolis was named Minnesota's first public defender a month ago. The system was made statewide by the last legislature.

The California Angels have signed a 35-year contract to use Anaheim Stadium which the city built mainly for baseball. Their rental is 74 percent of the yearly gate or $160,000, whichever is greater.

DEAR ABBY:

Men Like to Buy for Selves

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Why do most men prefer to buy their own clothes, no matter how poor their taste is, rather than let their wives go shopping with them? I know very few men whose wives couldn't dress them better than they dress themselves. Most men know nothing about style. They come out of the store with something just like what they went in with. You have to look close to see if they're wearing their new blue suit or their old one. You should write a whole column on how the well-dressed man should dress.

SICK OF SLOBS

DEAR SICK: I don't have to write a column on how men should dress. Any man who wants to be well-dressed needs only to walk into a first-class men's clothing store and ask one of the salesmen for guidance. Men who sell men's clothing are among the best-dressed men in the country. They make an honest effort to sell the customer what is right for him. And only if they fail, will they let him buy what he wants, regardless.

DEAR ABBY: Please answer this soon as it is very important to me. There is this real cute boy at school and I like him very much, but he doesn't like me. He likes another girl. She is real popular and I am not. This girl has a big mouth, terrible personality and she's a big showoff, but she's good-looking and that's why she's popular. This isn't just my opinion. Lots of kids agree with me. I am not cute, but I am not ugly, either. This boy is going to ask this girl to go steady. I told him he is making a big mistake and he said that was for HIM to decide. What can I do to get him?

LIKES HIM

DEAR LIKES: Nothing. No boy likes to be told whom to like, and any coaching from the sidelines will only make him more determined to make up his own mind. It's not possible to throw mud without getting some on yourself, so my advice to you is to concentrate on making yourself more "likable" and quit attempting to cut other girls down.

DEAR ABBY: I have a daughter who is seven years old and Abby, she is about the slowest eater I have ever seen. It took her 45 minutes to eat a bowl of cereal this morning. She has always been a slow eater, and nothing can make her eat faster. I don't know if we should try to get her to eat faster or not. Can you advise me?

MRS. C.

DEAR MRS. C.: Forty-five minutes is far too long to sit over a bowl of cereal. She's not "eating" — she's dawdling. These are the years children form their habits, so give her a certain amount of time (like 15 minutes) in which to eat her cereal, and then remove the bowl. Full or empty. She has trained YOU to accept her fiddling around. Change her tune, and train HER to get on with the business of eating at mealtime.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "C. M. IN CORONA, CALIF.": You will never win the boy's "love" by buying him presents. Just behave so that when people tell him he's just like his father, he'll stick out his chest instead of his tongue.

Promotions for 3 Astronauts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sent individual letters of praise Saturday to the four rendezvous-in-space astronauts and informed three of them they were getting military promotions.

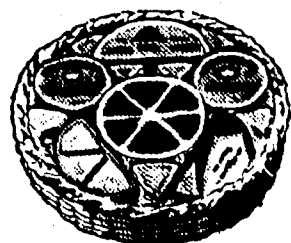

Typical of the congratulations Johnson bestowed was his statement, in a letter to command pilot Walter Schirra of Gemini 6, that he was sending "the highest praise a President can bestow — you made us all proud."

To Thomas Stafford of the Gemini 6 crew, he wrote, "no words of mine can add to the luster of the triumph you have just shared." All the astronauts except Schirra — a Navy captain — will be promoted one grade. It is standing policy to grant such promotions to all astronauts making their first space trip. Schirra was promoted after an earlier space flight. The new promotions, which will be sent to the Senate for confirmation next month, will boost James A. Lovell Jr. of Gemini 7 to the rank of Navy captain, Frank Borman of Gemini 7 to full colonel in the Air Force and Stafford to lieutenant colonel in the Air Force.

It's High Time to Mail Cards

By RUTH ROGERS
Daily News Area Editor

Mailing time is running short. If the lonely, ill and shut-ins are to be remembered by Christmas, we'll have to get those cards of cheer at the post office, for the postal officials also are busy. There's time, however, to remember the following persons who need cheer at this time of the year that is lonely for many:

Mrs. Herman Vogt, St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Wabasha, Minn.
Mrs. Paul Lueck, 926 Caledonia St., La Crosse, patient in Room 217, Grandview Hospital, La Crosse, and won't be released until after Christmas.
George Abts, Veterans Administration Hospital, Wood, Wis.
Merle Blagsvedt, Eddie Brink and James Houghton, three young men all confined to wheelchairs at Green Lea Manor Nursing Home, Mabel, Minn.

Wilfred Schneider, Mrs. Amanda Hartman, Miss Carol Thoeny and Miss Ruth Clason, all of Cochrane Nursing Home, Cochrane, Wis. Send each a greeting, won't you — they don't receive many.
Mrs. Cora Crain, c/o Bernard Kamrowski, 70, Cochrane, Wis. Her friend says, "She surely would enjoy mail."
John A. Donovan, Maple Manor Nursing Home, 1875 19th St. NW, Rochester, Minn., formerly of Winona and Lewiston.

Mrs. Lena Olson, Bethany Home, La Crosse, Wis.
Mrs. Walter Turnbull, Elmcroft Home, Galesville, Wis.
Mrs. Helen Zindel, St. Joseph's Hospital, Arcadia, Wis.
Mrs. Gusta Hauge, c/o Asbury Hospital, Minneapolis, Minn. Formerly of Caledonia, she's recuperating from a leg fracture.
James Driscoll, Evergreen Rest Home, Caledonia, Minn.

Mrs. Emma Peterson, 418 Adams St., La Crosse, Wis.
Mrs. Evelyn Wilson, Pepin View Nursing Home, Lake City, Minn.
Clara Sletten, Rustad Nursing Home, Strum, Wis.
George Buerman, Hillside Rest Home, Rushford, Minn.

Mrs. Belle Krampeter, Buffalo Memorial Nursing Home, Mondovi, Wis.
Fred Pfund, Lutheran Home, Mondovi, Wis.
and Oak, Milwaukee; one daughter, Mrs. Ray (Beulah) Diekmann, Harvey, Ill.; 23 grandchildren; six great-grandchildren, one brother, Fred Minnesota City, and four sisters, Mrs. Henry (Alvina) Whetstone, Minnesota City, Mrs. Gertrude Lewis and Mrs. George (Selma) Gaebele, Winona, and Mrs. Paul (Barbara) Reys, Lewiston.

Vikes Wishing Slate Not Over

CHICAGO (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings ended a season of unfulfilled promise on a rousing note here Sunday, upsetting the Chicago Bears, 24-17, in the National Football League season finale.

Flushed by the victory, which gave his Vikings a final 7-7 record, Coach Norm Van Brocklin said:

"My only regret is that the season isn't a little longer. We have played real good football the last three or four weeks. We feel we can beat anybody right now."

The victory was especially sweet for Minnesota because the Vikings stormed from behind with three touchdowns in the fourth quarter to snatch from the Bears what looked like a certain Chicago win.

"They did it to us in the last couple of minutes in Minnesota," Van Brocklin said, obviously relishing the thought, "and we did it to them the same way here."

Minnesota finished fifth in the seven-team Western Conference of the NFL, dropping from a tie for second with Green Bay in 1964. San Francisco was half a step ahead of the Vikings at 7-6-1, both trailing leaders Green Bay, Baltimore and Chicago.

"Playing .500 ball in this league is pretty good," Van Brocklin said. "We had some troubles early, but we got straightened out."

Both Van Brocklin and Coach George Halas of Chicago agreed that when the Bears lost their chance at the Western Division title Saturday (when Baltimore edged Los Angeles 20-17), it took some of the starch out of them.

"We had to fight a letdown," Halas said, but he didn't take anything away from the Vikings, saying:

"Those Vikings have been pesky for us ever since they came into the league. Sometimes we smack them down, but we never can seem to exterminate them."

Said Van Brocklin, "I'm sure Baltimore's victory Saturday took the red hot edge off the Bears, but I'm not taking away anything from our kids."

The Vikings seemed almost as pleased over the way they contained brilliant Bear rookie Gale Sayers as the victory itself.

"I think we did an excellent job on him," Van Brocklin said. "He didn't do much from the line of scrimmage."

"Our game plan," defensive Capt. Rip Hawkins added, "was to keep Sayers inside, and we did it fairly well." Sayers gained 82 yards on 14 carries, but got 25 of those yards in one run.

It was Hawkins who enjoyed one of his greatest moments as a pro when he intercepted a Rudy Bukich pass in the final two minutes and rammed 35 yards to the winning touchdown.

"They were trying to set up a screen pass," Hawkins said,

It's Another Game You Can Watch on TV

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The best quarterback the Baltimore Colts had going for them in their last-chance shot at the National Football League's Western Division title was John Brodie — of the San Francisco 49ers.

Baltimore kept alive Saturday when converted halfback Tom Matte and veteran pick-up Ed Brown quarterbacked them to a 20-17 squeaker over the Los Angeles Rams.

Then on Sunday, Brodie capped the finest season of his career by leading the 49ers to a 24-24 tie with Green Bay, leaving the Packers and Colts deadlocked at the top with 10-3-1 records.

Green Bay had a seven-point lead — and the division title apparently sewn up — with less than two minutes to go. But the 49ers surged back, so now the Packers and Colts will play off for the Western crown next Sunday at Green Bay, with the winner taking on the Cleveland Browns for the league championship Jan. 2.

Brodie's third scoring pass of the day, a 27-yarder to Vern Burke with 1 minute, 7 seconds to play, and Tommy Davis' conversion kick tied it at San Francisco.

Each team led twice, with the Packers taking a 21-17 advantage in the final period on Jim Taylor's five-yard run and going ahead 24-17 when Don Chandler kicked a 31-yard field goal with 1:48 left.

But in 41 seconds the 49ers got even on Kermit Alexander's kickoff return to the 29, a 15-yard penalty, four Brodie passes, and Davis' kick. The 49ers' quarterback stag, in his ninth NFL season, clicked on 26 of 34 passes for an amazing 76.5 percent and 295 yards, and wound up the year with 30 TD strikes.

Rookie sensation Gayle Sayers of Chicago extended his league record with his 22nd touchdown of the season and won the scoring title, but the Minnesota Vikings beat the Bears 24-17. The loss left the Bears with a 9-3 record, good for third place in the West.

Cleveland's Eastern champion Browns rallied for a 27-24 decision over St. Louis even though they had to play the last half without Jim Brown, who got his 21st TD of the year but also got kicked out of the game for fighting.

In other NFL action — Don Meredith's passing led Dallas over New York 38-20 and into the Playoff Bowl at Miami; Detroit outscored Philadelphia 35-28, giving the West a remarkable 13-1 superiority over the East in inter-division play this season, and Washington scored three times on Pittsburgh misses for a 35-14 romp over the Steelers.

Vince Costello's interception set up a 24-yard TD pass from Frank Ryan to Tom Hutchinson with 44 minutes left, enabling the Browns to overtake the Cardinals. Larry Wilson stole three of Ryan's passes and sprinted 95 yards for a touchdown with one of the interceptions.

Brown and defensive end Joe Robb of St. Louis were ejected for fighting just before the first half ended. Before that, the great Cleveland fullback bulled over from the three for his 21st touchdown and totaled 74 yards on 12 carries. He ran off with

Cotter Hoping for Two Big Victories

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

Cotter High School, over the early segment of its basketball schedule, has been troubled.

The Ramblers own a 2-3 record — something coach John Nett will tell you is not totally surprising.

"We anticipated some problems," said Nett. "The second half against Lourdes 52-51 loss for the Ramblers, we looked a little better. We shot better and, of course, that makes everything work."

Cotter is the lone city team scheduled for action this week and two quick victories and a 4-3 record heading to the holiday tournament would suit Nett just fine.

The Ramblers Tuesday host Marshfield, Wis., Columbus at the Winona High Auditorium and Wednesday travel to Owatonna Marian.

"I'd be satisfied with a 4-3 record at the break," said Nett. "We've got some problems to iron out. When we get our board problem solved, things should be much better."

Following Wednesday's game, the Ramblers adjourn until hosting the third annual Cotter High School Invitational Holiday Tournament at St. Mary's College field house Dec. 28-29. Cotter is scheduled for a 7 p.m. game with Eau Claire Regis the first night. La Crosse Aquinas and St. Paul Hill play in the nightcap.

But the two most pressing problems right now are Columbus and Marian, two teams Nett knows little of.

"Columbus isn't too big," he said. "At least not by the look of its roster. I've only seen one score. That was a two-point overtime victory over Aquinas. Marian beat Lourdes by about 10. I hear they're pretty proud of their team."

Nett anticipates no lineup changes for the two games. That means Jim Holmoy and Chuck Kulas will be the forwards, Mike Twomey the center and Bob Allaire and Tom Wenzel at guards.

The only other city athletic event scheduled for this week is on tap Tuesday when Dave Morocco takes his Winona High wrestlers to Stewartville.

"We're all through losing," Morocco had said after bowing to Rochester Friday, and he hopes Stewartville will mark the start of a pleasant string.

Stewartville is a strong team," said Morocco, "but they (the Tigers) are strong in the lower weights. So are we, and I'd rather meet a team head-on like that. Then if you win in the lower weights, you're all right."

Colts Not Dead, Shula Has Hope

BALTIMORE — Given up for dead a week ago, the Baltimore Colts suddenly find themselves with a chance to win their second consecutive Western Conference title in the National Football League.

"As long as you're alive, you have hope," Coach Don Shula said after the Green Bay Packers were tied 24-24 by the San Francisco 49ers Sunday and tumbled into a first-place deadlock with the Colts.

That left the conference leaders with identical 10-3-1 records after regular season play, with the playoff game scheduled in Green Bay next Sunday.

"The 49ers played a great game," Shula said after watching them tie Green Bay on closed circuit television at a local studio. "They gave it everything they had, and aside from a couple of fumbles, they could have won."

Shula, many of his players and their wives, and former Colts such as Gino Marchetti and Art Donovan, watched the broadcast. They showed as much enthusiasm as raucous Colt spectators in the stands.

Linebacker Don Shinnick, lifting high some potato salad, toasted the 49ers as the game got under way. Out of his seat many times during the contest, Shinnick finished with a flourish.

When San Francisco's Vern Burke caught the tying touchdown pass with only 67 seconds left, Shinnick rushed up to the television monitor and planted a kiss on the image of the 49ers' offensive end.

Tom Matte started victory over the Los Angeles Rams Saturday, filling in for injured John Unitas and Gary Cuzzo after five years as an NFL halfback. And, Matte may have to play in the spot all the way against Green Bay.

Under NFL rules, a player is not eligible for playoff or championship games unless he was on the roster for the last two regular season games. That would make veteran quarterback Ed Brown, picked up on waivers from Pittsburgh last week, and rookie George Haffner, added from the Colts' taxi squad last week, ineligible for Sunday's game.

However, Baltimore General Manager Don Kelleit said he would seek a special ruling from NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, because of the extraordinary conditions involved, to make Brown and Haffner eligible.

Even if Brown is available, Shula said he would start Matte, "and work Brown into certain situations." That's what happened against Los Angeles when Brown threw one touchdown pass during his brief stint after only one day of practice.

Vince Costello's interception set up a 24-yard TD pass from Frank Ryan to Tom Hutchinson with 44 minutes left, enabling the Browns to overtake the Cardinals. Larry Wilson stole three of Ryan's passes and sprinted 95 yards for a touchdown with one of the interceptions.

Brown and defensive end Joe Robb of St. Louis were ejected for fighting just before the first half ended. Before that, the great Cleveland fullback bulled over from the three for his 21st touchdown and totaled 74 yards on 12 carries. He ran off with Tough Schedules? How About Mabel!

MABEL, Minn. — Obviously the biggest Christmas present Mabel basketball coach Dave Zimmer is going to get is just having the holiday season here.

The erstwhile Wildcat boss has watched his team, scheduled for improvement over a 2-15 record a year ago, compile a 1-4 record. At first glance, that is a paltry summation. But a few more things than just surface fact enter the picture.

Take, for instance, the fact that the four teams who won victories over the Wildcats have compiled a 16-7 cumulative record.

MABEL HAS suffered three losses against one victory in the Root River Conference. The defeats have come at the hands of Caledonia, Houston and Rushford. Caledonia and Houston are the league pacesetters at 4-0 and Rushford is just one notch behind at 3-1.

The non-conference loss came at the hands of Lanesboro, 5-2 overall.

It is understandable then that Zimmer probably is looking forward to battles with some of the lesser powers after the holidays.

HOWEVER, it won't be the case until January. Mabel Tuesday must play at Harmony — and Tom Muelemans' Cardinals are apt to be roaring mad after having a four-game victory string interrupted by Wykoff.

It is just another in a long line of toughies for Mabel. Harmony is 4-2 overall and 2-1 in the Maple Leaf.

But don't count Zimmer's corps out. The Wildcats have six lettermen back from last year, including the entire group that played in tournament competition last year.

Lettermen are 6-1 forward Rick Horgan, 6-2 center Derrick Dahlen, 5-9 guard Rick Ruehmann, 5-11 forward John Tengsdahl, 5-9 guard Kim Loftsgarden and 5-6 guard Dave Housker.

PACING the club in scoring are Loftsgarden with 74 points and Ruehmann with 57.

Other area action Tuesday sends Stewartville to Grand Meadow and Mondovi to Ellsworth.

Wednesday, unbeaten and top-ranked Alma hosts rival Copeland-Fountain City. Rushford plays at Caledonia Lorette, Wabasha St. Felix at Pepin and Minneapolis West at Austin.

SAYS LOMBARDI AFTER TIE:

'Have to Play Much Better Than We Did Here Today'

SAN FRANCISCO — "We'll have to play a lot better than we did today," said Green Bay Coach Vince Lombardi Sunday as he looked ahead at his Packers' playoff with Baltimore forced by a 24-24 tie against San Francisco.

"I'm naturally disappointed," said Lombardi. "What can I say after a tie?"

The deadlock prevented Green Bay from wrapping up its fourth Western Conference crown in the National Football League in the last six years. The Colts will meet the Packers to decide the matter this Sunday at Green Bay, with the winner host to Eastern Conference titlist Cleveland in the championship game Jan. 2.

Green Bay had a last chance to pull out the game Sunday but Bart Starr's bomb aimed at McGee was knocked down at the final moment by a leaping Kermit Alexander.

"I'd like to have had a gun and shot him," said Lombardi. Then he added, "We had Alexander beaten, but the pass was a little short. A perfect throw would have given us a score, but that's football and you can't be perfect every time."

It was not the two leads Green Bay lost or the touchdown McGee didn't make that irked the Packers most — it was an 85-yard touchdown run by Willie Wood that didn't count.

In the second period, Brodie flipped a lateral to John David Crow who bobbled it and dropped it. Wood seized the bouncing ball and weaved his way the length of the football field. As the teams began lining up for the conversion try, officials nullified the touchdown.

The ruling was that the play was an incomplete lateral, which the book says can be recovered but not run back, therefore giving the Packers possession on their own 15. The Packers protested Crow had caught the lateral, then fumbled the ball, allowing a runback.

Lombardi snapped at newsmen after the game and said of the play, "I don't think it's any of your business how I feel. I said my piece on the field and that's it."

Then he added, "Of course I felt Crow had possession. The official on the opposite side of the field called the play. How he could see it, I don't know, but he called it."

A 31-yard field goal by Don Chandler made it 24-17 before Burke's touchdown catch.

"It could have been worse — much worse," said Lombardi. "We could have lost."

The Packers will spend part of this week doctoring their two top running threats, Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung, before the playoff game the day after Christmas.

Hornung, who scored five touchdowns in Green Bay's 42-27 victory over the Colts the previous week, carried the ball only three times before sitting out the rest of Sunday's game.

"I banged up some ribs," said Hornung. "I wanted to get back into the game, but the ribs were sore. So Vince decided against it. I'm going to have them X-rayed as soon as we get back to Green Bay."

Gophers' Hopes Dealt a Crippling Blow; Hudson Breaks Wrist

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Lou Hudson, Minnesota's All-American candidate who is acclaimed by Coach John Kundla as the finest basketball player in Gopher history, has a broken right wrist and may have played his last college game.

The loss of Hudson, who broke a bone at the base of his wrist early in Saturday night's 89-77 Gopher victory over Creighton here, dealt a cruel, crippling blow to Minnesota's hopes of challenging for the Big Ten cage championship and a high national rating.

The Gophers, with four straight victories this year and ranked 6th in the nation by The Associated Press, learn tonight how much Hudson's loss will hurt when they play at Detroit in the opener of a seven-game, four-week road trip.

Hudson's injury, which follows the eligibility losses of Terry Kunze a year ago and Don Yates last summer, stunned Kundla.

"It seems more of a personal tragedy to Louis than it does to the team," Kundla said. "It goes without saying how much we will miss him — not only for his scoring but because he was our best defensive player."

"I feel that he is the finest college player in the country. There is no question but that he is the finest player ever at Minnesota. This would have been the year when his greatness would have been recognized."

Kundla mentioned the possibility of petitioning the Big Ten for another year of eligibility for the 6-foot-5 senior forward from Greensboro, N.C.

However, Minnesota Big Ten faculty representative Max Schultze said Sunday night he doubts if such permission would be granted, based on past cases. Hudson jammed the wrist as he fell hard on it while driving down the baseline toward the goal. He landed full force on the wrist after getting his feet taken out from under him by a Creighton defender.

Hudson played the rest of the game with the wrist tightly taped and scored 32 points in his best performance this season, giving him 89 in four games.

The highest scorer, average-wise, in Minnesota history with 1,062 points in 52 games for a career 20.8 average, Hudson was considered a leading All-America candidate after being named all-Big Ten last season.

He scored 435 points his sophomore year and 558 last year.

"I just couldn't believe it at first," Hudson said of the broken wrist. "I'm trying not to let it get me down, but it sure isn't easy. I may be out for the year."

The wrist was placed in a cast Sunday, and doctors said it would be on his arm at least six weeks and possibly as long as 12 weeks.

Hudson was drafted on the 20 round by the Dallas Cowboys in recent National Football League draft even though he did not play college football. He has said he does not want to play pro football, but is likely to be a high round draft choice in the National Basketball Association next March.

Gopher Capt. Archie Clark said, "We're all bound to be hurt without him, but we're going to have to work harder — a lot harder. We can only hope that he is able to rejoin us before the season is over."

Kundla said both Dennis Dvoracek and Wes Martins, who have been alternating at a guard spot, will start — Dvoracek replacing Hudson at forward.

The Gophers twice let big leads melt away before turning back stubborn Creighton Saturday night. Minnesota led 38-20 in the first half, but the Blue-boys trimmed it to 49-38 by halftime and to only a three-point deficit early in the second half. Then Minnesota built a 71-56 bulge before Creighton rallied to trim that to only five points. A late Gopher flurry put it away.

Behind Hudson, Clark had 21 points, Tom Kondla 18 and Paul Presthus 11.

 Rambunctious Eddie Shack could be on the way to his best National Hockey League season ever after playing his way back from exile.

Shack scored two goals—his 12th and 13th of the season—as Toronto ran its unbeaten string to six games with a 3-1 decision over Boston Sunday night.

Elsewhere, New York ended an 11-game winless streak with a 3-2 victory against league-leading Montreal and Chicago trimmed the Canadiens' lead to two points by coming from behind on Pat Stapleton's third-period goal for a 5-4 victory. Saturday night, Toronto walloped New York 8-4 as Shack scored once and Dave Keon and Bob Pulford hit hat tricks. Montreal edged Boston 2-1 and Detroit stopped Chicago 3-1.

Toronto's Punch Imlach, who never seemed quite sure what to do with Shack, solved his problem this year by shipping exuberant Eddie to Rochester of the American League.

But when the Leafs lagged at the season's start, Imlach brought Shack back and he hasn't been sorry since.

Dallas' victory over New York left the two clubs tied for second in the East with 7-7 records, but the Cowboys beat the Giants twice and thus earned the East spot in the Playoff Bowl for division runners-up.

Meredith hit Olympic flash Bob Hayes with two scoring passes and connected with Buddy Dial for another, while rookie Overt Logan raced 60 yards with a blocked field goal for a key Dallas touchdown.

Tom Nowatzke, a seldom-used rookie back, paced the Lions over the Eagles with two touchdowns, including the clincher in the fourth quarter on a 22-yard pass from Milt Plum.

The Redskins got rich on the passing of Pittsburgh's Tommy Wade, with TD interception runs of 34 yards by Rickie Harris and 63 yards by Tommy Walters. Lonnie Sanders also picked off a Wade throw, leading to Washington's first touchdown. Bob Pellegrini notched another six-pointer for the Redskins defense when he rambled 31 yards with a fumble recovery.

Michigan-Duke Head Major Cage Schedule

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

All the major college basketball teams are taking the week-end off for Christmas but have jammed up the early part of the week with a flock of key inter-sectional games—including the Duke vs. Michigan clash.

The Blue Devils, 6-1 after a major scare from Virginia Saturday, take their No. 1 national ranking to Michigan Tuesday night for the top game on a busy slate. Michigan is 4-1 and ranked third nationally.

That game could have a major bearing on the national standings going into next week's hefty schedule of scores and scores of holiday tournaments, a schedule that actually started last weekend and continues with a couple of more early this week.

Michigan was idle last week and should be well-rested for Duke. The Wolverines lost Bill Buntin from last year's Big Ten champion team but still have All-America Cazzie Russell and 6-foot-7 Oliver Darden back from the team that last year reached the national finals and the year before the semis.

Duke, on the other hand, is scrambling. After knocking off UCLA twice in a row the week before, the Blue Devils had to come from behind twice Saturday night in clipping Virginia 75-72.

Other important games early in the week have unbeaten Providence, No. 7, at Houston, and unbeaten Minnesota, No. 6, at Detroit tonight.

Tuesday night it's St. Joseph's, Pa., 6-0 and No. 2, at Brigham Young; Montana at Bradley, 8-0 and No. 9; and Santa Barbara at Vanderbilt, 6-0 and No. 5.

Fifteen teams were knocked from the unbeaten ranks last week, with No. 4 Kansas having the roughest go among the ranked teams, losing twice, 78-71 to UCLA and 81-69 to Southern California.

Eligible-ranked UCLA took an 82-76 licking from Cincinnati Saturday, its third loss of the season, but the rest of the Top Ten rolled along as expected.

Vanderbilt won three times, including a 72-69 triumph over Western Kentucky in the finals of Vandy's Invitational Tournament Saturday night.

Other host teams scoring victories in their own tournaments Saturday included Kentucky, 91-56 over Indiana; Virginia Tech, 72-62 over Clemson; Marquette, 75-74 over Washington in the Milwaukee Classic; and Arizona State University 84-81 over Seattle.

Central Methodist raced into the lead in the Park-Rec Bantam Basketball League Saturday with a 38-28 victory over Sunbeam. In the other game, Red Men's Club tipped Peerless 30-17.

Central raced away after a 17-13 halftime lead. Bob Browne with 18 and Pete Hartwick with 12 led the winner. Jim Zaborowski totaled 17 for Sunbeam. Red Men's Club built an 18-7 halftime lead. Gary Wenzel scored 16 for the winners, Dick Wanek nine for the losers.

Coca-Cola kept one game off the pace by topping McKinley Methodist 14-11 in the battle for second place. Don Florin hit 11 for the winners. American Legion defeated Winona Hotel 11-8.

Reggie Otero, who coached with the Cincinnati Reds last season, will coach with the Cleveland Indians next season.

Tommies, Huskies Teams to Beat in State Cage Loops

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Thomas and St. Cloud State have established themselves as the teams to beat in the Minnesota and Northern Intercollegiate Conference basketball races, which get down to serious business after the holiday break.

The Tommies clearly are ahead above the pack in the MIAC after the early jockeying. St. Thomas has won 7 of its 8 games, losing only 88-86 at Loras, Iowa, last week. The Tommies came back from that loss to beat St. Joseph's of Indiana, 79-75, Saturday night.

St. Cloud boasts a 7-2 record, with only two losses on a recent road trip to Kansas City marring the Huskies' record. St. Cloud bounced Augsburg, defending MIAC champion fallen from its one-lofty perch, 82-59, Saturday night.

Bemidji State looms as St. Cloud's top challenger in the NIC. The Beavers, idle for a week, own a 4-1 record.

The only other state team with a record above the .500 level is St. Mary's of Winona at 3-2.

In other games Saturday night, Bethel of St. Paul edged Buena Vista of Iowa 85-84, while Dakota Wesleyan blizzed Minnesota-Morris, 109-78, and South Dakota State ripped Moorhead State, 78-58.

Three games are on tap tonight, before everybody breaks for a week for the Christmas holiday. Concordia plays at St. Cloud, Gustavus Adolphus at South Dakota State and Morris at Huron.

Morris is 2-4 and Bethel 4-4 so far, while in the Midwest Conference St. Olaf is 3-1 and Carleton 2-1.

"and Bukich was rushed hard and had to throw in a hurry. I was lucky enough to be able to cut in front of the receiver and had a clear path. Any time I make a touchdown, I think it's big."

The Vikings, now, 14-3 early Fran Tarkenton's touchdown in the fourth quarter, rallied on passes of 17 and 22 yards to Tom Hall and Gordie Smith to tie the score at 17-17 with 1:26 remaining.

Then the Bears tried the screen pass, Hawkins picked it off and thundered to the victory score with 1:05 left on the clock.

The first half was scoreless, but Ronnie Bull ran 23 yards for a Chicago touchdown in the third period and Fred Cox booted a 33-yard field goal for Minnesota. Chicago raised its lead to 14-3 on Sayers' two-yard plunge, and later Roger Leclerc added a 20-yard field goal.

It was the Vikings' second straight victory following a four-game losing streak that took them out of the race in the West.

Twilley Goes With Dolphins

HOUSTON (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings lost their 14th-round draft choice Saturday when Tulsa end Howard Twilley signed with the Miami Dolphins of the American Football League after playing against Tennessee in the Blue bonnet Bowl game here.

Twilley, who set NCAA pass-catching records this season, was signed by former Viking chief scout Joe Thomas, now director of player personnel for the new Miami franchise in the AFL.

The Vikings signed another don Moomaw, a 6-foot-3, 255-pound free agent.

Bob Petrella, Tennessee defensive back drafted 12th by the Vikings, did not sign with anybody after the game, preferring to wait.

North Dakota, Tech Head for Showdown

 North Dakota and unbeaten defending champion Michigan Tech are heading for a collision Jan. 7-8 at Grand Forks, N.D., which likely will decide the front runner in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association.

North Dakota, now 5-1 in WCHA play to Tech's 4-0, whipped Denver twice last weekend in the only conference games. The Sioux took the pair on identical 4-3 scores.

 Los Angeles Laker coach Fred

Schaus wears his suitcoat at all National Basketball Association games—perhaps to hide a few tricks up his sleeve.

He didn't doff his jacket Sunday night, a few tricks rolled out, and the Lakers beat the San Francisco Warriors, 132-120. Here's a sample of Schaus surprises:

—Players were ordered to be in the dressing room early and visitors were barred.

"Let them sit there and think about basketball," said Schaus, still ranked at the two defeats Philadelphia handed Los Angeles last week on its home court.

—Elgin Baylor, Laker superstar, suited up for the first time since he injured his knee Nov. 27. He didn't play, but added an air of power to the Los Angeles bench.

Schaus jumbled the lineup, starting Walt Hazzard and Jerry West at guard, using Leroy Ellis for Baylor and calling on Bob Boozer to sub for injured Rudy LaRusso at the other forward spot. Gene Wiley played center.

The Lakers played raggedly through the first three quarters and trailed 95-94 going into the final period.

In the decisive period, Schaus improvised, having Jim King and Gail Goodrich join West in the backcourt.

That gave the Lakers three guards—a trick that apparently shook everybody up, including the Warriors, and set the Lakers on a final shooting blitz. Three minutes later, on West's hot-shot, the Lakers had pulled to an unbeatable 120-110 lead.

All other NBA members were idle.

'Slivers' Gilmore Steps Out of Wabasha Baseball

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)—A member of the Wabasha Park board for more than 15 years has resigned from that position, George "Slivers" Gilmore, 55, Wabasha's Mr. Baseball, also has retired his bat and relinquished his gavel as organizer and director of American Legion baseball here. He is employed as a meter reader for Northern States Power Co.

His baseball career began 40 years ago when he played semi-pro ball with his father on their home town team, the Durand Tigers. The lanky 15-year-old George was a second baseman and his father, the late Fred Gilmore, an outfielder. George has been "in" baseball ever since, first as a player, later as a coach.

Mostly he played first base and shortstop with teams ranging from Durand, Menomonie and Alma to Minneapolis Honeywell and the Twin City Ordinance Plant at New Brighton. On the latter two teams he played in two state amateur baseball tournaments, in 1942 at New Ulm and 1943 at Albert Lea.

A year after the Gilmore family moved to Wabasha in 1945, George started Legion baseball here, and has introduced hundreds of boys to the game. He brought his players to the district small post championship in 1962 and runner-up champions last summer.

His first appointment to the park board came in 1947. He served continuously with the exception of three years, from 1954 to 1957. He has been chairman the last seven years. His resignation becomes effective Jan. 1.

George considers the most important accomplishment during his tenure the construction of the $50,000 Wabasha athletic field in 1948, for which a bond issue was sold. The lighted field was a novelty then. Now it is a must, with frequent daytime baseball and football.

He believes the new field helped both St. Felix and Wabasha High School athletic departments stay in the black financially because of the increase in crowds at night games. Also of advantage to the schools are the enlargement of the baseball field on Highway 61 so each school has a practice field, avoiding friction of the past. The park board also constructed a two-section equipment house there.

Juvenile and Probate Judge Kenneth Kalbrenner, Harry Legner, Wabasha High School engineer, and George constructed a cement block warming house at the skating rink, replacing the old wood building. This was voluntary work by the three men. A lighted hockey rink was popular for several years.

Until 12 years ago there were no public tennis courts in Wabasha. Now there are two asphalt courts at the athletic field, another park board project.

Development of the swimming beach, River-Vista park, came during George's service, providing a building for dressing rooms and bathrooms, facilities for picnickers, concession booth and shelter, picnic tables and barbeque pits. Recently developed is a camp site, now housing a maximum of eight trailers with prospects of expansion. A decorative fountain was moved to the beach from Schmidt park. The Wabasha Jaycees cooperated to construct an attractive entrance.

In West Wabasha a playground has been erected across from the railway station, with property leased by the Milwaukee Railroad for $1 a year. The swings, teeter totters, slides and merry-go-round provide popular recreation for west side children.

George regrets there is not a similar playground in south Wabasha, which is expanding with many new homes. A square block of land is needed for this facility. Incomplete, but on the agenda, is a permanent fence around the athletic field.

In addition to his park board duties, George from June 1 to Aug. 1 could be found at the baseball field with his Legion team every night except Saturdays and Sundays.

Now it will be more difficult to locate him evenings. He could be working in his greenhouse in back of his West Wabasha home, refinishing antique furniture, bowling (his average is 165-170), fishing, traveling with his wife, Vera, in their camper or perishing the thoughts, just loafing.

He is a member of the Wabasha Masonic lodge and United Church of Christ, where he serves as a deacon. His two children are Mrs. Archie Wolfe of Wabasha and John, a student at St. Cloud State.

With Jim Rockers scoring 18 points and hauling down the lion's share of the rebounds, Williams Annex defeated Watkins 57-46 Sunday, in a battle of unbeaten in the City Basketball League.

With the victory, Williams managed to stay in a first-place tie with First National Bank, which trimmed Lewiston 58-38. In the league's other game, Montgomery Ward posted its first victory of the young season by stopping Main Tavern 56-41.

A tough first-half defense and Rockers' rebounding were the winning formula for Williams Annex as it held a 22-13 halftime advantage. Bob Larson led the victors with 19 points, while Bob Welch added 11. Bernie Kennedy's 22 for Watkins led all scorers.

A balanced scoring attack and John King's outstanding defensive effort led First National Bank to its second victory in as many tries. Chuck Pelt was the only Banker in double figures with 13. Jim Berry hit 17 and Ron Erdmann 14 to get all but eight of Lewiston's points.

Montgomery Ward broke open a tight game with a second-half spurge, led by Jack Enger's 18 points and 16 by Jack Radnor. The winners led only 18-16 at intermission, but outscored Main Tavern 38-25 in the second half. George Benedict hit 12 and Loran Koprowski 20 for Main Tavern. John Grande was cited on defense for Wards.

Cherie Billgen Raps 203-526 For City Honors

The other half of that fear-some Billgen combination (no, not Hal and Rod), Cherie, paced the action on the city keging scene over the weekend.

Cherie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Billgen, took some of the honor away from cousin Bev, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rod Billgen, who has been tearing up the younger pin set in past weeks.

Rolling in the High School Girls League at Hal-Rod (that's a coincidence), Cherie reeled off 203-526 to pace her Scramblers team to 742-2,092, a first-place spot. Fruit Loops connected for 742.

The best men's effort came from the Guys & Dolls League at Westgate Bowl where Bill Armstrong hammered 223-578 for Colbornson-Armstrong. The team registered 2,161, while Lubinski Sobek hit 747. Lois Schacht had a 502.

HAL-ROD: High School Boys — John Walski displayed the same fine form he shows on the basketball court with 191-543 to pace Good Players to 2,053. Mike Weigel had an even 500, while Dodgers rapped 756.

Park Rec Jr. Boys — Terry Risser's 282 two-game set sparked Pin Smashers to 1,163. Unknowns totaled 630 behind Kraig Lang's 188.

WESTGATE: Jacks & Queens — Bill Haack clouted 570 for Jolly Jacks, and Arlene Kessler had 468 for Penny Cards. Four Aces took team game laurels with 781 behind Laverne Bucholz' 224. Rockets counted 2,131, and Jan Wiczorek had a 168 for Four Aces.

Father-Son — Dutch Duellman blasted a 203, and Greg Bambenek hit 473 as the pair paced Bambenek's to 393. Blakes & Shoups scored 1,115 behind Don Blake Jr.'s 174. Alvin Kohner had 531 for Kohners. Kings & Queens — Stan Serwa topped 202-530 for Angels, and Ray Hutton bounced 389-530 for Cherry Pickers, but neither got much help as other squads grabbed aggregate honors. Vaughn-Mynczak hit 760 behind sub Orville Cisewski's 187-475, and Double O's totaled 2,143.

Jr. Boys — Dave Prodzinski slugged 164-444 for team No. 2, but team No. 1 grabbed group laurels with 721-2,003.

Jr. Girls — Ash Trays totaled 713-2,060 behind Wendy Pozanc' 408. Susan Cada laced 140 for Strikettes.

ECKERT TO SPEAK

MINNEAPOLIS (U.S.) — Featured speaker at the annual winter baseball dinner of the Twin Cities Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America will be Gen. William D. (Spike) Eckert, newly-elected commissioner of baseball.

Glenn Dobbs, Tulsa head coach, was an outstanding pro and one of the top passers in Missouri Valley Conference history. But his son, Glenn Dobbs III, chose Tulsa because his dad hired Sammy Baugh as an assistant.

The Warriors worked the ball carefully after Bob Wolf brought it up court. The ball went to Brad Luchini in the corner with about 10 seconds left. The crowd of 7,840 stood and screamed "shoot!"

Luchini tried, but the ball was batted away as the Huskies swarmed around the 6-foot-2 guard. Flynn scooped up the ball behind the keyhole, lifted it over his head as the Huskies converged on him and fired. The ball cut through the nets as the buzzer sounded.

The President's own intentions are kept closely guarded and it is evident the administration wants to avoid any early disclosures that would put it at a disadvantage when the debate resumes, as it inevitably will when Congress reconvenes next month.

The clearest indication of the Democrats' concern was given by the straight-party-line votes by which the Senate-House Economic Committee refused to call the executive's major fiscal officers to the stand for public questioning now.

A sign of growing worry among some Democrats as to whether the country simultaneously can have a booming private economy, extensive social improvement programs and a steadily more costly military undertaking came — in characteristically oblique fashion — from one of the most powerful Democrats in the House, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas.

Mills, as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, was the principal architect of the two big tax-cut bills credited with much of the steam behind the continuing economic advance. He spoke before a Kiwanis Club in Little Rock, Ark., and then took the unusual step, for him, of having copies of his speech distributed in Washington a day later.

"If federal government spending is held under reasonable restraint, the growth of the economy will both make possible and require periodic tax reductions," Mills said. "Inadequate restraint on expenditures, on the other hand, will mean passing up this fiscal dividend. Hopefully, we will so manage our affairs that we can again continue to realize the benefits from easing tax constraints on personal and business initiative and growth."

Mills here appeared to be calling for spending cuts rather than any special Viet Nam war taxes. The White House denied Wednesday that new taxes are being considered actively.

Restraint also was the keynote sounded by the House Democratic Whip, Hale Boggs of Louisiana. Boggs told a news conference on his return from Viet Nam he expects spending on "Great Society" programs to be held at about this year's level, which he described as relatively small and lower than the ceilings set by Congress.

He said he does not expect any tax increases but he did not entirely rule out the possibility of excess profits and excise levies.

'Ball Guided,' Says Flynn of Winning Bucket

MILWAUKEE (U.S.) — Tom Flynn called it his "Hall Mary shot" and here's how he described it: "I just grabbed it and threw it," said the Marquette captain whose shot in the final two seconds gave Marquette a 75-74 basketball victory over Washington Saturday night and the Milwaukee Classic championship.

Wisconsin lost the consolation game to West Virginia 101-93.

Flynn, who takes up the collection in his parish church on Sunday morning, is no man to discount providence.

"The ball must have been guided," laughed the happy Warrior who not only struck down the Huskies but left his own coach, loquacious Al McGuire, with nothing to say.

"I'm speechless," said McGuire. "Go talk to Flynn."

McGuire got his voice back a little later and used it to praise Flynn as "our bread and butter player" and shed some light on the final frantic seconds of the finale.

With 23 seconds left and the score 74-73 Washington, Steve Olsen, the Huskies' ace, was fouled. He missed the shot and Marquette got the ball.

The Warriors worked the ball carefully after Bob Wolf brought it up court. The ball went to Brad Luchini in the corner with about 10 seconds left. The crowd of 7,840 stood and screamed "shoot!"

Luchini tried, but the ball was batted away as the Huskies swarmed around the 6-foot-2 guard. Flynn scooped up the ball behind the keyhole, lifted it over his head as the Huskies converged on him and fired. The ball cut through the nets as the buzzer sounded.

Huarie Goes to Boston from N.Y.

BOSTON (AP) — John Huarie, the $200,000 bonus quarterback who spent his first American Football League season as a nonplaying reserve, was acquired by the Boston Patriots from the New York Jets today for a veteran end and a high draft choice.

The Patriots completed the long-rumored trade by sending 28-year-old Jim Colough to the Jets. New York already had gotten Boston's fourth-round pick in last month's player draft as a part of the deal, and selected Wichita linebacker Jim Kwiatkowski.

Former New York Yankee pitcher Spud Chandler has signed a two-year contract to scout for the Cleveland Indians.

Guns-or-Butter Debate Seen at Coming Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mounting debate about whether the programs of President Johnson's "Great Society" should be shelved or trimmed as Viet Nam military expenditures rise has been conducted so far largely along party lines.

But signs accumulated in Washington this week that more Democrats are inclining toward the guns rather than the butter argument—at least to the extent of hoping the administration will not significantly expand the domestic projects already started.

The President's own intentions are kept closely guarded and it is evident the administration wants to avoid any early disclosures that would put it at a disadvantage when the debate resumes, as it inevitably will when Congress reconvenes next month.

The clearest indication of the Democrats' concern was given by the straight-party-line votes by which the Senate-House Economic Committee refused to call the executive's major fiscal officers to the stand for public questioning now.

A sign of growing worry among some Democrats as to whether the country simultaneously can have a booming private economy, extensive social improvement programs and a steadily more costly military undertaking came — in characteristically oblique fashion — from one of the most powerful Democrats in the House, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas.

Mills, as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, was the principal architect of the two big tax-cut bills credited with much of the steam behind the continuing economic advance. He spoke before a Kiwanis Club in Little Rock, Ark., and then took the unusual step, for him, of having copies of his speech distributed in Washington a day later.

"If federal government spending is held under reasonable restraint, the growth of the economy will both make possible and require periodic tax reductions," Mills said. "Inadequate restraint on expenditures, on the other hand, will mean passing up this fiscal dividend. Hopefully, we will so manage our affairs that we can again continue to realize the benefits from easing tax constraints on personal and business initiative and growth."

Mills here appeared to be calling for spending cuts rather than any special Viet Nam war taxes. The White House denied Wednesday that new taxes are being considered actively.

Restraint also was the keynote sounded by the House Democratic Whip, Hale Boggs of Louisiana. Boggs told a news conference on his return from Viet Nam he expects spending on "Great Society" programs to be held at about this year's level, which he described as relatively small and lower than the ceilings set by Congress.

Defense Stocks Lead Market Fall

NEW YORK (AP) — Losses deepened in a declining stock market early this afternoon but trading was relatively slack.

Aerospace defense stocks were the first group to show sharp losses as they reacted to uncertainty about the reported Viet Nam peace feelers.

Electronics, most of whom are defense-related, followed along. Airlines, electrical equipments and oils also showed some sharp losses.

Steels were higher in early trading but they erased most of the gains and began to ease. Autos were down from the start. Some losses worsened in the group.

Rails held fairly steady after trimming early advances.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.0 at 352.2 with industrials off 2.1, rails unchanged and utilities off .3.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.40 at 953.45.

As the defense stocks weakened, Boeing extended its loss to more than 2. Losses of 1½ or so were shown by General Dynamics, United and Douglas Aircraft.

Among electronics, Fairchild Camera skidded more than 4 points.

American Telephone, off a fraction, touched another new low for the year. General Motors lost 1 but Du Pont held most of a 1-point gain and Eastman Kodak remained fractionally higher.

Xerox dropped 4 and Polaroid 3.

Prices were irregularly lower on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.
