FATAL SMASHUP . . . Three persons died in this car and two in another when the two vehicles collided on slippery Minn. 55 west of Buffalo, Minn., on Sunday. The highway patrol said the front of the other car collided with side of this auto. Five Dead in Collision at Buffalo, Minn.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Two oncoming cars smashed together near Buffalo on Minn. 55, made treacherously slippery by new snow, killing five persons and injuring three others Sunday.

Two other persons were fatally injured on Minnesota's slick roads Sunday. Another death was reported out of state.

Although there were no fatalities Christmas Day, the state counted 12 traffic deaths for the long holiday period from 6 p.m. Thursday to 12:01 a.m. today. The 1965 highway fatality toll rose to 833, compared with 830 a year ago today and a record 844 for all of last year.

The Highway Patrol said Donald A. Olejar, 29; Robert C. Lester, 32, and Richard M. Sobon, 31, died in the wreckage of a car driven by Olejar in the accident four miles west of Buffalo.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Daly, 35, Brooklyn Center, died in the other car and her daughter Ann Elizabeth, 5, died at Buffalo Memorial Hospital.

Hospitalized at North Memorial Hospital, Robbinsdale, were Mrs. Daly's husband, Daniel T., 38, and their two other children, Mary, 4, and John, 1.

John was listed in critical condition today and the other two in poor condition.

The Highway Patrol said the Olejar car collided broadside with the front of the Daly vehicle on the straight stretch of two-lane highway.

Daly, a Spanish teacher at Cooper High School in New Hope, was taking his family for a visit to his parents' home near Graceville, Lester, a father of six, was reported by a friend to have gone with Olejar and Sobon on an ice-fishing expedition near Annandale.

Mrs. Ruby Grinley, 58, wife of a Grand Rapids physician, was killed Sunday when two cars collided on slippery U.S. 169 near Onamia.

Hospitalized at Onamia were the drivers, Dr. Andrew V. Grinley, 60, and James C. DeValck, 55, of Crystal, and DeValck's passenger, Lawrence O. Hagen, 23, Minneapolis.

Kenneth Robert Markle, 35, Duluth, died Sunday when his car and another collided on slick Minn. 23 in Duluth. Hospitalized were occupants of the other car, driver John W. Jugasek, 22, and his brother Richard, 24, both of Duluth.

At Macon, Ga., Anthony W. Johnson, 21, a student at Hamline University in St. Paul, died Friday of injuries he suffered in a crash that took the life of his brother Bruce, 12.

The boys were sons of Lt. Col. Donald W. Johnson of Robins Air Force Base and formerly of Willmar, Minn.

A third brother, Timothy, 19, also a Hamline student, suffered minor injuries in the two-car collision near Macon Wednesday.

ALL-TIME CHRISTMAS HIGH

Highway Deaths Set New Mark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The nation's three-day Christmas traffic death toll broke all records for holiday fatalities on the highway.

The death toll reached 707 today as late reports were verified. The previous record traffic toll was 706 for a four-day Christmas weekend in 1956.

Before the holiday, the National Safety Council had estimated deaths would run between 560 and 650.

The toll included records in a number of individual states. In Ohio, the state safety director, Warren C. Nelson, said the 49 deaths made the highest toll for any weekend in 1965 and perhaps the highest since records have been kept. Louisiana's superintendent of public safety, Thomas Burbanks, said that state's 32 was the worst toll since state police began keeping records 25 years ago.

Rain, sleet, snow and freezing temperatures over much of the nation added to the expected hazards of long-distance travel, minimum daylight and roads jammed with cars.

The Safety Council said 80 million vehicles were on the road during the 78-hour period, which started at 6 p.m. Thursday and ended at midnight Sunday night.

Several accidents accounted for dozens of deaths. Shortly after the start of the holiday period, a bus traveling on icy pavement in Oregon skidded out of control, crashed and turned over. The accident Thursday took 13 lives.

The next day, five persons died when a car skidded out of control on an ice-coated bridge in eastern Oklahoma. Five persons died Sunday on a snowy road near Buffalo, Minn. Seven persons were killed in a collision west of Sublette, Kan., Sunday.

The northwestern part of the nation braced for a major storm today as gale warnings were posted from the northern California coast north to Puget Sound.

Winds as high as 52 miles per hour have been reported at Cape Mendocino, Calif.

The U.S. Weather Bureau expected heavy rains to fall over the Oregon and Washington coasts and over much of California as the storm moved inland.

Heavy snow has been forecast for the Cascade Mountains and the mountains of northern California. The snow was expected to spread eastward rapidly and reach the northern Rocky Mountains later in the day.

Cold wave warnings remained in effect today in the Midwest from Canada to northwestern Missouri and Kansas.

Cold winds over the weekend dropped the mercury in Philadelphia from a high Saturday of 61 to 30 Sunday morning.

TRAFFIC STOPPER . . . Police officers peer into the cockpit of a single-engine private plane that made an emergency landing on the George Washington Bridge Sunday.

The bridge, which spans the Hudson River between New Jersey and New York City, was chosen as the landing site by pilot Phillip Ippolito of New York City, when his passenger told him he could not swim. The two men suffered only minor injuries. The plane made its landing in the center two lanes of the eight-lane span. New Jersey is in the background. (AP Photofax)

The plane was a Cessna 441, registered N8483, and was piloted by Phillip Ippolito, 19, of the Bronx, N.Y. He was going to land the single-engine plane in the Hudson River after the engine failed. But his passenger, Joseph Brennan, 39, of Hackensack, N.J., told Ippolito he couldn't swim.

The damaged plane veered off the truck and came to rest in the two center lanes of the giant bridge, which connects New York City with New Jersey. The lanes were not being used because of the light Sunday morning traffic.

Firemen said Mrs. Martha Garrison, about 22, and the children were asleep. Their bodies were found in two beds.

The father, Homer, about 26, first dashed from the house, then tried to get back in to rescue his family, police said. He was admitted to a hospital with burns.

Firemen said the blaze apparently was started by the explosion of an oil stove in the living room.

Mother, 4 Children Die in Fire

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A young mother and her four children died early today in a fire that swept their four-room home two miles east of Uniontown.

Firemen said Mrs. Martha Garrison, about 22, and the children were asleep. Their bodies were found in two beds.

The father, Homer, about 26, first dashed from the house, then tried to get back in to rescue his family, police said. He was admitted to a hospital with burns.

Airplane Lands On N.Y. Bridge

NEW YORK (AP)—Woodrow Leone, 47, driving his truck across the George Washington Bridge, looked in the mirror and saw an airplane.

A moment later the wingtip of the small plane, carrying two men, nicked Leone's truck and landed in the middle of the bridge. The two occupants of the plane walked away with minor injuries. Leone, from Guttenberg, N.J., was unhurt.

The pilot, Phillip Ippolito, 19, of the Bronx, told police he was going to land the single-engine plane in the Hudson River after the engine failed. But his passenger, Joseph Brennan, 39, of Hackensack, N.J., told Ippolito he couldn't swim.

Humphrey Party Starts Week-Long Asian Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey wings toward the Far East today on his first major overseas trip as vice president.

The week-long Asian journey to the Philippines, Japan, South Korea and Nationalist China may be largely ceremonial. But the war in Viet Nam, Humphrey says, will be a prime topic in his private talks with leaders of the four friendly governments.

The foreign travel may also help strengthen Humphrey's image at home, as it did for Richard M. Nixon and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Although Johnson traveled to 28 countries when he was vice president, Humphrey's most talked-about trip was the one he didn't make — when Johnson sent Chief Justice Earl Warren instead of the vice president to represent the United States at Sir Winston Churchill's funeral.

Generally, Humphrey has been kept on a short tether, laboring as liaison between the White House and Congress and giving speeches within the United States.

Coincidentally or otherwise, the White House announced the plans for Humphrey's Asian trip after a public opinion poll whose findings apparently surprised Humphrey's staff. Johnson said he had selected Humphrey as his No. 2 man because he was equipped to be a good president. But the recent poll showed that the majority of people sampled was not as sold on Humphrey as Johnson said he was.

To accompany Humphrey to the Far East, Johnson is sending one of his own closest advisers, presidential aide Jack Valenti.

Humphrey said Sunday on the Mutual Broadcasting System's "Reporters' Round-Up" that "as a vice president sir, you are not supposed to be at the front of the stage. I consider my role to be one of working with the President, working within the government and then to take the policies of the government out to the people to explain as best I can, as to how this government is attempting to fulfill its responsibilities on the world scene."

Humphrey will return to Washington, Jan. 2, eight days before Congress returns to work.

The Humphrey party, including Mrs. Humphrey and the vice president's youngest son, Douglas, 18, leave Andrews Air Force Base at mid-afternoon, stop off at Elmendorf Air Force Base, Anchorage, Alaska, to refuel, and then head straight out across the Pacific for Tokyo.

Two Rivers (AP) — An unknown Scrooge chopped down Two Rivers' 30-foot-high lake-side Christmas tree on Christmas morning.

The tall blue spruce was found on the Lake Michigan bench, many of its 500 colored lights and decorations smashed when it was toppled.

The tree's lights had been seen until at least 1:30 a.m., but police said someone saw down the tree at its base between then and dawn.

The driver was killed and a second man was either killed or seriously wounded, Western authorities said. It was not known if a third man and a woman in the car also were hit.

Since the wall was temporarily opened Dec. 18 for Christmas visits, 434,880 West Berliners have crossed to see relatives in East Berlin. The wall will stay open for visits through Jan. 2.

No Air Raids on Reds; Some Ground Fighting

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — For the third straight day, the United States kept its planes out of North Viet Nam's skies today, but U.S. Marines killed 63 Viet Cong in ground skirmishes after a short, interrupted Christmas truce.

The Marines reported strikes against the Communists during patrols around the big U.S. air base at Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon. The Americans reported taking light casualties.

A squad of Leathernecks pounced on about 40 Viet Cong, killing 15 at a hamlet called Quang Ha No. 1.

Two hours later a Marine platoon near Quang Ha No. 2, about two miles southward, was attacked by 75 Viet Cong armed with automatic weapons. The Americans called in artillery support, tanks and armed helicopters. When the brief encounter was over they counted the bodies of 41 Communists.

Marines in other scattered actions against the Reds, reported killing seven Viet Cong during the day.

Air attacks were made only on suspected Viet Cong concentrations in South Viet Nam, U.S. spokesmen said. Ground action also was reported in low key for the past 24 hours.

Beyond confirming the suspension of the aerial war which steadily had been closing in on the Hanoi-Haiphong industrial belt, U.S. officials in Saigon said only that the orders came from Washington.

This raised speculation that the pause was a new invitation to North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh's regime to come to the peace table. U.S. officials declined to guess how long the lull would last.

In the south, U.S. casualty lists grew.

A U.S. Army truck carrying soldiers of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division hit a mine 30 miles north of Saigon. Casualties were reported heavy.

The Viet Cong detonated a mine at a government troop barracks at Sa Dec, 70 miles southwest of Saigon, just as two Vietnamese platoons were starting the work day.

"It killed or hurt a lot of soldiers," a U.S. Army officer said.

An adjacent compound for American advisers escaped the force of the explosion. A second mine was found and disarmed.

Twenty miles southwest of the barracks, a Communist mine blew up a Jeep, killing two American soldiers and an American civilian.

The Air Force raised its toll of losses to Communist missile fire over North Viet Nam to 10 planes. A spokesman said an F-4C Phantom jet downed during an assault on the Bac Cau bridge 85 miles north of Hanoi Dec. 19 had been hit by a Soviet-built surface-to-air missile. The pilot was rescued.

Some military commanders were reported concerned by the pause in air attacks since they felt it gave the Communists a chance to step up the movement of men and supplies toward the Ho Chi Minh Trail leading to the south.

No word came from President Johnson at his Texas ranch, but he reportedly still retained a glimmer of hope the fighting would not return to its pre-Christmas ferocity. The air pause was seen as evidence Johnson was waiting for some peace sign from Hanoi.

U.S. officials said the State Department had instructed the military command to extend the truce as long as possible. But even as the instructions arrived the Viet Cong had already broken the cease-fire with a rash of incidents, U.S. spokesmen said.

American headquarters sent out orders to all units at 4 a.m. Sunday to resume normal operations, thereby sealing the end of the truce.

Viet Cong attacks during the truce killed at least a dozen Americans and up to 50 South Vietnamese troops, U.S. spokesmen said. Many others were wounded.

During the 30 - hour allied truce period, which ended at midnight Saturday, there were 84 incidents instigated by the Communists, a U.S. spokesman said. This included 20 violations in the first six hours of the truce.

There was at least one U.S. violation. An artillery unit of the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division continued firing for four hours after the start of the truce Friday night. "We simply did not get any official word from division headquarters," the unit commander said.

Vatican officials said Pope Paul VI probably would make new appeals to both sides to end the fighting. They said the pontiff was concerned and disappointed over the collapse of the cease-fire.

Friends Recall 'Peppermint' Kid

KENYON, Minn. (AP)—It was visions of peppermint—not sugarplums — That danced through the head of an elderly Kenyon resident this Christmas, and the dream came true.

A deluge of candy was showered on the Kenyon Sunset Home for 85-year-old Niels Bollum Rasmussen, otherwise known as "the Peppermint Kid."

Little was known of Rasmussen, other than the sweet tooth that brought his nickname, when The Associated Press distributed a story about him in October.

A native of Denmark, he had lived at the home for about two years — and appeared to be without friends or relatives.

A WHITE AND WET CHRISTMAS . . . Snow covers stalled automobiles Saturday as firemen begin to evacuate residents from some 60 homes in Markham, Ill., a suburb southwest of Chicago. Boats were used after heavy rain storm flooded streets and many residents were without electrical power and telephone service. Rain turned to snow after temperature dropped. (AP Photofax)

7 Killed in Kansas Crash

SUBLETTE, Kan. (AP)—Seven persons were killed and seven others injured Sunday afternoon near this rural southwestern Kansas town when their autos collided at an intersection.

Highway patrol trooper Gail Rathbun said Lawrence Blakely, 24, of Dodge City, Kan., was driving west on U.S. 56. Blakely, his wife Dana, 22, and her sister Pauline, 27, and her husband, James Simmons, 25, and their son, Todd Simmons, 8 months, were only six miles from the Ferd Gales home in Satanta where they were to have a holiday dinner.

Traveling north on U.S. 83, Rathbun said, was Mrs. Dora G. Saldver, 27, seven of her children and her mother, Mrs. Sabena Gonzales, 57.

The Saldvers only recently had moved to Leoti in southwestern Kansas from Post, Tex. They had been to Texas for a brief holiday visit and as they approached the intersection they were less than two hours or about 70 miles south of their new Kansas home.

The intersection was marked by stop signs on U.S. 56 where it crossed the north-south U.S. Route 83. The roads were dry and clear.

Killed were Blakely's wife, and the three members of the Simmons family; Mrs. Gonzales, and two of the Saldver children, Nettie, 4 and one-year-old Cindy.

West German officers said four persons in a car got caught in a blazing crossfire from sub-machineguns an hour after midnight Christmas when the driver tried to zig-zag through the obstacle path at the crossing point into West Berlin.

The driver was killed and a second man was either killed or seriously wounded, Western authorities said. It was not known if a third man and a woman in the car also were hit.

Since the wall was temporarily opened Dec. 18 for Christmas visits, 434,880 West Berliners have crossed to see relatives in East Berlin. The wall will stay open for visits through Jan. 2.

Woman Dies Of Injuries; Struck by Car

PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special) Miss Gusta Stephan, 80, died Sunday in St. Marys Hospital, Rochester, from injuries received when she was struck by a car at a pedestrian crossing in Plainview about 7:15 p.m. last Monday.

Gusta and her sister, Anna, 82, were struck in the East Broadway crosswalk by a vehicle driven by David Welch, 18, rural Plainview, who was traveling west, according to a village police officer. He applied his brakes some distance ahead of the crosswalk but was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting the women, officers said.

THE HIGHWAY patrol assisted in the investigation. The Plainview fire department rescue squad was called and assisted with first aid and placing the women in the ambulance.

Gusta was critically injured with a fracture of the right leg and pelvis and internal injuries. Anna received a fracture of the right leg and pelvis and multiple bruises. She is still in the hospital and listed as in satisfactory condition.

Gusta was born March 30, 1885, at Plainview to August and Emma Conrad Stephan. She and Anna operated a hat shop in Ada a number of years but have spent the rest of their lives in Plainview.

Survivors are: Three sisters, Anna, Ava and Mrs. Anthony (Edith) Manow, Plainview, and several nieces and nephews.

FUNERAL services will be Wednesday at 2 p.m. at Immanuel Lutheran Church, the Rev. R. W. Riese officiating. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. Pallbearers will be Dover Blackburn, John Schaefer, Robert Stephan Jr., Dr. James Heibert, John Welti and Oren Manow.

Johnson-Schriver Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements. The casket will not be opened.

Donald E. Wise, La Crosse, was driving north on Sioux Street; Roger L. Munson, 1026 Gilmore Ave., was driving west on Wabasha Street, according to the police report.

Woman Injured In Ettrick Crash

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special)—A Melrose woman received an injury to her forehead when the car her husband was driving hit a milk truck here Sunday at 9 a.m.

Mrs. Harvey Zemple's head hit the rear view mirror and was taken to a doctor at Galesville by John Briggs, Ettrick marshal. She was treated and released.

Mr. and Mrs. Zemple and their two children were driving north on Main Street in Ettrick, en route to visit relatives at Fall Creek. A milk truck owned by Arvid Bryhn and driven by John Twesme was ahead of them. Twesme turned right at the corner near the Sinclair filling station, and the Zemple car struck the right front of the truck.

Zemple told Maurice Scow, Trempealeau County traffic officer, that he didn't see a right signal light on the truck.

Damage to the vehicles was slight, according to a report from the sheriff's office at Whitehall. The Zemples continued on to Fall Creek.

ACCIDENT CORRECTION

Directions traveled by the vehicles involved in a two-car collision Friday at 4:20 p.m. at Kansas Street and East Broadway were reversed in a story in the Sunday News. Police reported that a car driven by Patricia A. Hoeler, 25, Los Angeles, was moving west on Broadway and that a car driven by Sidney R. Pettie, 1644 E. 4th St., was moving north on Kansas Street when the collision occurred. The story in Sunday's News had these directions reversed.

Below Zero Weather Predicted for Tonight

Winter, a week behind the calendar, arrived in Winona today when a cold wave sent the thermometer down to 5 in the city and near zero in nearby rural areas.

It was the coldest weather since last March 27 when the thermometer dipped to 0. Previous low this fall was 11 on Dec. 19.

MOSTLY fair and colder tonight is the forecast for Southwestern Minnesota and Western Wisconsin with a predicted area low of 5 to 12 below. Increasing cloudiness and continued very cold is the forecast for Tuesday with an afternoon high of 2 to 8 above. Northerly winds chilling the area are slated to diminish tonight.

Occasional snow and warmer is the outlook for Wednesday.

However, near normal temperatures are predicted for this area for the next five days with the extended forecast indicating normal daytime highs of 22 to 27 after Tuesday and nighttime lows of 4 to 10.

It'll be cold at the beginning of the period, says the forecast, a little warmer at midweek and warming likely towards the end of the week.

IN THE SAME time precipitation is expected to average .20 to .40 of an inch (melted) in snow about midweek and again Friday and Saturday.

A year ago today the Winona high was 13 and the low -11. Three inches of snow lay on the ground. All-time high for Dec. 27 was 51 in 1936 and the low for the day -29 in 1872 and 1880. Mean for the past 24 hours was 19. Normal for the day is 18.

High here Saturday afternoon was 34. On Sunday the thermometer was up to 33. Low Sunday morning was 20. At noon today the reading was 8.

Northern Minnesota shivered in far-below zero temperatures. Bemidji reported a low of -17 and International Falls -16. It was -11 at Brainerd, -10 at Alexandria, -9 at Hibbing and -7 at St. Cloud.

Rochester just escaped being in the below zero column with a low of one above after a Sunday high of 29. At La Crosse the extremes were 8 above and 34.

But Minnesota's lows were nothing compared with the -38 at Edmonton, Canada.

The coldest weather of the season also was moving into WISCONSIN.

Temperatures plummeted to 7 below zero at Superior during the night as a cold front entered the state in the wake of a Christmas snowstorm.

The entire state is expected to feel the effects of the Arctic blasts tonight.

Some other temperatures Sunday night included Eau Claire, zero; Park Falls 2 above, Wausau 3, Lone Rock 9, Madison 10, Beloit-Rockford 11, Green Bay 14, Milwaukee and Racine 21.

LA CROSSE recorded the state high of 34 degrees Sunday, one of the few readings above the freezing mark. Racine had 32, Eau Claire and Milwaukee 30, Lone Rock and Green Bay 29, Burlington and Wausau 28, Park Falls 27, Superior 26 and Madison and Beloit-Rockford 25.

National extremes were 71 degrees at Alpine, Tex., and Miami, Fla., and 22 below zero at Broadus and Lewistown, Mont.

SOME light snow developed ahead of the cold front that moved southeastward across the state. Superior reported about one inch of new snow, Green Bay about one-half inch and lesser amounts fell at Park Falls and Eau Claire and other points.

His Christmas Present: He Could Walk, See Again

By GLENN HELGELAND
Daily News Staff Writer

Christmas is a happy, festive time for most families, and the John Briscoe family, 119 E. Broadway, is one of these. But it could have been different.

"Christmas was great," Briscoe said today. "We went to Portage, Wis., to visit my relatives. My vision is nearly back to normal, and I only use canes for walking outside. I don't use any support walking around the apartment."

Originally told he would need five years for recovery, he now is planning to return to college for the spring quarter.

BRISCOE, 24, had moved his family to Winona in June to attend Winona State College. He had been a youth worker at the Red Wing YMCA when he decided to go back to college and get a degree to further his YMCA career.

In September, one week after fall classes began, he suddenly became ill. A strange infection, not fully diagnosed yet, attacked his nervous system. He became blind and paralyzed from the chest down.

He was hospitalized first in Community Memorial Hospital, and then transferred to Rochester. Doctors there diagnosed his illness as being caused by a virus, but could make no further identification. His was only the third case of this type they had examined.

Partial vision returned in mid-October. At Christmas time, sight in his right eye was back to normal, and the left eye has nearly recovered.

MRS. BRISCOE works at Community Memorial Hospital to help pay for her husband's education and help support an 11-month old child. Now medical costs have been added. "We had saved some, but the illness expenses wiped that out," Briscoe said.

"Everyone has been great, both in Winona and Red Wing," he said. "The Winona YMCA has loaned me an exercise bicycle, kids came over last fall and raked the lawn around the apartment building, and many people from the Y have visited."

Briscoe worked as caretaker of the apartment unit where he lived in lieu of rent. The apartment owner granted him a leave of absence from his duties until he is recovered. He will then get the job back.

FRIENDS in Red Wing sent a Christmas gift of $320. Other collections were taken at J. C. Penney store where he worked when he first lived in Red Wing, and another, in pennies, nickels and dimes, is being taken among the children whom Briscoe supervised in his Y work at Red Wing.

Faith has played a part in his unusually rapid recovery. "We were set to join Central Lutheran, but then I got sick," he said. The church aid group also contributed to the Briscoe Christmas.

Briscoe exercises about one hour each morning and one hour each afternoon to regain muscular coordination in his legs. "I lay on my back and try to draw circles in the air. It's tough," he said. "I don't think I could have done these exercises before, but they mean a little more now."

WHEN HIS reflexes returned, they really returned. "They are hyper-active," he said. Told by doctors that reflexes would probably never return to his knees, now his knee reflexes react so fast that "it surprises" him.

There is strength, hope and confidence in John Briscoe and his family. This, and the kindness of friends and neighbors, helped make a bright Christmas and a brighter future for him. His star is shining again.

Caledonian Out Of Hospital After Nearly 4 Months

CALEDONIA, Minn.—A Caledonia hotelkeeper, whose wife died Sept. 5 in a highway collision that claimed three lives, was released from the hospital just before Christmas.

Howard Hauser, father of five children, has been confined to St. Francis Hospital, La Crosse, with leg, chest and head injuries since the crash on Highway 16 just south of La Crosse that inflicted fatal injuries on his wife, Janice, 39, and two Spartan youths.

Hauser has been in traction until recently and is adjusting to crutches. He will graduate to a single crutch, cane, and finally, full use of his legs.

An area 6-10 inches above the right knee received multiple fractures, his surgeon said. Some of the bone was never found and bone graft and insertion of a rod in the leg were necessary. It is expected Hauser will have some restriction to the right knee for life. He was semi-conscious for days after the crash.

The Hauser Hotel has been operated by employees of Hauser and one of his daughters, Judy, 19.

Accident Driver Serving 17 Days

A Winona youth who pleaded guilty today in municipal court to leaving the scene of an accident Friday at 10:35 a.m. is serving a 17-day jail sentence in lieu of paying a $50 fine.

David L. Fitzgerald, 20, 559 E. 2nd St., pleaded guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of an accident Friday at East Broadway and Laird Street.

Judge John D. McGill sentenced Fitzgerald to pay a $50 fine or serve 17 days in jail. The youth had not paid the fine today at noon.

Thieves Don't Take Holiday, Sheriff Says

An unreported accident, theft of 100 gallons of gasoline and two strings of Christmas lights and a careless driving arrest were reported today by Sheriff George L. Fort.

Leo Miller, Lewiston, called the sheriff Christmas Day to report that someone had run into the Skelgas yard adjacent to the railroad tracks in Lewiston.

INVESTIGATION showed that someone driving south out of Lewiston had lost control of his car, which skidded sideways into the yard's fence, taking out two posts, a section of fence and half of a gate, according to Sheriff Fort.

The driver and his car disappeared without being identified, but the sheriff is investigating.

Mrs. Alton Albrecht, Garvin Heights, reported Christmas Day that someone had been stealing gasoline from a barrel at her home for the past three or four nights. About 100 gallons are missing, she said.

Mrs. Albrecht added that the thief had taken two strings of Christmas lights after 3 a.m. on Christmas. She did not set a money value on the missing articles.

DEPUTIES ELMOR Balk and John Schneider arrested Lyndon R. Willbright, 933 W. Wabasha St., Friday at 8:15 p.m. at West 3rd and Washington street near the county jail on a charge of careless driving. Since Willbright was arrested right outside the county jail, in the city, he will be arraigned Tuesday in Winona municipal court, the sheriff said.

Income Tax Forms Go Out in State

ST. PAUL (AP)—The annual "greetings" from State Tax Commissioner Roland Hatfield went into the mail today to 1,200,000 Minnesotans who file individual income tax returns.

The tax forms, prepared for mailing after the Christmas rush, should reach all taxpayers by next Monday. The department wants them back by April 15.

Next year's tax-paying pain will be eased slightly starting Jan. 1 when the withholding rate for state taxes goes down. The tax increase voted by the 1965 legislature was doubled for the last half of 1965, but will drop back to its regular level Jan. 1.

This will add from $1 to $3 to paychecks of most taxpayers each month, although this will be more than gobbled up by higher federal Social Security taxes starting the first of the year.

Individuals filing Minnesota returns will use the basic "M-1" form whether taking the standard deduction or itemizing their returns. The form is composed of two pages on a single sheet.

One change this year allows all tax computations to be made on the same side of the form. Hatfield noted that persons who pay income taxes on an estimated basis may take advantage of a law providing they do not have to pay their Jan. 15 installment if they file a final tax return by Jan. 31.

IN FARM ACCIDENT

Lake City Couple Loses Second Son

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special)—A rural Lake City couple lost their only remaining son in a farm accident Christmas Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Mickelson found Orle, 18, dead under a tractor as they neared home about 3 p.m. after attending the funeral of Lawrence Martens in Lake City.

EN ROUTE home they had stopped at the cemetery to visit the grave of their only other son, Tony, who at 16 months was killed May 17, 1963. He was struck by a backing milk truck in the farm yard.

Orle had gone to the field to spread manure on the Mickelson farm about nine miles south of Lake City and 1 1/4 miles northeast of Oak Center. He had emptied the load and was returning to the house.

His tractor got too close to the edge of the field adjacent to the Gilford Township road running past the farm. Wabasha County Deputy Robert Loechler said the big right wheel of the tractor dropped off into the ditch, about one foot deep, and continued for 27 or 30 feet along the ditch, tipped at a 45-degree angle.

THERE WERE indications that Orle tried to bring the tractor back into the field, the deputy said, as there were marks along the path the tractor traveled showing that the left wheel had been spinning.

The tractor apparently was upset when the right wheel hit a frozen gopher mound that tipped both tractor and manure spreader over; they landed on their tops, still attached.

Orle was pinned by the tall light on the left fender of the Minneapolis Moline, which has big fenders. He was lying face up, the light pressing against the side of his neck, cutting off blood and air to the brain, the coroner said. Death was almost instantaneous by suffocation, officers said.

The accident happened about one-fourth mile from the farm home about 2:45 p.m., officers estimated.

ORIE Gerald Mickelson was born Feb. 23, 1947, at Lake City. He was graduated from Lincoln High School last spring. He was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church and its youth fellowship group. He had attended St. John's parochial school.

Survivors are: His parents, five sisters, Betty Jane, Sandra Jean, Judy, Bonnie and Susan, and his grandmothers, Mrs. Mary Klindworth, Lake City, and Mrs. Mathilda Mickelson, Goodhue.

FUNERAL SERVICES will be Tuesday at 2 p.m. at St. John's Church, the Rev. Ralph Goede officiating. Burial will be in St. John's Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Clarence, LeRoy and Milton Mickelson, Phillip Nordlee, James Klindworth and Louis Gluesen.

Friends may call at the Anderson Funeral Chapel after 1 p.m. today and until one hour before services Tuesday, then at the church. The casket will not be opened.

Man Ordered To Pay 2 Notes

Judge John D. McGill ordered judgment today in municipal court against Norman F. Kohlhepp, 713 Wilson St., for $500, plus an unspecified amount of interest, after a default hearing.

Attorney Robert D. Langford represented Winona National & Savings Bank, which holds two promissory notes of Kohlhepp's at $200 each. Kohlhepp had agreed to pay $50 attorney's fees on each note if legal action had to be taken to collect them.

Herbert Hassinger of the bank was the only witness called to prove up the default. He testified that Kohlhepp made promissory notes on Sept. 22 and Oct. 1, 1964.

The first note was payable in 90 days, the second in 30 days. Interest on both was to be computed at 7 percent per year, Hassinger testified. He told the judge that Kohlhepp had not paid off the notes, the interest or the attorney's fees.

Judge McGill ordered judgment against Kohlhepp for $500, plus 7 percent interest from the times the notes were made.

Suit Taken From Car

Sneak thieves—at least one of them, anyway—had a green Christmas after all, Assistant Police Chief Marvin A. Meier reported today.

Although church-goers heeded police warnings to keep their cars locked while attending Christmas Eve and Christmas Day services, a visitor to the city lost $150 worth of clothing from his unlocked, parked car Friday evening, Meier said.

Ronald Hauser, Racine, Wis., reported that his car was parked in front of 732 W. 4th St. Friday between 8:30 p.m. and 12:30 a.m. Christmas morning. Sometime during that period, a thief entered the unlocked vehicle and stole a cashmere topcoat, an olive green suit and a white dress shirt valued at a total of $150. Police are investigating.

Eyota Mother Talks to Son In Viet Nam

EYOTA, Minn.—A rural Eyota woman was one of the mothers who gave personal Christmas greetings to her son in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Burdette Wohlfiel talked to her son, A.C.C. Richard L. Behnken, by overseas telephone. He has been in Viet Nam since September. He repairs photographic equipment for the U.S. Air Force.

He told his mother the mud, heat and humidity are terrific but the morale of the U.S. fighting men is high. He said he was better off than most men there because he's at a base and has a bed and hot food every meal.

A graduate of John Marshall High School, Rochester, he went into service directly out of school. He hopes to enroll at the University of Minnesota when his enlistment is completed, in about a year.

The overseas call was part of a special project sponsored by Local 7203, Communication Workers of America.

Freeman Learns A Hard Lesson

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—"I learned how to hurt," but still keep going, to be disappointed, but still keep trying—that "fame is transitory," says Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman.

The former Minnesota governor wasn't speaking of politics—but of sports.

Freeman, two other Cabinet members, 17 senators and 30 representatives—all varsity sports lettermen in college—will be honored during the NCAA's 60th anniversary convention in Washington next month.

The honorees include Reps. Clark MacGregor, R-Minn., and Donald Fraser, D-Minn.; Sen. Quentin N. Burdick, D-N.D.; Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall.

All will receive commemorative plaques at a special luncheon, and many—like Freeman—have much to say about what they learned from athletics.

Celebrities Attend Funeral For Al Ritz

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Comedians and show business personalities were among the mourners at last rites for Al Ritz, member of the Ritz Brothers comedy team, who died at 64.

Ritz, who organized the family team that made 46 films, was eulogized Sunday by Rabbi Lawrence Block as a pioneer among movie comedians. Attending the services were the other two brothers in the team, Harry and Jimmy.

Rinks May Open On Wednesday

The onset of colder weather means that city ice rinks are tentatively scheduled to open Wednesday, the Park Recreation Department said today.

If no warmup occurs, the Lake Winona rink probably will open on that day, as well as rinks at East and West recreation centers and the Thurley playground, according to the department.

Boys interested in junior hockey are to meet at the Athletic Park warming house Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. James Langowski will be in charge of league play, for which boys up to 18 are eligible.

Yule Phone Calls Equal To Year Ago

Christmas by telephone didn't get the workout expected of it this year.

Dec. 24 and 25 calls out of Winona to points around the world were down 10 percent from 1964, the city office of Northwestern Bell reported.

Thank You's for Real Kind Year

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Now that we're heading toward 1967, I suddenly remember many friends I forgot to thank during this exciting year.

My Gorgeous Mother-in-Law, Rosella Lyons, who at 81 still serves me coffee and tomato juice at my desk every 11 a.m. after reminding me that I've got a busy day—and night—ahead of me.

Maureen O'Sullivan, Mia Farrow's mother, for forgiving me for some of the bad gags about F.S., I shouldn't have written.

Perle Mesta, for inviting the B.W. and me to all her exciting Washington parties (some of which we couldn't get to) and for telling us how she and Gwen Cattriz are now very chummy.

Bob Hope, for living up to his long-time promise to m.c. our Fight-for-Sight show when possible. (Sunday night, Jan. 30, 1966, at Lincoln Center Philharmonic—a great night for us).

Gina Martin of Dudes 'n' Dolls and also the Vaughn Meader-Larry Gore comedy commercial setup, just for being so exciting.

BURLESQUE Producer LeRoy Griffith of the Mayfair and Gaiety Theatres for his welcome Christmas check for the "Earl Wilson Help-the-Needy Fund" which arrived just in time to aid some deserving folk. (We could still use more $).

Thanks to Al Strelsin, the Smothers Brothers, Eddie Frelag, and others for their checks during the year!

DEAR ABBY:

No Brass Bands, Please

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Though I've been an avid reader of your column for years, I never thought I'd be writing to you, but I couldn't resist answering your call for opinions of those in Viet Nam about what kind of homecoming they'd prefer. Right now I am in a San Francisco hospital recovering from injuries I suffered in Viet Nam. I don't feel like any kind of hero and I don't want to be treated as one when I go home.

Like most of the guys in Viet Nam I had a job to do and I did my best. I was unlucky enough to be a Viet Cong target, but that doesn't make me a hero. The real heroes of this conflict are the medics, the evacuation pilots and the Red Cross. Anyone who wants to wave a banner, should wave it for THEM.

MIKE BURNS, NO HERO
DEL MAR, CALIF.

DEAR ABBY: You asked for opinions on the advisability of "Mom" decorating the house and most of the neighborhood in honor of her "boy" returning from combat duty.

As a combat veteran of World War II, may I say that there is no more nauseating reference to military personnel than the word "boy." As much as Moms resent it, there are no "boys" in the fighting service. They are all MEN, and should be referred to as such.

These men did not, nor are they fighting for "Mom's apple pie." They are fighting a dirty rotten war in a number of dirty rotten places for the same reason we fought and will fight again if called upon—TO SURVIVE UNDER A SYSTEM OF GOVERNMENT IN WHICH WE BELIEVE AS AGAINST A SYSTEM OF GOVERNMENT IN WHICH WE DO NOT BELIEVE. It's that simple!

So tell Mom not to embarrass her son with decorations and tinsel more appropriate to a little boy's birthday party. Their "boys" are gone, and those who are fortunate enough to return are MEN.

G. P. S. (MAJOR, INF, AUS RETIRED)
SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR ABBY: Take the word of an old "gyrene," who was at Guadalcanal in 1962 and ended his service in Korea, that any lad who has seen jungle combat will not appreciate a brass band on his return home.

As an afterthought, wouldn't it be nice if we could arrange to have our dirty-necked, bearded, draft-card-burning "little boys" serve their service time as latrine police? I'd rejoin the Marine Corps to help put those clowns through 12 weeks of boot camp.

DEAR ABBY: Apropos your recent letters about soldiers coming home from Vietnam: I was reminded of my own homecoming from the A. E. F. in France in 1919. My buddy and I were discharged at Camp Grant, Rockford, Illinois, and we arrived at the Chicago railroad station at about 3 P.M. We decided to get a couple of bottles of beer and some hamburgers to see if they still tasted the same. Then we went back to the R. R. station where I was to catch a train home. My buddy lived only 20 blocks from the Chicago depot. After a while, although I hated to say goodbye, I asked him what he was waiting for, and he said, "I know my folks are going to make a fuss over me when I get home, so I am waiting for it to get dark." And I'm sure he did. I never saw him again. God bless him. Yours truly,

W. J. SHEA,
BELLEVUE, ILL.

DEAR ABBY: Just a line about "Homecoming Veterans." As a World War II veteran, I know that any welcome that comes from the heart is never out of place. On my "Big Day" I found a "WELCOME HOME, DADDY" sign on the stairs leading to our apartment. It was placed there by my wife, six-year-old son and three-year-old daughter. That was New Year's Day, 1946.

Nearly twenty years later we are looking forward to our son's arrival home after a six-year absence. He, too, has been fighting a jungle war as a Lt. in the Congolese Army. As a volunteer against Communism he said in one letter that he was proud to be using his U.S. Army (101st Air Borne) training for such a worthwhile endeavor.

Now he's coming home, but there will be no bands, no signs and no demonstrations. You see, Abby, he was killed in action on April 8th, 1965. We are waiting quietly until we can say, "Well done, son, welcome home." Thank you for listening.

Farmers Union To Work for Cleaner Roads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Farmers Union announced Friday it will sponsor highway beautification projects in rural areas of Minnesota and three other states, using the skills of low-income older and retired farmers.

State and federal funds will finance the $1,451,680 program, with $768,142 of the total coming as a grant from the office of economic opportunity.

The work will be done in cooperation with the state highway departments of Arkansas, New Jersey, Oregon and Minnesota. Ten teams of seven older farmers will work in each state, averaging about three days a

Mother of Five Drowns in Bathtub

STILLWATER, Minn. (AP)—Accidental drowning has been ruled the cause of the Christmas Eve death of Mrs. Frank Hintz, 42, a mother of five. The woman was found dead in a bathtub at her home by a son, Donald.

The Farmers Union said the program is the first to be authorized under a community betterment and beautification provision of the antipoverty program, sponsored by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis.

"Where Quality Clothing Is Not Expensive"

Orville Freeman On The Canoe Area

(St. Paul Pioneer Press)

SECRETARY FREEMAN'S order on the Boundary Waters Canoe area ostensibly is designed to carry out the recommendation of the Selke committee that the area should be recreated or maintained "as nearly as possible in the condition which prevailed when the area was first visited by White men."

The Freeman order definitely will not do this, according to Frank Kauffert, director of the University of Minnesota School of Forestry and a longtime student of the Boundary Waters area.

Kauffert is not opposed to the order, but says that without a plan of intensive forest management the area will continue to go to short-lived, insect-ridden balsam — hardly a shadow of the type of forest seen by the first white men in Minnesota.

Kauffert notes that this area was covered with white and red pine and spruce in its wilderness state, and that this area can be recreated only by controlled timber harvesting.

The no-cut order suggests no effort at timber harvesting reforestation.

THIS LEADS to the conclusion that the order presumably designed to preserve and restore the scenic and recreational values of the canoe country will actually result in unchecked and unavoidable deterioration.

La Crosse State Prexy To Get $23,000 a Year

(Mankato Free Press)

WISCONSIN STATE University at La Crosse has hired a new president. He is Dr. Samuel G. Gates, who has been dean of the graduate division of Colorado State College at Greeley, Colo. Dr. Gates, who was one of 20 applicants interviewed for the position, will have a beginning salary of $23,000 a year.

La Crosse University formerly was La Crosse State Teachers College. Later it became La Crosse State College and within the last two years has been given University status. Its current enrollment is 3,943.

Some 25 miles north of La Crosse is Winona State College of Minnesota. Winona has an enrollment roughly the size of that at La Crosse. It has a veteran president whose salary now, after many years, has reached a level of $18,000.

WHAT HAS happened at La Crosse is a cue to what will have to happen in Minnesota if the state colleges are going to get the kind of administrative leadership they need. If a school the size of La Crosse will pay $23,000 a year for a president, it is difficult to see how anyone can be attracted to the presidency of a booming 10,000 enrollment college like Mankato State at a salary that is $5,000 less.

Typographical Error Causes Near Riot

(Editor & Publisher)

A TYPOGRAPHICAL error caused the ad to state 19-inch portable television sets would be sold for $8.98. (It should have been $88.98). More correctly, the ad in a New York paper announced "sensational bargains." Two hundred people stormed the counters demanding the sets at the advertised price. Typical of the comment was: "You advertised it, and you've got to sell it."

Most newspapermen and shop keepers know that is not the fact. An advertisement is an offer to sell, not a contract to sell. When there is such an obvious error a store is under no obligation to sell merchandise. It was mispriced inadvertently and was in no way an attempt at fraud.

Nevertheless, the store manager sold 46 of the sets at the $8.98 price. Even if he knew his rights, the decision to sell was probably the right one to protect his shop and his life in the heat of the moment.

A WEEK LATER another New York paper carried an ad for a sewing machine at $2.76. Another typographical error. What it should have said was that this was the "time payment" per week for a machine that cost $339.95. This time the store managers, on proper advice, stood by their guns, and either closed the stores to protect them from the bargain hunting mobs intent on duplicating the television "thefts" at ridiculous prices, or refused to sell them at the advertised price.

Many states have laws, and there are court decisions supporting them, which state that a merchant is not bound by an advertised price that is an obvious and honest error.

IN VIEW OF the two New York incidents it might be wise for all newspapers to review their local situation and advise all advertisers of their rights and responsibilities in case a similar "type" should involve them. Every newspaperman knows it shouldn't happen, but in spite of all the safeguards it sometimes does.

Are you so foolish? Having begun in the Spirit, are ye now perfected in the flesh?—Galatians 3:3.

TODAY IN WORLD AFFAIRS

Reds May Hold Up Asian Plans

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Why did the Communists — who don't believe in Christmas — propose for that day a truce in the fighting in Viet Nam? Is it a means of getting a longer truce, during which reinforcements could be brought up for later attacks? Or will it turn out to be the start of a Korean-type armistice without a peace agreement ever being made?

The United States government came to the conclusion that it was worthwhile to test out the motives behind the offer of a truce by announcing an acceptance of it. Whether the 12-hour truce on the holiday celebrated throughout Christendom will be prolonged for another 12 hours, and then perhaps for a longer time, depends on the real purpose of the cease-fire. It could be that the holiday truce has back of it a plan to bring about a lengthy parley. Up to now it has been found difficult to do this because of a desire on each side not to give the impression of weakness by initiating the negotiations.

ONCE THERE is a cease fire, however, consultations could begin in neutral capitals of the world. So the real question is whether the Communists want a longer cease fire and will be amenable to an extension while plans for negotiations are discussed.

The United States takes little risk in agreeing to the North Vietnamese offer. For the military commanders at Saigon will keep their men on the alert even during the truce.

It could be, of course, that the Communists have about made up their minds that a Korean kind of cease fire would not be such a bad thing to try. For, after all, what the 1953 armistice between North and South Korea did was merely to establish a cease-fire. It is still in effect, and no agreement has been reached since then on any of the vital issues — such as reunification — which were in dispute before the fighting began. No guarantee against a resumption of aggression has ever been given, and there are armies along the 38th parallel which still stand guard, even though more than 12 years have elapsed since the fighting was interrupted by mutual consent.

SO FAR AS THE United States is concerned, such a development in Viet Nam would not be wholly unpalatable because the argument used to justify American intervention is that the Communist aggression must be stopped. If aggression is suspended indefinitely without any pledge being given, the main objective will, in effect, have been attained for the time being. As for the Communist guerrillas who have infiltrated South Viet Nam, they would probably be forced out gradually if a lengthy cease fire were arranged.

This theory of the purpose of the cease fire may be demolished by developments after Christmas, and it may turn out that the Communist idea was merely to gain time for reorganization of the military campaign. But it would be difficult for the North Vietnamese leaders to convince the world they really want peace if, when given a dramatic chance to participate in a longer cease fire, they threw it away. To engage in a peace party of indefinite duration without actually coming to an agreement pledging a non-aggression course would mean no loss of prestige to the North Vietnamese and at the same time would avoid the growing cost of active warfare.

WOULD THE SOUTH Vietnamese and the United States governments be content with such a stalemate, or would there be an insistence on fighting it out?

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Pleas to Brezhnev to Halt Anti-Semitism Unanswered

By JACK ANDERSON

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is visiting the Holy Land. In his absence the column is being written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — A Milwaukee auto supply dealer, who sat for seven years in the same school room with the man who is now ruler of all the Russians, has written a series of personal letters to his former classmate, appealing to him to stop anti-Semitism in the Soviet Union.

Nathaniel "Nat" Kruglak, a cheerful Jewish refugee who made good as an American capitalist, and Leonid Brezhnev, the darkly smiling czar of the Kremlin, studied and starved together during the Bolshevik revolution and the famine that followed.

Kruglak has told his story to the State Department, which has certified the basic details. Unlike some of their classmates who caught the spirit of the revolution and made cause with the Communists, both Brezhnev and Kruglak kept their mouths shut in those days and concentrated on their studies.

IT WASN'T until after graduation — and another year together taking a vocational course at a nearby steel mill — that Kruglak fled with his parents to America and Brezhnev belatedly joined the Communist Party.

Kruglak recalls that Brezhnev as a boy was usually aloof and alone — quiet, introspective, inclined to be "sneaky." He was the only millhand's son in the class, and his parents must have made tremendous sacrifices to pay his high tuition.

Even more than the others, Brezhnev suffered from the hunger and disease that accompanied the revolution. Kruglak recalls that young Brezhnev came back to class after a typhus seizure looking like a skeleton.

"I'll have to say this for him," acknowledged Kruglak, "Brezhnev suffered terribly."

TIMES BECAME so hard that parents arranged to pay the school fees in potatoes, cabbage and hand-me-down clothing. Teachers and pupils alike could not afford to wear shoes to school. Even the principal, once proud and proper, padded through the halls in his bare feet.

Who would have guessed that out of this obscure school one of the most inconspicuous students would rise to the pinnacle of Soviet power?

In nine separate letters to the Kremlin leader, Kruglak reminded him of the bleak, threadbare days they shared together. Their school was called the "Classical Gymnasium of Kamenskoye," a dreary, two-story, gray brick building in the Ukrainian factory town of Kamenskoye, which the Communists have renamed Dneprodzerzhinsk.

To jog Brezhnev's memory, Kruglak in his first letter named their teachers and the first five names on the class roll. The roll call began: "Alimov, Arsenbauer, Artemov, Barabash, Brezhnev . . ."

Kruglak also wrote of inspector Zolotar'yev, who enforced discipline in the school. He would punish a pupil for the least infraction, such as a missing button or dirty uniform, by twisting an arm behind his back, shaking him roughly and shoving him toward a large pendulum clock in the hall.

"Under the clock!" he would bellow. Then he would force the boy to stand stiffly against the wall under the clock for one to three hours.

He was always more cruel toward the Jewish boys, and in one letter, Kruglak reminded Brezhnev: "Zolotar'yev used to ask a student committing some infraction of the rules, 'Art thou a Hebrew?' I'll never forget how once he almost tore off my left arm."

"In 1918-19, Zolotar'yev escaped . . . If anti-Semitism is again in existence in the USSR, then it is due to the influence of the sons and grandchildren of men like Zolotar'yev."

"Even the Pope of Rome and his prelates are trying to eliminate anti-Semitism in their conduct and prayers," Kruglak pleaded. "To allow its existence in the USSR is illogical. It can lead only to a loss of many friends."

Another time, Kruglak sent his famous classmate some press clippings as evidence that Soviet anti-Semitism was paying off in bad publicity.

"You will be able to judge from some of the enclosed clippings," he wrote, "that anti-Semitism is gradually getting out of style. If Pravda and Izvestia stop using anti-Semitic hints, the provincial press may follow their example."

But Kruglak's letters either didn't get through to Brezhnev, or the Soviet leader didn't deign to reply. Kruglak made one last try. "Public opinion here and in Europe," he wrote, "is condemning your administration for persecuting three million Jews in the USSR."

There was still no word from Brezhnev.

WASHINGTON CALLING

(Editor's Note: This column will be a substitute for the Marquis Childs article while Mr. Childs is on vacation.)

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

WASHINGTON—For the first time, President Johnson is squarely in the middle of heavy and opposite pressures from the left and right. The issue is the new Federal budget, but the implications rise far above dollars and cents.

The Left—the very liberal to knee-jerk liberal Democrats—is attempting to wring from him explicit vows that, notwithstanding a little thing called the war in Viet Nam, he will not reduce by a dime his allocations for the domestic Great Society.

The Right—the general run of Republicans plus conservative and ultra-conservative Democrats—is putting him under siege to cut back the Great Society to a shell and to open the Treasury without stint to every claim conceivably to be made by the action in Viet Nam.

The President himself is digging in his heels against what amounts to dual efforts to freeze his position in advance. The two pressure groups have one aim in common: To force the President here and now to commit himself to the kind of budget he will put next year before Congress. To each he is, in substance, replying: "Thanks very much for your great interest and all that—but I am going to keep my options open until the last minute."

THE REASON for this delay is that he does not and cannot possibly know right now just how much is really going to be needed in Viet Nam even, say, two months, let alone 12 months ahead. Whatever is actually required is going to be provided; Viet Nam has priority No. 1. To that extent the forces interested in butter and honey to the almost total exclusion of guns have already lost the game.

Still, those totally preoccupied with guns have not altogether won, either. Nor will they. For though Viet Nam is indeed priority No. 1 and will remain so, the President has no intention whatever of putting welfare on starvation rations. At worst, he can keep it going, though it cannot be kept going at the rate which otherwise would have been certain. The outlook, in a word, is that welfare will be put on some diet, but not a crash diet.

WHAT ELEVATES this struggle toweringly above simply economic considerations is the root fact that the prize so urgently sought by each side is nothing less than effective control of the mind and purposes of the administration in the year to come.

The Left sees an opportunity to commit the President unalterably and now to more and more welfarism. The Right seeks to close off now all his choices except the choice to diminish, if not to discard, the butter-and-honey legislation he put through the last Congress.

The weapon of the Left is the implicit threat that unless it can have its way it will cry out that the President was not, after all, really "sincere" in asking Congress for all those bills. The weapon of the Right is the implicit threat to denounce the President as not really "sincere" about Viet Nam.

THE PRESIDENT himself, however, is not without strength. The controlling middle in Congress will not accept either indictment. For the middle knows that much of the Left is partly actuated by its wish to "get out of Viet Nam" and that much of the Right is partly motivated by a hope to repeal the Great Society.

The more the Left poor-mouths the welfare program, the more it will endanger the seats of 40 to 50 liberal Democratic congressmen whose only claim for re-election in 1968 is their past association with its enactment. The Right is in no comparable political danger. Still, its objective to nullify the Great Society runs against the profound reality that it is already enacted—even if some who are by no means right-wing-

To Your Good Health

'Frozen' Shoulder Helped

By J. G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a frozen shoulder and would like to know what to do for it. Nothing so far has done any good, and I have had it for a long time. — MRS. M.C.

A "frozen" shoulder is one that is too stiff or too painful to move, but I'm afraid that too many people have the idea that nothing can be done about such a shoulder (or other joint).

The longer such a joint remains "frozen," the more difficult it will be to get it moving again. Still, it often can be restored to some activity if you are willing to do the right things, or have the right things done to it, and will endure some pain.

What causes a "frozen" joint? Sometimes injury—such as a dislocation or fracture; sometimes bursitis; sometimes arthritis; sometimes the aftermath of having to keep the joint in one position, without moving, for a certain length of time, as with a broken collar bone. Or removal of a breast leaves the shoulder area very tender for some time. Such patients are warned to move the arm and shoulder, even though it hurts, to avoid a "frozen" shoulder.

THE TROUBLE actually is not so much in the joint itself as in tissues surrounding the joint. Adhesions (clinging together of tissues) from lack of movement can occur. There may be irritation from certain tendons riding over the joint.

People who are highly sensitive to pain, or who don't follow instructions after certain operations or ailments (including acute arthritis) are the most likely candidates for a "frozen" joint.

How to correct it? Physical manipulation of the joint, under anesthesia, to loosen the "frozen" tissues is one way. Application of heat, plus a patient's own efforts to move the joint gradually, is another. Sometimes surgery is required to release adhesions and free trapped tendons.

WHATEVER the original cause, and whatever the treatment, the patient almost always must make up his mind that it is going to be painful, especially in the beginning. The discomfort will lessen as the "frozen" joint recovers the ability to move normally. If you look for an "easy" or painless cure, there isn't much reason to expect good results. But if you make up your mind to stand some pain, the joint becomes less painful as its ability to move increases.

In cities with qualified bone specialists (orthopedists) or orthopedic clinics, highly skilled treatment can be obtained, but it still means that the patient has to do his part, and some pain is the price of getting that "frozen" joint "unfrozen."

ers, including this columnist, would surely be just as happy if some of it had never reached the statute books.

SPRING GROVE, Minn. (Special) — The Chautauqua Study Club will hold its Christmas party at the home of Mrs. C. O. Ulven tonight. Assisting hostesses will be the Misses Lorentz Myrah, Genora Rauk, Clarence Bjorlo and Clarence Ike.

Former Winonan Wed at Minneota

Robert Fay, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Fay, Fergus Falls, Minn., and Miss Ardell Jorgensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jorgensen, Lynd, Minn., were married Dec. 18 at Hope Lutheran Church, Minneota, Minn.

The Fays are former Winona residents. John Fay was a lockman at Whitman Dam for many years.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of lace-covered satin with long sleeves. She carried a bouquet of red and white roses.

A reception was held at the church. Pouring were Mrs. David Carlson, Fergus Falls, and Mrs. Donald Stedman, 608 Clarks Lane, an aunt. A supper for 150 guests was given by the bride's parents.

The newlyweds are now at home at Fergus Falls Rm. 1.

Mr. Fay is taking industrial drafting and design at North Dakota State School of Science and is employed at The Music Store. Mrs. Fay is a student at Ritter's School of Beauty Culture.

PEACE CORPS TEST

NASON ON EDUCATION

Good Students Are Good Drivers

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D. University of S. Calif.

"Keep your mind on what you're doing," is good advice to anyone — in school and out. Good students are good drivers. Failing students have more automobile accidents.

John was on the ragged edge toward failing in each of his college freshman courses. His driver's license had been suspended for three months due to numerous traffic violations and accidents.

One of his teachers interested him in developing a different approach to his schoolwork. He was to give it his undivided attention whether it was reading an assignment, taking a test or writing a theme.

This teacher also suggested to John that the same attention should be given to driving an automobile or to any other activity, especially if it was hazardous.

JOHN WAS successful in developing the habit of paying attention to what he was doing. His grades improved and, there were no more traffic accidents and traffic tickets. He graduated from college and is now teaching mathematics in a high school. He is no longer what is generally called accident-prone.

The habit of careful attention, once established, carries over into many activities. However, at the start it must be developed in specific situations. Safety training has been particularly successful when reminders to pay attention are given with the development of the habit in mind.

Students at an Orlando, Fla., junior high school were reminded to take care in walking down the stairs, to take care in passing down the corridors, to take care in certain games on the playground, to take care on the trip home.

These reminders were given at appropriate times and also in sufficient frequency so that students did show more attention to their actions in these situations. The serious accident rate was reduced 35 percent, and the minor accident rate by 25 percent.

THIS ATTENTION to the task at hand is apparently a general habit and has a carry-over from one activity to another.

Having gained the habit of paying attention in certain specific situations, these Orlando students appeared to pay more attention to what they were doing in all situations, including their academic work. Their scholastic achievement showed measurable improvement.

Arthur W. Schlichenmaier, director of safety education at this school, is to be complimented on its success.

The junior high age is our last chance to develop the habit of attentiveness to the task at hand before we furnish these young people with two tons of equipment in the form of an automobile and turn them loose on our highways.

Just as important, the individual student who receives this type of safety training has a better chance for success in all of his endeavors.

General Wheeler Receives Award

BANGKOK (AP)—Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, was awarded one of Thailand's highest decorations today by Premier Thanom Kittikachorn.

The award is the Most Exalted Order of the White Elephant, first class.

Wheeler arrived Saturday from Saigon for an orientation visit before flying to Taipei Wednesday.

Peace Vigil At LBJ Ranch

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—Nearly 100 men, women and children interrupted their Christmas weekend Sunday for a three-hour peace vigil near the LBJ Ranch, urging President Johnson to use the power of his office to bring peace in Viet Nam.

They called on Johnson's administration to set the time and place for a peace conference.

The demonstrators, many of whom had come more than 200 miles to take part in the vigil, stood silently on the grass along side Ranch Road 1, which passes in front of the President's ranch about 3 miles away.

They left their posts in late afternoon to return home after a letter was given to Secret Service agent Clarence Kneisch, for delivery to the President, who is at the ranch for the holidays.

Kneisch promised two spokesmen for the demonstrators a reply either before they left or by letter later in the week.

Helen Hayes Offers Coat for Needy Students

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Helen Hayes' $2,000 nutria coat is bringing Christmas cheer to needy South Korean students.

The American actress took the coat off before boarding a plane Saturday at Seoul International Airport. She handed it to a U.S. Embassy employee and asked that proceeds from its sale be used for the Korean students.

Miss Hayes was leaving after a 23-day tour to entertain American servicemen.

Vending Operator Robbed of $3,000

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Burglars stole $3,000 in cash from the home of Rudolph J. Rieschl, who runs a vending machine route, police reported Sunday. Officers said $1,600 was taken from a hiding place behind a mounted deer head and the rest was in coins.

Let's Get Growing

By A. F. SHIRA

Some New Annuals For 1966

As we project our thoughts ahead to the new annual flowers for 1966, it seems as though the various new varieties of marigolds, asters, zinnias, snapdragons and petunias lead the parade as usual.

The Burpee Company, one of the largest producers of hybrid annual flower seeds in the country, gives us a further preview of what will be forthcoming in the New Year. When one realizes that many new varieties of F1 hybrid annuals are developed each year by the hybridizers, and that millions of these are grown in the gardens all over the country, it is evident that the flower lovers of America have taken the lovely annuals to their hearts with full accord.

At the top of the list of new introductions for 1966 is the Yellow Nugget marigold, the first and only dwarf species hybrid marigold ever developed. This is a product of the Burpee Company hybridizers and illustrates the current flower fashion trend toward the large-flowered and prolific dwarf types. Yellow Nugget is really a different marigold and a type that has not before been available to gardeners.

The feature that makes this such a radically different marigold is the fact that it is a triploid, having three times the number of chromosomes that are normally present. A chromosome is one of the small bodies usually definite in number in the cells of a given species and a change in the number of these bodies causes a radical change in the new plant itself. An American marigold is one of the parents and a French marigold with twice the number of chromosomes is the other.

AS IS THE case with other species hybrids, this new marigold cannot produce any seeds, or become a parent itself. Therefore, with no seeds to develop, the plant blooms continuously and profusely from early summer until frost. The flowering period begins so early and lasts so long that it has been termed everblooming.

The blossoms are bright yellow, fully double and up to 2 1/2 inches across. The plants remain dwarf throughout the season and do not reach a greater height than 12 inches under average gardening conditions. Early in their growth the plant spread may average only about 15 inches, but by fall it may reach a spread of 3 feet.

Another flower for 1966 that is sure to attract attention is the new Snow White aster which is the beginning of a new series of low asters covered with large blossoms. The plants are dwarf in growth and are only 10 inches tall and 16 inches across, even in the full splendor of heavy flowering. The showy mass of glistening white double blossoms that completely cover the dwarf plants is the crowning glory. The flowers retain their crispness and vigor under the hot midsummer heat and will add a touch of cooling freshness to sun drenched gardens.

ANOTHER NEW marigold for the coming year is Orange Penny. While this variety is not a real dwarf, it can be classed as a semi-dwarf, since it grows only about 16 inches in height and the same in spread. These sturdy plants carry an abundance of intense orange colored flowers up to 6 inches across with lush peony-like petals. This is one of the earliest blossoming of all of the American marigolds.

As might be expected there are new varieties of zinnias as well. New colors make their appearance in the Whirligig varieties along with the usual whirls of colors that typify these large-

Your Social Security

Q. A man was 65 in 1954. He could not receive social security benefits as he didn't have enough work credit. Can his widow qualify under the new law?

A. Yes, provided the deceased has credit for at least 9 months of work and the widow is 72.

Q. I receive social security benefits for myself and my child. If I sell my home and get a down payment plus monthly payments, will this affect our social security checks?

A. No. In determining whether you meet the retirement test, only income earned in employment or self-employment is counted.

Q. What will my social security contribution rate be for 1966?

A. If you are an employee, you will pay 4.2 percent of your wages in 1966, and if you are self-employed, it will be 6.15 percent. Also, you wages and self-employment earnings up to $6,600 will count for social security in 1966.

Q. I was 71 last April. I was turned down for benefits before because I had not worked under social security long enough to qualify. Can I get benefits under the law?

A. No. You need 6 quarters of coverage to qualify for monthly payments. You can qualify for hospital benefits, though, since you are 65. Check with your social security district office soon so your eligibility can be established.

Q. My husband died in 1951 and only had 3 quarters of coverage. Can I qualify for benefits as his widow under the new law?

A. Yes, if you are 72 years old and don't get benefits on your own record.

Q. My child will be 18 next year. He plans to continue in school. Will his benefits continue?

A. Yes, provided he is taking a full-time course in an approved school. Practically all high schools and colleges are approved. Get in touch with your social security district office a month or two before he is 18 and let them know that he will be in school.

flowered and fully double blossoms.

Some of the snapdragons, which are always progressive, are taking on a new look. The same can be said for the new petunias.

Other new flowers as well as the All-America Award Winners will be discussed in later articles.

Ogden Phipps' Buckpasser, crack 2-year-old colt, was meant to be a champion thoroughbred. He is the son of Tom Fool and his dam, Busanda, defeated males in the 1951 Suburban Handicap.

By Viet Cong
Face Charges

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—The U.S. Army said today it has charged two GIs with aiding the enemy during two years of Viet Cong imprisonment and is investigating to determine whether they will be put on trial.

The two soldiers are Sgt. George E. Smith of Chester, W.Va., and Spec. 4 Claude McClure of Chattanooga, Tenn., who were released by the Viet Cong last month. They will remain on Okinawa until a final decision on their cases, the spokesman said.

After an extensive investigation, he said, they were charged with preparing, furnishing and delivering to the Viet Cong certain documents, statements and writings inimical to the interest of the United States.

The spokesman said the two Special Forces men have been provided defense attorneys. In accordance with U.S. military procedure, their cases now are being studied to determine if they will face a trial by court-martial.

Smith, 27, and McClure, 25, were captured in November 1963 when guerrillas overran the Hiep Hoa camp northeast of Saigon.

They were released last Nov. 27 at the Cambodian border during a period of demonstrations in the United States against the Viet Nam war. After a week in Phnom Penh, capital of Cambodia, the two were flown to Bangkok and then to Okinawa.

They denied to American television newsmen that they had told a news conference in Cambodia they would return to the United States and join the campaign against the war in Viet Nam.

The two claimed their statements had been misinterpreted. CBS correspondent Murray Fromson quoted Smith as saying, “I did not use the word ‘campaign.’ What I said was that I would like to see strong efforts made to end the war in Viet Nam.”

NBC newsmen Jack Perkins said Smith told him he was subjected to “a poor man's brainwashing.”

Bomb Threat
Delays Plane

DETROIT (AP)—An American Airlines DC6 with 61 persons aboard was delayed two hours at Metropolitan Airport Sunday night by a telephoned bomb threat.

Sheriff's Sgt. Casimer Kurek said deputies who searched the plane found a box in one piece of luggage. It contained wires and transistors, but no explosive, he said.

Kurek said officers were seeking the owner of the box, who was believed to have left on a previous flight.

The plane, bound for Rochester and Syracuse, N.Y., was halted after a male voice told the airline's reservation office “there is a bomb on the plane that just left.” The plane was 10 minutes behind schedule, however, and was still on the runway when the call was made, the airline said.

Boy Dead in De Pere Fire

DE PERE, Wis. (AP)—A one-year-old boy died early today in a bedroom fire which authorities said might have been started by a short in an electric blanket in the child's crib.

The infant's mother and a neighbor were driven back by the flames and smoke as they tried to rescue the boy.

Another child who normally slept in the bedroom had been in another room with his mother because he was suffering a cold.

The victim was Brad Gregory Lasee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Lasee Jr.

The fire broke out shortly after midnight in the upstairs bedroom where the boy was sleeping.

Mrs. Lasee said she had checked on her son an hour before midnight and found nothing wrong.

The fire was confined to the children's bedroom in the frame two-story house.

Another son, Frank, 4, was sleeping downstairs with his mother when the fire broke out.

Road Deaths
Over 1,000
In Wisconsin

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eleven deaths during the Christmas holiday have raised Wisconsin's year-long traffic toll past 1,000 for the second time.

The holiday period death count exceeded the eight reported for the same span last year. The highest toll for the Christmas period in recent years was 17 in 1960 and 1961.

The accidents shoved the 1965 count to 1,007, compared with 1,063 on this date a year ago. The final toll for 1964 was 1,059—the first time Wisconsin's highway fatality count had risen above 1,000.

Merlin Schulz, 30, of Watertown was injured fatally Sunday night when he was struck by a car as he was changing a rear tire on his car along Highway 33 about one mile west of Horicon.

The driver of the other car told Dodge County traffic officers that two automobiles were coming toward him and he did not see Schulz until it was too late.

In Schulz' car were his wife, three children and another couple. He died two hours later in a Beaver Dam hospital.

Norman F. Klongland, 21, Madison, was injured fatally Sunday when his car struck two cement pillars supporting the Highway 51 overpass on Highway 51 in Madison.

Bradley L. Koch Jr., 21, Milwaukee, died in a Wausau hospital Sunday after his car struck a utility pole along Highway 51 eight miles south of Wausau.

Mark Shimek, 20, Wauwatosa was killed Christmas afternoon when his car hit the side of a Chicago & North Western passenger train at a crossing north of Angelica in Shawano County.

The conductor leaped from the train to rescue Shimek's wife, Mabel, 19, from a water-filled ditch where the car stopped.

Mrs. Shimek was injured critically. The couple, married only four months, had just started to drive home after a Christmas visit to the bride's parents' home at Krakow, three miles north of the accident scene.

An 11-month-old boy, Thomas Coenen of rural Appleton, was killed in a Christmas Day head-on collision on Highway 55 four miles north of Freedom in Outagamie County. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Coenen, who were among five other persons injured in the crash.

Another two-car collision Christmas Day killed Mrs. Wilard J. Fahrenkrug, 65, Peshtigo. The accident happened on Highway 41 five miles south of Oconto.

Robert Cox, 48, Peshtigo, died Christmas night as his car struck a tree along a Peshtigo street.

James L. Gutzmer, 21, of rural Monroe, became the state's 1,000th reported traffic victim on Christmas Eve when a tractor backed over him as he was trying to attach a tow cable to a car in a ditch on Monroe's north side.

Other Christmas week-end victims, killed in separate accidents in the first 24 hours of the 78-hour holiday span, included Samuel R. Stephens, 37, Minneapolis, Minn.; Wesley J. Wagner, 28, Milton, and Walter C. Kohlmeier, 49, Antigo.

Pack Wins, But Will Scars Show?

RESULT SAME FOR CHARGERS AND KEMP

With Him, or Without Him!

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—San Diego Charger coach Sid Gillman once remarked: "We can't win with Jack Kemp."

Apparently Gillman's Chargers can't win against him, either.

Kemp led the Buffalo Bills to the American Football League championship for the second straight year Sunday, embarrassing his former mates with a 23-0 shutout. He did it last year, 20-7.

Three years ago, Kemp incurred a sprained finger on his throwing hand and the Chargers wanted to put him on the injured list. But the Bills executed the coup of AFL history, picking up Kemp for the $100 waiver price.

Sportswriters selected Kemp the game's most valuable player, a role for which Jack was chosen by the Associated Press for his play all year.

Kemp got all the points he needed in the first quarter by firing an 18-yard touchdown strike to end Ernie Warlick.

Moments later, Butch Byrd delivered the conquering blow by racing 74 yards down the sideline to score on a punt return.

Pete Gogolak managed to enter the defensive stalemate long enough to boot three second half field goals of 11, 39 and 32 yards. Kemp completed 8 of 19 passes for 155 yards but his completions were made when needed.

Charger quarterback John Hadl hit on 11 of 23 pass attempts for 140 yards but had two interceptions and was plagued by the hard-charging Bill defenders.

The Chargers threatened to get on the scoreboard three times. Two drives bogged down and Herb Travenio failed on field goal attempts of 35 and 31 yards.

It was the fourth time the Chargers lost an AFL title game, winning only in 1963. The Bills are 2-0 in the big one.

A crowd of 30,361 witnessed the battle in Balboa Stadium. The Bills received $5,189.92 apiece for winning and the Chargers, $3,447.85 for losing.

Must Fill Gaps

Starr Injured, Hornung Also

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The Green Bay Packers have survived a fight to the death against the Baltimore Colts, but the scars may show next Sunday when they face Cleveland for the National Football League title.

Injured Packer quarterback Bart Starr and halfback Paul Hornung couldn't hide the pain in the lockerroom after a 25-yard Don Chandler field goal gave Green Bay a 13-10 sudden death victory in the playoff for the NFL's Western Conference crown.

"I can't get dressed," said Hornung, battered by the sky-high Colts defense, out to win a conference title for a team with a running back at quarterback.

Hornung's ribs ached, and so did his knee and wrist. He spoke and breathed with difficulty and held his head stiffly to one side.

Starr appeared to be only slightly better off. He had to be assisted from the field after the very first play from scrimmage when he rammed at full speed into a Colt blocker in trying to stop Don Shinnick's 25-yard touchdown ramble with a recovered fumble.

Starr refused to discuss his injury, but his ribs were swathed in tape and he moved rigidly.

"I'm pretty sore," he admitted.

End Boyd Dowler was also hurt, aggravating a chronic ankle injury. Tight end Bill Anderson, who made seven more catches after his first-play fumble that allowed the Colts' only touchdown, was so groggy that he couldn't remember game details.

"This was the roughest game I've ever been in," said Packer defensive back Herb Adderley.

The game was a savage defensive struggle.

The Colts, with Tom Matte at quarterback because of injuries to John Unlath and Gary Cuozzo, needed to get defense-induced breaks to win. They got them, but they weren't enough because the Packers also got breaks.

The critical one came with about five minutes gone in the third period and the Packers' trailing 10-0.

Tom Gilburg went back to punt on fourth down with the line of scrimmage at the Colts' 40. The pass from center Buzz Nutter was high and Gilburg had to leap for it, then struggle to get the ball under control. By the time he did, the Packer defenders had swarmed in and nailed him at the 35.

Zeke Bratkowski, who completed 22 of 39 passes for 248 yards after replacing Starr, threw to Carroll Dale who made a diving catch at the one. Hornung, who was sidelined a quarter later, went in from there.

The Packers tied it on Chandler's first field goal—a 22-yarder with only 1:56 left to play in the game. A 15-yard penalty against the Colts aided the tying drive.

Still another break came in the extra period after runs by Matte moved the ball into field goal position with eight minutes gone in the overtime.

Lou Michaels, who had kicked a 15-yarder in the second period, tried a field goal from the 47. This time the ball from center was low. There was a split-second delay in teeing the ball and the kick was short.

The Colts, who will now go to an NFL playoff bowl meeting with Dallas in Miami, Fla., Jan. 9, were held by the Packers to 143 yards rushing and only 32 passing. Baltimore got nine first downs. Green Bay netted 250 yards in the air, 362 yards overall and 23 first downs.

The Colts stayed in the game with the help of Shinnick's touchdown, pass interceptions by Bob Boyd and Jerry Logan that nipped Green Bay drives, and a goal line stand that stopped the Packers' on the one on three straight running plays in the first half.

The Packers defeated the Colts twice in the regular season which both teams finished with identical 10-3-1 records.

The deadlock had forced the conference playoff, the first in the NFL since 1958 when the New York Giants defeated Cleveland 10-0 and then went on to meet the Colts in the championship game.

New Year's Eve Is One Week Early

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—New Year's Eve arrived nearly a week early Sunday night in Green Bay, and one happy Packers' fan prophesied, "This is just the beginning."

Countless fans crowded downtown bars to sip, shout and sing in celebration of Green Bay's 12-10 sudden death victory over Baltimore for the Western Conference Crown of the National Football League.

With Packer players mixing among the throngs, the faithful toasted the title well past midnight in this city of only 64,500 where football is a civic religion.

"The celebration's going to last right through Jan. 2," said a Packer loyalist. Green Bay will meet Eastern Conference winner Cleveland here that day for the NFL championship.

"If things go right next Sunday, we could have the longest New Year's Eve party in history," added another fan.

At one supper club, half a dozen players, including all-NFL defensive backs Herb Adderley and Willie Wood and veteran linebacker Ray Nitschke, celebrated with their wives along with the crowds. A constant stream of fans came up to snap pictures and shake hands.

At another lounge, the crowd sang victory songs far into the night.

One night club owner added, "We haven't had one little argument. Everybody's in real great spirits." And police took a lenient attitude, simply carting home the tipsy.

FANS ARE PARTISAN... End Bill Anderson (88) of the Green Bay Packers gets encouragement from fans as he runs to the edge of stands from momentum of catching pass in second quarter against Baltimore

Colts Sunday. He caught a pass that took Packers to the one-yard line—but there the drive stopped short of a touchdown. The Packers finally won in overtime, 13-10. (AP Photo-fax)

Chandler Is 'Tickled Pink'

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Don Chandler, the 31-year-old pro veteran who gave the Green Bay Packers a toothed toward their third National Football League title in five years, was as happy as a teen-aged high schooler here Sunday.

"I was tickled to death," said the balding specialist whose 25-yard field goal brought Green Bay a 13-10 sudden death triumph over Baltimore in the Western Conference playoff duel.

"I had no doubts that it would be good," said Chandler. "There was no wind. I just kicked it. This has to be my greatest thrill in pro football."

Chandler explained, "I just aimed right down the middle. I could tell it was going to be good."

This is the way other players described key plays in the overtime victory that put the Packers into next Sunday's championship game here against Cleveland.

Carroll Dale, telling of his 18-yard pass catch on the sidelines that moved the Packers to the Baltimore 26 and set up Chandler's boot:

"I ran a turn-out pattern against all - NFL defender Bobby Boyd. I gave him an inside fake and then turned out."

Zeke Bratkowski, who replaced the injured Bart Starr at quarterback after the Packers' first play of the game and completed 22 of 39 passes for 248 yards:

"They blitzed quite a bit and I was trying to hit blitz type passes. Billy Anderson (Packers' tight end) did a tremendous job of getting open."

Anderson, who led all receivers with eight catches for 78 yards, describing his fumble that Baltimore grabbed for a touchdown on the Packers' first play after he caught a 10-yard pass from Starr:

"I don't remember much. I know I got kicked in the head out there."

Bratkowski Is Finally With King

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Three battle-buffed veterans, one a reserve and two castoffs, had their day of vindication with the Green Bay Packers Sunday.

"We must have been the two most excited old men in the country today," said 31-year-old kicker Don Chandler to 34-year-old Packer quarterback Zeke Bratkowski.

Chandler booted a 25-yard field goal that brought a 13-10 overtime victory over the Baltimore Colts in the National Football League's Western Conference playoff.

Bratkowski, who came in on the second play of the game for the injured Bart Starr, passed for 248 yards in engineering his fourth—and biggest—victory for the Packers in a relief role this year.

"This is my 10th year in pro ball, but I've never been with a winner before," said a subdued Bratkowski.

Browns' Drills Were for Pack

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Browns Coach Blanton Collier had a press box view of his opponent for next Sunday's National Football League championship game.

Collier and other members of the Browns coaching staff watched in Green Bay Sunday as the Packers defeated the Baltimore Colts 13-10 for the Western Conference title in a sudden death overtime game.

Collier said it was "a great game by two good clubs" and specifically mentioned the work of the "two great defensive teams."

He said he and his staff had not formulated their plans for the championship game, "but we did work last week on the assumption that Green Bay would win."

He added that he didn't pick out any particular weakness in the Green Bay offense or defense with the personalized scouting.

In answer to a question, the coach said he had picked neither team as his favorite for the Browns' opponent next Sunday.

"When it gets down to this stage," he said, "you know that any team that wins the Western Conference is going to be tough. In a situation like this, regardless of which team you play you usually wish you had the other team before it is over with."

The Browns players, meanwhile, watched the game on television and here is how some of them view the upcoming title game with the Packers:

Fullback Jim Brown—"I was thinking about our running attack as I watched. It may be well for us to work on some more straight ahead stuff. At least I want to talk to Blanton about it."

Quarterback Frank Ryan—"They both seemed very strong defensively and kept mistakes at a minimum."

Defensive tackle Dick Modzelewski—"Every game is tough. We have confidence, even more than last year. We've all been together for two years. We feel we can get the job done."

Defensive back Bernie Parrish—"From a psychological viewpoint I personally prefer to play Green Bay. The Colts have had to change their offense a great deal. A team like that can cause a lot of trouble the first time you meet it. Those rollouts can help cool off a big rush."

Top Basketball Test Scheduled: Vanderbilt vs. Syracuse

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Vanderbilt and Syracuse, two unbeaten teams with national championship aspirations, clash in one of the top games this week in college basketball.

By the luck of the draw the Commodores from the South-eastern Conference and the Orangemen, a leading Eastern independent, are pitted against each other Tuesday night in the completion of the first round of the Los Angeles Classic, one of the numerous holiday tournaments scheduled throughout the nation this week in every section.

The Vandy-Orange meeting also brings together two of the season's outstanding players, Clyde Lee of Vanderbilt and Dave Bing of Syracuse.

Lee has led Vandy to eight straight victories over Wittenberg, Tennessee, North Carolina, Wake Forest, Army, Western Kentucky, UCI, Santa Barbara, and Northwestern.

Bing has sparked the Orange to seven in a row with conquests of Buffalo State, Buffalo U.,

Cornell, Kent State, Bowling Green, Penn State and Connecticut.

Vandy's victory over Western Kentucky knocked the Hilltoppers out of the unbeaten. Syracuse's triumph over Penn State similarly toppled the Nittany Lions from the perfect group.

The Los Angeles Classic actually gets underway tonight with St. John's of New York fallen out of The Associated Press Top Ten with a 4-3 record, pitted against Louisiana State. Northwestern plays Southern California in the final first round game Tuesday following the Vanderbilt-Syracuse clash.

Nine other major holiday tournaments start today. By the end of the week 23 major college affairs and numerous non-tournament games will have been played.

Included in the latter category are the two games involving the Duke Blue Devils, the No. 1 team in The Associated Press poll. The Blue Devils, 7-1 to date, meet Notre Dame at Greensboro, N.C., Friday night and Wake Forest at Greensboro Saturday night.

NYU plays Providence and Colorado State U. tangles with Boston College tonight in the Holiday Festival at New York after an afternoon twin bill pairing Illinois against Georgetown, D.C., and Army against Villanova.

An afternoon doubleheader, Temple vs. St. Bonaventure and LaSalle vs. Brigham Young, gets the Quaker City Classic under way at Philadelphia. Cornell meets Minnesota and St.

Joseph's, Pa., takes on Niagara tonight to finish the first round.

All-America Cazzie Russell and the Michigan Wolverines, whipped last week by Duke and Butler, go against Arizona State tonight in the Far West Classic at Portland, Ore., where Oregon State plays the Air Force in another first round game.

Other first round pairings tonight: Georgia Tech vs. Louisville and Boston University vs. Miami, Fla. in the Hurricane Classic at Miami, Fla.; Oklahoma State vs. Oklahoma and Missouri vs. Nebraska in the Big Eight at Kansas City, Mo.; Eastern Kentucky vs. William and Mary and Harvard vs. Detroit in the Motor City Classic at Detroit; Rhode Island vs. Wyoming and Bowling Green vs. Oklahoma City in the All-College at Oklahoma City, Okla.; Pepperdine vs. U. of Pacific and Santa Clara vs. San Francisco in the WCCAC at San Jose, Calif.; and Michigan State vs. Hawaii Marines and St. Louis vs. Tennessee in the Rainbow Classic at Honolulu.

FOR PLAYER TALENT

Bowl Games Will Trigger Warfare?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It's front and center this week for the traditional year-end bowl games that bring the college football season to a close and figure to lift the bidding between the two professional leagues for standout talent to break-the-bank proportions.

The bidding may reach an unprecedented level right at the start Friday when Texas Tech's Donny Anderson finishes his college career in the Gator Bowl game against Georgia Tech at Jacksonville, Fla.

The Gator Bowl game triggers the weekend action that also includes the Sun Bowl and the East-West games on Friday and concludes with the Big Four on Saturday — the Rose, Cotton, Sugar and Orange bowl classics.

Some one dozen high draft choices figure to be signed at the end of the games and, if you can believe some of the prices being mentioned, Anderson may lead the collection of six-figure signees with a contract in the neighborhood of $800,000.

"It is not beyond the realm of possibility that Anderson will receive $800,000," says owner

Bud Adams of the American Football League's Houston Oilers, bidding against the National League's Green Bay Packers for Anderson's services.

Also mentioned as a prospect in the $500,000 or above range is Missouri's standout back, Johnny Roland, up for grabs between the NFL's St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Jets of the AFL.

Here's a current scorecard on the top signed players and the contracts they reportedly received:

1. Texas linebacker Tommy Nobis, $700,000 from Atlanta, NFL.
2. Illinois fullback Jim Grabowski, $625,000, Green Bay, NFL.
3. Kentucky quarterback Rick Norton, $350,000, Miami, AFL.
4. Oklahoma linebacker Carl McAdams, $325,000, New York, AFL.
5. Kentucky halfback Rodger Bird, $300,000, Oakland, AFL.
6. Michigan tackle Bill Yearby, $250,000, New York, AFL.
7. Tennessee linebacker Frank Emanuel, $200,000, Miami, AFL.

Besides Anderson and Roland, those other top draft choices remain to be signed after this week's bowl games — Missouri tackles Francis Peay and Butch Allison, Florida guard Larry Gagner and tackle Randy Jackson, Nebraska tackle Walt Barnes and end Freeman White, Michigan State tackle Hal Lucas, Arkansas halfback Jim Lindsay and LSU tackle George Rice.

They'll be lining up this way on the bowl schedule:

- Gator Bowl at Jacksonville — Georgia Tech, 6-3-1, vs. Texas Tech, 8-2.
- Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex. — Texas Western, 7-3, vs. TCU, 6-4.
- Shrine Game at San Francisco — East-West all-star teams. Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif. — Michigan State, 10-0, vs. UCLA, 7-2-1.
- Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Tex. — Arkansas, 10-0, vs. LSU, 7-3.
- Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, La. — Missouri, 7-2, vs. Florida, 7-3.
- Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla. — Nebraska, 10-0, vs. Alabama, 8-1-1.

The Philadelphia 76ers are getting much needed help from their newest playmaker — Wilt Chamberlain.

Chamberlain, who has been displaying his versatility by moving into the No. 10 spot among the National Basketball Association's assists leaders this season, continued in his new role Sunday night as he led the 76ers to a 121-107 victory over San Francisco.

Chamberlain scored 33 points, pulled down 17 rebounds, blocked 16 shots and officially received credit for eight assists.

The victory kept the third-place 76ers one-half game behind Cincinnati in the Eastern Division race.

The Royals downed St. Louis 117-115 on Oscar Robertson's last-second shot. First-place Boston rode Sam Jones' hot-shooting to a 120-99 victory over Baltimore in the only other game scheduled.

Chamberlain, a virtual one-man gang, got just enough assistance from Chet Walker and Bill Cunningham. Walker scored 13 points in the first quarter and Cunningham, who wound up with 19, led the 76ers in the third period when San Francisco threatened.

Guy Rodgers was high man for the Warriors with 31 points. Robertson missed a shot with five seconds left against the Hawks, then got the ball back after Jerry Lucas' tip-in failed and sank the winning basket.

Robertson finished with 37 points, and Lucas scored 24. Bill Bridges topped St. Louis with 21.

Jones scored 12 points in the last five minutes of the second period as the Celtics built a 63-56 halftime lead, then came off the bench and hit two free throws and a basket in the fourth period after the Bulls had closed to within 90-88.

Jones scored a game high 34 points. Bailey Howell and Johnny Green shared honors for Baltimore with 18 each.

In Saturday's games, Boston whipped Baltimore 113-99, Los Angeles defeated Detroit 115-106, St. Louis crushed New York 131-111, and Cincinnati beat San Francisco 110-113.

BLUE-GRAY

Did Atlanta Pick Winner In Johnson?

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The Atlanta Falcons apparently came up with a winner when they dipped into the small-college ranks and picked quarterback Randy Johnson of Texas A&M as their second choice in the National Football League draft.

Playing against major college rivals for the first time, Johnson shattered three passing records Saturday when he led the South to a 23-19 conquest of the North in the annual Blue-Gray game.

The 6-foot-4 senior, admittedly awed by the speed and ability of the North team, passed like a professional and engineered two fourth-quarter scores that wiped out a 19-8 North lead.

Johnson wound up with 20 completions in 33 passes for 308 yards. He tossed two touchdown strikes, scored one himself on a plunge and passed for a two-point conversion.

Although he was named Little All-America quarterback, Johnson was almost unknown nationally until he was drafted by the Falcons.

Johnson's passing overshadowed the running of Willard Sander of Ohio State, voted the top offensive player for the North after he gained 77 yards rushing. Top defensive player for the North was Bob Riggins, Penn State halfback who set up two Blue touchdowns by intercepting a pass and recovering a fumble.

NORTH-SOUTH

Miami Gets First Peek At Twilley

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Howard Twilley got his first taste of the Orange Bowl Saturday and Miami fans got their first look at one of their prize pro football packages.

Twilley grabbed only four passes for 69 yards but one was a diving catch of a 30-yarder that brought the South within striking distance of its tying touchdown en route to a 21-14 victory over the North.

Twilley has been signed by the Miami Dolphins of the American Football League. He made some slick moves Saturday in the face of defensive harassment that stripped him of his classic square-off pattern.

South defensive players found the no-blitzing rule a bother.

"With so short a time to put offensive plays in, blitzing might be too much," South Coach Glenn Dobbs said. "It does place a limitation on the defense, although this year the defensive teams didn't seem to need much help."

Winona Teams Schedule Holiday Basketball Action

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

Winona's basketball quartet, after observing the Christmas holiday, now turn their attentions to competition that looms ahead this week.

Three of our four teams will be working in holiday tournament competition, while Winona High will use a non-conference game at La Crosse Central Thursday as its mid-vacation exercise.

One activity is set for the home front, that the always-successful Cotter Invitational Holiday tournament, which will feature two new teams.

The tournament begins at the plush St. Mary's College field house Tuesday evening and concludes with a two-game program Wednesday.

John Nelt's Cotter Ramblers get the stiffest test of opening night when they tackle Eau Claire Regis, the pre-meet favorite, at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Regis, at 6-1, owns the best record of the four entered teams and also someone who promises to be one of the tournament's individual stars. Don Fischer is the Ramblers' 6-6 junior center and their leading scorer.

Tuesday's nightcap — scheduled for 9 o'clock — will send a small, but quick, La Crosse Aquinas team (4-4) against St. Paul Hill.

Cotter (last year's runnerup) and Hill are returnees, the two Wisconsin schools are newcomers.

Both St. Mary's and Winona State will compete in collegiate tournaments.

AQUINAS' BRUHA CONFIDENT

Height Is Nice, But Not Whole Game

By BOB JUNGHANS
Daily News Sports Writer

Height is a nice commodity to have in present day basketball — in fact it's almost a necessity.

But there are ways to make up for it if you don't have it. And according to La Crosse Aquinas coach Dave Bruha, it's speed.

Bruha, whose team has posted a 4-4 season mark to date, will bring a group of speed merchants to St. Mary's gymnasium Tuesday and Wednesday to compete in the Cotter High School Holiday Invitational basketball tournament.

And according to the coach, "We should have as good a chance as anyone to win it."

The 4-3 mark held by the Bluebirds is a trifle misleading. Bruha's boys got off to a rocky start, losing to Austin Pacelli, Wisconsin Rapids Assumption and Marshfield Columbus in three of their first four games. Since then the Bluebirds have won three of four, losing only to cross-town foe La Crosse Central Thursday night.

"When we run into someone with size, we're in trouble," admitted Bruha, "but we're fast and we're gonna run."

In fact Bruha is going to make some changes in his starting lineup to add even more speed for the Bluebirds' first tournament game against St. Paul Hill Tuesday at 9 p.m.

Only 6-0 forward Mike Limberg and 5-10 junior guard Pat Callahan will keep their starting berths. Newcomers to the starting five will be 6-2 center John Topinka, 5-9 John Pinsak legiate tournaments.

Bob Campbell's Warriors, who have compiled a 3-5 record, play in the Carroll College Holiday tournament, Waukesha, Wis., Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Statesmen, who have finished third and second in two years of competition in the traveling tournament, face Beloit in the tournament opener at 7 p.m. Tuesday. Carleton and Carroll complete the first-round in a nine o'clock nightcap.

The championship and consolation games are scheduled for Wednesday.

Ken Wittgen's Redmen travel to St. Ambrose, Iowa, for a tournament Wednesday and Thursday.

St. Mary's (3-2) will run into Simpson, Iowa, College Wednesday at 9 o'clock. The opener sends St. Ambrose against Augustana of Rock Island, Ill.

St. Mary's last year won the Fremont, Neb., tournament. The Cotter tournament was won by Minneapolis De La Salle in a 54-52 squeaker over the host Ramblers.

A year ago, Winona State was beaten 72-67 in the championship game by Beloit.

Beloit, in fact, is the only team to have beaten Winona in two tournaments. The first year, State was beaten by Beloit in the opening round.

While Cotter will take a 3-4 record into its tournament, Winona High, under the direction of John Kenney, has set the hottest pre-Christmas pace, winning four of its five games. La Crosse Central also is only a one-time loser, standing 6-1.

Houston Owner Claims He Has Offered $650,000

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Outspoken Bud Adams, owner of the Houston Oilers, says he has already offered more than $650,000 to Texas Tech's Donny Anderson, a first-round draft choice of both the Oilers and the Green Bay Packers.

In rapid-fire comments, Adams said:

—The bidding for Anderson, an All-America halfback the last two years, might go as high as $800,000.

—The Packers probably paid $825,000 or more to sign All-America fullback Jim Grabowski of Illinois.

—The Packers' Coach Vince Lombardi had told Anderson that Green Bay would trade veteran standouts Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung if both he and Grabowski were signed.

Just as quickly, Lombardi fired back, "Whatever statements Adams gave out are completely unfounded."

As for any trade of Taylor and Hornung, Lombardi replied, "Adams has enough trouble running his own team without trying to run anybody else's."

MANY STATE CAGE TEAMS SCHEDULED

Gophers Begin Final Shakedown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A final shakedown confronts the Minnesota Gopher basketball squad this week—prior to Big Ten competition—as the squad takes on four opponents in five days of an eastern road trip.

Tonight, the Gophers battle Cornell of the Ivy League in the first round of the Quaker City Holiday Tournament at Philadelphia.

Win or lose, they'll play two other games on successive days before going to Chicago for Friday night's contest against Loyola of Chicago.

Several other college and university teams from Minnesota will be active in the holiday derbies, with St. Cloud State launching the eight-team Dedication Tourney Tuesday.

Moorhead will be host to the Red River Classic starting Wednesday.

Minnesota was ranked No. 6 in last week's Associated Press poll. A drop out of the top 10 is a possibility after the Gophers were soundly beaten last week by Utah State, 92-72.

It's possible that with the pressure of an unbeaten string broken, the Gophers will play better ball after the loss to Utah State. The loss of ace Lou Hudson in the Creighton game Dec. 16, due to a broken wrist, has chilled Minnesota's chances in national ratings and in the Big Ten.

He had a 22.3 scoring average, including 32 points dunked in the game when he broke his wrist in the first few minutes of play. Archie Clark has made an heroic effort to pick up the slack and has increased his average to 22.2.

Says Coach John Kundla: "Since Hudson got hurt, Clark has proved that he is a lot better player than he ever got credit for."

Other competitors in the tough Quaker City field are St. Bonaventure, Temple, St. Joseph's, Niagara, Brigham Young and LaSalle.

The St. Cloud tourney will match eight teams from five states, including four from the Gopher state—St. Cloud, Hamline, St. Thomas and St. John's. Others are Buena Vista, Iowa; Stout, Wis.; Ball State, Ind.; and Western Illinois.

Concordia, Bemidji and Moorhead will compete in the Red River Classic at Moorhead.

Here's how other state teams will be active in the holiday go-around:

Gustavus Adolphus in the Pan America Tourney at Edinburg, Tex., starting today.

Mankato in the North Central Conference Tourney at Sioux Falls, S.D., beginning Tuesday.

Augsburg and St. Olaf in the Luther College Tourney in Iowa beginning Tuesday.

Winona and Carleton in the Carroll College Tourney in Iowa starting Tuesday.

St. Mary's in the St. Ambrose Tourney in Iowa beginning Wednesday.

Four teams are fighting for first place in the tight National Hockey League race. The New York Rangers and Boston Bruins are still fighting.

The Detroit Red Wings closed ground in the point race by nipping league-leading Montreal 1-0 Sunday night on Alex Delvecchio's last-minute goal, and the Toronto Maple Leafs stayed within range of the lead by playing second-place Chicago to a 1-1 standoff.

The Rangers and Bruins, meanwhile, staged their second straight basement battle royal.

New York, triggered by Bob Nevin's hat trick, won the game 4-4 but the Bruins, led by tough Ted Green, held their own in the rematch of a punchfest that started in Boston Saturday night.

Delvecchio rapped home Norm Ullman's rebound with 56 seconds to play, moving the third place Wings within four points of Montreal. The Canadiens haven't won at Detroit in their last 12 visits, dating back to February, 1964.

Chico Maki's power play goal midway in the last period knotted the score at Chicago, checking the Maple Leafs' five-game winning streak. Toronto slipped one point behind Detroit in the standings but remained only four short of the Hawks and five off Montreal's pace.

The Canadiens edged Detroit 4-3 and Toronto topped Chicago 5-3 in Saturday night's other games.

JONES VS. McBRIDE

Doug Jones, the former top-ranked contender who is hoping to get a title fight with heavyweight champion Cassius Clay this winter, takes on veteran Archie McBride of Trenton, N.J., in a 10-rounder at Miami Beach Tuesday night.

Green, who returned to the Bruins' lineup after a month-long illness and set up three goals as the tailenders snapped a 12-game winless skid by beating the Rangers 4-2 Saturday, didn't do much playmaking in the Madison Square Garden return bout. The pugnacious defenseman spent more than half the game setting out penalties.

Green's 36 penalty minutes fell one short of the all-time single-game mark held by teammate Reg Fleming, who set it five years ago at New York while performing for Chicago.

Delvecchio rapped home Norm Ullman's rebound with 56 seconds to play, moving the third place Wings within four points of Montreal. The Canadiens haven't won at Detroit in their last 12 visits, dating back to February, 1964.

Chico Maki's power play goal midway in the last period knotted the score at Chicago, checking the Maple Leafs' five-game winning streak. Toronto slipped one point behind Detroit in the standings but remained only four short of the Hawks and five off Montreal's pace.

The Canadiens edged Detroit 4-3 and Toronto topped Chicago 5-3 in Saturday night's other games.

The Christmas truce in Viet Nam lay crumpled.

A watching world, hopeful the cease-fire would extend into lasting peace, learned that military actions had continued.

A U.S. military spokesman in Saigon conceded the 30-hour cease-fire was never really in effect. A spokesman said Sunday there had been 84 significant Viet Cong actions during the Communist and American cease-fire periods. U.S. and allied forces officially resumed the war.

Even as the guns boomed in the bullet-shattered truce, Pope Paul VI sent a personal appeal to North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh and South Viet Nam's Chief of state, Nguyen Van Thieu.

Rhodesia Plans To Buy Oil From Communists

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prime Minister Ian Smith of Rhodesia says his nation will buy oil from the Communists or anybody else to defy economic sanctions imposed by Great Britain against its former African colony.

"This is an economic war," said Smith in a television interview filmed in Salisbury and telecast in Washington on CBS.

"Face the Nation."

But, Smith said, Rhodesia has enough oil now to last six months before having to purchase.

Smith also said Rhodesia, which has declared its independence from Great Britain, is not committed to a policy of white supremacy.

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—A 21-year-old man drowned early today when he broke through the ice of the Fox River as he attempted to take a short cut across the stream just north of the Main Street bridge.

Police and firemen recovered the body of Kenneth Crooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Crooks, but were unable to revive him.

Food-for-Peace Efforts Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—A private citizens group says the United States will increasingly be called upon to feed a hungry world and urged the government to vastly expand its Food-for-Peace efforts.

Using America's vast productive power to provide food for the world's hungry can be a great deterrent to war, said the National Committee for an Effective Congress.

"The overriding factor in world politics today is the growing gap between population and productivity," the committee said in urging U.S. agricultural policies to stimulate food surpluses for distribution overseas.

Calling the war in Viet Nam "merely a ripple on the tidal wave of change sweeping the world," the committee said: "Holding the line against Ho Chi Minh or Mao Tse-tung can only be justified to the extent that we mean to do something worthwhile behind the line."

Larson, a 38-year-old veteran, plans to retire in April after 20 years of service.

His wife, Janet, daughter, Sherry, 15, and mother, Mrs. Vera Larson, and her five sons live in this Dunn County village or nearby. Sherry attends Boyceville High School.

Cause of Cable Mishap Sought

CLERMONT, FERRAND, France (AP)—An investigation commission sought today to determine the cause of a cable-car mishap Christmas Day which hurled six skiers to their deaths on a rocky slope. Twelve persons were injured.

The accident occurred as the cable car climbed the side of 6,187-foot Puy de Sancy mountain from the resort town of Mont Dore, in south-central France. Strong gusts of wind swept the mountain as the car and its 52 passengers approached its terminal near the mountain top.

Defense Issues Snap Back on Stock Exchange

NEW YORK (AP)—Defense issues snapped back as the Viet Nam cease-fire fizzled out while the rest of the stock market pursued an irregular course early this afternoon.

Airlines, which underwent some severe profit taking last week, also came back strongly.

A number of other stocks which clipped away some of their big gains of the past few months hit the comeback trail. The market as a whole, however, was a very spotty affair.

Weakness in a number of blue chips tugged at the averages.

Steels were uneven despite forecasts of booming steel production in 1966.

Coppers and other nonferrous metals advanced moderately. Copper commodity futures were strong.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.1 at 357.7 with industrials up .2, rails unchanged and utilities off .7.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .73 at 967.09.

American Telephone sank more than a point amid published discussion of the federal investigation of its rate structure. Du Pont also lost a point.

These blue chips weigh heavily in averages. The were countered partially by Jersey Standard's 1-point gain and a snap back of about 2 1/2 by United Aircraft, a pivotal stock in market indicators.

Prospects of a cooling off of hostilities in Viet Nam led to selling of defense issues last week. They recovered briskly. Boeing was up nearly 4, Douglas and McDonnell Aircraft 3 or better, General Dynamics about 2.

Airlines moved back up as a group. Prices were mostly higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds showed little change.
