President Stops in Alaska, Back in Washington Tonight

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — President Johnson returned Tuesday night to American soil and promised that America will take a firm anti-Communist stand in Asia — and you can put it in your pipe and smoke it.

Returning from a seven-nation tour, Johnson was greeted by several thousand residents of Alaska's largest city in a steady, but gentle, midnight rain.

The President told welcome-

Girls Returned, Not $536,000

RIALTO Calif. (AP) — Relatives sat in the modest white frame home groping for insight into Roger Lee Williams.

"We just can't understand why Roger would do anything like this," said his father, Everett, Tuesday.

"He was so conscientious, such a good father and a hard worker," said his wife, Joanne. "There was no indication anything like this would happen."

Williams, 27, an assistant bank cashier, disappeared July 14 with his two daughters. At the same time $536,000 disappeared from the bank, and Williams was charged with bank larceny.

Then on Halloween, the FBI said, Williams rented a motel room three blocks from his house, hired a baby-sitter to take his daughters home, and disappeared again.

With the help of accounts from the daughters, Kelly, 4, and Rochelle, 5, FBI agents added pieces to the puzzling picture.

"Daddy had a suitcase full of money," said Rochelle. "He bought a new white car, bought us lots of dresses and toys and bought himself some new suits."

Recalled Kelly: "We just kept driving all the time. Once on a trip, a long time ago, we went in a little plane. We went a long, long ways."

"We cried a lot and told daddy we wanted to go home," said Rochelle. "He told us he would take us to Mommy as soon as he finished the vacation."

She described how her father had dressed her and Kelly in Halloween costumes and masks before the sister took them

3 Killed in Copter Crash On Carrier

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — A helicopter crash on the carrier Guadalcanal left the pilot and crewman uninjured, but sent death-dealing rotor blade fragments shooting across the flight deck of the busy ship.

Twenty-two men were cut down Tuesday by pieces of the 27-foot aluminum blade, some of them more than 100 yards from the crash site. Three men were killed and 19 injured, one critically.

One of the dead was a civilian employee, Manning McCutchen, 44, of Suffolk, a father of four who had come up on the flight deck to watch the helicopter take off. He was struck as he stood near the carrier's control island. The other two victims were members of the Guadalcanal's flight deck crew.

at Elmendorf Air Force Base, four miles from town, that United States is taking a stand in Asia — and Viet Nam — and "that stand is going to come true."

Although the dampened late-hour crowd was the smallest of his 31,000-mile journey around the Pacific, the President took his auto microphone in hand to urge repeatedly that his greeters "move back a yard there" and let the motorcade proceed.

Dutch Harbor is a community in Alaska's Aleutian Islands. The President said he did not believe in ignoring a fire "until it gets to your front yard."

He emphasized again that his aim is to get Communist North Viet Nam to the negotiating table, "and the sooner they realize it, the better they'll be."

Johnson landed in Alaska's biggest city shortly before midnight, following a nonstop flight from the South Korean capital of Seoul.

The presidential jet set down at Elmendorf Air Force Base, five miles out of the city, at 11:36 p.m. AST — 4:38 a.m. EST.

Johnson will attend a breakfast this morning at his hotel, then take off for a nonstop hop to Washington, where his arrival at Dulles International Airport will be televised live nationwide.

The President is due at Dulles at 8 p.m. EST.

Eight hours before Johnson left Seoul, North Korean troops ambushed a patrol from the U.S. 2nd Infantry Division 800 yards south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea, killed six Americans and a South Korean soldier and wounded the other American in the patrol. The Communist troops escaped.

The North Korean attack was announced five hours after the President took off for Alaska. It was the most serious of a series of attacks made by the North Koreans along the armistice line since Johnson's trip to Korea was announced Oct. 6. Some observers in Seoul thought the Communists might be trying to put pressure on the South Koreans to resist any American requests for more troops for Viet Nam.

Winding up his 17-day, seven-nation sweep around the rim of the Pacific, the U.S. chief executive made a parting pledge to maintain America's military strength in South Korea against Communist China and North Korea.

The President looked fresh and rested despite the strains of the tiring trip. He said an ebullient farewell at the close of his three-day state visit to South Korea, then climbed into his special plane. Air Force One, with Mrs. Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and White House officials.

Before leaving Korea, Johnson and President Chung Hee Park signed a farewell communique which promised to keep U.S. forces in Korea at their present level of 50,000, laid a wreath at the National Assembly, and made brief good-by remarks at the airport where a girls' chorus sang "The Yellow Rose of Texas" in Korean.

In his talk to the Korean Assembly — the last major pronouncement of the Asian trip — Johnson said he had "listened and learned much on this trip" from many things, including "the solid agreement we found among allies at the Manila conference." But he added that "difficult days lie ahead of us in Viet Nam" and that peace will not come there until the Communists change their mind about fighting.

In 16 days, Johnson has traveled 25,000 miles to seven countries, the state of Hawaii and American Samoa, in the South Seas.

6 Americans Die in Korea

Erhard May Be Forced To Resign

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Ludwig Erhard told party leaders today that he would quit if he could take part in all discussions on his successor, an informed source said.

When he would be ready to resign was not made clear.

Erhard spoke at a closed-door meeting of Christian Democratic party chiefs in Parliament. It has been widely reported that he would favor Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder to succeed him — if he had to go.

The source said Erhard stressed the importance of continuity in policy and also made it a condition of his resignation that he take part in the formation of his successor's policy.

The informant reported that top party leaders had already agreed to press Erhard to quit. This decision was said to have been made at an earlier meeting of the party's top leadership — a group of 11 men.

The top-echelon group decided to confront Erhard with their demand at a meeting of the full steering committee later, the informants said.

They added that Erhard, chancellor since 1963, then would be asked to help the party choose a successor. Erhard took over after Konrad Adenauer stepped down.

JOHNSON, HUMPHREY, NIXON

Big Political Guns Coming to Minnesota

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Johnson, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and former Vice President Richard Nixon — the big guns of the national political parties — are moving into Minnesota for a final assault on the undecided voter.

Johnson is to speak about 5 p.m. Friday at the plaza of the First National Bank in Minneapolis, according to sources in the Democratic - Farmer - Labor Party.

He is to arrive at Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport about 4:30 p.m. and leave about 6:30 p.m. as part of a cross-country tour for Democratic candidates.

The schedule has not been confirmed yet by the White House.

Nixon was in Minnesota Tuesday night, speaking to about 1,200 Republicans at a turkey dinner in the National Guard Armory at St. James. He spoke in behalf of GOP Rep. Ancher Nelsen.

Earlier, the former Republican presidential candidate told a Bloomington news conference that the GOP is sure to win the Minnesota governor's race, has an even chance of electing a senator and a good chance to pick up two congressional seats — to the detriment of Humphrey.

"My judgment is that if Humphrey fails to save a governor and if he fails to save a senator blow to his chances of staying on the ticket in 1968," Nixon said.

He predicted that the GOP will pick up 40 House seats he thinks are in jeopardy in Minnesota, but Republicans are given the best chance against 6th District Rep. Alec Olson. Other DFL congressmen — John Blatnik, Donald Fraser and Joseph Karth — are all heavy favorites to win re-election.

Nixon estimated that 20 to 25 per cent of voters are still undecided, more than he has seen at any time in 20 years of campaigning.

At St. James, the former vice president said the Democratic Congress "struck out on peace, prices and crime. It's time we got a new team in."

"America is a great country and America became a great country not because of what government did for the people, but what people did for themselves over 190 years ago," he said.

Humphrey's schedule calls for him to return to Minnesota Friday night. He is to campaign Saturday in the Twin Cities area and, for DFL congressional hopeful Keith Davison, at Alexandria and Moorhead.

Stops in the 2nd, 6th and 7th

Districts are planned Saturday night and Sunday.

Humphrey is to campaign in the 6th and 8th Districts Monday, with stops at Grand Rapids, Hibbing, Virginia, Eveleth and Duluth, according to party leaders.

Johnson and Humphrey hope to aid Gov. Karl Rolvaag, Sen. Walter F. Mondale and other members of the DFL ticket, as well as congressional nominees.

Reds Attack Below 1953 Armistice Line

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — North Korean troops ambushed and killed six American soldiers and one South Korean below the armistice line before dawn today while President and Mrs. Johnson slept 30 miles away.

The incident was the gravest involving Americans since the Korean War ended in 1953. It occurred eight hours before Johnson left Korea for the United States.

In Anchorage, Alaska, the traveling White House said Johnson has asked for a complete report on the incident from Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel, commander of the U.S. 8th Army in Korea and of the United Nations Command there. The President met with Bonesteel Tuesday when he visited American and South Korean troops during his stay in South Korea.

There was one survivor, an American, from the U.S. 2nd Infantry Division patrol. Wounded by a grenade but reported in good condition, he said the attackers wore North Korean army uniforms.

The Communists escaped and there was no indication that any were wounded.

The United Nations Command announced that the eight-man patrol was jumped by the Communists about 800 yards south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

The ambush occurred east of Libby Bridge, one of two spanning the Imjin River in the American sector of the front and close to Panmunjom where the Military Armistice Commission meets in the demilitarized zone.

The U.N. Command said the attack occurred at 3:15 a.m. President Johnson gave no indication that he was aware of it when he left Kimpo Airfield 15 miles away. The ambush was not announced until five hours after the President took off.

Source said latest additions to the war will likely be elements of the 9th Infantry Division which was activated last year and has been training for duty since January.

The 9th, with a strength of about 17,000, is virtually combat ready. In addition to it, a number of support-type units with thousands of troops have been tapped for duty.

When and where the Infantry division will deploy is secret for security reasons. There have been reports it would be sent to South Viet Nam's rice-rich delta region, now defended largely by South Vietnamese troops.

Military officials say the Pentagon is at a crossroads in mapping out the course of the war beyond early 1967. One reason: This is budget-planning time, a period when the services lay out their monetary needs.

Moreover, the Saigon command has recommended a buildup to at least a half-million men, while at home congressional predictions on the required forces have gone as high as 600,000.

More than 100,000 U.S. troops are in Viet Nam today. The U.S. Command announced that the eight-man patrol was jumped by the Communists about 800 yards south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

"Search patrols discovered the wounded man and the slain soldiers."

"All of the dead and wounded were assigned to the 2nd Infantry Division. Their identities will be released after notification of next of kin."

10 Die in California Fire

SYLMAR, Calif. (AP) — A blast of flames sweeping up a steep hillside snuffed out the lives of 10 firefighters in a crew of 25 battling one of four brush fires in Angeles National Forest.

The men were veterans, known as El Cariso Hotshots from Riverside County who had specialized in combating the hottest of forest fires in Montana, Idaho, California and Oregon.

But they lost Tuesday to that unpredictable quality of all fires — the wind behind them that kicked up before they could escape.

"It's something every firefighter thinks about — a sudden gust of wind," said U.S. Forest Service spokesman Don Porter in reporting the death toll of a blaze that swept 2,100 acres.

Names of the dead were withheld pending notification of next of kin. Nine of the 15 survivors in the crew were in critical condition at the Los Angeles County General Hospital's Burn Center.

Suppression leaders said the fire was 90 per cent contained early today.

Of the other two fires, one on Camp Pendleton Marine Corps reservation in San Diego County swept 1,900 acres. In Ventura County, a 300-acre blaze burned inland from U.S. Highway 101 through an oil tank farm without damaging structures. In the Santa Susana Mountains west of the Angeles crest fire, two blazes scorched more than 150 acres.

The inferno of flame coursing through Pacoima Canyon in the Angeles crest fire was touched off by a downed power line. Hot blasts of dry desert air — a storm known locally as the Santa Ana — poured over the mountains, driving temperatures as high as 101 degrees, a record for November. Gusts reached 60 miles an hour.

No structures were damaged, but early in the day a wall of flames was halted at Olive View Hospital, where most of 600 tubercular patients were evacuated. Also evacuated were 450 patients of a veterans administration hospital in the same area.

The men who died were backed up against a rocky cliff, in the process of cutting a line around a hot spot. One of the survivors said the flames "made a flash run up the hill."

Early in the day, a Nike base was threatened, but the flames failed to reach this installation or either of the two hospitals. The veterans hospital moved its patients back during the evening.

Air-to-Ground Missile Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has awarded a $235.8-million development and production contract for an air-to-ground guided missile designed to be carried within 50 miles of enemy defenses.

It's a shorter-range relative to the Skybolt missile, on which the government spent more than $500 million before Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara scrapped the project. He doubted whether Skybolt could be accurate over its planned 1,000-mile route.

The contract, including $33.5 million for production of an unspecified number of missiles, was awarded to Boeing Co. of Seattle, Wash. The other $142.3 million is for development. President Johnson announced plans for the SRAM missile in January 1965. SRAM stands for short range attack missile. He called it a major new development in strategic weaponry.

Skybolt was supposed to blow holes in enemy defense lines to create penetration corridors for nuclear bombers.

SRAM, also a ballistic missile but less complicated, would be carried on the FB111, a fighter-bomber due for operation by 1970, the scheduled phase-out date of certain models of the B52 bomber.

The plane could carry as many as 40 SRAMs.

Radioactive Cloud Passing Over U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government weather scientists estimated today a high-flying radioactive cloud from Red China's latest nuclear blast already is passing over a wide area of the United States.

But both they and spokesmen for the Public Health Service said comparatively little of the debris is expected to appear as fallout in the United States, and they said it should present no significant health hazard.

The leading edge of the 1,000-mile-wide cloud, swept from west to east at altitudes of about 30,000 feet, is expected to leave North America sometime before noon Wednesday and head out over the Atlantic toward Europe.

This was related by Kenneth Peterson of the atmospheric radiology branch of the Commerce Department's Environmental Science Services Administration, in response to a reporter's questions.

He said the estimates are based, not on actual contact with radioactive debris, but on recorded and projected wind conditions in the upper troposphere — between 30,000 and 40,000 feet altitude — since the Red China blast was touched off last Thursday.

Plans will be made for the chapter's annual fall dinner at the Williams Hotel and Annex Saturday evening. The dinner will begin promptly at 7:30 p.m. after a cocktail hour. A large delegation from the Twin Cities, Rochester, La Crosse and Eau Claire will attend. Prizes will be awarded and entertainment will be furnished by Mrs. Henry Hull, pianist. ## Kitzer Returns To Twin Cities

ST. PAUL (AP) — Phillip Kitzer Jr., Chicago, indicted for allegedly giving a $200,000 contribution to the Democratic - Farmer-Labor Party, returned to the Twin Cities Tuesday.

Kitzer, who had failed to show up for scheduled arraignment in District Court, returned on a commercial plane also carrying Ramsey County Atty. William B. Randall.

Sydney Goff, a St. Paul lawyer and DFL fund-raiser who said he received the $200,000 contribution from Kitzer, was to go on trial today.

The check in the case was written on Allied Realty of St. Paul, a subsidiary of American Allied Insurance Co. Corporations may not donate to political parties in Minnesota.

Archeological Group Offers First Lecture

The newly formed Winona Chapter of the Archeological Institute of America will present its first public lecture Sunday at 3:30 p.m. at Pasture Hall, Winona State College.

Professor Tom Jones, professor of ancient history at the University of Minnesota, author of numerous articles and books, will give an illustrated lecture on "The World of Hammurabi." Hammurabi, the king of Babylon in the 18th century B. C., gave the world one of the first codifications of laws.

In conjunction with the lecture an organizational meeting will be held at 3 p.m. All members, as well as prospective new members, have been urged to attend both the organizational meeting and the lecture. Membership is open to any interested person; student memberships also are available. This lecture, because of the contributed services of Professor Jones, will be open to the public.

One of its primary objectives as well as one of its main services to members is the lecture program. Institute lecturers who tour constituted societies are chosen from outstanding archeologists and scholars in both the old and new world cultures. Their lectures, usually illustrated with color slides, range from the Mediterranean to Oceania without overlooking our continent. They report on the discovery of new sites and new documents, but also on recent interpretations of languages and artifacts; they solve old archeological problems, propose new ones, and point out areas still awaiting discovery. Foreign and American scholars are included during the lectures.

Lectures range over a variety of subjects from ancient glassware, numismatics, Biblical excavations, ancient shipwrecks and underwater archeology, and decipherment of forgotten languages to ancient architecture and art, painting and sculpture.

Besides the lectures other services offered members are films on archeological subjects and a current periodical, either The American Journal of Archeology or Archeology.

Student Found Guilty; 35 Attend His Trial

V. Carl Rosendahl, 20, Minneapolis, a Winona State College student arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct Thursday night during WSC homecoming activities, was found guilty and fined $35 Tuesday by Municipal Judge John D. McGill.

He was guilty by refusing to leave the site of a disorderly assemblage at West King and Huff streets and by disobeying official requests to leave the street, Judge McGill said.

ABOUT 35 WSC students attended the trial, and listened with obvious interest. The spectators area is usually empty at municipal trials.

Officer William Gordon testified.

Rosendahl was arrested at 10:50 p.m. Thursday at the intersection after refusing to heed two police requests to leave the street and being sprayed twice, along with a group of other students, by fire hoses.

Other students retreated from the spraying, but Rosendahl stayed in the street, and by not moving, encouraged others to return to his position and continue the disorder, Gordon said.

Rosendahl represented himself and called two witnesses. He asked them whether they had seen him acting disorderly. Robert Larson said he had lost sight of Rosendahl about 10:30 p.m. and didn't see him again until he was under arrest, and Paul Buscher admitted that the defendant had not moved, but remained in the street, when the hoses were directed at him.

ROSENDAHL next asked the crowd of WSC students if any of them had seen the incident. Jeri Madsen, a resident of Lucas Hall, took the witness stand and said she had seen the arrest, but had not seen any previous events. She added that other members of the milling group had seemed to make more overt actions by throwing rocks and debris and directing scathing remarks at nearby officials.

Judge McGill explained, in finding Rosendahl guilty, that disorderly conduct includes a wide range of actions, and includes such nonaction as refusing to obey police orders.

Frank Wohletz, city prosecutor, represented the plaintiff.

Gaulke Motion Denied Again; Bound Over

Another motion for the dismissal of the charge against Leonard Gaulke, 44, Rochester, Minn., was denied here this morning. He is charged with taking indecent liberties with an 8-year-old girl last July.

Today's denial was in municipal court before Judge John McGill. The judge ruled that evidence presented constituted probable cause for action and bound Gaulke over to District Court for trial.

On Monday District Judge Arnold Hatfield in District Court had ruled that Gaulke was not being placed in double jeopardy by being charged with taking indecent liberties with the 8-year-old girl. Gaulke's court-appointed attorney, Roger Brosnahan, had moved for dismissal on that grounds after a first case against Gaulke — involving a 9-year-old girl — had been dismissed on the grounds that information filed by the county attorney did not state an offense of taking indecent liberties with a minor as stated in the statutes.

Judge Hatfield then remanded the case to municipal court where it had been started last month. Today's action was the outcome of that.

The 8-year-old girl refused to testify this morning and told the court "she didn't want to." Her mother explained that she had insisted from the outset that she would not.

After a short recess the 9-year-old was called by County Attorney S. A. Sawyer and she repeated her testimony from the original transcript of the first case. It was then that Brosnahan moved for a dismissal on the grounds that she was not competent to testify, asserting that there were discrepancies. Sawyer told the court that the testimony showed that an offense could have taken place. Judge McGill agreed.

Both girls are said to have been with Gaulke in a parked car here at the time of the alleged offense.

Gaulke, failing to post a $2,500 bond, was returned to jail.

Trailer Asked On East Wabasha

A zoning code variance relative to locating a trailer house on a residential lot will be sought from the Board of Zoning Appeals Nov. 10 by Miss Frances B. Kila, 1053 E. Wabasha St.

Proposed location for the trailer is a lot at 1073 E. Wabasha, where the applicant hopes to live in it.

The zoning code now prohibits such homes from being placed in other than approved trailer parks. The proposed site is in an R-2 (1- to 4-family residential) district.

LOUISVILLE SNOW . . . A heavy snowstorm which hit Louisville today failed to keep Milkman J. R. McCarty from making his rounds. The house he's seeking is behind the trees. The snowfall, one of the earliest on record in Kentucky, was general throughout the state. It claimed one life and closed schools in four counties. (AP Photofax)

It's Cold Here, White Elsewhere

A mass of cold air crossing Lake Superior which dumped more than a foot of snow on portions of northern Wisconsin, especially in the Hurley area, dropped the thermometer to a seasonal low of 16 this morning.

Although the cold here was nowhere near the zero reading at Hibbing this morning and the 1 above at International Falls, it was the coldest of the season and put a hard freeze on remaining flowers and vegetables.

VARIABLE cloudiness and a little warmer is the forecast for the area tonight with the temperature probably not getting much below the 22-30 range. The same kind of weather is forecast for Thursday when an afternoon high of 40-45 is indicated.

Friday, said the weatherman, will be variably cloudy and mild with a chance of a few snow flurries.

The extended forecast for the next five days indicates average temperatures will be 5 to 9 degrees below normal nighttime lows of 25-33 and daytime highs of 46-52.

Precipitation in the period is expected to total about one-quarter of an inch in occasional periods of snow, possibly with some rain throughout the period.

THE WINONA temperature was no higher than 36 Tuesday afternoon and after the drop to 16 this morning moved to 31 at noon.

Rochester had a low reading today of 10 after a high of 31 Tuesday and La Crosse posted figures of 17 and 36 for the same times.

A year ago today Winona had a pleasant high of 64 and a low of 29. All-time high for Nov. 2 was 75 in 1938 and the low for the day 11 in 1951. Mean for the past 24 hours was 26. Normal for this time of the year is 42.

This morning's temperature dip came earlier than last year. Then it was Nov. 10 before the reading was as low as 18 and Nov. 14 before it was down to 16.

THE WEATHER Bureau said a rapid warming would spread over Minnesota today and tonight, with scattered snow flurries accompanying the higher temperatures in western Minnesota tonight.

Low temperatures tonight were expected to hold in the 30s in western Minnesota and in the 20s in eastern state sections.

The Iron County (WISCONSIN) sheriff's office reported late Tuesday 13 inches of snow covered the ground in Hurley and was still falling. Traffic was reduced to a crawl on most roads, but there were no reports of serious accidents.

New Area Parks Will Be Sought

ELBA, Minn. — Legislation to add four more units to the state park system will be introduced when the state legislature convenes in January, U. W. Hella, director of state parks, predicted Sunday.

Addressing the fall meeting of the Minnesota Council of State Parks at Whitewater State Park, Hella said that, as the result of studies authorized by the 1965 legislature, recommendations were forthcoming to expand the system by about 35,000 acres.

THE PROPOSED new state parks would be located on Hayes Creek in Roseau County; near Collegeville west of St. Cloud; on the east shore of Red Lake, and on the Minnesota River above Carver. All of them fulfill required park standards, private agencies under contract with the state, decided.

Hella said that he hoped the legislature would authorize studies of sites for four additional parks—one of them near Stockton, in Winona County. An area of 6,000 acres along Stockton Creek has been proposed for a park.

THE COUNCIL members endorsed a proposal advanced by Samuel H. Morgan of St. Paul, chairman of the council, for the creation of a non-profit corporation that might assist in acquiring land for future public recreational use. With a limited capital such an institution could buy land for future incorporation into the state park or forest system or for county or regional parks. It could also accept gifts for these purposes.

Many tracts ideally suited for recreational use are lost because public agencies haven't the authority or funds to buy them at the time they become available, Morgan explained.

A corporation, like that suggested, however, could move rapidly in such situations.

SUNNYSIDE CHEERITES

Shoplifting Trial Stated

A plea of not guilty to petty larceny by shoplifting was entered in municipal court this morning for Carl P. Polus, 58, 1274 E. Sanborn St., by his attorney, Dennis Challen.

A jury trial was set for Nov. 25 at 9:30 a.m. by Municipal Judge John D. McGill.

Polus is charged with taking one pound of butter, valued at 70 cents, from National Food Stores, 128 W. 5th St. He was arrested Oct. 26 at 5:20 p.m. in the National parking lot.

Gerald Zeller, 25, 662 1/2 E. 3rd St., pleaded not guilty to an assault charge and trial was set for Nov. 9 at 9:30 a.m. by Judge McGill. He is being held in city jail until the trial in lieu of $35 bail.

Complaint against Zeller was filed by Norman Helstad, 662 1/2 E. 3rd St., charging him with assaulting Helstad's wife, Frances, last Thursday. Zeller was arrested Tuesday at 1:36 p.m. at his home.

A nonsupport charge against Wesley Roach was continued to Dec. 2 because Roach has given his word to Frank Wohletz, city prosecutor, that he intends to make up back payments and continue making support payments.

Wohletz had moved for dismissal of the case because there apparently was some question of intent and Roach had said he intends to pay. However, Judge McGill continued the case as a means of checking on Roach's promise to pay.

Roach was charged by his wife, Mrs. Lorraine Roach, of nonsupport of four children 5 years of age and younger.

Trane to Build $3 Million Plant

LA CROSSE, Wis. — Trane Co. will build a 370,000-square-foot manufacturing plant beginning early next year. Estimated cost is in excess of $3 million.

That brings total 1966 commitments by Trane for new construction in La Crosse to about $10.5 million.

Refrigeration machines will be built in the new plant.

Police in Ironwood, Mich., adjacent to Hurley, reported 14 inches of snow.

Ashland County authorities reported 4 or more inches of snow in southern portions of the county. About an inch of snow was reported in Vilas and Price counties.

Furries were common throughout the state. The State Highway Patrol said some highways were made slippery by the light snowfall.

DURING the night skies cleared over most of the state except in the extreme eastern portion where snow flurries were coming in from off the lake.

Low temperatures ranged from eight above in Superior to 27 at Milwaukee. Other lows were: Park Falls and Eau Claire, 12; Wausau 15, Madison 16, Lone Rock, La Crosse 17, Beloit - Rockford 24, Racine 25, Burlington 26.

The high temperature Tuesday was 42 degrees at Racine. The nation's high temperature Tuesday was a sizzling 101 at Los Angeles, Calif. The Wednesday morning low was zero at Hibbing, Minn.

SNOW FELL from the southern Great Lakes to central Alabama. Hazardous-driving warnings were issued for a five-state area from the southern shore of Lake Michigan to western North Carolina.

Record low temperatures chilled the plains from Texas to Nebraska.

The early fall of snow dumped three to five inches along Chicago's Lake Michigan shore. Two inches of snow fell at Bowling Green, Ky., and up to three inches dropped in portions of North Carolina and Tennessee.

Amounts of one inch were common from Indiana to northern Alabama.

IT WAS the coldest weather ever for so early in the season at Topeka, Kan., where the temperature dipped to 15 and at Concordia, Kan., with a reading of 13.

Record - breaking lows were reported in the plains from Texas to Nebraska. Among cities reporting new lows for Nov. 2 were Wichita Falls, Tex., 23; Tulsa 20; Oklahoma City 22; Lake Charles, La., 35; Brownsville, Tex., 42, and North Platte, Neb., 10.

The Weather Bureau warned farmers of freezes through southeast Kansas, northwest Missouri and northern and eastern New Mexico.

Juveniles Admit Auto Damage On Train Car

Four juveniles were taken into custody Tuesday upon completion of investigation into vandalism on a train car load of 1967 model Thunderbirds and Mustangs parked on a siding at the city's east end Oct. 10. Police Chief James McCabe announced this morning.

Damage will total several thousand dollars, McCabe said, although exact figures are not yet available. Damage included punctured and slashed tires, broken windows, burned upholstery and theft of hubcaps and interior accessories.

Damage to all the cars could not be assessed until they were delivered to their original Minneapolis destination and then distributed to individual dealers, McCabe said. An investigator for the Milwaukee Railroad Co., has been working on the case since Oct. 10. Chief McCabe said some of the cars have not been traced yet.

He did not know how damages will be recovered.

Investigation into this problem also solved vandalism cases at East End Park and Gabrych Park, McCabe said. Three other juveniles were taken into custody on this matter. All seven were referred to juvenile authorities. They range from 6 to 13.

St. Charles To Buy Carpet For Library

ST. CHARLES, Minn. (Special) — St. Charles School Board let contracts Tuesday for equipment for the new school, called for carpeting bids for the library, hired two cooks and custodians, made plans for disposing of the Oak View school building and personal property, and gave the PTA permission to have individual pictures taken of students from kindergarten through grade 12.

Northwest Studio, Minneapolis, was the only bidder on stage curtains for the new school. After review, the bid of $2,097 was approved. The curtains will be installed.

A contract was let to Hobenstein - Burmeister, Minneapolis, for furnishing 20 self-storing lunchroom tables and 280 chairs for the lunchroom, all in chrome.

GOPHER School Supply, Minneapolis, bid on the 280 chairs only. Its price on painted chairs was $2,156 and for chrome, $2,436.

Other bidders for both chairs and tables: Farnham's Stationary School Supply, Minneapolis, $4,100.06; Melzak Office Equipment Co., Rochester, $5,574, and St. Paul Book & Stationery, $3,066.

G. C. Peterson Machinery Co., Minneapolis, was the only bidder for 25 drafting room desks, 25 stools and 24 storage cabinets at $2,732.50 and received the contract.

Midland Laundry & Equipment Co., Minneapolis, was awarded the contract for a commercial model gas clothes dryer for $422.09 delivered. St. Charles Hardware bid $675 delivered.

Urban Abendoth, representatives of the school architects, estimated carpeting for the library will cost about $2,000. Bids will be opened at a luncheon meeting at the school Nov. 22. Bids are due with Superintendent Henry Barlet at 10 a.m.

FROM AMONG 16 applicants for full-time cooks, Mrs. Peter Glover was hired. Mrs. Cletus Puetz was hired as part-time cook. Virgil Hove was selected from among five applicants as full-time custodian. Arnold Diederick was hired for part-time custodial work.

The board voted to let the land on which the Oak View school stands revert to the farms provided those receiving the parcels will pay for legal expenses to transfer. The building, which must be removed, and the contents will be sold at auction Dec. 3 at 2 p.m.

The PTA will receive the profits from having the individual pictures of the children taken, and will add them to its scholarship fund.

3 More Killed In Minnesota Auto Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A Minneapolis man, a Freeborn County boy and a Wells man are Minnesota's latest reported traffic fatalities. The state's 1966 toll stands at 780, compared with 691 a year ago today.

Charles P. Schultz, Minneapolis, died on a city street Tuesday night when he was struck by a southbound car and thrown into the path of a northbound auto, which also hit him.

Kim Eastvold, 9, of the Hartland area was injured fatally when his bicycle collided with a pickup truck driven by Delano Bartness, 34, Hartland, on Freeborn County 35 late Tuesday about four miles northeast of Hartland, sheriff's officers said. The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Trygve Eastvold.

John Peltrick, 76, Wells, was killed four miles north of that southern Minnesota community late Tuesday when thrown from his car as it ran off a gravel road, hit a mailbox and rolled three times.

Sen. Metcalf Looks to Top Party Leaders

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Democratic Sen. Lee Metcalf is depending in part in his campaign for re-election on Robert F. Kennedy, Hubert H. Humphrey, President Johnson and Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana.

That's the talk in Democratic circles in Montana, where Metcalf seeks a second Senate term, and Republican Gov. Tim Babcock hopes to unseat him.

Senate Majority Leader Mansfield has hit the campaign trail for Metcalf and says he'll try to get into every county before Nov. 8.

Sen. Kennedy of New York, visited Great Falls, Butte and Billings plugging hard for Metcalf.

Johnson is expected to dedicate a dam in southeastern Montana Nov. 5 and drop in a few words about Metcalf. Vice President Humphrey spoke at the University of Montana in Missoula.

Most important is Mansfield, whose power at the polls is unquestioned. He is campaigning on a "keep the Democratic team working for Montana's platform."

But no one, least of all Metcalf, is underrating Babcock, who has strong support in rural areas and has mounted an expensive, thorough-going campaign.

Babcock, an outspoken conservative, won his four-year term in the governor's office by 7,251 votes in 1964, when President Johnson carried Montana in a landslide.

Since Montana has a record registration of 330,182 and since many ballots are counted by hand, the outcome of the race may not be known until 12 to 16 hours after the polls close.

It Happened Last Night Door Open for Chaplin's Return

By EARL WILSON

LONDON — Charlie Chaplin left the door open for a return to America in an interview he gave me at Pinewood Studios.

His crutches were nearby. His broken left ankle was still in a cast, in a red sock to keep it warm.

But he was happy, laughing, mellow — and nostalgic — when I asked if he'd go to New York for the American premiere of "A Countess From Hong Kong" in February.

"If the occasion were to arise . . ."

He nodded, twinkled a look at me through his glasses, and fingered the Persian lamb collar of his overcoat.

"Yes, I might. One naturally has an affection for any place where he's had a success."

It's almost certain that "the occasion" will arise for the genius of comedy who went into "voluntary exile" in 1952. Some groups want him to "do an Inggrid Bergman" and return in triumph.

The lusty, gusty 77-year-old is so anxious to get on to producing another picture that he's goaded the comparative youngsters around him into a mid-January premiere of "Hong Kong" in one of the posh London West End theaters.

"Yes, I've got another idea germinating. It keeps an old buzzard like me alive," he said. "I'm too much of an egotist to let anybody else write it!"

HE WAS in the projection room editing "Hong Kong" and inserting the music. To my surprise, he showed me some of the film.

As Sophia Loren and Marlon Brando played a tempestuous love scene in a stateroom, Chaplin was calling out to the sound editors, "Bring it down! Very intimate." Brando sneered to Sophia at one point, "You're just a common harlot." Chaplin said, "Bring his voice up! Swell up the music."

Sophia in this scene was wearing an extremely low-cut gown . . . the same one which, some months ago, caused Chaplin to sigh, "Oh, to be 60 again!"

"She's more beautiful than I've ever seen her," I said. "And very funny, too!" Chaplin said.

IN LIGHTER moments in the interview Chaplin "knocked on wood" by tapping on the cast on his leg. "My four-year-old likes to knock on this and hear the playback," he said. About his feverish working habits now, he said, "I have to do something and this is about all I can do."

And concerning the time it takes a movie idea to germinate: "Have you noticed that it takes about nine months for anything creative to materialize?"

"How's Syd in the picture?" I asked concerning Sydney Chaplin.

"Very good." . . . "Did you tell him so?" . . . Chaplin laughed, "Well, no . . . He's the third lead, you know."

"Is Oona still your right hand?"

"Yes, and my left hand, and also my head."

"Where was she the day you broke your ankle?"

"She went to see Geraldine in a film. The whole damn family's working to take care of Papa."

MY VISIT to Chaplin was impromptu. I just walked into the projection room. He seemed very happy to see somebody from Broadway. He demonstrated his keen memory by recalling how he'd mentioned me in his book . . . because when "Monsieur Verdoux" opened at

Lion Greet Burglar in Arizona Home

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — The burglar who cut through a screen to get into Michael Fair's home probably didn't know about Kamou, the watch lioness who was lounging alone inside.

The intruder scooped up $200 worth of guns, a radio, record player and clothing.

"Then I think Kamou scared him," Fair told police Monday. "He left the back door open and also the gate."

Kamou left, too. Within minutes, startled residents of the quiet northwest Mesa neighborhood were telephoning police late Sunday night.

The barking of his dog aroused H.D. Hedgpath, and he went outside to see his five-pound Chihuahua attacking Kamou, a 140-pounder. The dog was sent rolling with a slap of the lioness's paw.

Hedgpath said, "There was the lion staring at me, its eyes shining in the dark."

Soon after, police had leashed the lioness. They took her to a veterinary hospital, but it lacked proper facilities for an 11-month-old lion, so they allowed Fair to take her home with a warning to keep his pet behind doors.

"It's had all its shots, and Fair has a license for it," an officer said.

Fair, 31, said Kamou had been declawed and her teeth filed. Normally, the lioness stays in a compound behind the house. Fair left her in the house Sunday as a guard.

Because of her size, Fair has been planning to give her to the Phoenix Zoo.

"But I'm going to keep her as long as she doesn't give me trouble," he said. "It wasn't her fault that she escaped."

And he is not blaming her for letting the burglar escape with the goods.

Diplomat in London Linked To U.S. Case

LONDON — A foreign diplomat in London was reported under Scotland Yard surveillance today as a suspected link with German-born Herbert Boeckenhaupt, a U.S. Air Force sergeant accused of conspiring to pass defense secrets to the Soviets.

The diplomat was not identified in published reports, but the Daily Sketch said he works at an Iron Curtain embassy and "will be expelled from Britain in the next few days."

Boeckenhaupt, 23, was arrested by SBI agents in Los Angeles on charges of conspiracy to commit espionage with Aleksey R. Malinin, an assistant commercial counselor at the Soviet Embassy in Washington.

The FBI said Boeckenhaupt wrote a letter in May to an address in England and received a reply in September. It cited this as an "overt act" substantiating its conspiracy charge.

London newspapers said the letter was to an "espionage contact" and was intercepted by British security agents who tipped off the FBI.

Boeckenhaupt dropped out of high school in Superior, Wis., to enlist in the Air Force. He was assigned in 1964 to the Pentagon, where he met Malinin.

The sergeant, a communications expert, met secretly with Malinin in June 1965 and April 1966, the FBI reported. The State Department has asked the Soviet diplomat to leave the United States.

the B'way Theater, I'd told him "Well, I liked it."

"You," he said now, "were just a kid then. We've both put on a couple of years."

"Yes, I got older," I said, with honesty, "and you got younger."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Comic Jeremy Vernon, a hit at the Copa, said, "It was nice of Mayor Lindsay to redecorate 6th Av., and put hardwood floors all the way uptown."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Kid-ding Ginger Rogers about her age at the Saints & Sinners. Walter Kiernan said, "Fred Astaire can still dance. Why not? He's had his legs lifted three times."

EARL'S PEARLS: Lee Tully suggests that on Nov. 9, the day after the elections, we have a moment of silence for the dear, departed promises.

Johnny Carson reports a Secret Service man came around to see him: "Nothing serious. Just wanted to tell me a subscription to McCall's." That's earl, brother.

Ex-Episcopal Minister Becomes Catholic Priest

ROTTENBURG, Germany (AP) — A former American minister of the Episcopal Church was ordained a Roman Catholic priest at a quiet ceremony here Saturday attended by his wife and five of his seven children.

The ordination of the Rev. Harold R. Bronk, 38, a native of New Jersey, came under a special dispensation granted by Pope Paul VI.

Father Bronk was ordained by Bishop Carl Joseph Lepprecht of Rottenburg. The bishop personally presented him to his new parish at the village of Dusslingen near here Saturday night.

Sunday, Father Bronk said his first Mass in the village's new prefabricated church. Most of Dusslingen's 400 Catholics turned out to meet their new pastor. Only the two youngest of his seven children remained at home during the ceremonies.

Father Bronk is the second married former Protestant minister from the United States to be ordained under special papal permission. In 1964, Father Ernest Adam Beck, now 41, and a former pastor of the Holy Trinity Lutheran church in North Bergen, N.J., became a Catholic priest, also in Germany.

Father Bronk was minister in Philadelphia, Provincetown, Mass., and Cambria Heights, N.Y., from 1954 until he and his family converted to Catholicism in 1959. He was received into the

Backyard Ski Slide for $100,000

By SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — If you're dreaming of a white Christmas, Santa can take care of it for you—with no snow to shovel—for $100,000.

That's the price tag on a backyard ski slope suggested this year by Neiman-Marcus, the Dallas department store with Texas-size ideas for Christmas.

The slope is 121 feet long and 25 feet wide. It has a plastic surface that skis like snow, but there is nothing to shovel.

The ski slope is only one gift idea from the millions of Christmas catalogs now in the mails.

Sears, Roebuck & Co. sent out 12 million catalogs and Montgomery Ward & Co. 6 million.

Neiman-Marcus also offers his and her bathtubs — mable-topped, gold faucets and $4,000 a pair.

Some stores are thinking little this year. Spencer Gifts has a thumb-size radio for $1.98. Hammacher Schlemmer offers a three-inch television set—$150. For the surfer, Ward's has a Catholic Church by Bishop Fulton J. Sheen.

Under a special scholarship granted by Catholics in the United States, Father Bronk and his family moved to West Germany in 1963. Most of the time they have been living at Dusslingen. He studied theology at nearby Tuebingen University.

Grocer Fires On Negroes Throwing Rocks

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — The white owner of a small grocery in a Negro district said today he opened fire on 75 to 100 Negroes who were throwing rocks at his store.

Four teen-agers were wounded by small shot from a shotgun Monday night. The store owner, Neil Humphreys, was charged with aggravated assault.

The four Negro youths were treated at a hospital for superficial wounds and released.

Humphreys said the Negroes gathered in front of his store just after dark and began throwing rocks. A plate-glass door was smashed.

"I told the police to hurry and get over or else there would be bloodshed," Humphreys said. He said a sheriff's deputy drove up and talked to the Negroes, mostly youths, and then left.

"Right after the deputy left, they started to go but they kept right on throwing rocks," He said he grabbed the shotgun and fired.

"Just what would you do to protect your life and property?" he said.

Officers said they didn't know why the teen-agers gathered at the store or what started the rock-throwing. Humphreys said he had been harassed since he opened the store four years ago in the Negro section on Merritt Island, where the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration is building the moon-port.

A teen-ager, Willie G. White, said no words were passed before the shot was fired. "He just came outside and the gun did all the talking," White said.

'Help Wanted' Sign Out in Winona

THE "HELP WANTED" sign is out in Winona. There are 250 jobs begging takers at the office of the Minnesota Employment Service, Ray Brown, manager, reports. The positions wanted file is made up of persons seeking part-time work, unskilled youth, men beyond the retirement age and the usual number of unemployed.

In spite of recruiting efforts in rural areas, the jobs often requiring skill, go begging. Other communities have similar shortages; the volume of help wanted advertisements has more than doubled in the last few months. Winonans are eliminating travel to jobs in other communities by getting employment here at a good wage and without hazardous travel.

Blame can be placed on the armed forces increase, to a limited extent, also on increased enrollment in colleges and the migration to metropolitan centers offering higher wages, a better future and a new, adventurous environment.

BASICALLY IT IS that Winona is a growing and expanding community which demands more personnel to keep its wheels turning. As Brown put it, "there are more jobs coming into existence every day."

Interests of All Society Endangered

NO NEWSPAPER can stand by idly in the face of any threat, no matter how remote, to the freedom of the press.

That freedom is essential to the working of a democratic system, for the essence of democracy is an informed citizenry that can express its will intelligently. The function of the press is to provide that vital information, and no other institution in our society is equipped to do that.

That is what is behind the widespread opposition of the press to the recommendations of the Reardon committee of the American Bar Association to restrict the publication of pre-trial news in criminal cases.

It is true, of course, that with freedom goes the responsibility to use it wisely. And it is true that some newspapers have abused the freedom of the press. But it is also true that some criminals have abused their individual rights to escape their obligation to repay society for their crimes. As any lawyer would argue against restricting individual rights because of those abuses, newspapers must argue against any attempt to interfere with the freedom of the press because some members of the journalistic establishment have abused that right.

THE DAGGER IN the Reardon committee recommendations, as has been noted frequently since they were issued, is that they open the door to secrecy in the courts and in law enforcement. Behind that secrecy is the potential for special treatment of a favored few or incompetence or corruption in the performance of a public trust. No individual American can tolerate such things, and he should be equally unwilling to tolerate a set of circumstances under which they could easily occur.

What is really at issue here is the right of all the members of our democratic society to be fully informed of how the instruments of their government are functioning. The people must know if those instruments are conforming to their will; and to gain that knowledge, they must rely on the press.

AND THAT IS why this newspaper and all newspapers must oppose the Reardon recommendations — not because the special interests of the press are threatened, but because the interests of all society are endangered by them.

A court sustains a Hoffa conviction — and not, as the office cynic suggests, just out of curiosity to see how he'll go about running the Teamsters from jail.

It seems that it wouldn't be feasible to use tactical nuclear weapons in the Viet Nam war. Now if only the Viet Cong would huddle together more.

But he answered and said, It is written, Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God. Matthew 4:4.

TODAY IN WORLD AFFAIRS

Second Thought Urged on China

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The Red China regime may have thought that its announcement of a missile test with a nuclear device would intimidate the other countries of Asia and weaken their ties with the United States. But the event will have exactly the opposite effect. It will strengthen the new alliance being formed by America with Asian countries.

President Johnson was quick to perceive the need for an immediate assurance to the friendly nations of Asia that they will have the nuclear strength of the United States behind them if any threats of nuclear warfare are made against them by Peiping. Mr. Johnson, in his speech in Malaysia, warned the Red Chinese that they were inviting danger to themselves and that America would make her nuclear power available to defend Asia. This could be a deterrent against the employment of any nuclear weapons in that region just as it has been in Europe.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON, in commenting on Red China's test, said:

"The pursuit of a national nuclear capability not only makes international arms control, including a nuclear test ban and a non-proliferation treaty vastly more difficult. It also invites danger to China itself. For the leaders of China must realize that any nuclear capability they develop can — and will — be deterred."

"We have already declared that nations which do not seek nuclear weapons can be sure that they will have our strong support, if they need it, against any threat of nuclear blackmail."

The word "deterrent" has a significant application in the military vocabulary of today. It has never been sharply defined, but it can mean that, if a nuclear power shows evidence of irresponsibility and a likelihood of attack without warning, the interceptive devices of the United States could be instantly employed as a defensive measure. Maximum power would then be immediately released in an offensive move against the territory of the government which had struck the first blow.

THE MILITARY theory is that, by making known to all the world the intention to use nuclear power without limit if any nuclear bomb is dropped on American forces or those of its allies anywhere, a deterrent will have been interposed.

This is the strategy which, it has been assumed for some time, would be used if any member state of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization were assaulted by nuclear weapons. The treaty itself declares that an attack on one member is the same as an attack on all members.

President Johnson evidently is beginning to intimate that the same principle may be invoked in Asia. The Southeast Asia Treaty Organization does not require America to regard an attack on an Asian state as the same as a hostile move against the United States, but provision is made for co-operative military action to be taken "by constitutional processes." In a nuclear age, however, it isn't always practical to wait for congressional action before taking defense measures. Thus, in Korea, President Truman ordered American troops to repel invasion without waiting even for United Nations authorization — which came, however, a few days later.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON is already pointing out that it would be much better if Red China concentrated her resources on economic development, and there is every reason to believe that the United States stands ready to aid the Chinese people to attain that end. The new tests by Red China could turn out to be a salutary development. Instead of waiting five to ten years for nuclear devices to be perfected by Red China, a worldwide crusade now may be inaugurated to divert the Peiping government from present policies and persuade it to direct the same energy toward constructive and peaceful objectives.

Liberty Lobby to Court In Effort to Stop Column

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The Liberty Lobby, whose founder has described the Nazi collapse as the "defeat of Europe and America" and which is trying to elect right-wing candidates around the nation, went into federal court last week to try to stop publication of this column.

Specifically, Harvey Bolton, attorney for the Liberty Lobby, appeared before U.S. District Judge Leonard P. Walsh and asked for a restraining order against publication of Liberty Lobby documents on the ground that they were illegally received.

Mrs. Betty Jean Murphy, representing us, argued the First Amendment and the right to inform the public regarding un-American activities.

"Your honor, you have to weigh the First Amendment against property rights," replied Bolton. "If they continue to publish the documents, then the cat is out of the bag. They are the property of the plaintiff and not intended for publication."

JUDGE Walsh ruled against the Liberty Lobby, though giving it the right to file a preliminary injunction against the column.

Until this has been decided, we will continue to report on the amazing operation of a lobby which, located only a few blocks from the Capitol, has distributed some 20 million pieces of literature and has used various congressmen as a front for its extremist activities.

Four congressmen, for instance — John M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, Ellis Y. Berry, R-S.D., William Jennings, D-Va., Bryan Dorn, D-S.C., and James B. Utt, R-Calif. — have accepted "Statesman of the Republic" awards from the lobby for their right-wing activities.

They have participated in Liberty Lobby rallies with right-wing radicals, promoted the lobby in speeches and letters, introduced material prepared by the lobby into the Congressional Record, and swallowed its un-American propaganda.

California's Utt even solicited subscriptions to the lobby's propaganda sheet "Liberty Letter." He signed an appeal, addressed to "Dear Patriot," which was mailed out to 100,000 people.

"LIBERTY Lobby," he wrote, "consistently works in the halls of Congress to oppose the international socialist takeover. Its 50,000 conservative activists form a letter-writing brigade which has already made its influence felt in several crucial votes."

"That is why I am writing you, because unless you and your conservative friends are in touch already with Liberty Lobby, you are missing a great opportunity to make your personal influence felt where and when it will do the most good."

"I strongly urge you to send in your subscription to Liberty Lobby's legislative report, Liberty Letter, without delay," appealed the congressman from California. "The cost? Only one dollar per year. You can also subscribe for as many friends as you desire at the same low price."

Two other congressmen — Otto E. Passman, D-La., and Albert W. Watson, R-S.C. — also signed promotion letters for Liberty Lobby.

"THOSE OF us who are pledged to responsible government," wrote Passman, "need the backing of hundreds of thousands of concerned citizens at the grass roots all over America."

"This is why I urge you to keep closely informed of important legislation pending in Congress. The monthly legislative report published by Liberty Lobby is one way to do this."

Declared South Carolina's Watson: "As it becomes clear that this administration will not willingly enlighten the people, they must therefore enlighten themselves. . . . A good way to keep abreast of these perilous times on Capitol Hill is by subscribing to the regular legislative report, Liberty Letter."

These congressmen should have been thoroughly familiar with the Liberty Lobby's activities because its chairman, Curtis Dall, sued this column for $2 million for describing his Senate testimony as anti-Semitic. We proved the charge. The suit was well publicized.

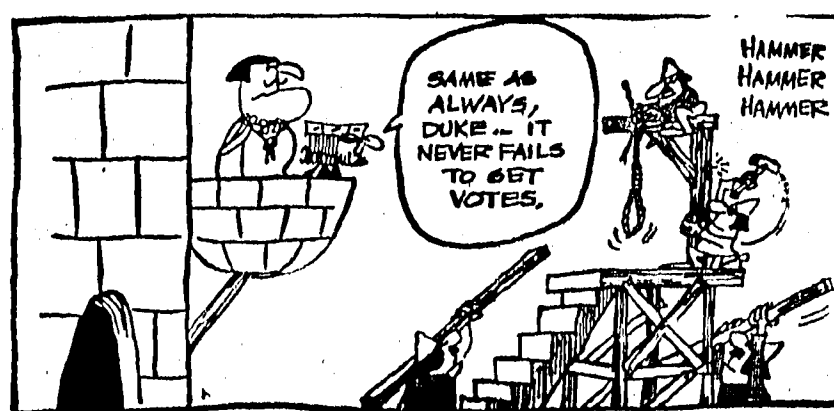

As another money-making scheme, Liberty Lobby persuaded a few legislators in 1964 to record statements for a smear recording, "LBJ: An Expose," which was offered to everyone contributing over $5.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Clifford Urges War Restraints

By MARQUIS CHILDS

MANILA — Rated as No. 3 in the American delegation to the Manila Conference was Clark M. Clifford, adviser to three presidents.

Clifford, a former St. Louisan who, after he left the Administration of former President Harry S. Truman, developed one of the most lucrative law practices in the capital, spent long hours working on the final form of the conference communiqué. He sat each day next to Secretary of State Dean Rusk with the delegation in Malacanang Palace.

His influence was reported to have been in the direction of restraint. Of a cautious and judicious temperament, he argued against the kind of grandiose declaration of a charter of Manila that some of the Asians would like to have seen come out of the final meeting.

Considerable surprise has been expressed that Clifford should rate so high in view of the fact that he has no official standing in the government. This is bound to revive rumors that he will take a high position in the Johnson Administration.

CLIFFORD is the soul of discretion and has consistently refused to discuss his relationship with President Johnson. State Department sources say that considerable pressure was put on him to take the No. 2 position in State vacated by Under Secretary George W. Ball. Clifford is said to have argued that, as a close friend of the President, he would in that position cast doubt on Rusk's authority.

Although the President does not take a refusal lightly, he is believed to have accepted the view. The fact that Clifford is here is proof that he still stands high in the President's estimation.

At Mr. Johnson's request, Clifford is joining the Presidential party for the remainder of the tour, with stops at Bangkok, Kuala Lumpur, Seoul and a final fueling stop at Anchorage, Alaska. There is also the probability that the President will spend at least part of a day with American troops in Viet Nam.

At the President's request, Clifford late last year went on a mission to Viet Nam and submitted on his return a voluminous report that was given top-secret status. Six weeks after his return, he came down with infectious hepatitis contracted in Viet Nam and was in a hospital for several weeks.

Recovery was slow, but he has assured friends that his health is completely restored.

Clifford, counsel to Truman in the Missouri's White House years, was personal attorney to the late John F. Kennedy. Some weeks before the 1960 Democratic national convention he announced for Sen. Stuart Symington, a fellow St. Louisan, for the nomination and worked actively in Symington's behalf. This did not, however, interfere with his close association with Kennedy.

Clifford supervised the transition from Eisenhower to Kennedy. After the Bay of Pigs fiasco, Kennedy named him chairman of a committee to oversee the operations of the Central Intelligence Agency.

MR. JOHNSON has several times called on Clifford at critical moments in his Presidency. Once was when the President sought to shield his chief aide, Walter Jenkins, charged with a morals offense. Clifford and Abe Fortas, subsequently named to the Supreme Court, sought to persuade Washington newspapers not to print news of the charge because Jenkins would be hospitalized for a break-down.

Tall, handsome, always impeccably dressed, Clifford, who will soon be 60, looks considerably younger. Although the President may prevail on him to take a high office, it would seem that his own preference is to be an unofficial adviser with only occasional special assignments.

He's Never Seen A Lazy Student

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
"How do you inspire a student to work harder?"

"How do you get a student to become interested in his work?"

"What do you do about a lazy student?"

These are three of the questions most often asked by parents and teachers and, sometimes, by the students themselves.

Taking the last question first, I don't know what to do with a lazy student — I've never seen one.

In my experience, the student who appears to be lazy usually goes about his schoolwork in an inefficient fashion, with unsatisfactory results. In consequence, he has lost interest.

It is impossible to motivate such a student through encouragement alone. Nor are rewards or threats of punishment effective.

THE APPROACH I have found successful is to help him work out programs of study that will develop interest. The first essential is a spurt of study that will build up background in a subject and make its further study more enjoyable.

For example, Jeffrey was making a "D" in history. His explanation was, "I'm not interested in history. I know I should study but I can't seem to make myself do it."

I explained to Jeffrey that the more one knows about a subject and the better the knowledge is organized in the mind, the easier it is to think about it and to learn still more about it. To start this action in motion he must at first exert the energy to increase his knowledge of history. The easiest way was to work to learn all that he could of the history and, at the same time, get it straightened out and organized in his mind.

Two or three weeks hard work would make all the rest of the year not only more successful but easier.

TOGETHER WE set up a five-point plan for Jeffrey's study of United States history.

Point One. Before studying a chapter Jeffrey was to give it a general preview from the Table of Contents and chapter headings. Knowing in advance the major events to be covered would make it possible for him to fit things together as he read — an important process.

Point Two. He was to associate each event with WHERE it happened. Geography was to be made the anatomy of history. Events were to be visualized as occurring at a specific place on a map. Since Early American history is centered about the colonies he was to practice sketching a map showing their location. With his book closed and a blank sheet of paper, Jeffrey was to draw the east coast area putting in such detail as he could remember and then, opening the book, check his map for accuracy making needed corrections and adding any missing important elements.

Then he was to draw another sketch. Each time as he added new elements he was to THINK about their location in relation to the ones he had already mastered. His aim in this exercise was to develop a mental map sufficiently detailed to be used in a memory system for early American history.

POINT THREE. As he read the text and as he listened in class Jeffrey was to envision each event as happening at the appropriate spot on his mental map. He was to carefully associate men, events, causes and effects to the main episodes of the period. He was to let no detail stand by itself.

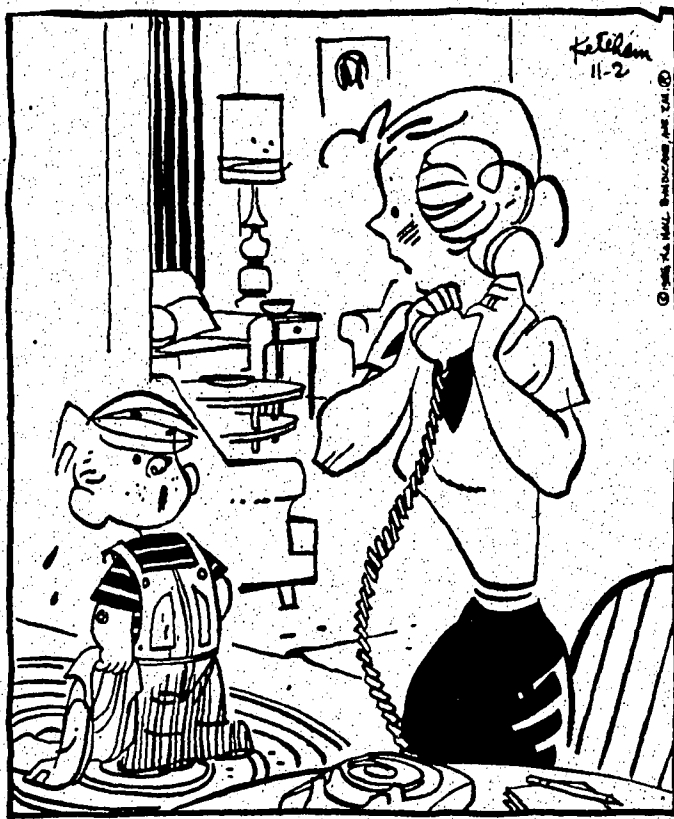

Point Four. He was to use a time line to keep dates in their proper sequence. Assume that the period in question is from 1400 to 1800. He would draw a line across the page, divide it into equal parts labeling it 1400, 1500, 1600, 1700 and 1800. He was to mark on it known dates in their proper positions.

For example, the date 1492 when the Moors were driven out of Spain and Columbus discovered America; 1776 and others. He should now open the book to make sure he was right regarding each of these dates and then check to see what other dates he should have known. Each new date added to the time line must be thought into place in relation to a date nearby. For example, the Boston Tea Party in 1769 is thought of as seven years prior to the signing of the Declaration of Independence. As with the map, the next time he did this practice he was to start with a new sheet of paper and repeat the process.

POINT FIVE. To make history a living thing Jeffrey was to associate men and their ideas with events and their causes.

Jeffrey was hesitant about adopting the plan saying, "This all sounds logical but I have made good resolutions in the past only to find that when the time came to sit down and study I got distracted by radio or TV programs and let the

Prosperous Nations Have More Heart Ills

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Tragically high rates of heart attacks are a price that prosperous nations pay, but people can take steps to avoid becoming victims, a University of Minnesota heart research specialist said Tuesday.

Dr. Ancel Keys of the university said research extending back 20 years had pointed to the number of "risk" factors that apparently increase a person's chances of having a heart attack.

He said they include being overweight, having high blood pressure, smoking cigarettes, eating diets containing too high a proportion of saturated fats and cholesterol and being physically inactive.

But, he said, "overweight can be corrected, high blood pressure can be controlled by drugs, people can stop smoking cigarettes, cholesterol can be lowered by diet and perhaps also by drugs. And sedentary people can change their ways to become more active physically."

Check Refused, Buyer Steals Cash Register

NOGALES, Ariz. (AP) — When a service station attendant refused to cash a check for Clarence Finch Lyman, police said Lyman then:

Ripped the cash register from a shelf, short-circuiting the electrical system and plunging the filling station into darkness, and ran off with the register containing $202.

A short time after the incident Tuesday, police say they apprehended Lyman, 41, and recovered the cash register. He was charged with grand theft and jailed in lieu of $3,000 bond.

Brezhnev Asks International Peace Moves

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev appealed Tuesday for international cooperation for peace. He made only a brief attack on U. S. action in Viet Nam and omitted the usual mention of Communist terms for ending the war.

This seemed significant to some observers in Moscow because of recent unconfirmed reports that the Soviet leadership is seeking a way to end the Vietnamese war.

Brezhnev spoke in Tbilisi, capital of Soviet Georgia. His speech was televised.

Brezhnev accused the United States of "criminal aggression in Viet Nam." But he did not elaborate on this as major Soviet speakers usually have done in past months. Instead the general secretary of the Soviet Communist party criticized Red China's Communist party and its government leaders for refusing to join with Soviet bloc countries in aid to North Viet Nam.

The Soviet Union "will further render all-round aid and support to struggling Viet Nam," Brezhnev declared.

"We are firmly convinced," he said, "that cooperation in the interests of peace and international security is also possible with these Western governments and political and public figures who look soberly on the international situation and who are ready to follow in practice the principles of the peaceful coexistence of states with different social systems."

The United Nations, he continued, "can and must find the strength to become a useful instrument of peace."

Conservatives Seen Holding Legislature

ST. PAUL (AP) — When the Minnesota Legislature convenes Jan. 3, most of the betting is that there will again be sizable Conservative majorities in both houses.

This will be a comfort to Republican Harold LeVander if he is elected governor, but it could mean more political warfare at the Capitol if Gov. Karl F. Roivaag is re-elected.

The Legislature operates under the fiction of nonpartisanship but Conservative usually means Republican and Liberal almost always means DFL in the political dictionary.

The count in the 1965 session was 43-24 in the Senate and 81-54 in the House, both favoring Conservatives.

Hardly anyone feels Liberals can swing enough seats to take control, although there is general agreement that it will be no surprise to see the Conservative margin whittled down.

Whatever the size of each faction, there will be 40 to 50 new faces when the 202 lawmakers answer the roll call in January. Thirty lawmakers have given up the seats they held last time and three incumbents were beaten in the September primary.

Seven House members are running for Senate seats and two senators are trying for House seats, however.

An analysis of the races indicates the Senate will be the most fertile spot for Liberal gains.

Liberals have six seats clinched—races in which an incumbent is unopposed or in which both candidates are Liberal.

Liberal incumbents face Conservative challengers in 16 districts and there are 10 "open" districts in which no incumbent is running.

If Liberals can keep their 16 incumbents and take half of the open seats they would increase their forces from 24 to 27 in the Senate.

It takes 34 votes to control the Senate and that seems out of reach for the Liberals.

In the House, Liberals will have to elect the 54 members they had last time and take over 14 Conservative-held seats to win control. This also seems out of reach.

A fair bet is that Conservatives will keep at least 75 seats in the House and perhaps come close to the 81 they had last time. It takes 68 votes to control the House.

There have been no predictions that Conservatives will build their margin up to a two-thirds count in each House. Thus, they likely will again lack the votes to override a governor's vetoes in the next session on a straight partisan vote.

In the 1965 session, Conservatives lacked a two-thirds majority and made no attempt to override any of Roivaag's vetoes.

Two major factors in this legislative election result from acts of the past two legislative sessions.

In 1965, lawmakers raised their salaries from $200 to $400 a month. The raise does not take effect until 1967, however, so next Tuesday's winners will be the first to collect the higher pay.

There was some public grumbling about the pay hike and, if voters are still in that mood, they could take it out on incumbents.

The second factor is reapportionment, voted in a special legislative session called by Roivaag. This resulted in a thinning out of legislative strength in rural areas and a compensating increase in metropolitan areas.

The new reapportionment law juggled almost every district in the state, so incumbents had many unfamiliar hands to shake as they set out on their campaigns.

House Liberals running for Senate seats are Stan Enebo, Minneapolis; Victor Jude, Maple Lake; Carl Iverson, Ashby, and Connie Burchett, Coon Rapids.

Conservatives trying for Senate posts are William Kirchner, Richfield; John Tracy Anderson, St. Paul, and Robert Ashbach, Arden Hills.

Two senators — Clifford Lovgren of Alexandria and Michael McGuire of Montgomery — are trying to salvage legislative careers by moving over to the House. Lovgren is a Conservative, McGuire a Liberal.

Both were thrown into vastly changed districts by reapportionment. Liberals have not controlled the Senate since the Legislature went nonpartisan in 1913. Liberals controlled the House in 1960 but lost control in the 1962 election.

Friendship Drive Beginning in Fillmore County

Gemini 12 Astronauts In Rehearsal

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 12 astronauts had a full day of rehearsal today in preparation of their four-day rendezvous and space walk mission which is to conclude the Gemini program.

Their departure from the earth next Wednesday will climax a busy seven-day period during which four space rockets are to be launched from Cape Kennedy.

The fireworks start Thursday with the first unmanned launching in the Air Force's Manned Orbiting Laboratory program, to be followed Sunday by a Lunar Orbiter moon shot.

An Atlas is to hurl an Agena target satellite into orbit at 2:16 p.m. (EST) next Wednesday, to start the Gemini 12 doubleheader. Navy Capt. James A. Lovell, Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. are to start the pursuit of the Agena atop a Titan 2 rocket at 3:31 p.m.

Lovell and Aldrin planned to spend much of today in their spaceship, practicing emergency procedures and key phases of the orbital trip.

At 7 a.m. (EST) Thursday the Air Force is to fire its huge Titan 3 rocket on a multiple assignment flight. The rocket first is to hurl an unmanned Gemini capsule 5,000 miles down range to a recovery zone in a test of the heat shield for the Manned Orbiting Laboratory military man-in-space program.

The Titan 3 upper stage is to pitch up and hurl a 38-foot canister into orbit with a bundle of scientific and engineering experiments. Three other satellites are to be ejected from the canister. Two are to be used in a satellite-to-satellite communications test and the third will carry a classified Air Force payload.

At 6:06 p.m. Sunday an Atlas-Agena rocket is to propel the Lunar Orbiter 2 spacecraft toward an orbit about the moon. The craft is to take closeup photos of nine potential astronaut landing areas.

Police Checkpoint In Saigon Bombed

SAIGON, South Viet. Nam (AP) — A terrorist on a motorcycle threw a hand grenade at a police checkpoint in the Chinese

Veteran Harold Cooley Under Severe Pressure

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) —Rep. Harold D. Cooley, for 16 years the chairman of the powerful House Agriculture Committee, is running hard to turn back the challenge of a young Republican who gave him the scare of his political life two years ago.

At this point, says the experts, the race between Cooley, 69, and businessman James C. Gardner of Raleigh, 34, is a tossup.

In 1964, Cooley won a surprisingly close race by 5,000 votes in North Carolina's 4th District, historically a Democratic stronghold.

Cooley is campaigning on his congressional seniority, telling voters that his loss would remove a powerful voice from a committee vital to North Carolina, still dependent on the farms for much of its economy.

Gardner, handsome, soft-spoken and intense, was a registered Democrat until 1963, but changed "because I was dissatisfied with the party. I have always believed that the government should serve the people, not the people being slaves to the government."

Gardner, who owns a chain of drive-in restaurants, was elected chairman of the North Carolina GOP in 1964, but stepped down the following year to concentrate on another shot at Cooley.

The war in Viet Nam has been one issue between Cooley and Gardner. The young Republican has demanded a blockade of North Viet Nam's principal port, Haiphong, against all shipping, including that of U.S. allies. This, says Cooley, is an "immature and irresponsible" proposal.

Fire Damage High On Farm at Austin

AUSTIN, Minn. (AP) — Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a granary, hog house and barn Tuesday night on the Loren Loucks farm seven miles southeast of Austin.

No damage estimate was available. A large quantity of hay and corn was destroyed and a herd of hogs perished in the flames.

section of Saigon, killing two Vietnamese men and injuring four other Vietnamese, police sources said.

Eight County Offices Contested in Wabasha

WABASHA, Minn. — Eight races for Wabasha County offices will confront voters when they go to the polls Tuesday.

At least three new officers will be sworn in next January to fill vacancies. An auditor will be elected to succeed the late Wilbur Koelmel; a treasurer to succeed the late Charles Whitmore; and a register of deeds to succeed Donald Duerr, who didn't file.

There are races also for sheriff, county attorney, clerk of District Court, and in two commissioner districts.

The opposing candidates in the offices with races are as follows:

Auditor — Charles E. McDonald, Reads Landing, and Matt Schuth, Wabasha.

Treasurer — Marty Beyer, Plainview, and Leo A. Dick, Wabasha.

Register of deeds — Carl Bremer, Zumbro Falls, and Gilbert F. Lenz, Wabasha.

Sheriff — Donald J. Biever, Reads Landing, and Ed Lager, incumbent.

County attorney — John A. McHardy, Plainview, incumbent, and Edward J. Drury, Wabasha.

Clerk of District Court — David E. Meyer and Luke C. Beaver, incumbent, both of Wabasha.

Commissioner 2nd District — A. G. "Fritz" Grobe, Millville, incumbent, and Donald Sommers, Theilman.

Commissioner 4th District — Paul C. Flies, Kellogg, and Nick Jacoby, Wabasha, incumbent.

Two candidates are without opposition: Mrs. Velma Olin, superintendent of schools, and Dr. B. J. Bouquet, coroner.

There are no candidates for county surveyor and court commissioner, but there are spaces for write-ins, as there is also an extra line under all offices for write-ins.

Only two candidates filed for the offices of auditor, attorney and sheriff, so the general election will be their first test of strength.

Jobs Program To Labor Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Post says negotiations are under way to shift programs aimed at creating jobs for the poor from the antipov-erty agency to the Labor Department.

The paper quoted Bertrand M. Harding, deputy director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, as saying the move is "no power play on anyone's part," and would not jeopardize the anti-poverty agency.

Other unidentified OEO officials, said the Post, see the proposal as leading to dismemberment of OEO.

The Labor Department now administers some antipov-erty programs such as the Neighborhood Youth Corps. A switch of more programs was seen by the Post as blunting some thought that the new Department of Housing and Urban Development would eventually become chief antipov-erty agency.

Fund Campaign For Retarded Begins Sunday

The 1966 Friendship Campaign of the Minnesota Association for Retarded Children begins Sunday in Winona County and surrounding area, according to Mrs. Wilfred Rivers, Rollingstone, Winona County co-chairman.

It is part of a statewide door-to-door drive to raise funds to develop and provide programs for the 100,000 mentally retarded children and adults in Minnesota.

All communities in Winona, Houston, Fillmore, Olmsted and Wabasha counties, except where there are united drives, will be covered. Locally, the association is part of the Community Chest.

Mrs. Rivers explained that a portion of the funds raised will support the work of the local chapters serving this area. Another portion will go for programs of the Minnesota and National Associations for Retarded Children which are aimed at developing and strengthening local services for retarded children and their families and at improving state institutional care. The remainder of the funds will support research and prevention programs.

The Minnesota Association for Retarded Children is a 4,700-member organization of parents, interested citizens and professional workers. Mrs. Rivers added. It works to develop special education classes, day activity centers, diagnostic services, vocational training, sheltered workshops and residential care for retarded persons.

Short to Visit In City Today

Robert E. Short, DFL candidate for lieutenant governor, is scheduled to arrive at Max Conrad Field today at 3 p.m., according to local volunteer committee members. Short will spend about two hours meeting voters on downtown streets, the committee said.

Controller Alexander Hemphill. Hemphill discovered the property belonged to the city.

"The city not only has owned this property for eight years," said Hemphill's staff. "It had been leasing it out and collecting rent on it up until two years ago."

Two More Ducks
Minnesota and Wisconsin duck hunters now may add two birds to their daily limit, four to their possession limit, but these ducks must be scaup (bluebills) or ringneck. The change became effective Tuesday and runs to the end of the waterfowl season, Nov. 21.

In other words, the daily bag limit now is six ducks, of which not more than two may be mallards, wood-duck, canvasback or blue-bills. The possession limit is 12 birds, not more than four shall be of the above species.

Locally, the scaup has not yet come into the Weaver or Winona pools. Hunters, checked by the Wildlife biologists, were mainly getting big red head mallards. A flight of them arrived on the refuge ahead of the cold snap.

However, reports from the north indicate that the bluebills are on the way and may be plentiful on the pools before this appears in print. Six ducks legally taken may be a common bag again.

Minnesota Deer
Here is a release of the Minnesota Game and Fish Division on the deer prospects for the season opening Nov. 12.

Prospects for a successful deer hunting season are still good, but there may be a decrease in the kill from last year in some northern counties, the Conservation Department reported today.

State game wardens and game managers in these counties report fewer sightings of deer along roads and fields in some areas this year than were observed last year at this time. Game officials said this situation has occurred before following summers with good rainfall, a good growing season, and no early killing frost.

While it may mean that deer are staying back in the woods to feed, it may also reflect the results of two hard winters in these areas. Some direct losses of deer, mostly fawns, occurred during the past two winters in areas where deer were unable to fight their way through deep snows to reach food. Also, the weakened condition of does that survived may have resulted in a reduced production of fawns in these localities.

Since fawns and yearlings make up about one-half the total kill during the hunting season, a decline in the number of these deer would adversely affect hunting success. In most of the main deer range, however, game officials are satisfied that the population remains at a high level and expect hunters to enjoy good success again this year.

TWO MORE DUCKS . . . Two bluebills, four in possession was added to the bag of Minnesota and Wisconsin hunters on Nov. 1. Above are drawings of the two species of Bluebills, the Greater and Lesser Scaup, in flight, which may aid hunters in the identification of these birds. The bluebill and scaup are the same duck, the greater scaup is shown on the right.

Shooting hours are sunrise to sunset. Hunters may take one deer of any age or either sex during the season. Hunters should consult their hunting synopsis for information on zones, length of season and type of firearm permitted in each zone. A portion of southern Minnesota is closed to deer hunting this year.

Meetings
A motion picture, "Hunting in the Yukon," made by four local big game hunters, will be shown under the supervision of the Strum Rod and Gun Club at the Municipal building there at 8:30 p.m. Thursday. The group, Pinky Van Gordon, Mike Wasserberger, Don Johnson and Don Brady, each bagged a grizzly bear, mountain sheep, a caribou and moose. They hunted in the Telly Mountains of the Yukon Territory. A charge will be made with the funds going to the pheasant project of the club.

Price Cut Means Less Service, Says Food Chain Head

WASHINGTON (AP)—A national supermarket spokesman says food prices can be reduced substantially only if stores cut out services he says the public demands.

But in Portland, Ore., a leader of a housewives organization planning to picket 170 stores says it would be fine to eliminate some of those services. Elsewhere, there was scattered evidence that the burgeoning housewife revolt against high prices was inching ahead.

Clarence G. Adams, president of the National Association of Food Chains, said Monday in Washington he sees no chance that housewife boycotts will bring lower food prices. Prices could only be cut substantially, he said, "by shortening hours, taking out bag boys, eliminating check cashing — you could go down a considerable amount, maybe 6, 7, 8 or 9 per cent."

Mrs. Verl Jensen, secretary of Portland Women for Lower Prices, said stores could cut prices 10 per cent by remaining open fewer hours, closing Sundays and cutting out games, stamps and special promotions. Safeway Stores in Arizona announced they would drop "bonus bingo" because of housewives' pressure.

Henry J. Frank, Safeway's state manager for 39 stores, said the decision could affect prices, but he didn't say how much. Adams claimed that chains make an average profit of 1.3 per cent and spend 2 per cent on advertising and promotion. "Passing of both profits and advertising and promotion costs back to consumers in the form of across-the-board price reductions would give shoppers a 3.3 per cent decrease in prices, or about 33 cents on a $10 purchase," he said.

"And eventually this would force the stores out of business," he added. California Gov. Edmund G. Brown pegged the cost of stamps and games as "at least a week's groceries a year." That would be about 2 per cent. Brown, a Democrat seeking re-election, announced he was sending the state's consumer council to testify before the Federal Trade Commission, which announced an investigation of food prices.

"These games are turning supermarkets into casinos." Two Republicans, however, agreed with Adams that the real cause of rising prices is inflation.

Brown's opponent, Ronald Reagan, said federal fiscal policies are to blame for inflation and added: "It is unfortunate to go to a market place and try to control this (food prices) by boycotting."

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said in Lancaster, Pa., that housewives should picket the White House instead of the supermarket.

Texan Wins $5,775 Award In Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — John A. Starnes of Houston, Tex., won a $5,775 out-of-court settlement Tuesday in a suit in which he claimed that a surgical needle dropped off a thread and into his chest during an open heart operation at Mt. Sinai Hospital in 1962.

During three days of testimony in Hennepin County District Court, a doctor said he searched unsuccessfully for more than an hour to find the needle in Starnes' body. Doctors testified that the needle now would be encased in a membrane, preventing harm.

Ethicon, Inc., maker of the needle and suture, agreed to pay Starnes $5,000, and the doctors and hospital wrote off $775 in unpaid bills.

LARGE APPETITES
ETTRICK, Wis. (Special) — Dinner at First Lutheran Church, North Beaver Creek, Wis., Sunday was served to 1,503 persons according to general chairman, Mrs. Allen Grinde and Helmer Tranberg. Diners consumed half a ton of lutefisk, 700 pounds of sausage meat, 136 pounds of butter, 700 pounds of potatoes, 500 pounds of rutabagas, 60 pounds of cranberries, 32 quarts of pickles, 204 pies and 32 pounds of coffee.

World Reaction To President's Journey Varied

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
World reaction to President Johnson's trip and the Manila conference runs the gamut from optimism through doubt to pessimism.

This is evident from an Associated Press survey of capitals not on the Johnson itinerary, and from a cross-section of opinion at the United Nations.

There Frank Aiken, foreign minister of Ireland, told a reporter: "I would say it appears to have been a very successful trip for the President."

As for the prospects for improvement in the Southeast Asia situation, Aiken said "the trip has provided a chance for the ministers to coordinate their views."

At the other end of the opinion scale, Tanzanian Ambassador J. W. Malecela observed: "As far as clearing the path to peace, the trip has accomplished nothing."

This African delegate added: "The communique issued in Manila means very little. What concerns us now is not what is going to happen after the fighting stops but how to stop the fighting."

Ambassador Jose Pinera of Chile said: "I don't think it had any direct contribution to peace. I don't think President Johnson had that idea in mind. It was an effort of countries participating in Viet Nam to close ranks. From that point it appears successful."

There has been no official British reaction to Manila, but privately officials in London have hailed Johnson's efforts in Asian diplomacy, mainly for encouragement to Asians to join in setting up their own defense system.

The magazine Economist commented: "Before any stable system could be built around the periphery of China it was necessary for the United States to show that it was in earnest. Whatever verdict history eventually passes on Mr. Johnson's policy in Viet Nam, he has shown that the United States is as willing to exert its influence in Asia as it is in Europe."

Anti-Americanism Rising in Guinea

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Anti-Americanism is reported mounting in Guinea following the refusal of Guinea's government to release a Guinean delegation held hostage in Accra.

Guinea charged that the United States had a hand in the detention of the 19 Guinean diplomats and students who were taken off a plane Saturday night when it stopped in Accra en route to a meeting of the Organization of African Unity in Ethiopia.

Ghana cleared the United States of any complicity and the U.S. State Department denied it played any part in the affair. But a broadcast from Guinea said 50,000 persons paraded in front of the U.S. Embassy in Conakry, the capital, Monday shouting "Down with the Yankees!" and "Yankees get out of Africa!"

A U. S. State Department spokesman, Carl Barton, said in Washington that anti-American demonstrators also invaded the U.S. ambassador's residence in Conakry, breaking windows and some furniture.

U.S. Ambassador Robinson McIlvaine was put under house arrest in Conakry Sunday, but the State Department said he was allowed to leave his residence without a guard Monday. However, Barton said other members of the U.S. Embassy staff were under some sort of "office arrest."

The Conakry broadcast indicated the Guinean government felt the United States was involved because the Guineans arrested in Ghana were flying on an American airline, Pan American World Airways. The Pan American manager in Conakry also was placed under house arrest and was still restricted Monday.

Ghana's government chief, Lt. Gen. J.A. Ankrah, declared the Guinean delegation will not be released until Ghanaians held in Guinea are freed. He said Guinea is holding more than 100 Ghanaians who were arrested after a military coup overthrew President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana and he took refuge in Guinea.

Tension between Ghana and Guinea has been high since Nkrumah took refuge in Guinea last February.

Gen. Ben Lear Dead

MURFREESBORO, Tenn. (AP) — Gen. Ben Lear, who once disciplined some troops for "yoo-hooing" at pretty girls, is dead at 87.

Lear, considered by military men second only to Gen. Douglas MacArthur for his exacting discipline, died Tuesday in Veterans Hospital.

His body was being flown from Nashville to Washington today for burial in Arlington National Cemetery.

The perfectionist four-star general became famous in Tennessee where he commanded the 2nd Army from his Memphis headquarters from Oct. 1, 1940 until his retirement May 31, 1943.

He picked up the title of the "Yoo Hoo general" when he forced a convoy of troops to leave their trucks and march 15 miles on one of the hottest days in two years when they yoo-hooed at girl golfers in shorts on a Memphis course.

New York to Decide on Lottery Plan

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York voters will decide Tuesday whether the state should operate a lottery to raise money for the schools, as New Hampshire does.

The question will appear on the general election ballot as a proposed amendment to the state constitution. Many election observers believe the voters will say "Yes" — despite opposition to the proposal in high councils of government, education and religion.

Such legalized gambling as pari-mutuel horse racing and bingo enjoy widespread popularity in New York and, say law enforcement officers, do such illegal ventures as bookmaking and the "numbers" game.

The lottery amendment is so broadly worded that the 1967 legislature would have complete discretion in deciding exactly what kind of lottery to establish. Democratic state legislators, who fostered the idea, envision a system similar to that of New Hampshire, which sells $3 tickets based on selected horse races. Advocates of this plan say it could raise $400 million in revenue annually.

Under the terms of the amendment, all proceeds would have to be used for public schools. The state now channels more than $1.3 billion a year into school aid.

Opponents of the lottery include Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, his Democratic opponent in the gubernatorial race, Frank D. O'Connor, and U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., although none of them is campaigning against it.

But both O'Connor and Rockefeller have said they would sign legislation setting up a lottery if the voters approve the amendment.

Very few high-ranking officeholders are supporting the lottery plan. One prominent exception is Anthony J. Travia, Democratic speaker of the State Assembly. New York's Republican mayor, John V. Lindsay, also says he likes the idea.

Buffalo County Board Considers Building Shop

ALMA, Wis. (Special) — The Buffalo County Board, meeting Monday, discussed a resolution presented on a new county highway shop.

It was requested that Berge Ritscher, highway department bookkeeper, serve with the highway committee on investigating the purchase of land for a new shop and costs involved.

A report is to be presented at the next meeting.

The board was told that present facilities are inadequate and parking is congested and hazardous in relation to highway traffic.

Several sites were suggested: The Alma city dump area, Mueller addition, on the hillside of Highways 37 and 35, or at Reid's ball park.

The county doesn't have proper salt storage. Highway Commissioner Delbert Stelmach pointed out that much of the equipment has to stand outside for lack of room, making it difficult to start it and causing deterioration.

Mrs. Wilma Austin, president of the Buffalo County Teachers College here, presented her report and thanked the board for a resolution it passed to continue operating the school. She extended an invitation to the board to attend a dinner at the college at its next meeting, Nov. 14.

While attending a convention in Louisville, Kentucky, our attention was drawn to a sharp commanding tapping on a plate-glass window. Looking up, I saw a gentleman in his white garb, including a high chef's hat, standing over a grill heated by hot charcoal. He was turning juicy, sizzling steaks. It was lunch time and we responded to his beckoning call by going in and ordering steaks for dinner.

That window-tapping, fork-swinging chef came up in our conversation several times even after we left that steak house. He had a magnetic, enthusiastic manner that demanded not only one's attention, but appreciation. Somehow for the moment he managed to be in your spotlight, and then he made you feel wanted.

FUNNY HOW we can feel the presence of others. Let a happy, captivating personality come into the room and the atmosphere takes on a happy, captivating air. Let Mr. Gloom step into the presence of others and we feel negativism. Seems we all do well to check ourselves out from time to time to see what we contribute to the surroundings about us.

I'm not a psychologist, and I'm sure that if I were I might better understand why some people have the kind of personalities that captivate their contemporaries, and why some folks are so impulsive. But even from a layman's view, I'm confident that to a degree we can do much to develop personalities that are pleasant, personable and vibrant. The question is, how?

PERHAPS THAT fork-swinging chef I mentioned at the beginning possessed the key to an outgoing personality. I'd say in observing him he had, to say the least, confidence. He had no reservations about whether he should boldly solicit our attention. His steaks were delicious, and he knew it. Even the sight of them was rewarding to the glance, and he knew that. The interior of this place of business was comfortable and pleasant, and he knew that. Confidence, seasoned with good judgment, a pleasant manner, and a concern for others is a winning combination.

So the next question should be: How does one acquire confidence on which to build an outgoing personality? A general answer would be through experience. Yet, while experience is an excellent teacher, it is often a lengthy, tedious course. I recommend gaining confidence through knowledge, and knowledge through reading.

A HOST OF understanding, thus self-assurance is to be had by looking to the library shelf. Once you have laid hold on a course of learning through reading, take the next step which is applied knowledge. Start using the information gained, and before you know it you will begin to excel in your field of interest. Confidence will be forthcoming and you will find it easier to extend yourself to others.

To feel inferior is often to be inferior. To be inferior is often directly related to the lack of effort to excel. Think about it.

SMALL COLLEGE TITLE GAME?

San Diego to Host North Dakota State

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The explosive San Diego State Aztecs are polishing their information attack for the most important football game in the college's 69-year history.

The national small-college title could be at stake Saturday night when the second-ranked Aztecs, 6-0, host the No. 1 North Dakota State Bison, 8-0.

A crowd of 35,000 is expected to jam Balboa Stadium, home of the American Football League Chargers who drew 25,819 in a game Sunday against the Denver Broncos.

The game was shifted from 13,500-seat Aztec Bowl on campus to the stadium and more than 31,000 tickets were sold by Tuesday.

Aztec coach Don Coryell's big job has been to ready his rushing defense for the hard-running Bison offense built around Little All-America halfback Ken Rota.

But the Bison have a balanced offense, too, with the passing of Terry Hanson. He has completed 83 of 161 for 1,226 yards and 12 touchdowns.

The Aztecs depend on speed up front, with only two defensive linemen over 200 pounds.

"We will just have to see if they can stand up under that North Dakota charge," said Coryell.

The Aztecs depend on speed, with Nate Johns, Don Shy and Teddy Washington the top running backs. Johns, who averaged 8.1 yards a carry in 1965, has been bothered by an injured leg nearly all season but is healthy now and could start at tailback.

Shy, whose 13.4 time in the 120-yard high hurdles is the second fastest in the world, has scored seven touchdowns while gaining 356 yards in 76 carries. Washington, a tough blocker, has 404 yards in 70 trips.

Split end Craig Scoggins, who does the place kicking, has caught 39 passes for 547 yards and five touchdowns. Flanker Haven Moses has 32 receptions for 694 yards and five scores.

Coryell, whose six-year record at San Diego State is 44-10-1, has coached his team to impressive victories recently over San Jose State, 25-0, and Fresno State, 34-13.

Other Aztec victories were over Mexico Poly, 45-0; Weber State, 38-34; Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo, 14-13, and Long Beach State, 21-18.

The victory over Fresno State Saturday night gave the Aztecs a firm hold on the California Collegiate Athletic Association title, which they haven't won since 1951.

Cochrane-Fountain City 6th, Gale-Ettrick Is 8th

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Durand, a mighty independent that outscored its opponents 420-25 while sweeping to eight straight victories was voted the No. 1 small high school football team in Wisconsin today in the final Associated Press "Little Ten" poll of the season.

Neenah remained in first place with another week of balloting to go in the "Big Ten," the division for Wisconsin's larger schools.

Durand averaged 52.5 points in whipping Ellsworth, Neillsville, Owen - Withee, Nekeosha, Mondovi, Flambeau, Stanley - Boyd and Clear Lake.

The Panthers proved their prowess with a 42-7 thumping of Stanley-Boyd, a team that defeated Greenwood — Durand's nearest rival in the ratings before this week—12-0.

The loss spilled Greenwood to seventh in the final standings. Durand combined a defense that allowed only 9.5 yards rushing per game with an offense featuring the outside speed of Rick Walker an AP "Player of the Week."

"I would have to say that Walker was our most valuable player because he kept our outside game going," said Pete Adler the Panthers' coach.

Walker scored 23 touchdowns and fellow halfback Dan Langlois 11. Sophomore Tom Bauer kept defenses guessing with a passing game good for nine touchdowns.

Adler said blocking in the line was led by Bill Hartung, a 5-foot-4 guard. Linebacker Rex Hoover and guard Randy Bauer was cited as the leading defensive players.

Mondovi came the closest to beating Durand and Mondovi lost 33-6. Flambeau took the worst pasting, 85-6.

"We really haven't tried to lay it on any of those teams," said Adler. "We carry 34 boys on our varsity and we start 21 of them with 11 on offense and 10 playing just defense. That leaves just 13 substitutes and four of those are designated as strictly defensive players and about five or six strictly as offensive players. So whom are we going to put in to keep the score down?"

Behind Durand in the ranking were second-place Denmark (7-0), third-place Grafton (7-0), and fourth - place Weyauwega (9-0). Fifth was Marshall (9-0) and sixth Cochrane - Fountain City (8-0).

After Greenwood in eighth place was Gale-Ettrick (8-0). Colby, an early poll leader, finished ninth with an 8-1 record and Beloit Catholic (6-1) closed in 10th place despite a loss to Marengo, Ill., Friday night.

Neenah ended its season with an 8-0 record and a 42-0 win over Two Rivers. Behind the Rockets was Schofield (8-0), a team that overpowered Wisconsin Rapids 26-0 Friday to win the Wisconsin Valley Conference championship and chase Rapids from the ratings. Rapids had been eighth.

Manitowoc (7-1) clinched the Fox River Valley Conference crown with a 13-2 win over Green Bay Preble and moved ahead of Madison Edgewood (8-0) into third place.

Edgewood ended its season with a 39-13 win over Hartland Arrowhead and fell to fourth. West DePere (9-0) was fifth and Wausau king of the Big Rivers Conference with a 7-1 record was sixth.

Milwaukee Don Bosco (8-0) took seventh with a 13-0 win over Milwaukee Messmer and Milwaukee Boys Tech (6-1). 24-20 conqueror of Milwaukee Pius, was eighth.

Racine Horlick (6-1) crashed the ratings with a 12-7 win over Beloit that broke a three-way tie for first place in the Big Eight conference and gave the Rebels ninth place in the poll.

Tied for the 10th spot were Central Wisconsin Catholic Conference rivals La Crosse Aquinas (7-1) and Wisconsin Rapids Assumption (7-1).

Assumption was surprised by Marshfield Columbus Saturday and fell from fifth place. Aquinas scored an eye-catching 70-0 win over Stevens Point Pacelli.

HOPE FOR DOMED STADIUM

New Orleans Owner, Name to Be Picked

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The name and owner haven't been decided but New Orleans will have a team in the National Football League when play opens next season.

The NFL franchise was announced here Tuesday by Pete Rozelle, the NFL commissioner. "New Orleans has the population (about 1,053,000), it has the sports interest, it has the weather," said Rozelle. "Geographically, it fits into our plans and more important at this time it has the very attractive stadium available for the 1967 season."

The stadium is the 82,500-seat Sugar Bowl at Tulane University.

However, city officials were hoping to construct a domed all-weather sports stadium which would be home to the football club and available for other events.

Construction depends on whether voters in the state approve a constitutional amendment Nov. 8 authorizing the project, which would be paid for by a tax on hotel and motel rooms hereabouts.

Rozelle said no one has the inside track in the bidding for ownership of the New Orleans club.

"We are going to immediately go into an investigation of the financial responsibility of those who have applied, their background, their character and this might take a couple of weeks," he added.

It was learned that Louis J. Roussel, a New Orleans oilman-financier, has lined up enough solid support from NFL club owners to block any other applicant.

The new club will be given special concessions enabling it to draft men from the college ranks and also from other NFL clubs to stock its roster. However, details have not been settled.

Koufax Wins Cy Young Award A Third Time

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It is true that Sandy Koufax was not exactly thunderstruck when advised he had won the Cy Young Award for the third time.

Reached at his bachelor's villa Tuesday in suburban Studio City, the superb southpaw was, however, delighted. The vote was unanimous, just as in the previous years, by the Baseball Writers of America.

The award as baseball's best pitcher to the Los Angeles Dodgers' hero amounts to an unprecedented event. No hurler had ever won it twice, as did Sandy in 1963 and 1965, much less three times.

"I'm thrilled," said Koufax, who may have been groping for words different from his reactions on the previous award occasions.

"It's a great honor to be selected more than once, and it's an even bigger thrill to win it two years in a row."

"Especially," he continued, "since we have some great pitchers in the league—in both leagues, that is."

Koufax paused, as if reflecting on the innocent, momentary omission of the American League, and quickly added with a chuckle:

"The way Baltimore pitched against us, maybe they should split the award up between their pitchers."

The Baltimore pitchers, you'll recall, slew the Dodgers four straight in the recent World Series.

Queried about rumors that he may retire from baseball because of his famous, and infamous, ailing left elbow, Koufax merely said he has given no thought one way or another about his future plans.

The 30-year-old Koufax, who had a 27-9 record, may be the last Cy Young Award winner as it is now designed, covering both leagues.

Baseball writers are voting on whether the award should be given to the best pitcher in each league.

Big Ten Race Whackiest Yet

CHICAGO (AP) — Except for the consistency of Michigan State, the current Big Ten football race has to go down as one of whackiest in history. It could get whackier.

Bogged down by an 11-16 record against nonconference foes and with Michigan State ineligible for the bowl bid because of the no-repeat clause, the Rose Bowl picture remains muddled as ever so far as the Big Ten is concerned.

Purdue and Minnesota, currently running one-two for the bowl bid, "can't afford to look ahead" to their Nov. 12 meeting in their coaches' words.

Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue and Murray Warmath of Minnesota made this clear to the Chicago Football Writers via telephone Tuesday.

Both teams hit the road against improving opponents this week and if both lose, the run for the roses could turn into a seven-team race with two weeks remaining.

Purdue is at Wisconsin and Minnesota at Northwestern.

Aside from Michigan State, only Ohio State and Iowa have been mathematically eliminated. Purdue holds the upper hand with a 3-1 record to Minnesota's 2-1-1. The other five teams all have two losses.

Purdue and Minnesota have won two of their last three games. By contrast, Wisconsin and Northwestern have split even in their last three games. The two teams tied each other 3-3.

If both Minnesota and Purdue win Saturday, they'll get their showdown battle the following week. If both lose, West Coast scouts will have to spread themselves all over the Midwest in the final two games of the season.

Bruins Take Loop-Leading Black Hawks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Great things have been forecast for the young and hustling Boston Bruins, who gave the National Hockey League-leading Chicago Black Hawks a swipe of the claw Tuesday night.

The Bruins tossed a stonewall defense and the sharp goal tending of Bernie Parent against the Hawks to walk off with a 3-2 victory.

The loss was the first in five games for the Hawks, who showed the effects of a six-day layoff. The triumph enabled the Bruins to bounce out of a last-place tie into third place, one point behind Montreal and three behind the Hawks.

Only one game is scheduled Wednesday in the NHL, and that finds Montreal at Toronto.

Gophers Shiver Through 'Coldest Practice Day'

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Gophers put in a shivering two hour workout Tuesday afternoon in what Coach Murray Warmath described as "the coldest practice day I can remember."

But it had its brighter side.

Warmath apparently has come up with his long-sought starting offensive lineup and the injury list of regulars has dwindled to one.

No lineup changes on the first offense team have been made from the one that belted Ohio State 17-7 last Saturday at Minneapolis.

Wilson, a junior, carried the ball 22 times for 138 yards and one touchdown against Ohio and passed only four times for a three yard total.

For the last couple of weeks, sophomore Ray Stephens had led the offensive unit during practice with Wilson and Larry Carlson handling the second and third teams.

Tuesday, Wilson led the first unit through a freezing workout outdoors as the temperature never climbed above 32 degrees.

The Gophers also concentrated on defense against Northwestern's attacks expected this Saturday at Evanston, Ill.

Both Northwestern and Minnesota are 2-1 in Big Ten football this year. Their series has been marked by close games. Last year Minnesota edged the Wildcats 27-22 at Minneapolis.

Meanwhile, the Gophers' injury situation also straightened out with only defensive end Bob Stein still in a marginal playing category. Stein hurt a knee against Iowa and missed the last two games.

Associated Press sports writer Jerry Liska picks the Gophers to beat Northwestern 18-13.

Silent Five's Ed Mrozek was anything but Tuesday night as he bombed 243-641 in the Athletic Club's Classic League to top area bowling. In the same league, Linahan's picked up top team total, 2,966. Top team single went to Westgate's Home Furniture in the National League, 1,067.

WAC: Emil's Menswear racked up top team single with a fine 1,038 and Linahan's Restaurant & Lounge finished high with 2,966. Other top sets were hit by Bill Vogel 626, and Jerry Dureske 604.

HAL-ROD: In 4-City action Ken Donahue paced Central Motors with 232-593 as his squad tallied 1,046-2,899.

Audrey Sieracki whipped 224-518 for Home Furniture, which picked up top team single with 919 and Grace Burley of Mankato Bar rapped 527 to lead the Ladies City League with Poranc Trucking finishing high with 2,589.

Other top scores included Betty Englerth 202-515, Irene Gostomski 510, Betty Schoon over 504, Janice Tropple 503, Helen Englerth 503, Ruth Hoff 502, and Irene Trimmer 201-502.

The Lucky Ladies League Mary Williams of Coca Cola hit 175 and Bonnie Myers toted 463 for top tallies. Clark & Clark knocked off high team game with 877.

WESTGATE: American League — Nord Overland overpowered 228 for Carl's Tree Service and Orval Hike of Merchants Bank foreclosed on a 577 set. Carl's gained the high team game with 993 and Merchants hit high team totals with 2,826.

In National League action Jack Richter Jr. ripped a 230 single as teammate Joe Albrecht whipped a 596 set. With that Home Furniture tallied the top team totals with 1,067-2,931.

Bercher After National Punt Return Title

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Martine Bercher, a 180-pounder with exceptional quickness, has eighth-ranked Arkansas vying again for the national punt return championship, but it's other qualities that make many regard him the finest safety in recent Razorback history.

"If he can continue to perform as he has in the first seven games," says Coach Frank Broyles, "He would have to draw strong consideration on the All-America teams."

Bercher has scored on returns of 64 yards against Tulsa and 59 yards against Texas A&M. He had a 49-yard return to set up the game-winning touchdown in a 12-7 triumph over Texas and darted 18 yards to the Oklahoma State 30 in the final three minutes of the season opener as Arkansas went on to a 14-10 comeback victory.

Against Texas he forced four incomplete passes by cracking a receiver as he took the pass and he added two others against A&M. Bercher has intercepted two passes in Arkansas' zone defense, both when the opponent had gotten behind the defensive halfbacks.

In the last six years Arkansas has led the nation in punt returns four times—Lance Alworth twice and Kenny Hatfield twice—and finished second once.

Packers Sour Sweetan, Take On Tarkenton

GREEN BAY (AP) — The Green Bay Packers made things sour for Karl Sweetan. Now they can start all over again next Sunday with the Minnesota Vikings' Francis Tarkenton.

Coach Jack Christensen, whose San Francisco 49ers were dazed by Tarkenton in a 28-3 Minnesota victory, said that if the elusive quarterback "stays hot, and the rest of the team stays healthy, they can beat Green Bay."

Sweetan said something along the same lines last week before leading the Detroit Lions into the arena with Green Bay.

The Packers were victorious 31-7 with Tom Brown, Ray Nitschke and Lee Roy Caffey each intercepting a Sweetan pass. Sweetan managed to complete 21 out of 45 passes for 271 yards.

Tarkenton, against San Francisco completed 17 of 31 for 278 yards and two touchdowns. What makes him a special threat is that he doesn't stand still. He carried 10 times for 71 yards and two more touchdowns.

Y. A. Tittle, currently a backfield coach for the 49ers, said with discouragement: "You spend all week trying to work on a defense that will stop his scrambling, but you saw what he did to us. It's just about impossible to stop him."

"He ruined our defense with the scrambling," Christensen added.

Brown had sought the NFL franchise for Cincinnati. Another group that had been seeking the NFL team indicated it also would be interested in an AFL team. That group is headed by John Wiethe, a former University of Cincinnati basketball coach.

Announcement of awarding of the new AFL team is expected soon, Rozelle said Tuesday by telephone from New Orleans.

The only city in real competition with Cincinnati is Seattle, and Seattle voters turned down a stadium two months ago," Rozelle said.

Prep Gridder 'Fair' After Brain Surgery

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Steve Borchert, Sun Prairie High School junior center, was reported in fair condition in a Madison hospital today after undergoing surgery Saturday night for a brain clot.

Borchert's coach, Fran Sheeman, said the clot apparently resulted from a head bump in a game at Monroe Oct. 21, but the youth missed only one day of school and played in his team's final game Friday in Middletown.

Pat Studstill, Detroit receiver, told Don Weiss, NFL director of information, "Those line-backers are all 10 feet tall and have arms 10 feet long."

Irish-Spartan Game Must Be Regional TV

KANSAS CITY (AP) — An NCAA spokesman says the Michigan State - Notre Dame game Nov. 19 must be a regional television game under NCAA rules, which cannot be changed without going against the reasons why the rules are in existence.

"The NCAA football television plan specifies no member school may appear more than once nationally in any one year, nor more than three times in the two-year period of the plan," the spokesman said.

"The appearance rule is the gist of the NCAA plan. It is designed to reduce as far as possible adverse effects of live television on gate attendance of other college games being played."

"If the NCAA altered the rule, the whole reason for the plan would be negated."

AGGRESSIVENESS BY ANY NAME

Fierce Pride Drives Tough Viking Defense

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers called them dirty players.

Baltimore said they took cheap shots.

Dallas players called them a bunch of head hunters.

And Coach Norm Van Brocklin proudly terms them aggressive.

All are describing the Minnesota Vikings' defensive platoon, a hungry, hearty little fraternity which is basking in its new found glory after years of embarrassment.

There is fierce pride in the Vikings' defensive unit this year, and it manifests itself in the most aggressive play seen in the National Football League.

It means an opposing player is going to be hit after the whistle, occasionally, because one of the Vikings isn't going to be able to stop in his tracks.

It means somebody is going to get clobbered out of bounds. It means tempers are going to flare. And it means penalties—like the 165 yards worth stepped off against Minnesota in Sunday's 28-3 victory over the 49ers.

But Norm Van Brocklin appreciates aggressiveness, and it will continue. He is convinced it was the aggressiveness of the Chicago defense which won the 1963 NFL championship for the Bears and he is convinced it takes aggressiveness to win like Green Bay does.

Only those Viking players who suffered through those tedious years when Minnesota's defense was being built bit-by-bit know the intensity of the pride felt now when the defense can hold up its head after each game—win or lose.

Only a player like Ed Sharockman can know that pride. Nobody else. You had to be there.

"I guess you'd call it esprit de corps," Sharockman said. "We took our lumps for a long time, now the shoe is on the other foot."

"It's a combination of playing together for a long period of time. We're working together much better. We're a team."

"It seems like everybody has improved, and we've got desire. And we've got a lot more confidence in what we can do."

"Yes, our personnel has got ten better.

"We started coming late last year, and we've just kept it up. We're to a point now where we know what each other can do, and what each other will do in a given situation."

"The coaches have done a great job, especially Marion Campbell."

Minnesota's defensive unit has given up only 43 points in the last four games — an average of 10.8. It held a team without a touchdown for the first time in Minnesota's six-year history last Sunday.

"We set out this year to show improvement in our defensive unit," Van Brocklin said. "I don't think there's any doubt this has been accomplished. The defense has just been great."

Seek AFL Team for Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — With awarding of the National Football League's 16th franchise to New Orleans, former pro coach Paul Brown set out today to get an American League team for Cincinnati.

And Pete Rozelle, the NFL head boss who will become commissioner of the merged National and American leagues in 1970, indicated Cincinnati has the inside track for the new AFL team, scheduled to begin play in 1968.

Brown, ex-coach of the NFL Cleveland Browns, said in Cleveland Tuesday night that "I believe we can have the franchise for 1968 if assurance is given that a new stadium (in Cincinnati) will be ready in time," he added.

Brown had sought the NFL franchise for Cincinnati. Another group that had been seeking the NFL team indicated it also would be interested in an AFL team. That group is headed by John Wiethe, a former University of Cincinnati basketball coach.

Announcement of awarding of the new AFL team is expected soon, Rozelle said Tuesday by telephone from New Orleans.

Bulls Pay For Fast NBA Start

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Bulls are paying off for their rapid start which hoisted them into a short-lived lead in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association.

The Bulls, who opened the season two weeks ago with a victory over the San Francisco Warriors, were handed their fourth straight setback, 137-121, Tuesday night by the same Warriors.

San Francisco climbed into a first-place tie with Detroit on the strength of the triumph, while the Bulls slumped into fourth place, 1½ games ahead of last place Los Angeles.

Chicago started fast again and held a 34-32 lead at the quarter. But the Warriors poured in 38 points in the second quarter to take a 70-56 halftime lead and led by as many as 30 points in the second half.

Three games are scheduled in the NBA Wednesday night with Baltimore at Chicago, Los Angeles at Boston and New York at Cincinnati.

St. Louis had scored early in the first period and the Bears were trying to get back into the game when Wilson picked off a pass at the Chicago 18 and returned it 17 yards. Johnny Roland scored five plays later.

In the fourth quarter with the Cards leading 17-10, Wilson snatched another Bukich pass and ran 29 yards for a touchdown.

After the Bears narrowed the gap to 24-17 with 2:50 to go, Wilson stepped in again, leaping high to grab another Bukich pass on the Cards' 14.

"He's an inspirational player," said Card Coach Charley Winner. "I don't think he's capable of playing a bad game. You can tell how much he means to the team — the players elected him their captain."

GRIESE, CONLEY CO-CAPTAINS

Big Ten Readies For Saturday Tilts

CHICAGO (AP) — Midwest Football Briefs:

Purdue — Quarterback Bob Griese and linebacker Pat Conley were named co-captains for the Wisconsin game.

The Boilermakers went through a defensive drill against Badger plays.

Wisconsin — Dick Schumitsch was at first string halfback Tuesday. Schumitsch, who returned a kickoff 83 yards last season, got a chance on offense last week and was impressive enough to win a regular spot.

Minnesota — Curt Wilson will be at quarterback against Northwestern. For the first time this season Coach Murray Warmath failed to make changes on offense.

Northwestern — Reserve linebacker Don Clawson, injured in Monday's workout, is out for the season with a battered knee. The Wildcats concentrated on halting Minnesota's newly-installed I-formation.

Michigan State — Fullback Bob Apisa is not expected to play against Iowa because of a knee injury. Halfback Dwight Lee ran in Apisa's place while Dick Berlinski moved into Lee's position.

Iowa — Linebacker Dan Hilsabeck joined the growing injured list when he turned up with a bad shoulder. Coach Ray Nagel said it is difficult to come up with a defense for Michigan State.

Michigan — Senior Tim Ragan and sophomore John

Reynolds worked at fullback in place of injured Dave Fisher. Fisher underwent further X-rays to determine the extent of his injured left shoulder.

Illinois — Defensive guard Al Waters will miss the Michigan game. Waters tested his knee and found it too weak to play. However, halfback Ron Bess worked out and will be ready for the Wolverines.

Ohio State — Will Thomas, who returned the season opening kickoff 91 yards only to fumble, was running at halfback behind Bo Rein Tuesday. Thomas, who hasn't even been on the traveling squad since the error, might see action against Indiana.

Indiana — Plagued with minor injuries, the Hoosiers will see little contact work this week. Indiana is worried about the running of Ohio State fullback Paul Hudson and the pass catching of Billy Anders.

Wilson 'Defensive Player of Week'

NEW YORK (AP) — Anybody who watched the St. Louis-Chicago game Monday night knows the Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League has to be Larry Wilson, the Cards' free safety.

The ball-hawking veteran intercepted three passes at critical points in the Cards' 24-17 victory.

It was the sixth straight game in which the seven-year veteran from Utah had intercepted at least one pass. The NFL record is seven, set by Paul Krause of Washington in 1964.

Larry tied the lifetime record of five touchdowns on interceptions when he scored for the second time this season in the Bear game.

HOW COULD YOU MISS?

Crystal Ball Picks Irish and Spartans

NEW YORK (AP) — Here's hoping for a quick recovery from the worst weekend of the season with 18 losses among the 56 games that reached a decision for a paltry .679 average.

The forecast for this Saturday's top college football games:

Notre Dame over Pittsburgh: The Irish are awesomely strong, the Panthers woefully weak.

Michigan State over Iowa: The Broadway betting gentry says Michigan State will win by 26 points. The Spartans are that good, too.

UCLA over Washington: Gary Beban of the Bruins rates as one of the three top quarterbacks of the season and the Huskies have no one who can match him.

Alabama over Louisiana State: Ken Stabler and Wayne

Trimble give Alabama double protection at quarterback and should keep the Tide on the right track against a team suffering from injuries.

Georgia Tech over Virginia: Could turn into a romp.

Nebraska over Kansas: The Huskers not only are big but they also are fast, agile, talented, determined and very, very good.

Florida over Georgia: Steve Spurrier continues Florida's last-quarter magic at the expense of the once-bentened Bulldogs, whose only defeat was a 7-6 setback in the mud at Miami.

Arkansas over Rice: This is Jess Neely's final year as coach at Rice and the season becomes more sad every Saturday.

Southern California over California: Everybody mentions the Trojan offense but their defense has allowed only 40 points in seven games. California has allowed 143.

Tennessee over Chattanooga: Not in the same league.

Harvard over Princeton: Bobby Leo and Vic Gallo provide the Crimson with the best running attack in the Ivy League.

Miami over Tulane: A rare trip away from home for the Miami team and the boys will show their appreciation with a 10-point triumph.

Purdue over Wisconsin: The Boilermakers, beaten only by Notre Dame and Michigan State, want that trip to the Rose Bowl. Bob Griese to show them the way.

Syracuse over Penn State: Floyd Little will break loose for at least one touchdown run.

Kansas City (AP) — An NCAA spokesman says the Michigan State - Notre Dame game Nov. 19 must be a regional television game under NCAA rules, which cannot be changed without going against the reasons why the rules are in existence.

"The NCAA football television plan specifies no member school may appear more than once nationally in any one year, nor more than three times in the two-year period of the plan," the spokesman said.

"The appearance rule is the gist of the NCAA plan. It is designed to reduce as far as possible adverse effects of live television on gate attendance of other college games being played."

"If the NCAA altered the rule, the whole reason for the plan would be negated."

Spurrier's Arm Valuable

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Spurrier, Florida's brilliant quarterback, has taken over the passing offense lead among the nation's major college football players, statistics compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau showed today.

Spurrier advanced from third place by completing 27 of 40 against Auburn last Saturday. He is No. 1 in pass completions with 117, passing percentage .661, and fewest interceptions, two.

The Florida star is runner-up to Hank Washington of West Texas State in total offense. Washington has gained 1,526 yards and Spurrier 1,461.

DEAR ABBY:

He Can Take Care of Self

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Will you please give me your opinion of a 21-year-old girl who drives 60 miles to see a boy instead of waiting for him to go to see her? She is supposed to be a smart girl, and I understand she holds a good job. She lives 60 miles from here, and she's in town every time he turns around. The boy is my son.

He is 26, and I can't see what he sees in her. She is loud and forward and he is quiet and shy. I am so afraid that poor kid will get talked into marrying her I don't know where to turn. He has his service behind him so there is nothing stopping him. What should a mother do? WORRIED

Abby

DEAR WORRIED: Nothing. And don't waste your sympathy on a poor 26-year-old "kid" who has a girl dragging her coals to Newcastle. Maybe he likes it that way.

DEAR ABBY: I know you must get billions of letters every day so my letter will probably go unread and unanswered. It is really important though, as I know lots of teen-age girls my age with this problem, and it might even help some of the boys who read it, too.

Whenever I walk down the street, boys in cars stop and honk, etc. Some of them are very nice and quite cute, but if a girl stops and talks to them, or goes for a ride with them, she gains a reputation as a pickup.

On the other hand, if she doesn't, the boys consider her a stuck-up snob. Which would be better, to stop and be sociable or to act like a snob? SOCIABLE PICK-UP

DEAR SOCIABLE P. U.: One of the first things a mother teaches a little girl who is old enough to walk down the street alone is, "Don't talk to strangers, or ever get into a car with one!" Whether the girl is 6 or 16, the advice is still good. To ignore invitations from strangers in automobiles to socialize is not snobbish, it's sensible.

DEAR ABBY: My problem may seem petty to others, but it is big to me. My husband is at home recovering from a serious operation which he had three months ago. Two out-of-town friends have come to visit my husband. They asked to use our telephone, and I OK'd it, not realizing they were going to make long distance calls.

One made two calls which totaled $20 and the other made one long distance call amounting to $16. Both men can well afford to pay for their calls.

My husband is self-employed there is no sick pay coming in and his illness has been very costly. The $36 would definitely put a strain on our budget. Please advise.

DEAR ON: Under the circumstances, write these "friends" a note, telling them you are sure they would want to be reminded of the long distance calls they made at your home, and include a copy of the bill.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BOB: If your wife no longer cares how late you come home, it's later than you think.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700 Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

'Yoke of Infamy' Cited by Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Tuesday the United States "wears a yoke of infamy — a yoke made of greed, hate, violence, apathy and lawlessness."

In a message in the FBI's monthly Law Enforcement Bulletin, Hoover assailed demonstrators, the courts and the apathy of many citizens for what he called a "criminalistic burden" that grows heavier from year to year.

"How is the cause of equal justice under law favored by noisy, defiant mobs yelling slogans, denying the free exercise of constitutional rights of other citizens, and turning whole communities into nightmarish jungles of looting, rioting and assault?" he asked.

"Can we seriously consider, even for a moment, that this is the precious right our forefathers referred to as a peaceable assembly to petition the government for a redress of grievances?"

Hoover said also that too many well-meaning "but misguided Americans not only support the doctrine of lawbreaking for a worthy end but also oppose penalties for violators."

In many instances, he said, the question of guilt "is obscured and lost in a maze of procrastinating technicalities and legal jousting. Many times, truth, which often exposes guilt, is only a secondary objective; the main search is for error or a technical loophole for the murderer or hoodlum."

Major Surprise if Minor Party Wins

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK

WASHINGTON (AP) — It will be a major surprise if an independent or minor party candidate is elected to high office this fall, but it won't be for lack of effort. There are 71 running for the House, 15 for the Senate and 16 for governor.

The figures cover only those who got their names on the ballot. In addition, there are write-in efforts on behalf of others. Best-known nationally of the minor party candidates is Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who took the Liberal party's nomination for governor of New York when his efforts to obtain the Democratic nomination failed.

The 52-year-old son of the late president charged that party bosses had made a "deal" to give the Democratic nomination to Frank D. O'Connor.

The Conservative party also has a candidate for governor in New York—Dr. Paul L. Adams, 51, academic dean and history professor at Roberts Wesleyan College, Rochester.

Backers of Adams are mainly dissident Republicans who regard the GOP leadership of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Jacob K. Kevitt as too liberal. The Conservative party platform calls for sharp cut-backs in state spending, repeal of the state sales tax and the New York City income tax, and prayer in the public schools.

There are two other minor party candidates for governor in New York—Milton Herder, nominee of the Socialist Labor party; and Judith White, 28, a teacher, running under the Socialist Worker banner.

Here is a rundown of some of the states with considerable minor party, independent or write-in action:

Iowa — A newly formed political organization called the Iowa party has the Rev. Charles Sloca as its candidate for governor. He is an English teacher at Parsons College, also a Methodist minister; a native of Rahway, N.J., with degrees from Rutgers and Cornell.

The Rev. M. Sloca is refusing to pay his 1965 Iowa income tax, contending the state is illegally collecting double taxes. Due to a change in the withholding system, Iowans now are paying on 1966 taxes by withholding while also paying taxes on 1965 income.

As Senate candidate, the Iowa party has put up Herbert F. Hoover, who described himself as "a fourth cousin, twice removed" of the late president. Earlier this year, Hoover sought the Republican Senate nomination and got 29,225 votes in the primary to Sen. Jack Miller's 139,088.

The American Constitution party is running candidates for governor, the Senate and four House seats in Iowa.

It's Senate candidate is Robert D. Dilley, 39, owner of a Des Moines plant that binds books and makes looseleaf binders. He wants to "impeach a few of those Supreme Court justices down there who refuse to adhere to the Constitution" and "repeal laws, not pass them."

It's candidate for governor is David P. Quiner, 38, a farm manager.

The national Prohibition party also has a Senate candidate in Iowa, Verne Higns.

Finally, there is a "Peace independents" Senate candidate, Charles O. Day, a high school science teacher, who wants to de-escalate the war in Viet Nam.

Kansas — The Prohibition party has candidates for both the Senate and governor Roland E. Fisher is the nominee for governor and Earl F. Dodge for senator.

Running for governor as the Conservative party choice is Carson Crawford, 55, a farmer campaigning for repeal of recent state income tax increases. The party's Senate nominee is George W. Snell, 55, a Wichita aircraft company employee.

Michigan — Here there also are Prohibition candidates for governor and senator, Rollin Severance and E. Harold Munn, respectively. Their bids are on a write-in basis.

Georgia — Many moderate Democrats don't like their party's nominee for governor, segregationist Lester G. Maddox, and don't want to vote for Republican Howard Callaway. There is a write-in campaign for Ellis Arnall, former Democratic governor.

Maryland — An independent expected to make a strong showing for governor—some give him an outside chance of winning—is Ilyman A. Pressman, 52, Baltimore comptroller and nominally a Democrat.

The Democratic nominee is George P. O'Mahoney, 64, a Baltimore contractor, whose nomination as an opponent of open housing in the primary left the party fragmented. The Republican nominee is Spiro T.

Agnew, 47, Baltimore County executive — the county administrative officer.

Pennsylvania — Edward S. Swartz, an outspoken conservative, is running for governor as the Constitutional party candidate. One of his planks: Opposition to open housing. The Republican nominee, Raymond P. Shafer, and the Democratic nominee, Milton Shapp, both support open housing.

Swartz, 56, a businessman in Hummelstown, has served in the legislature and was one of four Pennsylvania delegates to the 1964 Republican convention who supported Barry Goldwater for the presidential nomination. He predicts he will get 500,000 votes but most independent political analysts will be surprised if he gets half that many. His candidacy could affect the outcome of a close race between the major party candidates and the Democrats think he will hurt Shafer more than Shapp.

Virginia — There are conservative party candidates for both the Senate seats to be filled this year. This party appeared on the scene last year and got about 80,000 votes in the election for governor, enough so that Democratic Gov. Mills E. Godwin Jr., although elected, collected less than 50 per cent of the total vote.

Its strength is chiefly in a southern tier of counties where civil rights legislation has generated strong opposition. Most of its support comes from former Democrats. The party's Senate candidates are John W. Carter, 45, a Danville attorney; and F. Lee Hawthorne, 44, an auditor in Chesterfield County adjacent to Richmond. Texas — A Conservative candidate—Bard Logan—is running for governor.

The Constitution party has Tommy Gillespie as its nominee for governor and James Barker Holland as its choice for the Senate.

The views of Holland, a Houston insurance man, shed light on the attitudes of those attracted to this party.

Smoky Fire In Defense Dept. Building

WASHINGTON (AP) — A smoky fire flared for more than three hours Monday in a storage area of a data processing building at the Defense Department's Arlington Hall installation in Arlington, Va.

Thirteen pieces of equipment from the Arlington, Falls Church, and Fairfax County fire departments responded to the alarm at 4:15 a.m. in Building B at the installation. The fire did not spread beyond the storage area, authorities said, and 10 injuries were reported. A Defense Department spokesman described damage as "slight." The cause of the fire has not yet been determined, the spokesman said.

Letter Just a Little Bit Late

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Maurice Trimmer press aide to Gov. Jack M. Campbell, said his office received a letter recently addressed to Lew Wallace, governor of New Mexico.

Wallace, author of the novel "Ben-Hur," was territorial governor of New Mexico from 1878 to 1881.

Grandparents Fight to Keep Child in Iowa

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mark Painter's grandparents, fighting to hold on to the 8-year-old boy, have told the Supreme Court the "rights" of natural parents should not be allowed to outweigh a child's welfare.

Mark is the central figure in an historic child-custody case. At the moment under an Iowa Supreme Court ruling, he is being cared for by his grandparents, Dwight and Margaret Bannister of Ames, Iowa, but his father, Harold W. Painter of Brookdale, Calif., has asked the Supreme Court to clear the way for the boy's return.

Mark's mother and younger sister were killed in an auto crash in 1962. Painter left the boy with the Bannisters the next summer. After remarrying in November 1964 he began a court fight to get Mark back.

Last February the Iowa Supreme Court blocked the way, partly on the grounds Painter leads a "Bohemian life" and that he is "either an agnostic or atheist and has no concern for formal religious training."

It is not unusual for an American court to rule against parents in custody disputes. But in such instances the court usually has found that the parent is unfit or has abandoned the child.

Such is not the case here. The Iowa Supreme Court said in its unanimous decision "there is no suggestion in the record that Mr. Painter is morally unfit."

Moreover, the court said "there is no merit in the Bannister claim that Mr. Painter permanently relinquished custody. It was intended to be a temporary arrangement."

But it went on to say the home he and his new wife would offer Mark would be "romantic, impractical, and unstable." The grandparents' home, the court said, was more desirable because it offered a "stable, conventional, middle-class, Middle West background" with a "secure atmosphere."

The U.S. Supreme Court will say sometime later this term if it will hear Painter's appeal to reverse the Iowa court. This past weekend, the Bannisters, who are in their 60s, filed papers asking the court to stay out of the case.

Taft Pushes Campaign For Votes in Ohio

By ARTHUR EDSON
CINCINNATI (AP) — Swiftly the Plymouth convertible swerved to the right, of course — and Bob Taft took the expressway exit so hurriedly that his sound truck behind missed the turn.

No one could say Taft was driving recklessly. He was just another harassed candidate without a minute to spare.

For Robert Taft Jr., is racing for his political life against Rep. John Joyce Gilligan, a first-term Democrat, in what looks like the nation's No. 1 congressional contest.

This race has everything: The Taft name, a national political force for four generations, granddad was president and chief justice, dad was Mr. Republican; lively, young, articulate contenders, money to spend, vociferous supporters who feel that if their hero is drubbed then all mankind is doomed, the prospect of a finish that could be in doubt to the last ballot.

Each side has special reasons for trying harder.

After serving his apprenticeship in the Ohio Legislature, Taft was elected congressman-at-large in 1962 and seemed on his way up, maybe even to the White House.

Then, from Taft's viewpoint, a terrible thing happened, namely, Sen. Barry Goldwater, who lost Ohio so one-sidedly to President Johnson in 1964 that Taft sank, too, in his bid for the Senate.

Now, as Taft rededicates to another defeat not only would be a disaster for him, but it would also be a major setback in their attempt to steer the Republican party along what they think is a moderate path.

"There's only despair and confusion on the right," Taft's campaign manager, Paul Rubin, says. "The salvation of the Republican party — if there is a salvation — is a man like Bob Taft."

For the Democrats: Lyndon B. Johnson's success in pushing his "Great Society" programs through Congress has been due to the loyalty of 48 freshmen Democrats. If Republicans can win back half or more of these seats — and this is one of them — Johnson will get little new legislation, and will have trouble financing programs he already has.

At a recent rally attended by Gilligan, Jimmy Simpkins of the Teamsters' Union put it on the line.

"If we lost 10 or 12 seats, the control of the House is going right back into the hands of the Republicans and the Southern Democrats. It would be a shame and a disgrace to the people of Ohio not to send this man back to Congress."

Sending this man back to Congress won't be easy.

This district is the eastern part of Hamilton County — Cincinnati. It was strongly Republican when Gilligan shocked everyone, himself included, by winning by 5,411 votes in 1964. To make sure this wouldn't happen again, the Ohio Legislature gave the district a little more real estate and 7,000 more Republican votes.

Democrats, especially those who are very poor, need a lot of arousing before they will go to the polls, and this is hard to do when there's no presidential race.

Gilligan isn't only fighting Taft; he's also battling a computer.

Painstakingly, the name of every voter — and his preferences — was collected and fed to the machine. "You've got to go where the ducks are," Goldwater used to say. In these critical days before Nov. 8, Taft can go where the undecided ducks are.

On election day, in theory, the Republicans can round up every solid vote they have — and can studiously ignore those they know will go against them.

Good organization wins the close ones; that's why Taft is rated a slight favorite.

Tall, husky men like Taft usually rate adjectives like "bluff" and "hearty." Despite that impeccable family tree, despite Yale and Harvard, Taft at 49 is still shy and slow to warm up.

Suave he is not. But take him to the large, elegantly turned out home of Mrs. Joseph Claggs Jr., before a large, elegantly turned out group of matrons, and they love him.

Gilligan is tall, red-haired, graceful. Fascinated with the English language and the humanities at Notre Dame, he got his master's at the University of Cincinnati and wound up as an instructor in literature at Xavier University.

Although he served five and a half terms on the Cincinnati City Council, Gilligan, at 45, retains some mannerisms of a modern prose and drama teacher, with the gesture that can end in a slight flutter, the answer that can be both amused and a bit pedantic.

Rough-hewn he is not. But get him before the Teamsters, proud of speaking glibly on gut issues, and they love him.

BOYLE'S COLUMN

Remarks Bosses Tire Of

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that bosses get tired of hearing:

"Yeah, chief, we've all heard that one. You told it to us yesterday—and the day before yesterday."

"You can't talk that way to me. After all, I'm your wife, not your secretary."

"He can't talk that way to me. After all, I'm his secretary, not his wife."

"Chief, would you mind initialing this requisition for 40 more gallons of red ink? We sure seem to be using a lot more of it this year than last year."

"Thank you, sir, for my shiny new 40-year pin. Remember when you gave me my 25-year pin? That was the year I got my last merit raise."

"Some smart aleck has been drawing caricatures of you again on the factory washroom wall, chief. Shall I try and see if we can get his fingerprints?"

"A delegation from the union is waiting in the anteroom, sir. They say they want to wish you a happy birthday—but I think that's just an excuse to get in, so they can hit you with a whole new bunch of grievances."

"I wouldn't mind going to lunch with the old boy—after all, a free meal's a free meal—if he wouldn't always start reminiscing about how many years he had to work in the old days before he got up to $125 a month."

"Sir, the new office boy is quitting. He says he can't live on a measly $75 a week."

"Dear, there's a letter from Junior by your breakfast toast. He says he made passing grade in the history of old Roman band instruments, but flunked in English, chemistry and American history, and lost $205 playing gin rummy with the house mother at his fraternity."

"There were 37 anonymous suggestions placed in the office suggestion box this month, J.P., and all 37 suggested that you resign. I guess that shows morale is getting better—last month there were 42."

"About the only way I'll ever get promoted in this organization is to marry one of J.P.'s four homely daughters—but I asked my wife, and she won't let me."

"I don't know what you plan to do with your annual bonus, but I'm going to spend mine on a glass of milk. There's not much point in hoarding it."

"I think your pep message to the staff went over pretty big, boss. It has been on the bulletin board for a week, and so far only one 'Blah' and two 'Nuts to you' have been scribbled on it."

Agencies Combine For Election Night

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — When the polls close in Minnesota next Tuesday, NES will take over.

NES stands for News Election Service, formed two years ago by five agencies — Associated Press, United Press International, Columbia Broadcasting System, National Broadcasting Co. and American Broadcasting Co.

Each member of NES is assigned certain states to cover for all in a national election, with results pooled among the five.

Minnesota this year was assigned The Associated Press, after being assigned to NBC in 1964. As NES agent, the AP will take over a portion of the Minneapolis' Armory for its operation election night.

There, dozens of phones and phone reporters will link up with electronic tabulating equipment to count the vote from Minnesota's 87 counties on the three top races — Senate, Governor and Congress.

Each of the five agencies will have its own staff in the Armory to get pooled figures quickly. In addition, returns will be phoned to NES headquarters in New York for national use and analysis.

Newspapers, radio stations, county auditors, weekly editors and other special correspondents will cover most Minnesota counties for NES.

In the three biggest counties, however, the vote will be expedited by direct count from precincts.

In Hennepin and Ramsey counties the League of Women Voters will handle this.

In St. Louis County, the Minnesota Education Association will handle the precinct count. A teacher has been assigned to each precinct in the county to report directly to NES.

A.L. Gallop, St. Paul, executive secretary of the MEA, is coordinating the work, and Andrew Lang, Virginia, president of the association's northeast division, is in charge of the vote-counting in that area.

As they did in all races in the primary, AP and UPI will pool all the state races not being covered by NES, from lieutenant governor on down. This wire service function also will be carried out in the temporary Armory office.

George Moses, Associated Press bureau chief in Minneapolis, is NES manager for Minnesota, with John Lundquist as his deputy.

Cat Comes Home After 20-Mile Trip

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Gary Jewett, 10, reluctantly put his tomcat named Thomas up for adoption six months ago at Sunnyslope, Ariz., nearly 20 miles away.

The 2-year-old cat returned recently and Gary's mother has agreed to keep it.

"I hate to throw him out a second time," she said.

READING BETWEEN THE LIONS . . . Actor Marshall Thompson, co-star of television's "Daktari" series, seems to have chosen an inappropriate spot to study his script for the next scene, on location near Hollywood. It really wasn't Thompson's idea. A television press agent urged him to take the seat between two fellow performers, Cimba (left), a surly male, and Clarence (right), a docile veteran of many movies. The lions are chained to stakes in the ground, but Thompson is facing Cimba nevertheless. (AP Photofax)

Voter Apathy Across U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Warren G. Magnuson said Tuesday candidates across the country are encountering voter apathy that may indicate little change in the political complexion of Congress.

"There are some hot spots, of course — states in which there are some real, live races — but generally there seems to be a great deal of apathy among the voters," he said.

Magnuson, Washington Democrat who heads the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, indicated in a telephone interview he thinks this failure of the average citizen to respond to Viet Nam, inflation and other issues will result in very little net turnover, particularly in Senate races.

"I don't think the Senate lineup will change more than one or two votes, either way," he said. "We could gain a seat or two or we could lose one or two."

Magnuson's view that the current Senate lineup of 67 Democrats and 33 Republicans will not be altered materially was shared to an extent by Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee.

Morton told a news conference Monday he was claiming "only a modest (net) gain of three seats" in the Senate. He said he thinks the Republicans will reclaim the 38 House seats they lost in 1964 and add four or five governors to their list.

The Kentucky senator, a former GOP national chairman, predicted Republican Charles H. Percy will defeat Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas in Illinois and that GOP Sen. Robert P. Griffin will turn back the challenge of former Gov. G. Mennen Williams in Michigan.

He said he is confident that Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke, a Negro, will defeat former Gov. Endicott Peabody to hold the seat being vacated by GOP Sen. Leverett Saltonstall.

The Harris Survey, a copy-right private poll printed in Monday's Washington Post, reported Democrats on a nationwide basis have increased their margin in House contests in the past month but have slipped in the governorship races.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Honesty of Games Studied

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Next to the chance of winning, the question that most often concerns entrants in games, contests and sweepstakes is whether or not the promotion is honestly conducted.

The possibilities of fraud and deception do exist, but the people who produce the games that now flood the malls and greet shoppers at supermarkets and gasoline stations say they do everything possible to assure honesty.

"Our existence depends upon this," said one game producer who devised many of the consumer contests for manufacturers and retail outlets.

The Post Office Department has statutory authority to investigate complaints. But, said a spokesman, "there are few violations. The people who sponsor these contests are responsible."

Another concern of the Post Office is the possibility of lottery, which exists if a PAYMENT is given for a CHANCE to win a PRIZE. If payment is not required, a lottery doesn't exist.

This explains why some companies must state on their sweepstakes that purchase—payment—is not required to enter or win. If the company requires that you buy the product to enter, then a lottery would exist. National lotteries are illegal under U.S. law.

Contest promoters attempt to assure honesty by restricting to only a few persons any knowledge of prepacked winning entries. The reasoning is that wherever the human factor exists so does the chance of error or deceit.

In a number of sweepstakes, for example, the company that devises the game knows the winning numerals. But the client, a toothpaste manufacturer for example, isn't supposed to know. Neither is the company that does the mailing.

Nevertheless, for proof of honesty, promoters usually must ask that you accept their integrity, their reputation, their own self-interest in honesty. "We can't always show you proof," one said.

Another explains his method this way. The game is a numbers sweepstakes in which the winning numerals are prepacked and then mailed. The entry is to be returned to the sponsoring company or store.

"Assume," he said, "that one million numbers are to be mailed. We receive one million prepacked coupons from the printer. We then superimpose the contest numerals in sequence by a numbering device. "Then we toss the numbers into an electronic fishbowl. We don't really use a bowl. We use an electric computer which picks the winners by random choice. We now have matched the number to the prize. "The winning numbers then go into a vault. We don't tell the sponsoring company. Nor do we tell the mailer. We pick the numbers, but since we don't do the mailing we're not able to choose who'll get these numbers."

"Up to this time, nobody outside our company knows the lucky numerals. We may, however, send a key or code to the sponsor to aid him in sorting returns. The code would help identify possible winners from nonwinners."

"Once in a while," he said, "a contest has only one winning number. There might be 1,000 copies of this number and 1,000 prizes. In this case the 1,000 winning numbers, all identical, are slipped at random among nonwinners."

"What prevents the inserter from pocketing a winner? The inserter is made by an executive. He's bonded for $250,000. And he's paid enough so he isn't inclined to steal."

55 Age for Retirement In Japan

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

TOKYO (AP) — At 55 — the customary age for retirement in Japan — Hisao Watanabe formally stepped out of his job in a textile firm and received his lump-sum retirement pay.

That same day he was rehired into his same job, but at lower salary.

It was one consequence of Japan's highly successful efforts, begun 18 years ago, to control its growth, and a consequence also of a booming economy.

Watanabe was needed in his job, because new starting workers are harder to find. He welcomed the continuing salary partly because, having married late, he has a boy in college to educate.

Younger men in the same firm were no so happy, because job advancement still goes by seniority. While a man's pay gradually increases, there is room at the top only by virtue of retirements, deaths or resignations.

Mrs. Shizue Kato of the House of Councillors of the Diet, long a leader in family planning, gestures in graceful dismay at what would have happened if Japan had not acted strongly in 1948 to halt its postwar baby boom.

"Many, many people would have died. Economic recovery would have been longer delayed," she said in an interview.

Japan had 72 million people at war's end. By 1950, it had 83 million — five million infants in addition to the millions of repatriated Japanese.

In 1948, there was little food, little housing. Many couples turned to illegal abortions until the government legalized abortions for economic or other reasons besides health.

Induced, legal abortions rose to a peak of 1,170,000 in 1955, and about 850,000 per year are still performed.

Mrs. Kato and others decry this means of limiting family size, and stronger emphasis is being placed on birth-control clinics and family planning education.

Abortions "are immoral, and they often cause emotional or physical harm to women," she says.

Japan's population was 98,275,000 last year. It is still increasing, nearly a million per year, but is expected to level off at 128 millions by the year 2010.

This year and next the peak is expected in the number of young workers coming out of school into jobs. And a labor shortage is beginning to be felt.

More young people are going on to higher education, rather than taking jobs in their teens. There is a shortage particularly of cheap labor and this is a good thing, says Mrs. Kato.

Farmer, 90, Takes A 13-Mile Walk

UTICA, S.D. (AP)—Farmer Bert DeJong celebrated his 90th birthday Monday by going for a 13-mile walk.

He left home at 8:30 a.m. and at 12:30 p.m. was lunching in Yankton, S.D., with a daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Steivers.

Thieves Satisfy Expensive Tastes

CLEVELAND, Ohio, (AP) — Thieves with expensive tastes grabbed 66 cases of scotch from a state store but left less expensive whiskey on the rocks.

Police said 105 cases of cheaper liquor were found outside the store.

Do Viruses Cause Cancer?

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

TOKYO (AP) — "It is too exciting not to try to do it, despite the immense work involved," the scientist said.

"It" is the discovery of a test to check whether viruses really cause human cancers. The guilty virus or viruses—out of about 300 viruses known to infect humans — could be accurately fingerprinted and identified.

That ability, in turn, could open the door to making vaccines against any cancer-causing virus, or using other means to halt their cancerous behavior.

This new finding is one encouraging highlight among hundreds of research reports presented this past week to the ninth International Cancer Congress.

"For the first time, it offers a test to see if viruses really cause human cancer," said Dr. Maurice Green of the Institute for Molecular Virology, St. Louis University School of Medicine. He gives major credit for development of the technique to Dr. Kei Fujinaga, a Japanese scientist working at the St. Louis institute.

Many scientists have suspected that viruses are at least one cause of human cancers. But there's been no proof. Viruses, some suspect, may take over part of the genetic "code" in a healthy cell. This code is a great string of instructions, known as DNA, that directs all of a cell's activities.

But a virus, or part of it, substituting itself for part of the DNA code, cannot be detected in the DNA.

DNA gives its orders through another chemical, known as messenger RNA, which is a reproduction or template of the DNA code. The messenger RNA travels out from the cell nucleus to give "orders" for making the special proteins each cell has.

The big new step is that messenger RNA can be isolated from cells—including cancerous ones.

By special new techniques, the strand of messenger RNA can be compared with a strand of DNA from any virus, Green said.

ple who produce the games that now flood the malls and greet shoppers at supermarkets and gasoline stations say they do everything possible to assure honesty.

"Our existence depends upon this," said one game producer who devised many of the consumer contests for manufacturers and retail outlets.

The Post Office Department has statutory authority to investigate complaints. But, said a spokesman, "there are few violations. The people who sponsor these contests are responsible."

Another concern of the Post Office is the possibility of lottery, which exists if a PAYMENT is given for a CHANCE to win a PRIZE. If payment is not required, a lottery doesn't exist.

This explains why some companies must state on their sweepstakes that purchase—payment—is not required to enter or win. If the company requires that you buy the product to enter, then a lottery would exist. National lotteries are illegal under U.S. law.

Contest promoters attempt to assure honesty by restricting to only a few persons any knowledge of prepacked winning entries. The reasoning is that wherever the human factor exists so does the chance of error or deceit.

In a number of sweepstakes, for example, the company that devises the game knows the winning numerals. But the client, a toothpaste manufacturer for example, isn't supposed to know. Neither is the company that does the mailing.

Nevertheless, for proof of honesty, promoters usually must ask that you accept their integrity, their reputation, their own self-interest in honesty. "We can't always show you proof," one said.

Another explains his method this way. The game is a numbers sweepstakes in which the winning numerals are prepacked and then mailed. The entry is to be returned to the sponsoring company or store.

"Assume," he said, "that one million numbers are to be mailed. We receive one million prepacked coupons from the printer. We then superimpose the contest numerals in sequence by a numbering device. "Then we toss the numbers into an electronic fishbowl. We don't really use a bowl. We use an electric computer which picks the winners by random choice. We now have matched the number to the prize. "The winning numbers then go into a vault. We don't tell the sponsoring company. Nor do we tell the mailer. We pick the numbers, but since we don't do the mailing we're not able to choose who'll get these numbers."

"Up to this time, nobody outside our company knows the lucky numerals. We may, however, send a key or code to the sponsor to aid him in sorting returns. The code would help identify possible winners from nonwinners."

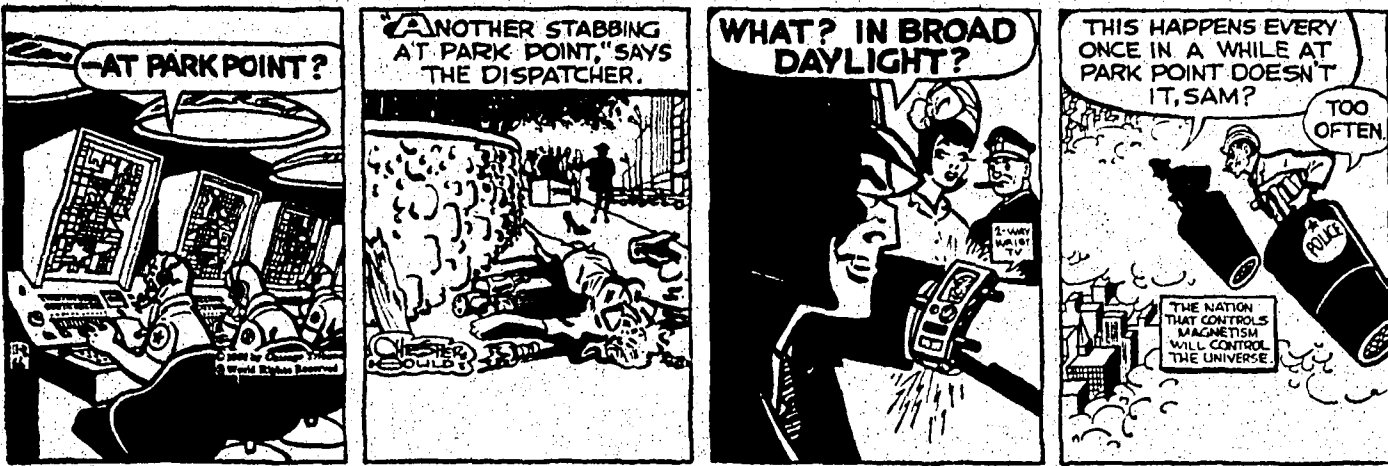

"Once in a while," he said, "a contest has only one winning number. There might be 1,000 copies of this number and 1,000 prizes. In this case the 1,000 winning numbers, all identical, are slipped at random among nonwinners."

"What prevents the inserter from pocketing a winner? The inserter is made by an executive. He's bonded for $250,000. And he's paid enough so he isn't inclined to steal."
