Conclusions of Citizens' Conference on Urban Renewal

TWENTY-FOUR Winona citizens, representing all phases of community life, attended an all-day conference Wednesday called by Mayor R. K. Ellings, acting as a private citizen, to consider urban renewal. When the 11-hour session was concluded at 8 p.m. the following statement supporting rejuvenation of downtown Winona, copies of which have been sent to the City Council, City Planning Commission and Housing and Redevelopment Authority — signed by all conferees — was issued:

Winona, as a city, is decaying in the center — ITS DOWNTOWN. Most buildings do not meet modern standards as to size or condition. Private renewal has not taken place and will not because under present tax burdens it is not economically feasible for the owners.

Industry and professions have had severe difficulties in attracting key personnel to Winona, and Winona is not getting its fair share of the present retail market because of the condition of Downtown. Modern shoppers, who are mostly women, demand modern, up-to-date facilities which we don't have. Our city is excellently located, has good transportation facilities, wonderful scenery, outstanding recreational, educational and religious opportunities, but our downtown area has not adjusted to the Twentieth Century. Change of some kind will come whether we like it or not. Whether the change is backward or forward depends on what happens in Winona in the IMMEDIATE future. The time is critical now — there won't be another chance. We should forget about past mistakes or dif-

Highway Toll Rate Less Despite Record Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Minnesota's 1965 traffic death toll, already at a record high, continued to mount today but the state Highway Department produced some statistics indicating the safety record actually is improving.

Two persons died Wednesday. The fatalities pushed the 1965 toll to 851, or seven above the record count for all of 1964.

The highway department in St. Paul meanwhile issued figures showing that traffic deaths per 100 million vehicle miles is 5.0, down from the 5.2 of the last two years. By this yardstick, the Minnesota death rate is below the national average.

The victims Wednesday included Wayne Goette, 22, Port Arthur, Ont. Goette died in a Duluth hospital of injuries suffered Monday in a crash which claimed two other lives.

Goette's father, Ernest, 50, of Port Arthur, the driver of a car, and Ronald Friesen, 23, Fort Gary, Minn., a passenger, were fatally injured in the crash. The car carrying the Canadians, en route to a church meeting in Duluth, collided head-on with a semi-trailer truck on a narrow U.S. 61 bridge northeast of Two Harbors.

Mrs. Murvin Schuler, about 40,

Granite Falls, Minn., was killed Wednesday night when the pickup truck driven by her husband struck the rear of a stalled gasoline truck about four miles north of Granite Falls. The woman was the mother of seven children.

Mrs. Schuler's husband was injured seriously in the crash. Virdeen Anspach of Granite Falls, the trucker, and his two children were in the stalled truck. They were not hurt.

The Highway Department report said the state's 5.0 death rate was the lowest since 1962, 100 million vehicle miles.

Why then a record number of deaths? Probably because more people are driving more miles and thus creating a much greater "exposure" of each vehicle to possible accidents.

Translated into sports terms, it's something like a baseball pitcher's earned run average.

A pitcher might have a poor won-loss record of 7 and 15. But the same pitcher might have an excellent earned run average of 2.55 and merely have lost most of his games because he played with a weak-hitting club.

At first glance, the pitcher had a poor year, but a look at his ERA might earn him a salary increase for the next season.

That is not to say that 851 deaths is a good record, since almost all those deaths would have been preventable. More than two deaths a day all year is not enviable, but it is a "raw" figure that can be modified with the other statistics.

The major trend in Minnesota this year has been an increase of fatal accidents on rural roads and a decrease in urban fatal accidents.

Eleven counties — predominantly rural — have more than doubled their fatal accident toll of last year. They are Benton, Brown, Clay, Cook, Fillmore, Kandiyohi, Lake, Mille Lacs, Pennington, Sibley and Winona. This trend carried over from 1964.

Last year, rural trunk highways carried about 38 per cent of the vehicle miles but produced 41 per cent of the fatal accidents.

Rural county and township roads carried only 21 per cent of the total vehicle miles but produced 24 per cent of the fatal accidents. These rural roads had the highest fatal accident rate on a vehicle mile basis of any of the various types of roadway in Minnesota.

Urban trunk highways, Interstate highways and urban streets all had a lower percentage of fatal accidents than their percentage of total vehicle miles last year.

Philippines President Takes Oath

MANILA (AP) — Onetime guerrilla fighter Ferdinand E. Marcos took the oath as the sixth president of the Philippines today and pledged his nation to austerity at home and greater cooperation with free nations of Asia.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey represented the United States at the inauguration. A host of other dignitaries also attended the ceremonies, which drew 50,000 Filipinos to Luneta Park beside Manila Bay and millions more to radio and television sets.

Marcos, 48, startled the festive audience with a stern speech outlining the nation's economic and political ills.

He extolled the Philippines as a democratic example to unstable nations in Asia and pledged it would stand beside "every fighter for freedom." But he warned that the nation's coffers were empty and "hard decisions" — such as sending troops to Viet Nam — must be made for the national interest of the Philippines.

Before the election last month, Marcos said he opposed sending combat troops to Viet Nam although he favored enlarging the Philippine medical unit there. After the election, he indicated he had changed his mind and was in favor of sending a combat battalion.

He did not mention Viet Nam by name in his inaugural speech but noted that freedom in Asia was being seriously endangered.

Push Peace Offensive Despite Cold Red Reply

Viet Cong Hit Near Saigon And at Da Nang

SAIGON South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong struck today in and around Saigon within the shadow of the big U.S. Marine base at Da Nang and near the Cambodian frontier. The stepped-up demonstration of their prowess came on the seventh day of the moratorium in the U.S. air war against the Communist North.

New evidence of Communist terror tactics was seen in the disclosure by a U.S. military spokesman that three captured U.S. Marines and eight South Vietnamese soldiers had been murdered after their capture in Quang Ngai Province on Dec. 16. The bodies were found in shallow graves and appeared to have been shot repeatedly in the head at close range.

The spokesman attributed the slayings to the 18th North Vietnamese Regiment in the area and said one of the victims — whose nationality was not disclosed — had been struck in the head with a sharp instrument.

In Saigon, a Vietnamese journalist brought him threats from the Viet Cong was shot to death this afternoon as he rode home by bicycle. Police said the newsmen, Tu Chong, 35, of the daily newspaper Chinh Luu, was the first Saigon newspaperman the Communists had assassinated. The killer escaped.

Before dawn 500 Viet Cong drove a South Vietnamese militia company from a government stronghold only 4 miles from the outer defenses of the big Marine base at Da Nang 380 miles northeast of Saigon. It was the third time in 10 weeks that the Communists had overrun Hill 60.

Three companies of Vietnamese rangers tried to move in on the hill this afternoon but were pinned down by automatic weapons and mortars. Heavy rains prevented air strikes, but artillery pounded the Viet Cong.

Living Costs Up In November

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs, rising at the fastest rate in seven years, went up another two-tenths of one per cent last month, the Labor Department said today.

Prices were higher for all major items — including housing, clothing, transportation and medical care — except food, which held steady.

The increase brought the government's consumer price index to 110.6. The figure means it cost $11.06 in November to purchase items worth $10 in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

The rise in typical family living costs brought the value of a 1957-59 dollar down to 90.4 cents.

Peace Envoy To Canada

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The White House announced today another presidential peace mission — this one to Canada — and indicated others would be forthcoming as part of an effort to emphasize the nation's quest for peace in Viet Nam.

Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary, announced that McGeorge Bundy, President Johnson's special assistant for national security affairs, flew secretly to Ottawa Wednesday night for a meeting with Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson.

Johnson planned to confer by telephone with Pearson later today, Moyers said. Canada, along with Poland and India, is a member of the International Control Commission in Viet Nam.

U.S. Impatient in Gunpowder Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Talks in the gunpowder strike that threatens some ammunition supplies to U.S. forces in Viet Nam continue today amid signs of growing government impatience.

Slight progress was reported early this morning when discussions broke up about 3 a.m. EST. They were to resume six hours later.

After an implied federal deadline failed to break the deadlocked negotiations Wednesday, the Army announced it was reactivating a mothballed plant to make munitions.

Munitions Plant At Baraboo To Be Reactivated

BARABOO, Wis. (AP) — Defense Department orders to reactivate the Badger Ordnance Works near Baraboo after an Illinois strike threatened ammunition supplies for Viet Nam brought mixed reactions today on both military and economic fronts.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., called the resumption of production necessary to prevent an ammunition shortage resulting from the 30-day strike at another plant at East Alton, Ill.

But Rep. Vernon W. Thomson, R-Wis., a former governor in whose congressional district the plant is located, said, "The opening of the plant is an ominous sign. It would seem to indicate the trend that the war is taking this amid all our peace feelers."

At nearby Portage, the president of the city council, Donald Murphy, called the reactivation "a tremendous thing" and said, "It will certainly help our wage scale."

However, Charles Monroe Jr. of Portage, president of the Columbia County Labor Council, said, "There will be people quitting good jobs to go to work there, and if it is only a temporary thing, it can cause a lot of problems."

The $200 million plant, which covers 5,000 acres of prairie land in Sauk County south of Baraboo, has been inactive since February, 1958. It produced both small arms and rocket powder during World War II and the Korean conflict.

U.S. Giving Hanoi Every Chance to Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's peace offensive pushed ahead today as a hint of mystery surrounded the international travels of two U.S. ambassadors.

Presidential envoys W. Averell Harriman and Arthur J. Goldberg paid surprise calls at Warsaw and the Vatican, and were reported ready to carry the U.S. peace bid to other capitals before returning to America.

Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, met for one hour Wednesday with Pope Paul VI after arriving secretly aboard a presidential jet.

He told newsmen today that Johnson shared the Pope's desire to move "this grave conflict from the battlefield to the bargaining table where ultimately it will have to be resolved."

He also described his trip as an "effort to re-emphasize the U.S. willingness to do all it can for peace," and said he would report the Pope's view only to the President.

Goldberg was to leave Rome tonight after talks with Premier Aldo Moro and other Italian officials.

He wouldn't disclose his next destination.

Roaming Ambassador Harriman arrived unannounced in Warsaw aboard a U.S. Air Force jet and promptly met with Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki.

The U.S. Embassy said Harriman, at Johnson's request, gave the Polish government Washington's views on the Viet Nam situation.

Today, he spent two hours with Communist party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka, but told newsmen only that their session included talk of the past.

"We are old," he said. "We knew each other during the war."

The U.S. Embassy announced that Harriman would leave Warsaw today, but again there was no disclosure of a destination.

Poland has relations with Communist North Viet Nam and is on the three-nation International Control Commission dealing with Viet Nam.

In Washington, informed sources expected Harriman might go on to Hungary, another third-party channel to Hanoi, and perhaps to Yugoslavia, leader of a group of nonaligned countries favoring Viet Nam negotiations.

The peace quest by the two Americans was backed by the halt since Christmas in the bombing of North Viet Nam targets and by behind-the-scenes Washington efforts to probe for any peace feelers from Hanoi.

Still, their efforts came in the face of a chilling blast from the No. 1 target, Hanoi, capital of Communist North Viet Nam.

North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh denounced "U.S. imperialist aggressors" Wednesday and, in a reply to a message from the Pope, declared "the U.S. leaders want war and not peace."

The talks about unconditional negotiations made by the U.S. president, he charged, "are merely a maneuver to cover up his plan for war intensification and extension in Viet Nam."

U.S. diplomats rated Ho's statement, as broadcast by Radio Hanoi Wednesday as harsh, uncompromising and unchanged from his stand in the past.

Nevertheless, they refused to accept the public North Vietnamese utterance as a final response to U.S. diplomatic efforts now under way. Some U.S. sources figure that in private soundings, Hanoi might be more likely to come through with a reply which could lead to negotiations.

Johnson promised in a Dec. 9 speech to exhaust every peace effort "before other hard steps are taken."

Under the strict secrecy imposed from the White House down since the peace campaign began, the administration has refused to say why the lull in air raids on North Viet Nam has extended into a record seventh straight day.

Strange, Silent Mood in Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — This world capital is in a strange, sombre, silent mood as 1966 approaches. It is as if everybody were listening — and fearing that what he may hear will spell evil.

Washington exists in a sort of state of suspended animation, enduring what might be called "The days of the great pause."

To be sure, the usual tourist groups rubberneck at the White House in the nippy winter sunshine. But there is less than the usual craning of necks — no expectancy that a tall man will lope out and shake hands. LBJ is away on the Pedernales.

On Capitol Hill, the cacophony of Congress has been stilled since October and won't resume until Jan. 10. There, too, is a sense of monumental emptiness, of marble halls devoid of the deliberations for which they were built.

The city, of course, is preparing to ring out the old. For $25 per person a big hotel will provide filet mignon, music, paper hats and noisemakers. Drinks will be extra, $1.25 apiece if not too fancy.

But nobody's heart seems to be in this merriment. On practically all minds and lips are the two words "Viet Nam."

And what is everybody — from the President in Texas to the lowliest clerk in the Pentagon — listening for?

They are straining to catch a favorable word, a promising sign, from Ho Chi Minh, President of North Viet Nam — something more pacific than his declaration Wednesday that "U.S. leaders want war and not peace."

Boy Drowns At Annandale

ANNANDALE, Minn. (AP) — A 13-year-old boy drowned and his father and two brothers escaped when their car plunged into a stretch of open water while returning to shore Wednesday night from winter fishing on Clearwater Lake.

The dead boy was Duane Stelten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Stelten of rural Kimball, Minn. Duane drowned as he attempted to swim to nearby ice. His brothers, Robert, 15, and James, 26, swam to safety in the icy water.

Annandale firemen rescued the father who stood on top of the car which was covered by about 12 inches of water.

The survivors made their way to a nearby bait shop for warmth and drying out.

Authorities said the group apparently lost their way in heavy fog and got off the trail ice fishermen cars had been using. The car went into open water near the mouth of a channel that connects Clearwater and Lake Augusta.

Silo Unloader Injures Arcadian

ARCADIA, Wis. (Special) — Robert Wicka, 41, is a patient at St. Joseph's Hospital with leg and arm fractures and lacerations received last week in a silo unloader accident.

Wicka, living on a farm six miles northeast of Independence in Traverse Valley, was inside the 50-foot silo adjusting the silo unloader at 5 p.m. He accidentally stepped on the chain of the unloader, which caught his leg. He fell, and the chain caught his right arm.

His son, who was assisting him, summoned help. He was moved to the hospital by ambulance, where casts will be applied in a few days to the simple and compound fractures of the lower left leg and simple fracture to the right arm. He is reported in satisfactory condition and will be hospitalized another week or 10 days, doctors said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special postage stamp commemorating the feats of Johnny Appleseed will be issued in Leominster, Mass., next Sept. 24.

This first issue of an American folk hero series of stamps will honor a man reputed to have traversed 100,000 square miles between Massachusetts and Missouri planting apple tree seeds and seedlings.

Leominster was chosen for the first day issue of the five-cent stamp because it is the birthplace of John Chapman, the original Johnny Appleseed. Leominster records show he was born there in 1774 and died in 1845.

Viet Nam War May Effect U.S. Voting

EDITOR'S NOTE — Next year is an election year and the Viet Nam war is bound to loom large in the political consciousness. Already there are sounds of issues being hammered together.

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans will bound back to Washington next month confident that President Johnson faces decisions on Viet Nam and the economy which are likely to boost the GOP's political stock.

As Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and House Minority Leader Gerald D. Ford of Michigan see it, Johnson must make the difficult choice between inflation or a slowdown in his "Great Society" programs if he is to provide the substantial increase in Viet Nam spending even the administration regards as inevitable.

There have been estimates that the rising costs of the Southeast Asia conflict may add $10 billion to the military budget in a year.

Curiously, that is exactly the amount the politically powerful AFL-CIO wants the President to put into education, from elementary school to college, in the same period of time. This represents only one source of the tremendous pressures that will be brought on Johnson to keep various programs rolling in high gear.

"As I see it," Ford said, "the President has the alternative of cutting back on his domestic programs, raising taxes or rolling up a big inflationary budget."

"He certainly isn't going to recommend raising taxes. If he backs down on the program he pushed so hard to get in the last session, he is going to undercut a lot of Democratic candidates who are depending on them for election. If he yields to inflation, he is going to hear from the country in no uncertain terms."

Dirksen said in a separate interview he looks for an administration effort to crowd into this fiscal year, which ends next June 30, as much supplemental spending as possible. This would tend to hold down the total of the new budget to be submitted in January.

"There will be stiff opposition to any such deceptive practice," he said.

Administration officials already have estimated that current year spending will run between $105 billion and $107 billion, instead of the $99.7 billion estimated last January. Because revenues are up, they figure the June 30 deficit will range between $7 billion and $8 billion.

Republicans believe the psychological impact of a new January budget estimate of more than $100 billion in spending will dramatize their contention that Johnson is taking the country into an era of inflation.

If this is followed by increases in the prices of food, appliances, automobiles, services and all of the things the average family buys, they believe disgruntled consumers will take it out on the Democrats at the polls in congressional races next November.

To emphasize any cut-backs Johnson might make in domestic aid programs, the Republican Policy Coordinating Committee expects to have soon a report on the impact on such programs of increased Viet Nam expenditures. This presumably will spell out for the beneficiaries just what they aren't going to get if Johnson clamps down to make way for war expenditures.

Because they didn't want to be accused of displaying American disunity abroad, the Republicans on the whole have been restrained in criticizing Johnson's course in Viet Nam.

They apparently have developed now a technique of urging the President on to greater military efforts and in the same voice criticizing him for getting involved in an "endless" war.

OUT-OF-TOWN COLLEGES

Initiated by Sorority

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — Peggy Stellflug, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Stellflug, has been initiated by Delta Zeta chapter of Zeta Omicron sorority at La Crosse State University where she's a sophomore majoring in medical technology.

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special) — Donald Thorson, Whitehall Rt. 1, has been inducted into Eta Kappa Nu, national electrical engineering honor society, at Wisconsin College of Engineering, Madison.

SPRING GROVE, Minn. — Miss Schmauss received his bachelor of electrical engineering degree from the University of Minnesota at December commencement exercises.

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — Karen Schmauss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Schmauss, and Baard Flesche, son of Mrs. B. A. Flesche, have been graduated from Mankato State College.

Miss Schmauss received a bachelor of science degree in elementary education and is teaching a fifth grade class at Robbinsdale, Minn. Flesche was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in business administration and is awaiting assignment to a Naval Reserve base.

Robert Hoelt, who received his bachelor of mechanical engineering degree at the University of Minnesota at December commencement, is beginning graduate work at the university and has been awarded an assistantship for part-time laboratory research work. A 1961 graduate of Lincoln High School in Lake City, he was elected to Phi Tau.

While they say they don't quarrel with Johnson's objectives, they complain that he isn't getting anywhere.

In this, the Republicans are firing at the most vulnerable point in Johnson's political defense, the accelerating commitment of U.S. manpower to jungle warfare. As American casualty lists mount, the President's problem of maintaining broad national support for his actions seems likely to become more acute.

The GOP committee has offered as its alternative a naval and air quarantine of North Viet Nam, supplemented by air and sea bombardment of "significant military targets." Dirksen said military leaders ought to pick the targets, a task that Johnson has taken over personally in the past.

Ford argued that if the quarantine-bombing strategy were carried out, the need for ground forces could be reduced. But he and other Republican leaders avoided saying what they thought might happen if U.S. warships halted Soviet supply vessels bound for Haiphong, North Viet Nam's chief port.

Dirksen, who has stood behind Johnson, indicated that he, too, is becoming more critical as the election year approaches.

"We don't quarrel about being in Viet Nam," he said. "But we have a quarrel because we have been there too long without decisive results." This obviously was aimed at capitalizing on the impatience of the average American, who wants to get a nasty job over with.

"The Republicans feel perfectly free to make almost any kind of suggestion since they know they aren't going to be called upon to demonstrate that they could do a better job than Johnson in running the war."

It's the President who will get the blame if the U.S. position in Viet Nam doesn't improve by election time. While the voters never turn out a president in a war, they sometimes take out their annoyances on the candidates of his party.

Duxbury Sees Redistricting By U.S. Court

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Reapportionment of the Minnesota Legislature by the Federal Court is virtually a certainty, House Speaker Lloyd Duxbury said Wednesday.

"Gov. (Karl) Rolvaag has not wanted, does not now want and has no intention of calling a special session on redistricting," Ren. Duxbury said.

Duxbury said he viewed but one chance for a special session—the three-judge panel of federal judges considering the matter were to order the governor to call it or put some other pressure on him to do so. He added that he regarded this as a remote possibility.

Supporting his contention that Rolvaag does not want a special session of legislators, Duxbury pointed out that the governor had never replied to his letter of Dec. 6 in which Duxbury assured the chief executive that guidelines for a redistricting bill could be agreed upon.

Duxbury said he also had been almost sure that Rolvaag would veto the reapportionment bill out through the legislature by the conservative majority, as the governor did.

The State Supreme Court later upheld his right to such a veto. Duxbury also revealed that, in anticipating the knockout of the bill, he had suggested a strategy to force the governor to call a special session.

"I had favored holding up the state departments' appropriation bill, not passing it in the regular session early this year," he said. "Thus, after his expected veto—which did happen—the governor would have been forced to call a special session before July 1 to get money for the state government to operate."

We could then have taken up redistricting again. "But, unfortunately, I wasn't able to sell that idea to enough people."

A hearing in Federal Court on the redistricting matter is set for Jan. 14. Plaintiffs are, for the most part, representatives of Twin City suburbs who claim they are currently shortchanged by present legislative districts.

French Student Talks to Rotary

America still is the land of opportunity to the average French college graduate, Jean-Pierre Boucher, French Rotary exchange student, working for his master's degree at the University of Minnesota, told the Winona Rotary Club at Hotel Winona Wednesday.

Improvement of his English, an opportunity to do research and a chance to meet influential people were listed as some of the advantages of Minnesota. The engineering school, he said, is rated as one of the tops in the world.

"France today," he said, "is quite prosperous under its present government and the people have no desire for a change, as was shown by the vote in the recent elections."

He is visiting a number of Rotary clubs in Minnesota in the exchange program to explain France and answer questions about it.

Voice of the Outdoors

Annual Reports

The time of the year has rolled around when every mail brings annual reports, telling of various agency successes. So many million fish planted, so many conifer trees grown and so many miles of terrace built. Winona, in its report, will justly boast of the mighty flood the citizens licked.

In fact, the big story of the year, along the river, is all tied to the flood. Its impact is recorded in the minds of every Mississippi River area citizen, his life and occupation. The flood cut deep into his environment. The inroad that the great flood made on wild-life, animals, birds and fish, still is mostly unmeasured. It will take time to rebuild the river navigation and recreation facilities destroyed. Boating took a heavy licking.

But getting back to the annual reports. One from the Minnesota Game and Fish Division tells that over two million trout raised at the Lanesboro hatchery were stocked during the year. Many of them were fishable size. The hatchery supplies all the trout reared in the state.

Approximately 200 million fish of all species were stocked, including 2 million trout, 7½ million northern pike and 180 million wall-eyes.

Nearly 10,000,000 pounds of rough fish were removed from Minnesota lakes by state crews and special permit operations.

Some 6,500 acres of wildlife wetlands were acquired and 36 new wildlife management areas were established, bringing to a total of 575 the number of wildlife management areas in the state.

A total of 50,000 day-old pheasant chicks were raised at Carlos Avery and delivered to sportsmen's clubs to raise and release at seven weeks of age.

Fishing Contests

It is apparently time for fishing contests again. In today's mail came the announcement of the annual Arcadia Sportsmen's Club event. Other announcements are expected. They should be mailed to The Voice of the Outdoors, Daily News, and we will list your contest in the Fishing Contest calendar which we will publish on the Sunday Outdoor Page. The handbill used will be helpful. Here is the dope on the Arcadia contest.

New Political Crisis After Fanfani Quits

ROME (AP) — Italy teetered today on the brink of a new political crisis after Premier Aldo Moro accepted Foreign Minister Arnimoro Fanfani's resignation.

Moro had asked Fanfani to withdraw the resignation. Fanfani submitted it after he came under fire in connection with the report from his friend, Prof. Giorgio La Pira, of a peace feeler from Hanoi.

After Fanfani insisted he was determined to quit on Jan. 6, the premier accepted his resignation Wednesday night.

Political observers speculated that Fanfani either planned to stay in the background until the La Pira controversy cools off or would work actively to supplant the premier. Although a member of the Cabinet, Fanfani has long been one of Moro's main antagonists in his Christian Democratic party and in the center-left government.

Fanfani pioneered center-left collaboration between the Catholic Christian Democrats and the Socialists in a government coalition which Moro now heads. Fanfani's followers have long considered Moro too cautious.

Fanfani had said he was resigning to dissociate himself from criticisms La Pira made of Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Moro at a party at Fanfani's home. Earlier he had been under fire for passing along to the U.S. government La Pira's report of a peace overture from North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh. Hanoi repudiated the report.

Urban Renewal Gets Unanimous Backing

Group Votes To Organize Permanently

Two dozen business, labor, professional and spiritual leaders of the city said unanimously Wednesday that urban renewal alone can save downtown Winona.

Participants in an all-day conference on downtown planning issued a joint statement pledging full support to city officials in the matter. The conference, called by Mayor R. K. Ellings, was held at Linahan's Inn, beginning at 9 a.m. and ending after dinner at 8 p.m.

Conferees attended by invitation of the mayor, who said he was acting in a non-official capacity as an individual concerned for the city's well-being. Credit for the idea was given to C. Stanley McMahon, attorney, by Dr. W. O. Finkelnburg, chairman of the Winona Housing and Redevelopment Authority, in remarks to the closing session of the day.

THE GROUP acted to organize on a permanent basis, following the pattern of St. Paul's Metropolitan Improvement Commission, an organization of civic leaders in that city. The MIC has worked to maintain liaison between the St. Paul Housing Authority and parts of the business community most affected by renewal, according to William Davidson, St. Paul real estate developer, who also attended the 11-hour sessions at Linahan's, one of the most unusual and, according to conferees, one of the most satisfying in Winona's history.

A temporary steering committee charged with the organizing job was named. Its members are: James N. Doyle, president, Watkins Products, Inc.; Carlus E. Walter, president, Peter Bub Brewery, Inc.; Hollis W. Larsen, business agent, Building Laborers Local 1316; J. L. Jeremiasen, board chairman, United Building Centers, and S. J. Petersen, Winona division manager, Northern States Power Co.

McMahon and William P. Theurer, former City Council president, presided over panel groups during the day and drew the statement of consensus adopted unanimously at the close of the conference. Copies of the document have been sent, with a list of signers, to the City Council, City Planning Commission and Housing and Redevelopment Authority.

City Council members were invited as observers but not as participants. Attending all or part of the sessions were Ald. Harold Briesath, David Johnston, Neil Sawyer, Harold Thiewes, Donald Klage, James Stoltman and Barry Nelson. Absent were Henry Parks and Jerry Borzykowski.

DR. FINKELNBURG, acting chairman by general consent, used words by Daniel H. Burnham, a South Dakota pioneer, to give his impression of the conference keynote:

"Make no little plans; they have no magic to stir men's blood. Make big plans; aim high in hope and work, remembering that a noble, logical diagram, once recorded, will never die."

Also present to provide technical information on the recently completed downtown neighborhood renewal plan were William Chapman, the city's planning consultant, and James Kleinschmidt, urban renewal director for the housing authority. Chapman brought a scale model of the downtown area which showed revisions proposed in the general plan. The model was put on display today in the downtown office window of Northern States Power Co.

NOT SPECIFICALLY mentioned in the statement of results were several individual areas of discussion covered by two panel groups.

Arousing as much discussion as any topic was the vocational-technical school site question. With several aldermen listening intently (they were not asked to comment; none did) a sizable part of one panel voiced strong approval for the downtown site proposed by planners and overruled by the council.

Conferees favoring the downtown idea charged a suburban location would create a new neighborhood business complex that would further injure the downtown retail and service core. It would use up too much of potentially high-value residential land, they argued, if located at the city's eastern side near the Siebert greenhouses. Since tax money is involved, it is the obligation of city boards to act in the best interests of all the city, said advocates, and

Quotable Quotes

Quotable Quotes from Wednesday's Citizen Conference on Downtown Urban Renewal:

"The day of the 25-foot store front and the little corner filling station is gone. Today builders want large store areas with parking. This is why they move to the edges of cities. Filling stations now need quarter-blocks. If you can't give them space, you lose them." — William Davidson, St. Paul, real estate developer.

"Many people see plans only from their individual standpoints. But we should remember that when the community moves ahead, everyone will benefit." — Roland Aaker, Montevideo housing authority executive director.

"Cities don't stay the same. They constantly rebuild and redevelop. They must change and make additions to exist, just as a church must be constantly baptizing new members in order to survive and grow." — William Chapman, planning consultant; Nason, Law, Wehrman & Knight.

"We are at a crossroads. A plan has been drawn and is under study. We now need to know where the community, its people and its leaders wish to go." — Dr. W. O. Finkelnburg, chairman, Housing and Redevelopment Authority of Winona.

"What happens to the small merchant? Some are on the verge of quitting business anyway. But others want to stay and can't afford to go into new quarters. Any small merchant with a going business can be fitted into a planning area like this without very much difficulty." — William Davidson.

"You've got to have faith. To put this over there must be usefulness on the part of all. Strong leadership must be exercised and it can come from a group like this." — William Davidson.

"We can't wait around for another year or so to do something. We have to move now — today. This group should decide right here that it will not pass the job off on some committee." — Conference participant.

"Each one of us should be willing to stand up and be counted on this matter. We've been hesitant to do it before. Now that we've found out a lot of the facts we shouldn't miss any chance to support renewal." — Conference participant.

"If we don't want Winona's downtown to die — and it is dying and has been for several years — we must urge our officials to approve this plan without delay and apply for Federal funds and approval. Time is of great consequence." — Conference participant.

this means putting it downtown.

Partial agreement was voiced by some sources. However, they maintained, the proposal had arisen so rapidly that persons affected had little time to study all aspects of the question. They had objected, according to this argument, to having the plan forced on them. Complicating the situation is the urgent need to get the project moving, they added, and therefore it may be expedient to agree to another site to avoid delays. This school of thought held that a hard attitude in favor of the downtown site could jeopardize the entire renewal program.

MEMBERS OF the manufacturing community said they have had difficulty persuading capable personnel to take positions in Winona. Most of them are used to fully modern retail shopping areas, said one, and are often unwilling to live here after looking at Winona's downtown.

One member complained that upgrading of real estate is held back by tax structures. The instant a building is improved, he said, the taxes go up. Another suggested that many downtown retailers did nothing to improve because they were tenants, not owners. Many are comfortable where they are and hesitate to move for fear of higher rents elsewhere or of losing business in a different location.

In committing itself fully to renewal, the group speculated on possible effects of a referendum on the plan's chances. A few persons said such an advisory vote might be "disastrous."

Afternoon sessions were opened with talks by William Davidson, president of the Davidson Company, St. Paul, and Roland Aaker, executive director of the Montevideo housing and redevelopment authority.

THERE WAS full agreement with the idea that further delay cannot be tolerated in rejuvenating downtown areas. Several members voiced opinions that if present plans are not put into action shortly, the city will lose its chance to regain a strong competitive position in the expanding economy of the region. Present conditions discourage, rather than attract business, said one contributor, and it is in the interest of the whole city to upgrade and reverse this trend.

Scarcely discussed was the possibility of privately financed renewal. Members of the group appeared to feel that private developers lack the means to accomplish rebuilding at anything less than exorbitant costs. Supporting this idea was one of the participants who cited attempts by local investors at securing various downtown properties for expansion. Owners' prices for land became prohibitive once they learned of the prospective buyers' interest, he said.

IN HIS speech, Davidson said he dislikes government in business but that it has grown steadily in such things as income taxes, condemnation and other fields. As the country becomes more crowded, he said, the individual finds more of his rights infringed upon.

Merchants who fear displacement should be constantly reassured, he said. Renewal plans are never ironbound but are modified many times as they are executed, he added.

He advised listeners to realize that "it takes longer than you think" to complete such plans. Davidson praised organizers for including labor representatives in the conference. Organized labor benefits more than any single group from renewal, he said.

Renewal in St. Paul has produced $185 million of construction in the last five years and this figure may go beyond $200 million, said Davidson.

AAKER TOLD listeners that many delays are caused in renewal actions because of "bogeysmen" raised by persons who fear its effects and who fail to understand how they can benefit.

A city should take a planner's word for most things, he advised. Hasty decisions at coffee counters are dangerous and should be avoided in favor of well thought out conclusions of consultants, he cautioned.

The greatest fear, said Aaker, is that "I won't be taken care of" in a renewal plan. But if enthusiasm is generated and shoulders put to the wheel, progress can be made, he said. Once a start is made, many former opponents are won over because they can visualize the objectives. Second projects are always easier, he said, because the bogeymen have faded away.

Relocation of displaced individuals is extremely important, he advised, and federal agencies insist great care be given this aspect. Displaced

He Gives Up U.S. Post For Career as Singer

A former Winonan, now living in a suburb of Washington, D.C., resigned his government job last month to begin a full-time career as a singer.

Ronald W. Hedlund, Greenbelt, Md., son of Mr. and Mrs. Cy A. Hedlund, Winona Rt. 1, sang the featured role of Wagner in the Washington Opera Society's presentation of Gounod's "Faust" Nov. 26, 28 and 29 in Washington.

IT WAS the 31-year-old Hedlund's first professional role in what he hopes will be a full-time career as a singer. Hedlund, however, had kept his ear in previously as a soloist with the National City Christian Church choir, where he has been heard several times by President Johnson.

He is a former Winonan who holds a master's degree in music from Indiana

Helland Sells Sterling Motel To Area Man

Sale of his Sterling Motel to a Sargeant, Minn., businessman was announced today by Erv Helland. The sale is effective Saturday.

The new owner is Maynard Heydt, owner of a lumber, hardware and implement business in the Mower County community.

Helland will retain ownership of the building occupied by the adjacent Happy Chef. The motel is near the junction of Highways 61 and 14. He and Mrs. Helland plan to remain living at 550 Junction Ave.

Helland said that the 33-unit Sterling enjoyed its best November and December this year.

The motel as a 20-unit operation was opened early in 1955; 10 units were added later that year, and remodeling of living quarters resulted in three more units in 1957.

The Heydt family includes four children, one of them married.

Sterling is associated with Superior Motels.

New Policeman Named to Force

Patrolman Richard L. Peterson has resigned to take a non-police job in Chicago, Assistant Chief Marvin A. Meier reported today.

Peterson, whose resignation becomes effective Saturday, had been with the department since Oct. 1, 1961. He was working the 3 to 11 p.m. shift when he submitted his resignation.

George C. Kostner, 25, 613 E. Howard St., will be hired to replace Peterson but won't join the department until Jan. 16, Meier said.

Kostner was next on a hiring list prepared by the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners at its October meeting. He is married, has two children and now works as daytime manager at the Downtown Country Kitchen, 3rd and Huff streets.

He is a 1960 graduate of Arcadia, Wis., high school and made a score of 70 on a qualifying examination administered by Chief James W. McCabe in October. The commissioners placed him fourth on a hiring eligibility list established at the October board meeting.

CAR AERIAL BROKEN

A vandal broke off the radio aerial on a car owned by Roger Brown, 457 E. 4th St., while the vehicle was parked in front of the Brown home Tuesday night, Assistant Police Chief Marvin A. Meier said today.

persons also should have priority in buying back into a cleared area, he said, something which can be accomplished by housing authority policy.

Few persons understand all the angles involved in renewal, Aaker said, and for this reason referendums are dangerous in his opinion. "Too many good programs have gone down the drain this way because someone didn't like some minor part of a large, well developed plan," he said.

Rain Showers, Flurries Predicted; 30 on Friday

A mild New Year's Eve and a colder New Year's Day is predicted for Winona and vicinity.

Mostly cloudy tonight and Friday with a few rain showers followed by snow flurries is the prediction. Southerly winds of 8 to 15 miles an hour are expected to become variable to night and Friday.

A LOW of 25 to 30 is predicted for tonight and a high of 25 to 30 Friday.

It'll be colder Saturday, said the weatherman, but no severe weather is indicated for the holiday.

The Winona temperature rose to 45 Wednesday afternoon (45 in 1908 was the high for Dec. 29) and dropped to only 34 overnight. The reading at noon today was 42. Some light rain fell, although not enough to be measurable.

Three inches of snow lay on the ground a year ago today when the high was 33 and the low 28. All-time high for Dec. 30 was 55 in 1875 and the low -18 in 1946. Mean for the past 24 hours was 39, a far cry from the normal mean of 17 for the day.

A hazardous driving warning was issued by the Weather Bureau today for central Minnesota where a band of freezing sleet is expected tonight and Friday. There will be snow in northern Minnesota and rain in the south, the warning said.

TEMPERATURES across the Northwest with the exception of Canadian points where it is bitter cold, generally were mild. Low in the state was 15 at Bemidji and International Falls. Rochester had a low of 36 after a Wednesday high of 40 and La Crosse posted figures of 38 and 42 for the same times.

It was only 6 at Minot and 8 at Fargo, N.D. But at Edmonton, Canada, it was snowing and the thermometer was down to -29 this morning.

The New Year probably will receive a warm greeting in WISCONSIN, at least in the southern areas.

Unusually high temperatures continued today, with indications that unseasonably warm weather would still be around on New Year's Eve. By Saturday, however, colder weather is predicted for the entire state.

It was cloudy, damp and occasionally foggy in Wisconsin today. A little light drizzle fell in the northern part of the state Wednesday.

Highest temperature Wednesday was 42 at Eau Claire. Lone Rock hit 40 and Wausau and Burlington 39.

At night, minimum readings were 20 to 30 degrees above normal for the season, ranging from 38 at Wausau to 29 at Superior.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., set the nation's high mark of 79 degrees Wednesday, compared with a low of 9 below zero early today at Cut Bank, Mont.

City Gets Refund on Census

Along with federal confirmation of its new population level, the city will get a $50 refund from the Bureau of Census, the city recorder's office said today.

The city was told of the refund today in a letter from A. Ross Eckler, census bureau director in Washington, D.C. The population rise was somewhat smaller than previously estimated, wrote the director, hence costs were lower. A payment of $5,310 was made by the city to the bureau last month to cover costs of the head count.

Results of the census, listing Winona population at 26,771, have been certified to Joseph Donovan, Minnesota secretary of state, said Eckler's letter.

Certification before year's end was necessary so the city can qualify for higher apportionments of state liquor and cigarette tax receipts. Such payments will continue on the new population basis until the next decennial census in 1970. The city's previous official population was 24,895 as established in the 1960 census.

City officials also believe the new population figure will affect the amount of state aids received for street construction and maintenance. Aids are based on street mileage and on needs, they said, and are paid from gasoline tax receipts.

Woman Killed In Collision With Truck

SPRING VALLEY, Minn. — A 32-year-old Roodhouse, Ill., woman was killed in the head-on collision of her car with a Gateway Transportation truck on Highway 63, 9 1/2 miles south of Spring Valley today at 9 a.m. She was identified as Bessie J. Turner.

The driver of the truck, listed as Harry Douglas by the Spring Valley hospital and Jake Douglas by the Highway Patrol at Rochester, said he was driving north with a general load of freight and the woman, who was alone, was proceeding south.

She died at the scene. The Fillmore County sheriff's office said his condition apparently wasn't critical. The hospital listed him from Marion, Iowa, and the Highway Patrol from Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

According to a brief message from Sheriff Neil Haugerud to his office at noon — he was still at the scene cleaning up the debris from the smashed truck — the accident occurred at the intersection of the Bristol Center road, a county highway, and Highway 63.

The Highway Patrol investigated with assistance from the sheriff's office.

Plan Member Files Affidavit Of Prejudice

Special Municipal Judge Loren W. Torgerson will preside at the Jan. 6 trial of City Planning Commissioner Jerry V. Papenfuss on a breach of the peace charge, it was learned today.

Papenfuss filed an affidavit of prejudice Wednesday afternoon with Deputy Municipal Court Clerk Edgar J. Lynch, alleging that he believed he could not receive a fair trial before Judge John D. McGill.

Following normal procedure in such an event, Judge McGill withdrew from the case today, and Judge Torgerson will preside at the trial in his stead.

Papenfuss is charged with breach of the peace at a meeting of the City Planning Commission last Thursday in City Hall. Attorney Martin A. Beatty swore out a complaint Tuesday, accusing Papenfuss of shouting abusive language at him.

Rain and Snow Over Western Third of U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rain and snow continued across wide areas in the Western third of the nation today, with damaging storms extending into Southern California.

Although heavy rains drenched Southern California areas Wednesday, they diminished in northern sections of the water-soaked Pacific Coast after three days of downpours.

Floodwaters poured across dozens of streets from Ventura County to the Los Angeles area from rains which measured more than 8 inches in some sections and more than 3 inches in Los Angeles. Amounts in mountain regions totaled more than a foot.

The soft Southern California hillsides started to crumble in many residential districts and mudslides were reported in widely separated areas. Two traffic deaths were attributed to rain-slick streets. Heavy rains and gusty winds were expected to continue through Friday night.

Four to seven feet of snow were reported on the higher peaks and passes in the Sierra Nevada and Cascades. Nearly 40 inches of snow, including six inches Wednesday, covered Stampede Pass, east of Seattle.

Village Moved In Viet Nam

By HUGH MILLIGAN

AP LOI NGUYEN, South Viet Nam (AP) — In the Mekong River delta, you're a million miles from nowhere when you're 26 miles from home.

Up until six weeks ago, this thatched hamlet was 22 miles north of Can Tho, a thriving market city. Now it's four miles below Can Tho.

The entire hamlet with its population of 528, most of them rice farmers, was moved by the Vietnamese government when the area surrounding their old location was declared a free-strike zone for bombing raids against Viet Cong troop concentrations.

At first the people of Ap Loi Nguyen were lonely and frightened in their new hamlet, even though the government with the help of USOM—U. S. Operations Mission—funds provided clean new bamboo houses fronting on a wide new road.

They hesitated to go to market in the nearby town of Cai Rang, because they wouldn't be dealing at the shops and stalls their ancestors had been dealing with for generations. They couldn't get their children into school because the local schools were already crowded. They had no general merchandise store in their new hamlet, no church, no barbershop, no corner coffee shop for the hearty dark French coffee and the beer redolent of formaldehyde that the Vietnamese love.

There was graveyard, weather-beaten headstones barely visible in the tall tropical weed growth but it was a Buddhist graveyard and the people of Ap Loi Nguyen are all Roman Catholics.

Because land is scarce in the overpopulated delta and because no one seemed to have lived here in a long, long time, the citizens of Ap Loi Nguyen planted their first crops in the old cemetery.

By day they stuck pretty close to the hamlet, seldom venturing down the paved road to Can Tho for want of knowing what enemies, if any, lurked along the way. All morning long, on most days, the big convoys of troops rolled by, carrying the monotonous delta war deeper into the sun-scorched rice paddies that seem to stretch to the horizon. Artillery muttered like distant thunder, bombs rumbled in the dank delta air, and the new houses of Ap Loi Nguyen shook.

At night, the troops came clanking home again in the armored cars, sometimes stopping long enough along the road for the children to wave at the Vietnamese soldiers and shout "Okay" at an occasional American adviser in a Jeep.

Nights were the worst of all. Ap Loi Nguyen, being new, had no perimeter guard, no barbed wire fortifications, no popular force company to sit in little sheet metal watch towers and wait for the Viet Cong. Whenever small arms fire crackled in the darkness, the hamlet dwellers never knew if they were about to be overrun.

Then one day the advisory team arrived from Cai Rang, led by Capt. Ken Johnson of St. Louis, Mo. It brought a doctor to examine the sick and inoculate the babies, and an agricultural specialist to show them how to grow lettuce and beans and other vegetables to woo them away from a one crop economy, and a guerrilla expert to show them how to defend their new hamlet.

Finally and most important of all, they brought Maj. Alvin Campbell, Catholic chaplain at Can Tho. Father Campbell, a big bubbling man with a grin as broad as the Mekong, brought them the gift of friendship that took them out of their strangeness and loneliness.

He helped them build a church, encouraged them to start their own school rather than wait for available desks in the village and, by visits several times a week, showed them that someone cared.

Soon there were a little store at the head of the long rows of huts, and a new barbershop out under the banana trees, and row on row of budding new crops, already growing taller than the headstones.

The old folks of Ap Loi Nguyen still pine for the old hamlet, but the children would never think of going back to a place that didn't have a Father Campbell.

Whenever his Jeep bounces down the muddy road between the flooded paddies, they swirl and swarm around, dragging younger brothers and sisters, toting babies on their backs. The Pied Piper of Hamelin never had such a following. Even the little crippled boy, who never had been shown how to use a crutch, drags himself along in the mud to be with the happy throng crowding around the American priest.

Back home in Springfield, Ill., Father Campbell once dreamed of having his own parish.

In the straw-thatched hamlet of Ap Loi Nguyen a million miles from nowhere in the Mekong delta, he has found one.

New York Wants To Keep Federal Loan Made in 1836

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — During the administration of President Andrew Jackson, the federal government loaned New York State $4 million.

Now, 127 years later, the state wants to know if it can keep the money.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt told Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., in a letter Tuesday that Congress should decide whether to demand repayment or release the state from any obligation to repay.

In 1836, Congress voted to distribute a federal surplus of $28 million among the states as loans, payable on demand.

Levitt said that only New York and two or three other states had kept the funds intact in the event of such a demand.

DEAR ABBY:

Keep Hands Off The Panic Button

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Last night our daughter phoned from college to tell us that she is engaged and plans to marry as soon as she graduates this summer. We have met the young man, and he seems decent enough. However, we don't know his family, he is not of our religion, and we know he has no money, only a brand new job he may or may not wish to keep. Do we just sit by and let our daughter decide on something she will have to live with the rest of her life? You'd think she would have discussed these details with us before setting a date. What should we do? MOM AND DAD summe the young people are heading for disaster just because they don't have it made right now. They could surprise you.

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school sophomore who has been going with a senior (I'll call Mike) for about three months. Mike is very polite and mannerly and my folks liked him until they found out his father is a garbageman. Now I don't think it's right to hold this against Mike because he can't help what his father does for a living. My mother tells me that a garbageman's son is not in my class, socially. Yet Mike's family lives as nicely as we do, and I know garbagemen make good money. My whole family teases me about "the garbageman's son" and it hurts me because I really like him. What can I do? LIKES MIKE

DEAR LIKES: Collecting garbage is a respectable way to make a living, so don't let anybody knock it. Mike does not have to apologize for his father's job. But you may have to apologize for your parents' snobbishness.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is I am working at a store and I am not supposed to get any personal calls here. I have asked my family and friends not to call me at work, but I don't think they understand English. This morning my mother called about something that could have waited until I got home. Then my sister called to read me a part of a letter she'd just received. Then my boy friend called about some stupid matter. My boss was very much annoyed after that third call, and told me if I got one more phone call at work he would have to let me go. Abby, how can I make people understand they are not to call me? I can't afford to lose this job. LAST WARNING

DEAR LAST: There must be something about the way you say "no" that sounds like "maybe." Tell those who are likely to call you that if they call once more, it will mean your job. And if they call, face it—they don't have your best interests at heart.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MORTIFIED IN ELKHART: The guest who dominates the conversation, consuming all the time himself, is as rude as one who comes and eats all the food. Don't invite this boor with others. If you MUST entertain him, spare your friends, and invite him alone.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NASON ON EDUCATION

Year-Round School Urged

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
University of Southern Calif.

Operating schools the year-round would save large amounts of money.

This is 1966, not 1910, and students are no longer needed for summer farm work. We have become an urban society and should adjust our schedule of school and study accordingly.

What's stopping us? The semester system! Two semesters leave too short a time for a summer period of equal length.

There is a better arrangement already in use in many colleges — the quarter system. With four periods, lasting 12 weeks each, it permits year-round operation of schools.

TWO YEARS ago the University of California announced its campuses would, one by one, change to the quarter system. The same scheduling in California high schools would produce a smooth flow of students from secondary to college level.

In its last session, the state legislature authorized an experiment in year-round quarter system scheduling of the Del Campo High School in the San Juan Unified District near Sacramento. For two years, starting September, 1966, the Del Campo school year will be composed of four quarters of 59, 58, 58 and 54 days.

There will be a one-week break between the third quarter and the 54-day summer quarter. There will be a three-week break between the summer quarter and the first or Fall quarter. The three-week break will allow time for needed heavy building maintenance.

THERE ARE several possible advantages to the use of the quarter system in high school.

Year-round school, with its acceleration of learning, will allow a superior student to enter college earlier or give him extra time to pursue his high school courses in greater depth.

The longer school year will allow the spreading out of subject matter requirements for those students ranking around the average mark and lower in ability range. Thus, the quarter system and year-round school can provide a time latitude so that individual students may profit according to their learning capacity.

TEACHERS would be employed for the full year, placing them in a better economic position than at present. They could be allowed a quarter off for travel, study or just recreation.

A study-plus-work program operating on a year-round basis works successfully at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio. A similar program at the high school level, in which groups of students could alternate 12 weeks of work with 12 weeks of high school, might well be a major breakthrough in the solution of the dropout problem.

Students who are losing interest in high school classes would not only get 12 weeks of relief but the experience gained on a job would serve as motivation for continued formal schooling.

Budget Could Exceed $110 Billion

WITH THE COST of the war in Viet Nam escalating along with the war itself and spending for the Great Society program more than likely to increase, the nation's budget for the 1966-67 fiscal year could — and might — exceed a staggering $110 billion.

Current defense spending of $53 billion may pass the $60 billion mark and although there is heavy political pressure to maintain non-defense spending at or about present levels if not to boost it considerably, the tab could go up well over $50 billion.

For once, each hand appears to know what the other is doing. So the likelihood is for heavier spending. In World War 2½ we will not make the choice of guns or butter; we'll have both of them.

The consequence could be an increase in personal and corporate income taxes. We see some signs of a public softening-up as congressmen and bureaucrats shake their heads over the impending budget. Both seem to be convinced that a tax increase would be less painful than a reduction in public spending.

PERHAPS IT IS futile but certainly it is prudent to remind the federal establishment that even in the best of all worlds there must be priorities on spending what, substantially anyway, we haven't got and must borrow.

Some token cuts have been made in the projected defense budget and related space activity. Secretary of Defense McNamara has shaved $620 million from military housing and discouraged the Nike X defense missile project. The spacemen are slowing down development of the orbiting solar observatory.

But these are tokens. The days of holding the Viet Nam tab to $3 million a day are fleeting.

WITHOUT BATTLING an eye at budget cutting motions, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John Gardner proclaims proudly that "we're still charging ahead."

A cursory count of federally-funded programs in the field of housing shows 16 major, tax-spending enterprises.

The taxpayers similarly are putting out billions to support 24 programs related to employment.

The Elementary-Secondary Education Act of 1965 alone has five titles marked with dollar signs. The Higher Education Act, which authorizes $800 million for fiscal 1967, spews out money in five directions.

The casual auditor could go on and on. Only one thing is sure and another is probable: The deficit will grow and grow and non-priority spending (if that is to be the case) will stoke the fires of inflation.

Case For Uniform Beer Drinking Age

(Milwaukee Journal)

THE PROBLEMS of young people, beer drinking and driving, often linked in tragedy, continue to trouble sincere people. Ringing statements come periodically from Madison. Bills are proposed. So far all the talk has produced little.

Odd quirks in the state law on beer consumption by minors literally invite trouble. The minimum beer drinking age is 18 but municipalities may raise it if they wish. Milwaukee, for example, won't serve anyone under 21. It doesn't take a particularly perceptive mind to recognize that streams of Milwaukee teen-agers will drive to legal beer bars in Ozaukee County, often creating a beery highway menace on the return trip.

A BILL, ALREADY passed by the assembly, would limit teen-age ID cards and thus beer drinking to residents of counties in which one or more municipalities license teen-aged beer bars. The hope is to eliminate "county hopping."

This solution is better than none but it ignores the most direct remedy of all — a uniform minimum beer drinking age. "The big need in the state today, a need so obvious that everyone realizes it, is for uniformity throughout the state," the Hartford Times-Press editorialized recently. "What the age level is is a secondary consideration."

GOV. KNOWLES says he favors a uniform minimum age of 21. This simply will encourage more teen-agers to do their beer drinking in private, not in the open under adult supervision. Three years ago, The Milwaukee Journal declared: "The best solution may lie in the direction of providing pleasant, wholesome, well supervised places where youths over 18 may buy beer conveniently." The point is just as valid today.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A worried looking citizen came to the F.B.I. to ask if they couldn't do anything about a series of threatening letters he had been receiving for almost three months. "Any idea who might be sending them?" asked the stalwart F.B.I. agent.

"I have one little clue," said the helpful citizen. "The envelopes are marked 'Department of Internal Revenue.'"

To the weak I became weak, that I might gain the weak: I am become all things to all men, that I may by all means save some. — I. Corinthians 9:22.

TODAY IN WORLD AFFAIRS

U.S. Has Much To Gain by Wait

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The truce in Viet Nam was violated by the north Vietnamese, but whether by design or accident isn't clear as yet. The United States prefers to go on the assumption that the violation was unintentional.

For even if the Communists, including the Viet Cong, aren't skillful in avoiding unfavorable public impressions, the United States sees an opportunity to convince the world that it is being patient under the most exasperating circumstances in the hope of getting the other side to talk peace. It is being assumed here, for instance, that the violations of the truce on Christmas Day were due either to faulty communication between the Hanoi government and the guerrillas in inaccessible locations, or that communication between the North Vietnamese and their masters in Peking is slow and clumsy and needs time for clarification. Americans generally do not realize that red tape in the leadership committees of the Communists can often delay decisions. Nor is discipline easy to apply in the field during guerrilla warfare.

MEANWHILE, the United States is, in effect, telling the world that it wants to extend the truce and would like to arrange some kind of armistice out of which peace talks could develop. The attacks on American forces since Christmas Day have not caused any stepped-up warfare. Retaliation is being confined instead to defense tactics in the areas where the assaults occur.

The real test of whether the war should be resumed on a full-scale basis will come when something happens that necessitates the bombing of military installations in North Viet Nam. The failure to carry on vigorously in the interim may be hard to bear, but the United States government sees in the long run some benefits from a psychological standpoint. For, if the war should be renewed, the whole world will have had a dramatic manifestation of America's forbearance and sincere desire to bring the war to a peaceful conclusion.

SO PEIPING is up against a serious decision. If it gives the word to its subservient ally in North Viet Nam to return to the fighting on an aggressive basis, the inevitable result will be a change in world opinion. It will have been demonstrated that the United States went to the limit of actually prolonging the Christmas truce in an effort to get negotiations going. The Communist side will be shown to have disregarded all offers of peace and to be interested solely in prolonging the war. Under such circumstances, the United States would be able to point out that it had no other choice but to step up the bombing raids.

Incidentally, quite a debate has been going on inside the government here, with the military men arguing that larger armies of ground troops aren't so necessary today as a concerted attack by air on North Viet Nam bases and installations. If such raids are ordered, the Communists will sooner or later be compelled to undertake peace talks. So they might as well take advantage of the Christmas truce dialogue, which they themselves initiated, and try to work out a formal armistice that could stop the fighting while the pow-wowing goes on indefinitely.

'LOOKS TO ME LIKE HE OVERDID IT'

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Mother Asks Honorable Discharge for Oswald

By JACK ANDERSON

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is in the Holy Land. During his absence the column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — Believe it or not, the Navy has submitted the case of Lee Harvey Oswald, the misfit ex-Marine who assassinated President Kennedy, to a civilian review board to determine whether he should receive an honorable discharge posthumously.

The Marines gave him an undesirable discharge in 1959 after he had asked to be released as a hardship case but turned up instead in Russia, declaring his preference for the Soviet system.

Though he had forsaken his country, he wrote to then-secretary of the Navy John Connally demanding a reversal of his undesirable discharge. The discharge review board rejected his request.

This might even have been the secret motive for his terrible crime. It is significant that Connally, as governor of Texas, was riding with Kennedy in the fateful motorcade which passed under Oswald's window on the road to downtown Dallas. The tormented Oswald gunned them both down, though Connally survived.

NOW OSWALD'S mother, Mrs. Marquerite Oswald, has applied formally to set aside the undesirable discharge and win an honorable discharge for her son.

Strangely, the discharge review board did not reject the request outright as it has done previously, but submitted it to the civilian board of corrections for a formal hearing.

A Navy spokesman assured this column that the handling of Mrs. Oswald's request was purely routine. The discharge review board has the option of rejecting the request or forwarding it to the board of corrections, he said. He would not predict what action the board will take.

Like many a father before him, President Johnson tried to talk his 18-year-old daughter, Luci, and her 22-year-old boy friend, Pat Nugent, into holding up their engagement.

THE PRESIDENT had a fatherly talk with the young couple several weeks ago at the LBJ ranch. He recalled that he was 26 when he married Luci's mother, who was then nearly 22. This, he suggested, was about the right age. He urged Luci to wait at least until she finished her nursing studies.

But Luci and Pat were impatient, and LBJ was indulgent. Luci lightened the conversation by joking about the difficulty of courting with Secret Service bodyguards chaperoning every date. She remarked ruefully that she and Pat might be the first young couple to be married without ever having been alone together.

Note: During his recent visit with Pope Paul, the President boasted that his daughter was keeping company with a "fine Catholic boy."

THE JOINT Chiefs of Staff have been pressing to resume the air attacks on North Viet Nam ever since the Viet Cong abruptly ended the Christmas truce. But President Johnson, though he has ordered no moratorium on bombing of North Viet Nam, has quietly held up the go-ahead signal.

Insiders say he merely wants to impress upon the world, through his own restraint, that it was the Communists who broke the cease fire.

Meanwhile, the Joint Chiefs are pleading for permission to strike all the missile sites and air bases in North Viet Nam since these have become a threat to American planes.

Washington society is whispering about President Johnson's dancing comeback.

For the first time since his gall bladder operation, he tried out his legs on the dance floor at the White House party in honor of West Germany's Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

The President whirled Mrs. Heinrich Knappstein, wife of the German ambassador, around the floor. Then he grabbed the most beautiful girl within reach, singer Roberta Peters, and monopolized her most of the evening.

ONCE THEY disappeared together, presumably for a private midnight tour of the White House.

It was after 1 a.m. before the President finally stopped dancing.

Note: The guest of honor, Chancellor Erhard, lasted less than an hour. Heavy of foot, he discreetly kept off the dance floor and stood briefly in a corridor, puffing on one of his long cigars, not the least intimidated by an earlier LBJ crack that West Germany's air pollution program has been set back by the chancellor's cigars.

Often overlooked in the explosion of war news are the men who work quietly for peace. Their efforts seldom produce the sensational and spectacular events which make headlines.

One such is Carl Stenzler, a Philadelphia educator, who has started a Peace Corps in reverse. He found that foreign students in this country often stayed to themselves, never discovering what America is really like, often going home with wrong impressions.

To draw them out, he began inviting them to his neighborhood Ogontz Junior High School to answer questions about their countries. The idea caught on in other Philadelphia schools, which invited foreign students to lecture as substitute teachers.

In 1965, more than 10,000 Philadelphia pupils have learned about foreign countries from these exchange students. In this way, the young people have learned more about each other.

The Ogontz plan, as this reverse Peace Corps idea is called, is now spreading to other areas.

LAND SLID BOTH WAYS

MARION, Ohio — Paul J. Bell and Robert E. Travis are almost equally popular in Marion's 3rd Ward.

In 1963, Travis, 33, beat Bell, 34, for the ward's City Council seat by one vote. This year Bell, a Democrat, challenged Republican Travis for the post.

Unofficial returns gave Bell a 15-vote edge. But a recount changed that.

Bell still won, but 788 to 787.

SHEEP RUSTLERS

PALERMO, Sicily — Sicilian police recovered a flock of 70 rustled sheep by using helicopters. The stolen sheep were sighted in an isolated valley far from the nearest roads. Police said they had been hidden there, awaiting a chance to drive them to market.

Honeymoon Over

LBJ and Labor Have Differences

James Marlow is on vacation.

By NEIL GILBRIDE

AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON — Despite all the sweet talk at the AFL-CIO convention, the honeymoon between President Johnson and organized labor appears to be over.

There's no real threat of divorce, but there is a distinct chance of separate maintenance if the Democrats don't make good in January on their chief premarital pledge to the labor unions.

The promise was to repeal section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act, which permits the states to outlaw union shop contracts requiring employees to join a union.

Johnson couldn't—or didn't—make Congress deliver the pledge this year to the politically powerful labor movement with its millions of votes.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, who once could dictate high Labor Department appointments, now can't even get an audience with Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

With just two weeks left until Congress convenes, all Meany wants to know is when Mansfield plans to bring up 14B in the Senate and how hard he would fight to break another Republican filibuster like the one that blocked the repeal bill this year.

Is Mansfield avoiding Meany, perhaps with the tacit agreement of Johnson, who at best has been lukewarm in his support of the repeal bill?

"Draw your own conclusions," grumbles the unhappy Meany, who months ago warned that the federation may have to take a hard new look at its relationships with both major political parties.

Most of the recent AFL-CIO convention in San Francisco was devoted to voicing strong support for Johnson's Viet Nam policies, "but we would have done that no matter what administration was in office — even Eisenhower," said a federation spokesman.

Labor, pledging all-out 1966 political support to protect some freshmen liberal House Democrats who voted to repeal 14B before the Senate filibuster blocked its final passage, really has no choice now but to string along with the administration.

But should Johnson, Mansfield and other Democrats fail to deliver on 14B early next year, organized labor might well zip shut its pocketbook in the 1968 presidential election year.

"We put a lot of muscle, manpower and money in Johnson's 1964 victory and Johnson knows it well," said the federation spokesman in confidently predicting repeal of 14B early next year. But many labor leaders believe less in the chances of repeal than they do in Santa Claus.

But where else, in the present political scheme of things, can the labor movement go?

Federation spokesmen bristle at this question. "We're not captives" of the Democrats, one said.

Another alternative, they hint, is formation of a labor party, like Britain's — but, they concede privately that is not very practical.

What, then, can the labor chieftains do — if finally disenchanted with Johnson and the Democratic party — in future elections?

Said one high spokesman for the federation: "We can stay home, on Election Day."

U.S. Keeping Close Watch On Viet Cong

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is watching North Viet Nam from the air during the lull in bombing.

Both the North Vietnamese and Communist Chinese governments have accused the United States of reconnaissance operations and other "provocations" since the bombing pause began last Friday.

But U.S. officials refuse to talk about aerial reconnaissance, just as they turn aside all questions about the bombing lull itself.

It is known, however, that U.S. Air Force and Navy photographic aircraft are continuing to range over North Vietnamese territory as a matter of what one source called military prudence.

Among other things, American reconnaissance craft are monitoring the progress made by the North Vietnamese in repairing damage inflicted by U.S. attacks before the air strikes were suspended.

Such reconnaissance tells American military authorities where the Communists are placing their priority efforts in re-constructing bridges, ferries and highways blasted by U.S. bombs and rockets.

This, in turn, will indicate targets likely to be hit first in any resumption of the bombing in the North.

American reconnaissance planes are believed checking on the volume of traffic moving along the routes leading toward South Viet Nam — traffic which for the first time since last May is free of harassment from the air.

Until the bombing pause, road movement in daylight had been brought to a standstill and night traffic was sharply reduced.

Astronauts Tell Story Of Exploits

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The astronauts of Gemini 7 — who demonstrated man can equal the machine in space — meet with the astronauts of Gemini 6 today to tell the public of their exciting flights that put the United States a step closer to someday reaching the moon.

The four spacemen who staged the world's first space rendezvous sit side by side at an 11 a.m. EST news conference in the Manned Spacecraft Center's main auditorium.

Gemini 7's pilots, Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr., and the Gemini 6 crew, Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford, had America's most dramatic and important space venture to describe.

Borman and Lovell circled the globe 206 times during 14 days in space, proving to doctors' satisfaction man could adequately adapt to long voyages in weightlessness. They returned to earth Dec. 18.

"Man has demonstrated he has the ability to equal the machine in space," Dr. Charles A. Berry, the flight surgeon, told the American Association for the Advancement of Science at Berkeley, Calif., Wednesday night in describing the Gemini 6 flight.

And, Schirra and Stafford successfully demonstrated the technique of space rendezvous with another orbiting vehicle — a maneuver vital on a moon journey — by catching and flying in formation with Gemini 7 for about seven hours Dec. 15.

Together, the astronauts brought home virtually every manned spaceflight record.

Rendezvous and an actual link-up between two vehicles in space must be mastered before America would risk rocketing three men toward the moon, hopefully before the end of this decade.

The reason for such importance: the two men who leave the mothership in orbit around the moon for a descent in a tiny excursion craft to the lunar surface must rocket back to the mothership and dock with it for a return journey to earth.

The remaining five two-man Gemini missions, all planned in 1966, will be designed to refine the rendezvous and link-up with an unmanned Agena rocket.

Gemini 7 was primarily a medical search to see if man should fear space. Doctors wanted to determine if weightlessness and a long stay in a small spacecraft would dangerously damage the body.

Dr. Berry said that Borman and Lovell adjusted so well he saw no reason why man could not attempt 30-day flights, like those planned by the Air Force in manned orbiting laboratories.

During his speech, Berry revealed for the first time that the two Gemini 7 pilots "had a feeling of standing on their heads at times during the first 24 hours of their flight."

Ho Chi Minh Holds Key to Viet Peace

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The key to success or failure of Viet Nam peace bids may rest in the fragile hands of an ancient revolutionary caught in the titanic struggle for power between the world's two Communist giants.

Ho Chi Minh at 75 has had half a century of tumultuous activity in the cause of international communism as a tactician of revolution. Today "Uncle Ho," as president of North Viet Nam, confronts a situation that may seem insoluble.

As an internationalist, Ho probably is inclined to follow Moscow's lead. That might mean making the best of a dangerous situation and waiting patiently for a better opportunity. But Ho has a huge neighbor on his northern frontier: Red China. Legendary though he may be as the architect of revolution in the Orient, Ho seems captive of a majority faction of his own politburo which follows Peking's lead.

The paradoxical Ho, a poetic, mandarin-like figure who, despite his violent career always seemed a believer in the east and least bloody way to power, appears to be boxed in.

The pro-Chinese faction in Hanoi is headed by Truong Chinh, chairman of the North Viet Nam National Assembly. Truong Chinh's name means "long march." His original name was Dang Xuan Khu, but he changed it after taking part in the historic march of Mao's forces in the Communist war for domination of the China mainland.

The pro-Chinese faction evidently took over in Hanoi last April in a sudden shakeup of the North Vietnamese Communist hierarchy. The dominant faction evidently subscribes to the Chinese formula of violent "people's war" as the only effective road to world communism.

Negro Plans To Run in Massachusetts

BOSTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts, who now holds one of the highest elective offices of any Negro in the nation, announced today his candidacy for the U.S. Senate.

Brooke will go before the state GOP convention in June and enter the state primary in September seeking the Republican nomination for the seat now held by Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass.

Brooke made his announcement at a news conference called just 24 hours after Saltonstall said he will retire at the end of his present term from the seat he has held since 1944.

Saltonstall, senior Republican on the Senate Appropriations and Armed Services Committee, announced Wednesday he would not seek re-election.

He said, "I feel that it would be difficult for me to serve another six-year term with the zeal, ability and conscientiousness that I would want to serve."

Saltonstall, 73, said he had no health problem now but did not know what "it might be in five or six years."

Saltonstall's retirement will leave an opening for chairman of the Senate Republican Conference and move Sen. Milton R. Young of North Dakota up as ranking Republican on the Appropriations Committee. It also will make Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine the ranking Republican on the Armed Services Committee.

Another Republican who might enter the race to succeed Saltonstall is Gov. John A. Volpe. But many observers at the State House predict that Volpe will run for re-election rather than get involved in a convention or primary fight with Brooke for the nomination.

Brooke earlier this year told fellow Republicans Volpe and Lt. Gov. Elliot L. Richardson that if Saltonstall retired he would be a candidate to succeed him.

In the last two general elections, Brooke has been the top

COUPLE WED 80 YEARS . . . Ole Sholberg, 103, sits in his cozy home at Fergus Falls, Minn., holding hands with his wife, Otila, 101. The two will observe their 80th wedding anniversary next week. Republican vote-getter in the state.

In 1942, he was the only Republican to win statewide office when elected to his first two-year term as attorney general.

Two years later, while President Johnson and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy were carrying Massachusetts by margins of greater than one million votes each, Brooke won re-election by defeating his Democratic opponent by 800,000 votes.

There have been no Negroes in the Senate since 1881, in construction days. Only two served, Mississippi Republicans Hiram R. Revels and B. K. Bruce.

For a generation, Saltonstall has regularly defeated Democratic party challengers.

Considered a certain candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Senate is Mayor John F. Collins of Boston, generally rated the front runner.

Fergus Falls Pair Near 80th Anniversary

FERGUS FALLS, Minn. (AP) — Ole Sholberg, 103, and his little wife, Otila, 101, who live contentedly while "waiting for the Lord to call us," will observe their 80th wedding anniversary Wednesday.

"We have never had a serious quarrel," said Mrs. Sholberg in a soft voice. "He has been a good man, and we have had a happy life. We still have a happy life."

Ole sat with his arm around Otila. He tried to smile but the attrition of his years made it difficult. His wife caressed his hand, and smiled for both of them.

Sholberg has poor hearing and vision. His face is strong, marbled by the winter spray of the North Sea where as a boy in Norway he helped his father fish. There are lines too which somehow tell how he, as a frontier husband and father in western Minnesota, shielded his family from blizzards and forest fires.

Families of the couple came to the United States two years apart. Sholberg's from near Kristiansund and Otila's from near Skarnes.

As a boy of 15, Ole customarily walked 16 miles a day to get the mail. One day he found a short cut, which took him past a country home where Otila Hill was picking wild flowers. On his way back home with the mail, Ole mustered courage to go to the house and ask for a drink of water.

"It seemed that Ole got very thirsty," his wife recalled. "He came back again."

On Jan. 5, 1886, seven years after their first meeting, the two were married in the Hills farm home. Sholberg borrowed $100 as the down payment on a farm and hauled 60 loads of hay into town the first summer to pay for the lumber he used to build his first two-room home. Ole was a good carpenter, and he helped build many other pioneer homes.

The Sholbergs' six daughters and two sons will be with the old couple to help observe the anniversary. They will include Julius, of Elizabeth, Minn., who celebrated his 55th wedding anniversary last year.

New Mondovi Medical Clinic To Be Occupied

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) — Mondovi's community medical group will move Monday from its present quarters to a new clinic near Buffalo Memorial Hospital Monday.

The 58-by-64-foot redwood and brick building was built and will be occupied by Dr. W. E. Wright and his associate, Dr. D. E. Wilkinson. The clinic will have nine examining rooms, laboratory, library, business office, waiting room, and a pharmacy leased to Aspen Ede, to be operated during the same hours the physicians see patients.

Space has been set aside for new dentists who might come to Mondovi. Two efficiency apartments and an office for Jasper C. Poff, insurance agent, complete the facility.

The present clinic building adjacent to Buffalo Memorial Nursing Home, which is the old hospital, will be remodeled. It will nearly double the number of beds available in the nursing facility. The present 27 patients will be increased to 50 and require hiring eight additional on the staff.

Dr. W. E. Wright has practiced medicine in Mondovi 8½ years. Dr. Wilkinson has been there two years. They employ six full-time office workers in Mondovi, three part-time and one office girl at the branch in Eleva.

New Year's Resolution Suggestions

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Having trouble making your annual New Year resolutions?

Maybe you're trying to reform yourself too fast. It can be overcome, you know.

There is no point in making 100 vows on things you are going to do next year to make yourself a better person. This only creates laughter in heaven, as the angels know no man can become that perfect.

If you must make positive vows, keep them few and simple, such as, "I hereby resolve to eat regularly in 1946 and try in every way possible to inherit as much money as I can."

A better way is to take a negative attitude.

For example, I have pledged myself in 1946 never to — Buy the Brooklyn Bridge, unless they gift-wrap it.

Beat my wife or the family cat.

Do my daughter's home work problems in algebra.

Grow a beard.

Be the last guy to laugh when the boss tells a joke.

Give stock market tips to strangers.

Take stock market tips from strangers.

Learn to play the zither.

Tell the neighbors how to deal with their teen-age children.

Purchase a charming old house in the suburbs and do it over myself.

Eat caviar, except on doctor's orders.

Follow any program of exercises that requires more than 10 knee bends a month.

Ask anyone at a cocktail party why he is for or against our policy in Viet Nam.

Borrow money from anyone except a known enemy. None of my known friends ever seem to have any cash.

Well, that's one man's program for self-improvement in 1946. It may not improve a fellow's character much, but it will help keep him from wasting his time in nonsensical ways — and that's a big step forward to take in any year.

BILL MERRILL'S
Something to Live By
Today we're going to reflect on the opinions of others in regard to one's self. Here's a social pressure most people feel in one way or the other, and it can be good or bad, depending on the kind of company we keep.

It's not too easy to divorce yourself from the opinions of others. I suspect each of us in our own way is interested in being accepted by the society we are a part of, and to say "What do I care" is at its best, a feeble attempt at independence. Some folks will live a better than average life to be well thought of. They will give themselves to worthwhile projects, give themselves to hard work to improve the community, and in general, work at their social status. By the same token, others work just as hard at being bad.

And why? For the same — acceptance by their immediate society. The irresponsible antics of teenagers and adults are often in direct relationship to the company they keep. Being aware of this, parents often instruct their youngsters to be careful about the friends they pick.

SOMEONE observed a long time ago that "birds of a feather flock together," which seems to be another way of saying that everyone in a given society has a tendency to seek the same level of life, be it good or bad. It occurred to me as I gave thought to this matter, that somehow principle must replace social pressure if society itself is to be saved from degeneration. Our concern for what others think must be modified to include what's right and wrong. Whenever the same demands that a person lower his standards to gain the goodwill of the crowd, then it's time to seek a new society to be part of. This may explain why a person rebuked for his actions will often take a flip-sart attitude. "What will people think of you?" we ask the delinquent. "What do I care what people think," comes the terse reply. What this wayward soul is really saying is, "I'm not interested in what your society thinks of me, as long as I'm accepted by my own crowd."

CORRECTION of such an attitude is too often too little too late, when parents wait to see what kind of friends the kids make before stepping in with guidance. By this time it's not accepted as guidance, but rather, as interference. So what to do?

Establish principles and standards while the child is young so that child will denounce the society of poor influence at his or her own volition. Being accepted by others is within itself a healthy ambition if conditioned on firm and purposeful principles that one insists upon at all costs. If these principles are strong enough, they will allow that the individual will even be a non-conformist, if need be, a square peg in a round hole, if that's what it takes to be right. But be assured, such a person will as a rule draw society to him or her — a society that will not demand things contrary to convictions.

How about it? Have you checked your principles lately? Remember that life is a standing proposition — stand up, stand for, and stand by.

Price Prospects Good for 1966

MADISON, Wis.—Dairy farmers' prospects for better prices and higher income look bright for 1966.

Stable—and perhaps decreased—milk production next year, coupled with increased commercial sales will bring about the favorable situation, according to Truman Graf, University of Wisconsin dairy marketing specialist. Government price support purchases of dairy products will probably drop in 1966, but government support prices should increase, says Graf.

MILK PRODUCTION in the U.S. this year will be about 1.1 billion pounds below the 1964 record of 126.6 billion pounds, and increased milk production is not likely in 1966, says Graf.

This year's decline in milk production was partially caused by favorable prices in livestock enterprises. Beef cattle and hog prices increased more than milk prices, and encouraged heavy culling of dairy herds. Some dairymen even switched to livestock.

Farmers also left dairying for other reasons—such as better wages, better employment opportunities and real estate development near urban areas. The total result was a cut in U.S. milk cow numbers of 565,000 during 1965. This big drop in numbers of milk cows was only partially offset by increased milk production per cow, so total milk production declined also.

THESE SAME trends will probably prevent increases in milk production next year, says Graf. And the effect of the trend is already being felt. In late November of this year, U.S. cheese production was down 8 percent; butter production down 22 percent, and milk production down 3 percent from a year earlier. Wisconsin's November milk production was down 7 percent from last year. Also this fall Wisconsin fluid milk shipments to out-of-state markets have reached an all time high—reflecting the lower supplies in many areas of the country.

Farmers' prices for milk have already improved; they are expected to average seven cents per 100 pounds higher than in 1964. Prices are expected to increase again in 1966, says Graf. Parity relationships and increases in manufacturing grade milk prices, suggest that next year's government support prices will be higher than this year's $3.24 per hundredweight for milk of average test.

Plans are for the revolving fund to shorten to 10 years, and then a shorter span. Feasibility of this plan will depend on the work load or emergency fund needs each year.

Dairyland returns to each cooperative system their share of contributed capital arising from the small margin on electricity furnished to each cooperative on a wholesale basis.

Skating Rink Will Kill Lawn

ALMA, Wis.—Thinking of flooding a portion of your lawn for a backyard ice skating rink?

Archie Brovold, Buffalo county agent, said a sheet of ice on your lawn all winter will kill turf grasses. Next spring a good crop of weeds will mark the spot where you had your ice rink.

But he says if you do decide to flood part of your lawn for an ice skating rink, he would flood the same spot each year. Then sow rye grass the next spring. Rye grass is a fast growing annual grass that will crowd out weeds and restore your lawn's appearance.

Brovold says if you want to take good care of your lawn, make your ice rink somewhere else, such as on your garden plot. A plastic sheet will help smooth out the ground and keep the water from soaking away.

Member Co-ops Get Cash From Dairyland

Dairyland Power Cooperative, La Crosse, issued capital credit checks totaling $345,833.60 to 27 member distribution systems at its December board of directors meeting.

In this area, five member co-operatives received $86,316.06. Tri-County Electric Cooperative, Rushford, Minn., received $38,090.60; Pierce - Peplin Electric Cooperative, $13,285.81; Buffalo County Electric Cooperative, $10,957; Trempealeau Electric Cooperative, $14,375; and Jackson Electric Cooperative, $8,608.65.

Checks are given to the board of each co-op, which distributes the money as they see fit and according to the needs of each co-op. The funds may be used for equipment retirement, emergency funds, cash returns to members, or for improvements in the system.

"This sum ($345,833.60)," said John P. Madgett, Dairyland's general manager, "represents the net margins from our operations for the fiscal year of 1964." Payments are made on a 15-year revolving fund on capital credit allocated during the early years of Dairyland when there were heavy amounts of work in power transmission construction.

Plans are for the revolving fund to shorten to 10 years, and then a shorter span. Feasibility of this plan will depend on the work load or emergency fund needs each year.

Dairyland returns to each cooperative system their share of contributed capital arising from the small margin on electricity furnished to each cooperative on a wholesale basis.

Potato Prices To Remain Low

Potato prices probably will remain reasonably low through winter and spring. This should come as a result of increased 1965 production of fall potatoes in both Minnesota and Wisconsin and decreases in sales of table grade potatoes and market shipments.

According to the Statistical Reporting Service of both states, Minnesota had 9,000,000 hundredweights on storage Dec. 1, up 42 percent from the same date in 1964, and Wisconsin had 5,200,000 hundredweights, up 18 percent from a year ago.

In the United States, storage stocks of potatoes held by growers and local dealers in the fall producing states totaled a record high of 147,685,000 hundredweight on Dec. 1.

Feeder Pig Grades Set

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced adoption of official standards for five grades of feeder pigs effective Jan. 1.

The five grades established by USDA's Consumer & Marketing Service are U.S. No. 1, U.S. No. 2, U.S. No. 3, Medium, and Cull. These grade names are the same as those for slaughter hogs and pork carcasses.

The new standards provide for the evaluation of two general value-determining characteristics of feeder pigs—their logical slaughter potential and their thriftiness. For example, if a feeder pig is graded U.S. No. 1, it has the potential for developing into a U.S. No. 1 slaughter hog that will produce a U.S. No. 1 carcass. Thriftiness is the ability of a feeder pig to gain weight rapidly and efficiently.

The new grades were proposed by C&MS' livestock division June 24, 1965, and comments were received on the proposed standards until Sept. 24. Based on these comments, a few minor revisions were made in the proposed standards which will add to the clarity and uniformity in interpretation of the standards.

C&MS officials pointed out that the new standards will serve as the primary basis for federal and federal-state market news reports on feeder pigs. Historically, these reports have been based on tentative standards published by USDA in 1940. The new grade standards will more uniformly and realistically reflect present-day differences in the market quality and value of feeder pigs, C&MS officials said.

Extra Feed Suggested During Early Period Of Cow's Lactation

WABASHA, Minn.—Underfeeding high-producing cows lowers profits and usually happens during the first three or four months of lactation. Extra grain fed to cows in high production results in one-fourth more milk than when grain is fed before freshening to produce fat that is later milked off the cows, says Matt Metz, Wabasha County agent.

To get more grain into better cows, he recommends feeding grain three or four times a day. The extra effort can be profitable during winter with a large number of fresh cows. If loose housing limits feed consumption, try bunk feeding the grain to high producers or feed grain on top of silage.

RETURN TO FARM

NELSON, Wis. (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Serum, who bought the A. H. Anderson home in Nelson and resided here about a year, moved back to their farm in Church Valley this month.

tion, try bunk feeding the grain to high producers or feed grain on top of silage.

Cattle Imports Increase 75% Over Year Ago

U.S. cattle imports are still running high. More than 103,000 head were imported during October, an increase of 128 percent from a year ago, the United States Department of Agriculture says.

This brought the total for the first 10 months to 665,000 head, an increase of 75 percent over January-October 1964.

Reason for the big increase? Apparently says the USDA, demand is outstripping feeders' ability to produce. The bulk of the imports reportedly are feeder cattle to be fattened before marketing.

Nearly all imports are from Canada (363,000) and Mexico (almost 302,000). Sheep, lamb and hog imports also are running above a year ago, but none are high.

Crop Production Meetings to Begin Jan. 21 at Alma

The winter months are a good time for jawing with your neighbor at the feed mill, reading back issues of farm publications, and more or less catching up on some afternoon leisure that was missed during summer and fall crop rush.

In the last few years a new wrinkle has been added to methods used to dispense farm research findings and new technology and fill in part of this winter slack usefully. That's by way of two- and three-day short courses on a multitude of farm subjects. Some of the information given out at these meetings you probably already know, but there are often times when some new idea or method may pop out that exactly fits your farm operation or save a few dollars. The courses are worth a try. Check around, there's probably one coming up in your area.

Maybe there are better dairy prices ahead too. Sales of skim milk items during September were up 8 percent from a year ago in 77 markets, while whole milk sales were up one percent. Skim milk sales during January-September period were also up eight percent.

Butter stocks in storage on Dec. 1 are down 16 percent from a year ago, totaling now only 80 million pounds.

A two-year-old registered Holstein owned by ELMER SIMON, Alura, has completed a 317-day record of 17,220 pounds of milk and 643 pounds of fat... From the American Guernsey Cattle Club comes word that a senior 3-year-old, Pine Knoll Dina, owned by HOMER GOSS & SON, Lewiston, Minn., completed a 305-day record of 11,930 pounds of milk and 593 of fat... Mueller Roebuck Cherry, a 9-year-old registered Holstein owned by C. H. MUELLER & SONS, Lewiston, produced 17,432 pounds of milk and 632 pounds of fat in 305 days.

A special meeting for retail dealers of seed, fertilizer and agricultural chemicals will be held Jan. 6 at the Holiday Inn at Rochester. The meeting will present dealers with the latest research findings on crop varieties, seeds, soils, fertilizers and control of insects, diseases and weeds.

Wisconsin is the sixth state or territory of the U.S. to become certified brucellosis free. This is something of an accomplishment in its own right, but more so when you realize that Wisconsin has four times as many cattle as the five states (Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Utah and Connecticut) and the one territory (Virgin Islands) combined.

Kulas' Jumper Wins for Ramblers

Central to Test Hawks In Big One

By BOB JUNGHANS
Daily News Sports Writer

John Kenney doesn't beat around the bush, and the veteran coach didn't harbor any illusions of grandeur going in to tonight's basketball game with La Crosse Central at the Mary E. Sawyer Auditorium in La Crosse.

"We'll fire a little and we'll be a little erratic," said Kenney with the knowledge of a man who has worried his way through many high school basketball seasons. "I'd like to play as many kids as I can to get them ready for Red Wing a week from tomorrow night. Of course we want to win, too, but we also have to get ready for Red Wing."

BOTH TEAMS will be coming back from a long holiday layoff; thus the reason for Kenney's guarded pessimism. On paper, the Winhawks rate as the favorite, "but you never can tell about those things," Kenney commented.

Central, which was expected to be down from a year ago, is currently riding high on a 6-1 record, losing only to Wausau. The Raiders rely on a fast break, a zone defense and a big front line to carve out their niche in the victory column.

"They hustle real well, and he (Central coach Jerry Day) likes to use a lot of kids," said Kenney. "They run up a lot of points that way."

THE RAIDERS have been relying on the scoring and rebounding punch of 6-5 Ron Nordrum, 5-10 Terry Hass and 6-3 1/2 Ron Abraham. All three are scoring in double figures with Nordrum boasting a 16.3 average to lead the way.

As for the zone defense, which Central has used on both occasions that Kenney has seen them, the Winhawk mentor isn't too concerned.

"We've faced a zone against a couple of teams off and on, by they haven't stayed in it long," said Kenney. "We like to use a 1-3-1 and get the shooting from the wings."

ZONE-BREAKERS in the 1-3-1 offense are John Walski and Larry Larson. Both, along with the other three Winhawks starters, are hitting in double figures for the season.

And if Day plans to wear down the Hawks by putting in substitutes in rapid-fire succession, he will likely be met with a taste of his own tactics.

Kenney plans to insert Pat Hopf, John Ahrens, Loren Benz and Rick Curran for large chunks of the game.

A 'B' squad game will precede the varsity attraction at 6:15 p.m., with the old varsity rivalry beginning at 8 p.m.

Last year the two teams split in two encounters.

BIG BATTLE . . . Cotter center Mike Twomey wrestled down one of his 21 rebounds in the championship game of the Cotter holiday tournament at St. Mary's College Wednesday night.

Scores With :05 to Play

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

Is Cotter High School's basketball team on the move? Certainly the Ramblers sounded a progressive note in that direction Wednesday night, crowning their third successive "best" job with a championship in their own tournament.

A shot by Chuck Kulas as the clock ticked downward from five seconds captured a 54-53 victory over La Crosse Aquinas for John Nett's Cotter club in the tournament finale.

Played before 2,400 fans at the St. Mary's field house, the championship game, as expected, became a battle between the Ramblers' rebounding and Aquinas' running game.

And Cotter did win it on the boards, controlling the caroms behind junior center Mike Twomey, who picked off 21 and scored 16 points for a berth on the five-man all-tournament team.

It was an action-packed finale as both teams played race-horse basketball.

But despite the wild finish and complete tenseness which characterized the 32 minutes, Cotter managed to cut its mechanical error output in half.

The Ramblers tossed the ball away 32 times in beating Eau Claire Regis.

"We played better," said Nett, who saw his team's offense come to life with better execution.

THE box score will tell you the Ramblers won the game from the free throw line.

Aquinas hit on but three of ten attempts. Cotter scored 10 times on 10 of 22 — no mean percentage but sufficient to cop the win.

Coach Dave Bruha of Aquinas was dismayed by the loss, especially so since he lost leading scorer Mike Limberg on fouls with 2:08 remaining in the third period.

Limberg, who ran wild for 14 of Aquinas' 19 first-quarter points, picked up his fourth foul with 2:26 of the third quarter left. Before his substitute, who had reported, could enter the game, Limberg had picked up an offensive foul and left the game with 24 points.

"HE'D have scored 50 if he'd stayed in there," said Bruha.

But though Limberg, half of Aquinas' one-two punch, left the game early, the game Blugolds fought it down to the wire.

With 1:51 remaining, Twomey pushed down two free throws to give Cotter a 52-47 lead.

Aquinas then ripped back with three straight drives, two by Pat Callahan and one by Bob Sieger to cop a 53-52 lead with 1:03 remaining.

Cotter lost the ball and Aquinas took over, calling timeout with 34 seconds left. But then a Blugold walked out of bounds with the ball and the Ramblers took over with 27 seconds left.

COTTER nearly lost the ball again, but it ticked an Aquinas player on its way out and the Ramblers retained possession.

With seven seconds left, Kulas gained the ball at about the 20-foot mark on the left side. He let fly and it went through.

It was that kind of game most (Continued on Page 14)

swelled the two-day attendance to somewhere around 4,400, making this one of the most successful Cotter Booster Club-sponsored events . . .

Plans are under way for the 1966 tournament. It is hoped that the same four teams will be back again, but both Regis and Aquinas have to check 1966 commitments before tossing their hats in the ring . . .

Buffo Shows, Redmen in Title Tilt

ST. AMBROSE, Iowa — Led by a man who wasn't supposed to be there and two that always are, St. Mary's barreled through its opening tilt in the St. Ambrose Holiday basketball tournament Wednesday night, disposing of Simpson, College 70-52 with a patented second-half flurry.

Tonight, the Redmen try for their second straight holiday tournament championship when they meet host St. Ambrose in the 9 p.m. title bout. St. Ambrose fought off an 11th hour Augustana bid to dump the Rock Island, Ill., quintet 67-64 in the other first-round game.

It was a combination of George Hoder, Captain Roger Pytlewski and Jim Buffo that spelled the difference in the second half Wednesday night.

Buffo, who supposedly was out until the new year with a case of mononucleosis, met the team in St. Ambrose and proceeded to fire in 14 points after coming off the bench.

His steal and driving lay-up midway through the second half cut short a Simpson rally and propelled the Redmen toward their fourth victory in six games.

Hoder led the Redmen in scoring with 19 points, while Pytlewski hauled down 14 rebounds and tossed in 13 points.

With 6-5 center Sig Wood leading the way, Simpson battled to a six-point lead late in the first half, but had to settle for a 32-30 intermission margin when Buffo and Jim Murphy connected in the final minute.

But a cloak-like second half defense and improved shooting by St. Mary's sent Simpson scurrying to the consolation bracket.

With Pytlewski, Hoder and Jim Murphy switching off on Wood, the big pivot man was held to five points in the last 20 minutes. He finished with 20 for the night, the only Simpson cager in twin digits.

A pair of free throws by Hoder with 15:30 to play tied the game at 35-35, and then Murphy got the right slant on a drive shot to give St. Mary's the lead for the first time since midway in the first half.

A six-point Redmen spurge boosted the lead to nine with 12:40 to go, and after Simpson had ran in a pair of buckets, Buffo came up with his key interception to turn the game into a runaway.

St. Mary's shot a respectable 47 percent in the second half, but even more impressive was the Redmen's ability to connect at the free throw line. With Hoder popping in 11 free shots, the Redmen hit on 20 of 24 attempts.

Augustana battled back from a huge deficit in the second half, only to have St. Ambrose drill in crucial bonus free throw shots in the waning second to stow away the victory.

Carroll Tumbles State by 102-82

WAUKESHA, Wis. — Winona State's basketball fortunes, which seemed to be on the upswing prior to Christmas vacation, ebbed to a new low Wednesday night as the Warriors fell before Carroll College 102-82 in the consolation game of the Carroll Holiday tournament.

But even though the loss dropped Winona's record to 3-7, it could hardly be attributed to the same team which won two of its last three before Christmas.

THREE NEW members were in the Warrior starting lineup and they seemed to function well enough, but they couldn't keep up with the torrid Carroll shooting pace led by 6-2 forward Tony Meade.

Meade dropped in 18 points in the first half to catapult the host school into a commanding 54-36 halftime lead that was never threatened. He finished with 23 points, followed by the Wein-kauf brothers, Chuck and Tom, with 18 and 11.

Getting into the revamped starting lineup for Bob Campbell's crew were Jim Kasten, J. D. Barnette and Dennis Morgan. Kasten and Barnette flanked pivot man Mike Jeresek who turned in one of his finest performances of the season.

THE 6-5 COTTER High School graduate fired in 25 points to take game honors and helped Winona break even in the battle of the backboards, Morgan, starting his first game, hit 14 points. He replaced Dave Meisner, who, along with forward Tim Anderson, was benched by Campbell for disciplinary reasons.

Gary Petersen also regained his scoring form in the second half of the contest. "Pete" banged in four buckets in the second stanza before fouling out with 10 minutes left in the game. Barnette and Kasten also fouled out, but it made little difference in the final score.

CARROLL SHOT a blistering 52 percent from the field, though it outscored the Warriors by only six points in that department. The big difference came at the charity stripe. Winona was assessed 30 fouls and Carroll responded by hitting 28 of 41 free shots.

Winona State not only didn't have as many shots to choose from, but it also didn't do well in hitting them. The Warriors shot a miserable 52 percent from the gift line, hitting 14 of 27.

Campbell now faces the prospect of revamping the Warriors for their NIC opening test at Houghton, Mich., Jan. 8, against Michigan Tech.

Twomey, Kulas On All-Tourney

Two players from champion Cotter and La Crosse Aquinas' lethal one-two scoring punch of Pat Callahan and Mike Limberg dominated the five-man Cotter Holiday Invitational all-tournament team.

Cotter's Mike Twomey, who captured 21 rebounds and scored 16 points during the final night, was named along with Chuck Kulas, who fired down the basket that gave the championship to the Ramblers by the score of 54-53.

Rounding out the team was Bill Jochum, Eau Claire Regis forward.

Callahan, who not only leads Aquinas in scoring but also does the Blugold play-making, tallied 30 points the first night of the tournament and 19 the second. Limberg scored 20 points the first night and 24 the second.

Twomey was the Ramblers' tournament rebounding leader and also hit in double figures the first night, scoring 10. Kulas bagged 11 the first night.

Jochum hit 11 points as Regis fell to Cotter in the opening round, but came back with a strong 26-point show as the Ramblers ripped St. Paul Hill 79-58 in the consolation game.

Poor Start Hurts Gophers

CHATFIELD — Getting off on the wrong foot in the first quarter, game Chatfield tried to battle back against North St. Paul, but fell to the Twin Cities delegation 69-62 in a nonconference game Wednesday night.

The Gophers found themselves on the short end of a 16-11 first-period score, but came back within three at 53-50 going into the final stanza. But that was as close as they could get at the towering North St. Paul team made it a clean sweep over Maple Leaf Conference teams.

Doug Rowland pumped in 23 points in a losing effort for Chatfield, while Dan Bernard added 13. Pacing the balanced Polar attack were Denny Hawkenson and Greg Starns with 16 each.

In a game that pitted the North St. Paul against the Chatfield 'B' team, the Polar bench warmers downed the junior Gophers 44-25.

ARMY WINS
MADISON — For the second straight night, Army defeated the Wisconsin hockey team by a score of 4-2 Wednesday.

Arcadia '5' Scares Alma, C-FC Triumphs

ARCADIA, Wis. — Who says deliberate basketball isn't exciting? It couldn't have been any more spine tingling than it was Wednesday night in the second round of the Alma-Arcadia holiday basketball doubleheader.

Shunning the rapid-fire approach to the game, Arcadia nearly pulled the biggest upset of the season before falling to No. 1 ranked and undefeated Alma 47-43. In the opening game, Cochrane-Fountain City had to score four points in the last eight seconds to stop Independence 48-46.

ALMA 47
ARCADIA 43
Plagued by mechanical errors and Arcadia's ball - holding tactics, Alma found itself in its toughest battle of the season against a team that has won only one game this year. The Rivermen finally prevailed 47-43.

Holding the ball for agonizing periods of time, Arcadia stunned Alma and the capacity crowd by taking a 13-10 first-period lead, and trailing only 26-25 at intermission.

Using a sticky 2-1-2 zone defense and two freshmen and a sophomore in the starting lineup, Arcadia completely smothered Alma's run-and-gun tactics, cutting off the usually balanced Rivermen scoring and allowing only 6-4 center Dick Ebersold into double figures with 22 points. Bud Benusa matched that output for Arcadia.

The deliberate style backfired for the Raiders in the third period as Alma outscored the home club 15-7 to take a 41-32 lead into the final quarter. But Arcadia stuck to its game plan and whittled the lead to the final four points margin before time ran out.

COCHRANE-FC 48
INDEPENDENCE 46
Independence saw a bid for its first victory of the season go down the drain with a Cochrane-Fountain City last ditch flurry that capped a 48-46 triumph for the Pirates.

Independence led by two with only eight seconds to play, but Dennis Auer dangled in a jumper to tie the count, and four seconds later Dan Platteter connected for the winning margin. Frank Hotchkiss fired in 15 points for the Indians, and Mark Marsolek added 10. Hal Cheders poured through 21 for the Pirates to lead all scorers.

Green Bay Bursts With Pride, Starr Will Play

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Bart Starr expects to play Sunday and that is bad news for the Cleveland Browns. It isn't official yet, but Titletown, U.S.A., is bursting with optimism about its hometown Packers with its No. 1 quarterback back at the helm.

Starr turned up Wednesday for the first time since Sunday's injury and found he could throw the ball. His damaged back is not entirely healthy, but it is beginning to come around.

"I plan on playing," said Starr in the clubhouse after the Packers resumed work for the National Football League championship game following a two-day vacation.

"I'm not planning on sitting down," he said. He sounded as though he meant it.

Although Zeke Bratkowski, his understudy, did a fine job Sunday after Starr was hurt on the first play of the playoff game with Baltimore, the Packers are a more cohesive unit with No. 15 at the controls.

"Bart didn't throw well, but he did throw," commented Coach Vince Lombardi. "He should get a little better every day because he is a fast healer. I still don't know what to say about Sunday."

The Packers feel Starr's pin-point passing will be more effective against the defending champion's deep defense than Zeke's bombs.

Cleveland definitely is vulnerable to the pass. The Browns have given up 43 touchdowns, 12 on running plays and 31 on passes. In contrast, Green Bay has been scored on 22 times, 11 by runs and 11 by passes.

Although the most recent weather forecast calls for mild temperatures and possible showers or flurries during the week, there is an ominous threat of rain or snow for Sunday.

The field, recovered with hay immediately after the Baltimore game, is in prime condition. Of course, it'll have to take what comes when the cover is taken off Sunday morning.

Paul Hornung ran with his old spirit in Wednesday's workout although he confined himself with straightaway dashes with no cuts. He still is nursing a bruised right leg.

Jim Taylor came up with a muscle pull that nobody knew he had, but Lombardi is confident it will work itself out before game time.

Green Bay's running attack has been sub-par all season. The Packers ranked 10th in the league in rushing with 1,488 yards to Cleveland's leading total of 2,331. Jim Brown, of course, is the chief contributor to the Browns' total with 1,544 on his own, or more than the entire Packer running game.

"We haven't controlled the ball as well as in other years," admitted Lombardi.

"Our offensive line was in a state of flux for weeks, and Jim Taylor wasn't really himself until recently."

Since Lombardi reshuffled his offensive line five weeks ago the running game has picked up. More important, his pass blocking has improved tremendously. In the last five games the opposing teams smeared the Green Bay quarterback only once, compared to 43 times previously.

"We moved Forrest Gregg back to his old tackle job and put in Fuzzy Thurston at that guard position," said Lombardi. "Jerry Kramer came back to be a fulltime performer at the other guard. And we have been using Bill Anderson at tight end in place of Marv Fleming."

With the old gang back together again, the Packers have looked more like themselves. Starr's ability to pick apart a defense, given adequate time from his pass blockers, is a prime Packer asset. That is only why the news about Bart's recovery is so important in looking ahead to Sunday's game.

Same Old Tale: Beloit Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beloit, off to a late but laudatory basketball start, is making its annual holiday tourney with Carroll and two Minnesota schools a personal Christmas prize.

The Buccaneers downed Carleton 71-59 Wednesday night to win the traveling tourney, staged at Carroll this year, for the third straight season. It left Beloit as Wisconsin's only unbeaten team with two victories, both in the tourney that began the Bucs' season.

Dominican was stopped by Lewis, Ill., 65-56 in the championship game of its tourney at Racine while two other Wisconsin schools advanced to the finals of their own holiday affairs tonight. Lawrence will face St. Norbert for the title in the Lawrence Invitational. La Crosse must meet Lincoln, Mo., trying to make the La Crosse tourney its second tournament field of conquest in three days.

Other Wisconsin teams fared less successfully, with Carthage finishing fourth at Decorah, Iowa, and Stevens Point knocked off in the opening round at Wayne, Neb. Stout won Wednesday night at St. Cloud, Minn., to get a shot at fifth place in that eight-team meet.

Beloit, which delayed its hardwood debut until after Christmas because of its unorthodox academic schedule, made the wait worthwhile for its fans.

Lanier Gordon hit from the floor to break a 46-46 tie with Carleton as Beloit raced away to victory. Tom Faywell topped the Bucs with 16 points.

La Crosse (5-2) scored five points in the last 27 seconds to subdue Jamestown, N.D., 73-68 in its holiday festival. Lincoln, Mo., (8-2), fresh from a triumph

Tuesday night in the Huron, S.D., Invitational, downed Dubuque 92-81 in the other first-round game.

Ron Byers of La Crosse broke the 68-68 tie with Jamestown with a basket, then added a free throw. John Johnson, who led the winners with 20 points, iced the game with two more foul shots.

Lincoln trailed 45-32 after Dubuque reeled off eight straight points at the start of the second half, but rallied to take the lead with six minutes to go and kept broadening it. Arvesta Kelly hit 34 points to lead Lincoln.

In the only all-Wisconsin affair, Lawrence (2-3) set a school scoring record by demolishing Northland (1-5) 106-76 in the Vikings' meet and St. Norbert (3-5) carved an 89-65 conquest of Milton (2-2), only team to enter the tourney with a winning record.

John Block — He's Commodore Killer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Until the semifinal round of the Los Angeles Basketball Classic, John Block's primary distinction was that he was the tallest starter Coach Forrest Twogood ever had in his 16 years at Southern California.

Now he can boast of being a Commodore Killer.

Block's two free throws with four seconds to play gave Southern California a 74-72 victory over Vanderbilt Wednesday night and knocked the Commodores, the nation's second-ranked team, from the list of unbeaten.

The free throws, however, were only the final act in Block's performance. He scored 32 points in all, six more than Vanderbilt ace Clyde Lee. Lee poured in 39 the night before.

Included in the total for the 6-foot-9 Block was a field goal that tied the game 72-72 with 2:21 remaining.

The victory put Southern California into tonight's final against archrival UCLA, which defeated Purdue 82-70.

The Los Angeles Classic is only one of many tournament titles that will be decided tonight.

Three of the bigger ones are the Holiday Festival at New York — Providence vs. Boston College; the Quaker City at Philadelphia — St. Joseph's vs. Temple; and the All-College at Oklahoma City, Okla. — Oklahoma City vs. Virginia Tech.

St. Joseph's, the nation's eighth-ranked team, rolled into the Quaker final by crushing ninth-ranked Minnesota 91-66 behind the clutch scoring of Billy Oakes. Minnesota hit only 14 per cent of its shots in the first half.

Temple downed LaSalle 66-59 in overtime, clinching the victory with six straight free throws. Oklahoma City stormed past Rhode Island 101-89 as Jerry Wells and Gary Gray combined for 55 points. Then, Virginia Tech edged top-seeded Wichita State 91-80 on John Wetzel's two free throws with 10 seconds left.

Among the tournaments that ended, titles were won by Princeton, New Mexico, Columbia and Evansville.

John Haarlow and Gary Walters sparked Princeton to a 62-47 triumph over Navy in the Charlotte Invitational while Mel Daniels scored 27 points in New Mexico's 99-81 victory over Idaho in the Lobo Invitational.

Columbia rolled past Brown

83-63 in the Kodak Classic at Rochester, N.Y., behind the scoring of 7-foot-1 Dave Newmark and Stan Felsing.

Evansville, the nation's No. 1 small-college team, won its own tournament by nipping Marquette 88-86 on Sam Watkins' jump shot with two seconds left.

In games for third place in those tournaments, Davidson defeated Mississippi State 72-60, Tulane edged Texas Christian 82-80, Pitt stopped Rochester 69-65 in overtime and Kent State pipped Yale 77-75.

Nebraska made it to the finals of the Big Eight tournament for the first time in the 20-year history, defeating Oklahoma 92-79 behind the combined 52-point performance by Nate Branch and Grant Simmons.

The Cornhuskers meet Kansas for the title tonight following the Jayhawkers' 73-66 decision over Iowa State.

Oregon State and Stanford will clash for the Far West Classic title. Oregon State upset Arizona State 56-46, and Stanford stopped Utah State 93-79.

Fourth-ranked Iowa moved into the finals of the Sun Carnival at El Paso, Tex., against Texas Western by edging Arkansas 77-75 on Jerry Jones' tip in with one second to play.

Gophers Take Title in Own Hockey Meet

ST. PAUL (AP) — The University of Minnesota Gophers claimed the championship in the first annual St. Paul Hockey Classic Wednesday night with a 6-4 upset of North Dakota's Sioux.

Colorado College took consolation honors by defeating Colgate 6-2.

Bruce Larson, Minnesota senior wing, broke a 4-4 tie at 8:00 of the third period and scored two goals to lead the Gophers to their triumph.

The Sioux had led 2-0 on first-period goals by Denny Hextall and Terry Casey. Gary Gambucci and Larson tied the count before Casey scored again to give North Dakota a 3-2 first-period advantage.

After a second-period goal by Tom Iannone, the Sioux were held scoreless. The Gophers tallied twice in each of the last two periods.

Sioux Coach Bob Peters pulled goalie Mike Curran with one minute left but Minnesota's Chuck Norby picked up a rebound shot and easily flipped the puck into North Dakota's open net.

weekend in college football's annual wind-up extravaganza—the major bowl games.

The television line-up is such that armchair quarterbacks can watch at least portions of all four of the big ones New Year's Day — the Rose, Colton, Sugar and Orange.

It starts at 2 p.m., EST, and goes continuously until about 10 p.m.

And if that isn't enough, viewers can start working on their red eyes New Year's Eve with the Gator Bowl and the East-West All-Star game. The Sun Bowl, also scheduled New Year's Eve, is not televised nationally.

Most of the top-ranked teams — Michigan State, Arkansas, Nebraska and Alabama are in action and the national champion will be determined by a poll following the games.

Here's the line-up, all times Eastern Standard:

Dec. 31
Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla. — Georgia Tech, 6-3-1, vs. Texas Tech, 8-2, 2 p.m.

Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex. — Texas Western, 7-3, vs. Texas Christian, 6-4, 4 p.m.

East-West All-Star at San Francisco — 4:45 p.m.

Jan. 1
Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif. — Michigan State, 10-0, vs. UCLA, 7-2-1, 5 p.m.

Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Tex. — Arkansas, 10-0, vs. Louisiana State, 7-3, 2 p.m.

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, La. — Missouri, 7-2-1, vs. Florida, 7-3, 2 p.m.

Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla.

— Nebraska, 10-0, vs. Alabama, 8-1-1, 8 p.m.

The television line-up has ABC showing the Gator Bowl and NBC the East-West game Friday, Saturday, NBC starts with the Sugar Bowl, follows that with the Rose Bowl and then comes through with the Orange. CBS has the Cotton Bowl battle.

A good portion of the action, however, will take place after the games and off the TV screens. That involves the check-book battle for some of the top stars.

For example, some pro football men have said the bidding for Donny Anderson, two-time All-America back for Texas Tech, may go as high as $400,000 after he and his Texas Tech teammates complete their Gator Bowl appearance. He has been drafted by Green Bay of the National Football League and Houston of the American Football League.

Two of the three unbeaten teams in action, Michigan State and Arkansas, are solid favorites. But the third, Nebraska, is an underdog to Alabama. Michigan State, Arkansas and Nebraska all are 10-0, with Arkansas boasting a string of 22 in a row.

In Las Vegas, where book-making is legal, Arkansas has been made a 10-point favorite over LSU in the Cotton Bowl, Michigan State is favored by 14 over UCLA in the Rose Bowl, Alabama by two over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl and Missouri by 2½ over Florida in the Sugar Bowl.

Preston Rips Mabel In Championship Tilt

MABEL, Minn. — Preston exploded for 105 points and thoroughly crushed Mabel 105-59 Wednesday night in the championship game of the Mabel Holiday high school basketball tournament.

The consolation contest was a trifle closer and a whole lot more exciting as Lanesboro skinned by Rushford 64-62.

PRESTON 105
MABEL 59
Six men hit double digits for the undefeated Preston Blue

Jays as they romped by Mabel 105-59, bursting through the century barrier for the first time this season.

The District One powerhouse launched its title bid in good fashion, blazing a 31-7 first-period lead and stretching it to 54-21 by halftime.

As usual Mike Knies led the balanced Jay attack with 22 points. Jerry Himli added 17, Bill Hall 16, Steve Trende 16, Steve Hall 12 and Jerry Hilslove 11.

For Mabel, Rich Horgan's nine was high.

LANESBORO 64
RUSHFORD 62
Rushford saw a 10-point third period lead disintegrate before Lanesboro's full court press as the Burros came up with a 64-62 squeaker.

Trailing 49-39, Lanesboro installed the full floor defense and roared into the lead. Rushford made a counter-rally, but couldn't get off a final shot that might have sent the game into overtime.

Brian Gardner fired in 23 points to take the evening's tournament scoring honors. Paul Holman added 15 and Rich Peterson 10 for the Burros.

For Rushford, both Mike Wolf and Steve Johnson meshed 16, while Dick Hungerford tossed in 15 and Jim Wolf 10.

Evansville Stalls Way To Victory

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Evansville College, stalling nearly a minute for a final shot, squeaked past Marquette 88-86 to win its own holiday basketball tournament Wednesday night on Sam Watkins' jump shot with two seconds left.

Marquette outscored Evansville by 14 points from the floor, but lost when the Warriors committed almost twice as many fouls as did the Aces, who sank 26 of 31 free throws.

The victory for Evansville, top-ranked small college team in the country and defending NCAA college division champion, snapped a four-game Marquette winning streak, longest ever under Warrior Coach Al McGuire.

Marquette captain Tom Flynn and another starter, Blanton Simmons, both fouled out in the first half as the Warriors fell as much as 11 points behind. Marquette rallied, however, to draw even twice in the second half, the last time a 86-86.

Bob Wolf's layup with 1:06 left created the last tie. Watkins won a jump ball with Brian Brunkhorst eight seconds later and the Aces waited for the winning final shot.

Wolf led all scorers with 29 points. Evansville's Little All-America Larry Humes, third highest scorer in the nation among small college players, had 26 and was voted the tourney's most valuable player. Watkins contributed 20.

$7 Million Damage In Arizona Floods

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Arizona's floods last week caused more than $7 million damage, the state Civil Defense director says, of which $4 million was to public property.

Gov. Sam Goddard has asked President Johnson to declare portions of Arizona as eligible for federal disaster funds.

It will be next week before the loss will be determined finally, the Civil Defense director, Col. Carl N. Smith, said Wednesday night. But he said private damage, mostly to farm lands and buildings, will exceed $3 million.

Prolonged rains and record snow combined to send swollen rivers across the desert last week.

AVENGES EARLIER DEFEAT

Durand Trips Eleva-Strum

OSSEO, Wis. — In the first round of the Osseo doubleheader Durand avenged a season opening loss to Eleva-Strum (68-56) by whipping the undefeated Cardinals 71-68 in a torrid fourth-quarter finish.

In another fourth quarter comeback Osseo nipped Mondovi 67-65 after trailing throughout the second half.

DURAND 71

ELEVA-STRUM 68

It was a big night for Durand, evening out an earlier loss to Eleva-Strum by sinking the Cards 71-68 with 28 red hot points in the last period. The mainstay of the Panther rally was Doug Brantner who hit 13 of his 15 points in the fourth quarter.

Durand trailed at the half 29-27 and at the third period it was 52-43.

High point honors for the first-round go to Durand's Dale Harsh who totaled 29 points, Joe Langlois was also in double figures with 12.

For Eleva-Strum, which had won six previous games, Jim Skogstad led with 18 points, Roger Tollefson pumped in 16, Tim Bue hit 15 and Jim Gunderson sank 11 points.

OSSEO 67

MONDOVI 65

The fourth quarter for host school Osseo also spelled victory. The Chiefs trailed at the third quarter 46-42 but came back to win 67-65.

Osseo led in the first period 18-11 but the Buffaloes tied up the ball game at the half 28-28.

Osseo's Lyle Sell paced the Chiefs with 25 points, Dave Nelson and Darrel Hanson followed with 16 and 10 points respectively.

For the Buffaloes Dale Hoch tallied 15, Rick Meier had 13, Bill Hehl dumped in 12 and Steve Kent followed with 11 points.

NFL Gets Payday: Cool $37.6 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System has purchased the rights to televise National Football League games for at least two more years, signing a contract which calls for more money than ever and which will enable more people than ever to see professional football on television.

CBS and the NFL agreed Wednesday to a $37.6 million contract for two years. CBS also has an option for a third year—at additional money, of course.

The new pact is a healthy increase over the $28.2 million agreement that has existed for the past two seasons. Each club in the NFL will receive an additional $200,000 per year, or $1.2 million.

Bill MacPhail, vice president in charge of sports for CBS-TV, said the contract is the largest for sports in television history.

A major change in the new agreement calls for the televising of games to NFL cities even when a team is playing at home.

In the past, if for example, the Pittsburgh Steelers were playing at home, viewers in that city would see no NFL game that day. But starting next season, another game, say Minnesota against Washington, will be shown in Pittsburgh.

The new contract covers regular and pre-season games. CBS and the league still are negotiating for a contract covering the championship game, the runner-up game and the Pro Bowl, but they anticipate no trouble in reaching an agreement.

CBS has been televising NFL games since 1956. The National Broadcasting Co. has just ended the first year of a five-year, $36 million contract with the American Football League, and the American Broadcasting Co. will televise college games in 1966 and 1967 for $16 million.

The new CBS contract covers the NFL's 15th team, the Atlanta Falcons, and provides for the possibilities of a 16th team in 1967 and divisional playoffs at the end of the season.

If the NFL goes to 16 teams, it is expected to form four divisions with two playoffs leading to the championship game.

League Commissioner Pete Rozelle said seven cities are under study for the 16th spot. He named Cincinnati, Ohio; Houston, Tex.; Phoenix, Ariz.; Boston; Seattle, Wash.; New Orleans, La. and Portland, Ore.

Scheduled for television for the next two seasons are two national games on Thanksgiving, one during the day and the other at night; two additional night games during the regular season; four pre-season Friday night games on Aug. 12, 19 and 26 and Sept. 2, and eight doubleheaders on the final eight Sundays of the regular season. Five doubleheaders were televised this season.

Aquinas came back to a 40-40 tie midway in the third quarter, but Cotter pushed in front 44-41 with eight minutes to play.

The Ramblers led by as many as five points in the fourth quarter.

Kulas also scored 16 points to tie the Twomeys for Cotter honors. Jim Holmby, back at a regular forward spot for the game hit 11. Callahan netted 19 for Regis.

Cotter now rests until a Jan. 8 game at Minneapolis De La Salle. The Ramblers are 5-4. Aquinas stands 5-5.
