SUPREME COURT SPLIT, 5-4

Florida's Arrest of Demonstrators Valid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that states can declare their property out of bounds for civil rights demonstrators.

Moreover, by a 5-4 vote in a Florida case, the court held demonstrators who refuse an official request to leave can be arrested under trespass ordinances.

Significantly, the majority opinion was written by Justice Hugo Black, recognized protector of free speech guarantees.

In this instance Black said, as the court upheld the trespass convictions of 32 Negroes who demonstrated outside the county jail in Tallahassee:

"Nothing in the Constitution of the United States prevents Florida from even-handed enforcement of its general trespass statute against those refusing to obey a sheriff's order to remove themselves from what amounted to the curtilage (yard) of the jail house.

"The state, no less than a private owner of property, has power to preserve the property under its control for the use to which it is lawfully dedicated."

In concluding his opinion, Black declared again: "The United States Constitution does not forbid a state to control the use of its own property for its own lawful non-discriminatory purpose."

Justice William O. Douglas delivered a dissenting opinion in which he declared that, "We now have set into the record a great and wonderful police state doctrine."

Douglas, who was joined in his opinion by Chief Justice Earl Warren, Justices William J. Brennan and Abe Fortas, declared that the police now have the power to regulate First Amendment (free speech) rights.

Court Stays Clear of Ruling On Long Hair

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to get into the argument over propriety of extra-long hair pro-

Three men students of the Richmond, Va., Professional Institute asked the highest tribunal to strike down an institute order that they get shaves and hair cuts before being registered for a new term.

Refusing to get the barbering, the three said they were denied constitutional rights of self-expression and to be left alone, and insisted the institute ban amounted to cruel and unusual punishment.

Judge John W. Knowles of Richmond Circuit Court refused the three an injunction against the ban, stating:

"The court finds that the rule is reasonable and in no sense arbitrary. Plain common sense dictates that every educational institution, public or private, must set up and require observance of standards of conduct for its personnel — administrative, faculty and students. To argue that 'appearance' is not included within the terms 'decorum' and 'conduct' in these circumstances is to ignore the fact that orderly management of an institution necessarily includes the preservation of discipline there-in."

Bacon, 23, and his wife, Rebecca, were overjoyed with the return of their son. Hospital physicians said the 9-pound, 13-ounce baby was in good condition, but had "a touch of a cold."

Detective Dick Rennick attributed the discovery of the child to "good old legwork." Investigators pored through nearly 700 trip tickets from taxi companies before they found one that indicated a trip was made from the hospital area about the time the baby was missed.

Scott Werner, agent in charge of the Denver office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said Mrs. Douglas apparently lost a baby by a miscarriage recently.

"Apparently Friday she decided to go to a hospital and get a baby," Werner said. He said Mrs. Douglas entered the nursery that had two babies in it while the nurse on duty crossed the hall momentarily to get supplies.

Goff Found Innocent In St. Paul

ST. PAUL (AP) — Sydney W. Goff, prominent St. Paul attorney and Democratic - Farmer-Labor party fund-raiser, was found innocent today of charges that he violated the Minnesota Corrupt Practices Act.

Goff, 56, had been indicted for allegedly receiving a $2,000 political contribution from St. Paul corporation early last year.

Goff said, after the decision had been announced, that he was pleased with the verdict, "which very completely and clearly vindicates me."

"I think I was the victim of the worst and dirtiest frameup in the history of Minnesota politics," he added.

Retired District Judge Arthur A. Stewart said in his decision that the evidence "does not prove beyond a reasonable doubt" that Goff knew the money had come from a corporation.

Stewart said the evidence did show beyond any doubt that corporate funds were involved, but said the state had failed to prove Goff knew this at the time he accepted a $2,000 check in January 1965.

The check went into the campaign coffers of Gov. Karl F. Roivaag and Sen. Walter F. Mondale, but the money was returned 10 months later to the corporation, Allied Realty of St. Paul, Inc.

Goff had testified he considered the money a personal contribution from Philip Kitzer Jr., an official of Allied Realty. The check itself did not specifically identify the firm as a corporation.

The contribution had been made a campaign issue prior to last week's general election. Four days of trial ended Nov. 7 and final arguments were presented last Thursday before Judge Stewart, who heard the case without a jury.

The charge against Goff was a gross misdemeanor. He had been free without bond.

Kitzer is charged with a felony in the same case but his arraignment has been twice delayed and now is scheduled for Nov. 22. Allied Realty also was indicted by the Ramsey County Grand Jury on a similar charge.

It is illegal under Minnesota election laws for a corporation to contribute to a political campaign. Goff had been charged specifically with aiding and abetting such a contribution.

Goff and his attorney, John Daubney, and Paul Lindholm, assistant Ramsey County attorney, were present when Judge Stewart read the three-page decision in his chambers.

The case was a facet of the American Allied Insurance Co. case, which became a central issue in the election campaign. American Allied, a high-risk auto insurance firm, was declared insolvent last year, and 17 persons — including Kitzer — subsequently were indicted on fraud charges by a federal grand jury.

Gemini 12 Space Tests Successful

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Spacewalk champion Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. thrust head and shoulders out of a Gemini 12 door today and coolly clicked pictures of the sunrise, Milky Way and earth — the last adventure by a U.S. astronaut outside a spaceship until 1968.

The photo session — most of which was performed out of range from earth tracking stations with a minimum of conversation heard on the ground — lasted slightly longer than the 40 minutes originally planned.

"We've got a little leg room here for a change," command pilot James A. Lovell Jr. said, referring to the fact that Aldrin had dumped, unneeded equipment overboard while the hatch was open.

"Keep space clean," mission control center said.

"NORAD will have a fit keeping track of all those bits and pieces," Lovell quipped. NORAD is the North American Defense Command, which keeps track of all orbiting objects.

The pilots used more fuel than expected during Aldrin's time outside, cutting off plans to remain outside over the United States to photograph terrain.

"That was a pretty expensive EVA—extra vehicular activity—in the way of fuel," reported Lovell.

"We used 20 to 25 per cent." The space agency said Aldrin's hatch opened about 9:53 a.m. (EST) and closed 52 minutes later.

While outside, however, Aldrin successfully photographed stars and terrain features. The "space stand" boosted his record space exposure time to 5½ hours.

The next U.S. space walk is not scheduled until 1968 on the fourth manned earth-orbital flight planned in America's Apollo man-to-the-moon program.

Making like a gymnast, Aldrin first did a series of exercises to evaluate how difficult it is to work in a stiff space suit, as Gemini 12 sped at 17,500 miles an hour over Australia.

"I can't get my arms down too far," he said.

The astronaut then began shooting pictures of some stars. "That's Jupiter," Lovell said. They then turned their attention to shooting scientific pictures of the sunrise.

Although the hatch was opened earlier than planned in the reshuffled flight plan, it was one orbit later than originally planned, a postponement caused by problems with control jets and two attempts to photograph a high-flying yellow cloud over the glaring Sahara Desert.

As Command Pilot James A. Lovell Jr. wrestled with problems caused by two dead Gemini 12 maneuvering rockets, Aldrin first dumped overboard a bag of debris crammed with the 25-foot lifeline and chest pack used in his record-breaking stroll Sunday.

With split-second timing by control centers on three continents, the Gemini 12 pilots tried twice to photograph—but could not see—a wind-whipped vapor stream spewed by two French Centaure rockets high over the Sahara.

"We saw no cloud," Lovell radioed the second time around. "Pictures taken but no observation."

"They've had visual observation from the ground," flight controllers radioed after a second rocket blasted off about 8:07 a.m. (EST).

"Wish we could say the same," Lovell replied.

"That's where we ought to be," chimed in Aldrin.

The stand in the spacecraft door was initially set to begin at 8:47 a.m. but the pilots asked for more time.

B52s Strike Back

U.S. Infantry Company Badly Mauled by Reds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — B52 bombers struck back today at North Vietnamese troops which inflicted heavy casualties on a U.S. infantry company near the Cambodian border.

The giant Stratoforts, in one of three raids, hammered at North Vietnamese concentrations 16 miles northwest of the Plei Djereng U.S. Special Forces camp. This was near the area where an estimated 500 North Vietnamese regulars attacked a company — 178 men — of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division Sunday.

A U.S. spokesman said the infantry company suffered heavy casualties in the initial Communist assault of a battle that lasted 1½ hours. He said 26 North Vietnamese were killed.

Elsewhere, only small and sporadic skirmishes were reported as the ground war lapsed into a lull. Over North Viet Nam, bad weather limited U.S. air blows again Sunday.

American pilots flew only 71 bombing missions, well below the daily average. The strikes all were in the southern portion of North Viet Nam and five missions hit at Communist positions inside the demilitarized zone.

The battle around the Plei Djereng Green Beret camp, 230 miles north of Saigon, was one of three clashes Sunday involving U.S. 25th division troops.

In the first, a company of infantrymen engaged a platoon of North Vietnamese 18 miles west of Plei Djereng and reported killing eight in a 25-minute fire fight. Two hours later, the same company engaged an enemy battalion in the biggest encounter of the day.

The North Vietnamese broke contact only after the U.S. force brought up ground reinforcements and called in air strikes and heavy artillery barrages. Although the U.S. company took heavy casualties in the initial contact, a U.S. spokesman said over-all casualties for the full engagement were light.

In the third clash, lasting only five minutes, another company of the 25th reported killing five North Vietnamese 12 miles northwest of Plei Djereng. The company had no casualties, the U.S. spokesman said.

Units of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division reported capturing 27 Viet Cong Sunday in scattered skirmishes in War Zone C during Operation Attleboro.

While contact was light in this operation 65 miles northwest of Saigon, the U.S. infantrymen uncovered 358 tons of rice 15 miles east of Tay Ninh City Sunday and 31 tons today.

Tay Ninh Province has long been a Viet Cong stronghold and U.S. troops in the past week's fighting have identified the enemy force as the 9th Viet Cong division plus a regiment of North Vietnamese regulars.

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli forces attacked three Jordanian villages and clashed sharply with Jordanian ground and air forces Sunday in a raid retreating against guerrilla attacks from Israel's Arab neighbors. Shooting also erupted again across the Israeli-Syrian border.

Both Jordan and Israel claimed they inflicted heavy losses.

U.S. observers obtained a cease-fire about four hours after the tank-led Israeli forces swept two miles across Jordan's border. The Israeli troops withdrew. Firing across the Syrian border ended about 6:30 p.m.

Premier Levi Eshkol of Israel said the attack was a "warning raid" against Jordanian centers, he charged were used by "El Fatah" commandos as bases for sabotage inside Israel. Israel claims the El Fatah raiders are Jordanians acting under Syrian instigation.

Israel made an aerial attack last July on a Syrian installation in retaliation for El Fatah sabotage, but the terrorist raids have continued.

The Israeli attack, in brigade strength, was made on the Jordanian villages of Samu, Hirbeit Karkaz and Jimba. The villages are about 30 miles south of Jerusalem in a bulge of Jordanian territory west of the Dead Sea.

Israeli and Jordanian jets clashed in dog fights. Israel claimed it downed one Jordanian plane. Jordan said it bagged two Israeli jets.

At the United Nations, Jordan's Ambassador Muhammad H. El-Farra said the Israeli troops killed 26 Jordanians — 13 soldiers and 13 civilians — wounded 54 and captured three soldiers.

In Amman, a Jordanian military spokesman said 50 Israelis were killed or wounded and 10 tanks destroyed.

An Israeli spokesman gave Israel's losses as one killed and 10 wounded in the Jordan fighting and said no casualties were suffered in the seven hours of sporadic shooting across the Syrian-Israeli border near the Ashmora settlement north of the Sea of Galilee.

THEY HAVE HIM BACK . . . "We got him back," was about all Mr. and Mrs. William Bacon could say Sunday night after their infant son was returned to them at Colorado General Hospital in Denver. The hours old baby was taken from a nursery at the hospital early Saturday morning. Scott Werner, agent-in-charge of the FBI, said the baby was found in the home of Mrs. Susan Douglas. Kidnaped Baby Returned Safely

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A 41-hour search by police and FBI agents for a kidnaped baby ended happily Sunday with the safe return of the 3-day-old child to his parents.

The husky son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bacon of Denver was abducted early Saturday morning from a fourth-floor nursery at Colorado General Hospital.

Police are holding Susan Douglas, 29, of Denver, for investigation of kidnapping. Detective Jack Groginsky said the woman, after being advised of her rights, admitted taking the child.

No charges have been filed. Police will discuss the case with Denver Dist. Atty. Bert Keating today.

Bacon, 23, and his wife, Rebecca, were overjoyed with the return of their son. Hospital physicians said the 9-pound, 13-ounce baby was in good condition, but had "a touch of a cold."

Two Aboard Tanker Dead In Explosion

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — A tanker, its captain and a motor-man dead from a time bomb explosion, made its way up the Columbia River to Astoria, Ore., early today while a search was made for other bombs.

A Columbia River pilot taken aboard outside the mouth of the river reported another device resembling a bomb had been found in the master's cabin, and the crew thought there might be more aboard.

The 535-foot Liberian vessel, the Grand Integrity, was off the Oregon coast Sunday, headed to South Korea from Longview, Wash., when the bomb which killed the captain, Ho Lien-siu, and the motorman, Chiu Yung-ye, exploded.

DEAR ABBY:

Feed Kicking Husband Hay

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Last week a friend and his wife came over to visit us. My husband was discussing sports with the man, and I was helping the wife with some stitches she was having difficulty crocheting. Out of the wide blue sky my husband got up out of his chair, walked over to where I was sitting, and kicked me! I was so shocked my dentures nearly fell out. I was too stunned to say anything, and of course, our guests didn't know what to say or think, so they pretended they didn't see anything. Later on, when our guests left, I asked my husband what his idea was in kicking me. He said, "You were sitting badly, your dress was hiked up over your knees." For crying out loud, is this any way for a husband to act when there are guests around?

KICKED IN K.C.

Abby

DEAR KICKED: Certainly not. Nor is it any way for a husband to behave when there are no guests around. He needs to be taught a lesson. Serve him hay. It's a fitting diet for the kind of animal who doesn't speak — but kicks.

DEAR ABBY: Someone signed WORRIED wrote expressing concern because her birth certificate carried her mother's maiden name. She assumed that her mother had had her before she was married.

Abby, in most states (and perhaps in ALL of them, for all I know) this is the way all birth certificates are made out. Only the mother's MAIDEN name appears on the child's birth certificate. Never her married name. A very humane practice if you ask me.

M.D.A.

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday mom had 50 cents on her dresser, and this morning it was gone. We have a large family and no one will own up, so my father has placed all our kids on restriction until the guilty party confesses. We can't use the phone, radio or TV, and we've lost all our privileges for a whole month. I considered saying I took the 50 cents to get the other innocent ones off restriction, but that would include the guilty one, too, so maybe that's silly. I think I know who took the money, and I think my parents know, too, but they are waiting for her to own up to it. Do you think this is fair? What should I do?

UNHAPPY

DEAR UNHAPPY: If your parents know who the guilty party is, but are punishing all of you, they are being very unjust. Don't claim guilt you don't deserve. You innocent ones should go to your parents and declare your innocence once more. By this time the guilty party should fess up. Good luck.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "GINNY": If you are wise, that "certain something" you'll look for in a prospective husband will be "something certain."

Bride Prices Up in Africa

By JERRY BUCK

NEW YORK (AP) — Those who think inflation is strictly a phenomenon of Western civilization haven't had to ante up cowrie shells lately to buy an African bride.

Time was a young swain needed only two of these small, colorful shells to complete a deal with a bride's family. Now, in the Cameroons, it takes 15,000 to 50,000 cowries.

On Santa Cruz, in the British Solomon Islands, the price of a bride has gone up to at least 10 feather coils and specialists have taken control of the whole business from the bird catching to putting a price on a coil.

In primitive areas of the world, principally remote regions of Africa and Oceania, brides are still purchased with ages-old mediums of exchange. And just about everywhere the price has gone up — and up.

A study of this practice, along with a collection of money, goes on display today in an exhibit called "The Price of a Bride" at the Chase Manhattan money museum at Sixth Avenue and 50th Street.

For the most part wife-buying is now symbolic and the cowrie shells, feather coils, porpoise teeth, Yap stones and all the rest becomes status symbols for the bride's family, said Caroline Harris, director of the money museum.

"We were curious to know the amount the young 20th century tribesman must pay to secure a dutiful, hard-working wife," said Mrs. Harris. "We found that practices are not strikingly different from what they have been in the civilized parts of the world."

"The price of a bride depends on the wealth of the suitor. Naturally, the more he has, the more he pays."

Mrs. Harris said the families don't regard themselves as selling a child.

"When they lose a daughter to marriage, that means one less person to do the work, so they must be compensated for that loss," she said.

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dynex)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

BILL MERRILL'S
Something to Live By

I want to share a happy moment with you. It happened in Minneapolis, Minnesota. Involved were a big burly policeman and some young boys during the 5:00 o'clock rush hour.

I can remember when children were taught that policemen were their friends. Perhaps this is still being taught, but it seems an ever-growing hostility toward authority coupled with our troubled times in doing little to enhance the desired image of uniformed lawmen.

It takes a devoted soul to stand for what he knows is right at the risk of being misunderstood, unappreciated, and even scoffed at. Yet, many a good man is firm in wearing the uniform of his city, county, or state that bears the badge of law as he backs it up with an honest effort to serve his public well.

THIS FACT was brought home to me as I approached an intersection on Washington Avenue in Minneapolis, Minnesota where I had been visiting. It was during the rush hour at the end of a working day. Traffic was bearing down with every lane filled to capacity.

To effect a smoother flow, a policeman had been assigned to this particular corner to direct the hundreds of drivers on their way. As I recall, three boys with two bicycles were at the curb to my far left. Having only two bicycles, two of the boys were preparing to take off on one of them. I think they were between twelve and thirteen years of age. Too, these fellows had acquired a cigarette and were in the process of lighting it. I suspect they felt quite alone in this maze of traffic and excitement. Certainly no one would ever notice.

Then it happened. Almost rhythmically that very large, manly policeman, while controlling the traffic, let out an attention-getting yell. First he instructed the boys to dismount, that only one lad at a time could ride on a bike. Then, with the potency of a rifle crack, he said, "Throw down that cigarette and stomp it out," and finally he instructed them to move.

I SUSPECT those youngsters sputtered and complained at this authoritative manner, but they did just what they were told, as the policeman continued to operate the traffic as if it were a well-oiled machine.

Why? Why would a busy guy like that take time to discipline some lads about their attempt at smoking? Perhaps he was a father himself, just basically a nice guy, though firm. I don't know, but I do know this. He chalked up some points for the good guys in my book. I had the feeling this was the kind of a fellow an outlaw would least like to encounter and that a kid could most depend upon to help get a stranded pet. The people's friend, that's who he really was, and typical of a host of guys who earn their living at a not so easy task.

Hats off to this Minneapolis policeman and his contemporaries, wherever they are, who are so strong, and yet so tender, granting us better places to live in.

Oregon Man Killed While Rabbit Hunting

PRESTON, Minn. — A 25-year-old man from Aloha, Ore., died moments after being struck by a .22 rifle bullet 1 1/2 miles northeast of Spring Valley near the city dump Sunday at 7:30 a.m.

Mike Ryan died of hemorrhage of the lung, Dr. J. P. Nehring of Preston, Fillmore County coroner, said. The gun was fired by Kathryn Rogers, 27, a friend of the victim.

The bullet entered Ryan's body just above the breast bone, deflected and lodged in the left shoulder. The bullet was removed for the coroner by a Spring Valley doctor.

Dr. Nehring ruled the death accidental, but said an investigation is pending.

Ryan and Miss Rogers, also of Aloha, arrived at the Virgil Blake home at Spring Valley about two weeks ago with Blake's son, Glen, who had been in Oregon. Ryan and Miss Rogers were hunting rabbits when the accident happened.

A total of 1,524 boys or 56 percent of the Boy Scouts in the council came to camp and 93 troops representing 85 percent of the total were in attendance. Capital improvement projects financed by the foundation totalled $2,365.

Projects for 1967 will include the purchase of additional equipment and building of three more campsites latrines.

Winonan on State DFL Study Group

A Winona man, Duane M. Peterson, has been named to a six-member special committee that will investigate means of rebuilding state DFL party strength.

Peterson, 1st District chairman, was named by State Chairman George Farr. Peterson was a key man in the drive last summer to endorse Lt. Gov. A. M. Keith for the governorship in preference to Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag.

MEMBERSHIP of the committee is divided between backers of the two, something which Peterson thinks is a good thing. In this way, he said today, factional disagreements can be talked out in face-to-face meetings.

Committee members may begin meetings as early as next week. Peterson emphasized, however, that the committee's function is that of a study group and that it cannot do the rebuilding job that properly is that of the state executive committee.

Peterson discounted the Rolvaag-Keith split as an important factor in last week's election losses for the DFL. Only those actively in party work were strongly affected or aligned, he said, and these constitute only a fraction of the voting public.

Now that the elections are past, said Peterson, unified party planning is more nearly possible. Before the intra-party fights were quelled by the voting results, few policy proposals could get anywhere since they immediately were identified with one faction or the other, Peterson noted.

OTHER members of the special committee are: Wayne Olson, the unsuccessful DFL candidate for attorney general, a Rolvaag man; Robert Hess, state AFL-CIO executive vice president, a Keith man; Norval Swager, Minneapolis Teamsters local president, a Rolvaag man, and William E. Wright, University of Minnesota associate professor of history, a Keith man.

Also named to the committee in ex officio capacities were Mrs. Betty Kane, state chairwoman; Mrs. Geri Joseph and Cong. John Blatnik, national committeewoman and committeeman, and Farr himself.

The valuation of building permits issued here this year has mounted past the $10 million mark on the strength of six permits issued last week for work estimated to cost a little more than $77,000.

Let's Hope It Melts in His Mouth

If Pfc. Robert Gauvey gets an airmail package at Long Binh, Viet Nam, sometime in the next 48 hours, he will be pleasantly surprised.

So will employees of Marigold Dairies here who packaged a gallon of ice cream this morning for Pfc. Gauvey's uncle, Mr. Kirk Gauvey, 1330 W. Wincrest Dr.

Taking an admitted long shot, Gauvey had the local firm encase the ice cream carton in 18 pounds of dry ice and a double-insulated box. He planned to airmail the 25-pound package from Minneapolis today. His nephew, whose home is Beaver Falls, Pa., is with the 576th Ordnance Company, a unit which oversees a large Army ammunition dump at Long Binh.

Marigold Manager Irvin Blumentritt said 10 pounds of dry ice will keep ice cream solid for about 24 hours under normal conditions. No one here is certain how long delivery will take.

Gauvey is Midwest service representative for Warner & Swasey Co.

Duxbury to Try For Another Term as Speaker

CALEDONIA, Minn. — A Caledonia legislator, Rep. Lloyd L. Duxbury, will seek a third term as House speaker as a result of last week's elections which strengthened Conservative control in both houses.

Rep. Duxbury dismissed as mere rumors stories that Twin Cities Conservatives would launch a concerted drive to elect a speaker from the metropolitan area. He predicted the Conservative bloc will enjoy overall harmony and unity of objectives. Rep. Duxbury called outside highway improvement one of the major needs to be faced by the legislature.

He also said it appears unfair that Twin Cities residents can send their children to college while living at home whereas many outside students face additional expenses of lodging and food. Some equalization might be effected by means of extra income tax deductions for rural area parents of such students, he said.

In the coming session Conservatives will occupy 93 of the 135 seats in the House, or 68.9 percent.

Mondovian, 17, Loses License Over Accident

ALMA, Wis. (Special) — The license of 17-year-old Richard A. Friedericks, Mondovi Rt. 1, was suspended by Buffalo County Judge Gary B. Schlossstein here Thursday after a jury of six found him guilty of illegal passing and driving too fast for conditions.

The suspension will start after a suspension on a previous charge is completed. Defendant, in court with his parents and represented by Randall Morey, Mondovi, was involved in an accident July 14. He was ordered to pay court costs.

DISTRICT Attorney Roger L. Hartman prosecuted. Witnesses were Andrew Rutschow, 73, Town of Naples, whose car was struck by defendant's vehicle; Henry Zeichert, Buffalo County traffic officer who made the arrest, and young Friedericks.

The case opened at 9:30 a.m. and testimony was completed at 12:20 p.m. Following lunch the jury went into deliberation at 2:45 p.m. and returned the verdict 45 minutes later.

The accident happened on County Trunk HH as Friedericks was returning home from Mondovi. Friedericks said he saw Rutschow coming out the highway from the Delbert Lindsay farm. He saw the front wheels of Rutschow's 1949 car over the center line of the road, he said, and a gravel truck approaching. He testified he slowed from 58 m.p.h. to 55, applied his brakes and swung right, passing the Rutschow vehicle with two wheels on the blacktop and two on the shoulder.

With a ditch to the right, he said he increased his speed to avoid it and caught Rutschow's back right bumper.

RUTSCHOW testified his driver's license had expired June 29 and he had neglected to renew it. He said as he proceeded onto the highway from the Lindsay place where he had stopped en route home, he saw the gravel truck but not the Friedericks car.

Zeichert said there were a few knolls in the highway along the stretch where the accident happened. He testified that there were 68 feet of skid marks from the Friedericks car westward from the Lindsay driveway, and the Rutschow car was almost in the middle of the road after the impact.

Serving on the jury were Mrs. Ralph Grob, Mrs. George Evans and Alan Kirchner; Alma; Mrs. Eugene Baglinski and Leonard Losinski, Fountain City, and James Waters Jr., Cochrane.

Area Deer Success About 1 in 5

The deer take in Zone 6 (the Southeastern corner of the state) in the first two days of the three-day season was approximately one deer to every five hunters, according to George Meyer, Whitewater Wildlife Refuge superintendent.

A check of about 25 percent of the refuge hunters who had hunted in some part of the 20,000-acre area, showed success for a little over 20 percent. A total of 1,311 hunters checked had 196 deer.

This average is about the same as for the past 10 years. Best results per hunter probably was in Houston County, outside of the Mississippi River bottomlands, where many parties filled. One party of 11 hunters from Houston got 11 deer hunting in the immediate Houston area. Another party of nine got nine deer in the Mount Prairie area. Locker plant operators in the area placed the success in the county around 35 percent.

Hunting pressure was very heavy over the entire zone Sunday, when hunters from almost every community in southern Minnesota and many from the Twin Cities were checked by wardens. Most of southern Minnesota was closed to deer hunting this year.

"About 75 percent of the hunters I checked were from outside Wabasha County," Wilis Kruger, Wabasha warden, said.

Drives in some areas were quite successful. A group of nine hunters, including three from Winona, got four bucks and five does in the Mound Prairie area. In this group were Dean Radtke and Ralph Schultz, Minneapolis.

Harry Kuhlman, Peter Kuhlman and M. J. McCauley, Winona, Bill, Hugh and Bud Lynch, Houston, and Norman Feuerhelm, Hokah.

Here's a Famous Dressing Recipe

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Now is the time for all good columnists and true to come to the aid of the Thanksgiving dinner that's being planned by giving their favorite recipes for turkey stuffing such as their mothers-in-law make better than anybody.

My own Gorgeous Mother-in-Law makes the dressing so deliciously that the Beautiful Wife and I eat it alone, if necessary, without the turkey.

The secret is that it's made outside the turkey and that there are no measurements," required.

Price of Farms To Continue Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm real estate prices are expected to continue rising through early next year, but not at the same rate that pushed farm land prices to record levels in 1966.

The rising income of farmers and their desire to acquire more land combined with a declining number of farms for sale to boost agricultural land prices, which the Agriculture Department estimates reached a national average of $157 per acre this year. And the average value of land and buildings for each farm operating unit reached $57,100.

The major factor likely to slow farm land purchases and land prices in 1967 is high interest rates on loans and less money available for lending.

The increased value of their land raised the value of farmer assets this year. But it also contributed to a slight reduction in the ratio of what they took in measured against their total investment. High labor and management costs also contributed.

And the government sees a further decline in the average farmer's return on his real estate investment in 1967. Farmers are expected to continue to seek additional credit, even at high interest rates, to acquire more land. Equipment needed to work that land is going to cost more, too.

Watchmen in Singapore often place their beds across the doorways they guard and thus sleep while they work.

Weekend Auto Crashes Kill 9 in Wisconsin

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Accidents on Wisconsin highways during the weekend claimed at least nine lives and brought the state's toll for 1966 to 952, compared with 886 on this date a year ago.

The grim count was 945 on this date in 1964 when a record 1,059 persons lost their lives on Wisconsin roads.

Richard Marmolejo, 21, of Milwaukee was killed early Sunday when his car struck a light pole on the city's North Side.

Paul S. Bernarde, 18, of rural Pulaski, Brown County, and Gary A. Fabry, 20, of Cecil, Shawano County, were killed Saturday night in a collision on Highway 29 about three miles south of Angelica, Shawano County.

Mrs. Frances Stinnett, 36, of Milwaukee died Saturday night in a Beaver Dam hospital of injuries suffered a few hours previously when her car left Highway 33, about six miles east of Horicon, struck a culvert and overturned.

Mark Stockhausen, 9, of Germantown was killed Saturday night when he was struck by a car as he rode a bicycle across Highway 41 in Menomonie Falls.

Hans Tschan, 82, of Oconomowoc was injured fatally Saturday night in a collision at Highway 67 and Waukesha County Trunk C.

Jeffrey A. Geier, 2, of rural Mauston was killed Friday night when a car skidded off Interstate 90-94 and rolled down an embankment four miles east of Tomah, Monroe County.

LAKE CITY PATIENT

LAKE CITY, Minn. (Special) — Mrs. Lawrence Brinkman, rural Lake City, recently a patient at Methodist Hospital, Rochester, now is a patient at Lake City Municipal Hospital.

When you love your work, it shows.

And we love our work. So much so that we couldn't bear to stop with the slickest-looking grille ever to grace a Wide-Track. (Or any other car, for that matter.) We went ahead and made the windshield wipers disappear. The car not only looks cleaner, but the wipers are less subject to icing and freezing, too.

Then we got rid of the vent windows on all Grand Prix hardtops. We replaced them with nifty monograms and a flow-through ventilation system.

We even designed a rather unique hood-mounted tachometer option that's available on all Pontiacs. As are our other bright new options like our eight-track stereo tape player and AM-FM Stereo-Multiplex radio. And, of course, our hand-some interiors have to be seen to be believed. All Pontiacs have standard safety features that include a dual master cylinder brake system with warning light, outside rearview mirror, and GM's energy absorbing steering column.

Isn't it time you decided to see your Pontiac dealer? If you love our work the way we do, it's the least you can do.

Many Critical Of Supreme Court Rulings

By LOUIS HARRIS

LOS ANGELES — The U.S. Supreme Court has become a highly controversial branch of government and is able to muster an over-all vote of confidence from less than half the American people. The public, whatever constitutional principles may be involved, is most critical of two key decisions: The banning of prayers in public schools and the refusal to accept confessions made by suspects before they can obtain legal counsel.

In a special survey of a cross section of the American people, the public gives a negative rating to the job done by the nation's highest court by 52-48%. This is largely the result of the court's extreme unpopularity in the South, although the Midwest approximates the national average of disapproval.

"Popular" decisions by the court include three landmark cases decided in recent years. For example, by 3 to 1, every group in the population specifically supports the "one-man, one-vote" decision which required many states to reapportion legislative districts on a population basis. Furthermore, with the exception of the South, the decisions to outlaw segregation in the schools and in public accommodations meet with close to 2-to-1 public approval.

A sixth decision — that which forbids the Senate Department from denying passports to Communists — splits the public almost down the middle.

A CONSISTENT pattern in the results reveals that younger people, Negroes and the better educated tend to back the court while white Southerners, older people and the less well-educated tend to be the court's severest critics.

The special cross section of the public was asked:

"How would you rate the job the U.S. Supreme Court has been doing — Excellent, pretty good, only fair or poor?"

RATING OF U.S. SUPREME COURT

	Good-Excellent	Only Fair	Poor
Nation-wide	48	52
By region
East	52	48
Midwest	48	52
South	35	65
West	55	45
By age
Under 35	58	42
35-49	51	49
50 and over	42	58
By education
8th grade or less	44	56
High school	46	54
College	53	47

A young husband in Columbia, Miss., summed up his position in this way: "I have two school-age children. Therefore, I don't like what the court is doing — period." Said an Illinois housewife: "I'm disturbed about this bending over backward to take care of the single individual. What about the majority who want the opposite?"

The court, however, is not without supporters. "They're trying to eliminate some of the bigotry," said a 64-year-old woman from Los Angeles. "They have put the churches on their toes," added a neighbor. "They've stuck their necks out and taken stands when they could have avoided it."

Here is the roster of approval and disapproval by the public on six key Supreme Court decisions:

SIX KEY DECISIONS

	approve	disapprove
Reapportionment: one man one vote	76	24
Desegregation of schools	64	36
Desegregation of public accommodations	64	36
Allowing Communists passports	49	51
Disallowing confession without counsel	35	65
Outlawing prayers in classrooms	30	70

In the South, only the reapportionment decision meets with public approval. The public accommodations decision, upholding the Civil Rights Act, is opposed better than 2 to 1. It is significant, however, that the 1954 court decision on school integration is now supported by 44% of all Southerners, indicating that opposition tends to dwindle with time.

By contrast, Negroes heartily support five out of six of the key decisions. They are heavily influenced by the forthright position of the court on racial equality, but they are opposed to the school prayer ban by 3 to 1, indicating the strong religious feeling that exists in the Negro community.

Young people appear to be far more aroused about individual civil liberties than their elders. This is undoubtedly a reflection of the feeling of this younger generation that non-conformity is vital to a free society. Clearly, the issue of

Japanese Plane Crashes, 50 Aboard Missing

MATSUYAMA, Japan (AP) — Authorities gave up all hope today of finding any survivors of the crash of a Japanese-made airliner with 50 aboard into the sea Sunday night.

Six planes had searched the area in the hope some might have reached land, and 60 boats picked up 21 bodies. There were 45 passengers and five crew members on the propjet that went down during a rainstorm. Twenty-two of the victims were honeymooners.

It was the fourth major air crash in Japan this year and the second of an All-Nippon Airways plane. A total of 321 persons died in the other three.

The newlyweds aboard — Sunday is considered auspicious for marriages in Japan — were heading for seaside resorts. The plane overshot the runway on its first attempt to land, bounced on the runway, climbed into the night sky, veered sharply and fell seconds later about 1.5 miles off shore.

Believe Gold in Abandoned Mine

WASHINGTON (AP) — Long-abandoned Peter's mine in Guyana, South America, may have a gold production potential of more than $5.5 million, according to a study made public today by the Interior Department.

A. E. Weissenborn, who studied the abandoned site and wrote the gold occurred in a system of large quartz veins but that the "pay streaks were erratic."

"Although some surface samples assayed as much as 7 ounces of gold per ton of rock," he said, "most were disappointingly low."

Weissenborn said, however, "analysis of vein structures and drill core data indicate that one block of ground may have a production potential of about 160,000 ounces of gold." This would be worth over $5.5 million at current prices.

Coast-to-Coast Power Test Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department says 40 percent of the world's electric power capacity will be linked together early next year in a test of a coast-to-coast interconnected power grid.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall said Saturday the hookup will combine 209 major public and private power systems in the United States and Canada with a capacity of nearly 245 million kilowatts and 285,000 miles of main transmission lines.

"When the closure is completed," Udall said, "generating plants from coast to coast will automatically respond to power system emergencies in any part of the country, thereby improving service standards."

"Ultimately, large blocks of power may be exchanged between zones, taking advantage of differences in power demands between time zones and seasonal loads across the country as well as available water for hydroelectric power production and differences in power production costs.

"A major benefit," Udall continued, "will be a reduction in the standby capacity which operating utilities must maintain."

Another spokesman said the test is being approached "step by step" to avoid any chain reaction blackout such as that which developed a year ago along the East Coast.

Air Force Gives Up Plane Search

OTIS AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP) — The Air Force has given up its search for a radar picket plane that crashed in the Atlantic Friday and has declared the 19 crew members dead.

A burned flight jacket and other debris were found in the search area about 125 miles southeast of Nantucket Island near Cape Cod.

Nine Air Force officers arrived at Otis during the weekend to investigate the crash of the Constellation.

U.S. Set Back In Battle to Clear Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The battle of Tay Ninh Province set back a major U.S. effort to clean out Viet Cong guerrillas near Saigon.

Nearly half the combat battalions of the 1st Infantry Division had been wheeled into position for the big pacification campaign. Some operations had been mounted just outside the Vietnamese capital.

Then elements of the Viet Cong 9th Division, a main force outfit, opened major attacks in Tay Ninh Province about 60 miles northwest of Saigon. The 1st Division had to rush to the critical battleground.

Only a few hours before the Tay Ninh battle erupted Nov. 3 senior officers of the 1st Division told a newsmen the VC 9th had been "pushed back into the briar patch" along the Cambodian border.

The 1st Division could concentrate on "grinding up the guerrillas" as close as five miles from Saigon, these officials said.

The VC 9th crossed up the American plans.

The U.S. plans — which probably will be carried out after the Tay Ninh battle ends — calls for four battalions of the 1st Division to do pacification work.

The object of the intensified drive is to break down the Viet Cong organization or infrastructure in the villages near Saigon and lessen the enemy's hold on the peasants.

During its search-and-destroy sweeps against regular VC units, the 1st Infantry operated in battalion and brigade strength.

In switching emphasis to pacification, the intention is to break down the American infantry forays to squad, platoon and company scale.

"We'll be going into the villages 24 hours a day and we'll be patrolling every night," said a senior officer.

Thoughts at Random — From Editor's Notebook

WHEN "THE SHOWMAN" was caught lifting a chicken's slipper and ended up in a birdbath at the darkhouse after a cattle feeding — hardly anyone knew what happened — especially the Italian police.

Now, however, the Italian Interior Ministry is preparing a dictionary of criminal slang to give to police in the hope they will be able to understand the jargon that serves the underworld as a private code.

Armed with his dictionary, a cop would have known that the business about the showman meant that "the pickpocket was seen stealing an Italian's wallet and placed in a prison cell after getting the third degree."

Veteran criminologists say that once the dictionary is out that the underworld will change its tune, leaving the police right where they started, "in the hatband" — which is currently translated as "in the dark."

REP. WILLIAM E. Minshall (R-Ohio) has called for an investigation of charges by pilots in Viet Nam that they are ordered to bomb "valueless" targets to improve the statistical records of their units.

One disillusioned flyer reportedly told of three planes attacking "two small waterwheels on a stream in the middle of nowhere" in a letter read into the Congressional Record.

The former Navy pilot said that in the targets destroyed report, the waterwheels might well have been listed as an irrigation plant.

Other pilots complain that as many as 200 lightly-loaded planes are often sent out to do a job that would require only 40 or 50 with full loads so that commanding officers can list a higher number of sorties.

Returning pilots say their comrades have developed a play-it-safe attitude when attacking targets they consider not worth "any of our lives or planes."

HIGH FRENCH SOURCES say that President de Gaulle and Russian leaders have informed President Johnson that they are willing to enter into a treaty along with "anybody else who might want to join," to guarantee the independence of Viet Nam, both North and South, from any outside aggression.

The conditions of the treaty would demand that the United States cease bombing and announce its intention of withdrawal from South Viet Nam over a two-year period.

The offer, the report says, may prove irresistible to the President because it would dramatically reaffirm the U.S.-Soviet detente and would serve to contain China.

It would also provide an honorable end to the war before the all-important 1968 presidential election.

Another French offer reportedly in the works is a bilateral mutual defense pact with the U.S. to replace the broken NATO link. De Gaulle has long favored this idea and apparently feels that recent friendly talks between his Foreign Minister, Couve de Murville, and President Johnson, indicate a possible U.S. interest.

A new treaty would give De Gaulle a chance to reinstate France's traditional bonds with the West and allow him a more positive influence on U.S. policy. On the U.S. side, a treaty would reopen the possibility of bringing France into nuclear disarmament talks, of getting its signature on the Moscow test ban treaty and of ending French harassment of the dollar.

ON SEPT. 1, 1966, the House passed the HemisFair Bill. This bill provides 10 million dollars in federal funds to construct a building to house a United States exhibit at the San Antonio Fair in 1968. The fair is to commemorate the founding of San Antonio, Tex.

In San Antonio 140 acres of land have already been cleared in the central part of the city for the fair. Twelve million dollars in federal money have been given under the Urban Renewal Program to clear this land. This will make a total of 22 million dollars in federal funds for the fair and no doubt more to come.

It is ironic that in the Rules Committee immediately before it considered the HemisFair Bill, heard testimony on the Military Construction Bill. All funds in the Military Construction Bill for the construction of housing for military families had been deleted due to the tremendous cost of the Viet Nam war. That reasoning did not prevail in considering the 10 million dollars to be spent in the HemisFair building, which is strictly a local affair in San Antonio.

The Gemini 11 flight had one interesting result; it gave rise to a new theme song for space - walking astronauts, "Sweet Gels in Your Eyes."

Things move fast in our time. Margaret Sanger, who just died at 82, was once indicted by the federal government for advocating birth control views that the federal government is now advocating.

And when he had sent the multitudes away he went up into a mountain apart to pray: And when evening was come he was there alone.—Matthew 14:23.

House Control Lost to LBJ

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Despite the mathematical majority of 30 seats above the 218 mark which the Democrats have retained, the truth is that President Johnson has really lost control of the House of Representatives on many pivotal issues. His party's margin of 30 could be wiped out by anywhere from 50 to 70 Democrats from southern states who have usually voted against the administration not merely on civil-rights questions, but on government spending and issues involving the "great society."

There are, to be sure, from 10 to 20 Republicans in the House who regularly move over to the so-called "liberal" side, so the net deficiency would be 40 to 50 votes — enough to keep the President from getting a majority. To put it another way, Mr. Johnson may be able always to count on 185 Democrats and possibly 15 Republicans for a total of 200 votes. But the opposition could at times muster 235.

PRECISE FIGURES are not available because many of the Democratic members of the House avoided voting altogether in the last session on certain issues that are politically perplexing. So some congressmen stayed away from Washington, and frequently as many as 100 members were absent. The reason for this was that many of the Democrats did not care to be recorded as against the President, and yet they did not want to see passed some of the legislation he was proposing.

The situation in the Senate is somewhat more favorable to the President but, again, an actual majority on highly controversial issues is in doubt.

Most of the opposition to the President in the last session of Congress was related to the spending programs. Members did not want to antagonize the White House, but they avoided voting on issues which would commit the government to larger expenditures. Incidentally, much of the legislation for the "great society" program is in the form of "authorizations," and the actual appropriation of the funds has not yet been made. It is in this category of legislation that the President will find it hard to command a majority in the House or Senate.

UNION LABOR, too, is finding itself in difficulties. Some estimates show that labor has lost nearly 50 of its supporters in the House. A United Press International survey reveals that at least 184 members of the House endorsed by the AFL-CIO committee won election. But this is 34 votes less than a majority. The labor unions supported 332 candidates for the House, including 14 Republicans, but 148 lost.

New Election Techniques Deserve Public Attention

By DREW PEARSON
and JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — There is one all-important lesson to be learned from the recent election: The time has come for the public to look ahead the slogan. The time has also come for Congress to limit the millions of dollars spent to spread slogans and create images.

Electing a governor or a senator has now become a question of selling a candidate with the same Madison Avenue techniques as you sell underwear deodorants.

The secret of political success is not in letting the public know what a candidate stands for, but in hiring the right public relations firm. And that PR firm may decide that the easiest road to victory is to hide what a candidate stands for, not advertise it.

BOB DRESSER and Hal Evry, partners in one very successful Los Angeles PR agency, won't take a political client who doesn't score at least 120 on I.Q. tests, but his party principles are of no concern to them. "Political party doesn't mean anything at all any more," Dresser told us. "One half of one percent of the people are bound by the party. We go after the other 99 1/2 percent."

The partners also won't permit the clients to do any political stumping.

"The days are gone of those tedious rounds of coffee klatches attended by 12 people who are already on your side," said Dresser. "We believe in exposure, but on our own terms."

THIS MEANS a candidate may buy a million dollars worth of television but never debate. As Evry put it:

"Clients who campaign least win the most votes." The agency won a state Senate seat for one client with no more campaign than the constant billboarding of the slogan, "Three cheers for Pat Milligan."

"In 30 years," Dresser predicts, "our method will be accepted by everyone. Until the others catch on we'll keep beating them."

Next year, Dresser and Evry will promote an unknown Democratic businessman, David Trapp, for governor of Kentucky. They expect the campaign to cost

$3 million, of which they will take a 20 percent cut.

The new election technique is to poll the voters to find out not what the country needs but what the people want.

THIS IS LIKE running a school by taking a poll of students as to which courses are the easiest, then fixing the curriculum according to the students' wishes. Or its like taking the TV ratings which find westerns, crime thrillers, and rock 'n' roll to be the most popular, then gearing the entire network's program to please the lowest common denominator of the public taste.

In California, where the majority of voters have usually rejected extremists, the Spencer-Roberts agency carefully steered Ronald Reagan toward the middle of the road. The movie actor, who had swung from the extreme right during his erratic political career, was presented to voters as a moderate.

The Baus & Ross Agency, which handled Gov. Pat Brown's campaign, found Reagan's good guy image "one hell of a problem." William B. Ross explained to us: "I called the troops together and said, 'You can't make this guy Reagan the villain. You can't put the black hat on him. You've got to treat him as the guy who never quite gets the girl — a nice guy who just didn't quite get her.'"

IT MOST more than $3 million to build up an unknown millionaire electronics manufacturer named Milton Shapp to a point where he had a chance to be governor of Pennsylvania.

The man behind Shapp's buildup was Joe Napolitan, a bespectacled, brusque and brilliant ex-newspaperman who used computer-analyzed polls to find out what Pennsylvanians liked and disliked.

Then he spliced professional movies, staged not-so-talkative TV appearances, sent out 16-page color brochures, took full-page ads and rented billboards to promote Shapp. Napolitan rejects any suggestion, however, that he is a huckster. He accepts only moderate Democrats, and turns down clients who do not seem "competent and decent."

"In four or five years," he assured us, "every major campaign will be managed by a political campaign specialist."

WASHINGTON CALLING

Democrats in Sad Disarray

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — In the big-city states where they must win Presidential elections the Democrats are in sad disarray. This says more about 1968 in the aftermath of the congressional election than anything that happened in that rather confused and uncertain exercise of the franchise.

Mayor Richard J. Daley can only survey the ruins on his own future but the future of his party in Illinois holds any promise. White backlash, the counter-demonstrations, or merely a surfeit of the too-familiar past, an era has come to an end.

The story of disaffection and discontent, bickering and backbiting within party ranks, is similar in one form or another in Minnesota, New York, Michigan, California, Ohio and Pennsylvania. The Republicans are taking over in those states and a question mark on the horizon casts a long shadow.

A year or more ago serious political observers were suggesting that Lyndon Johnson might not run for reelection to a second full term. He would find a way — possibly in the drain on his health of another four years in the Presidency — to withdraw. This possibility cannot be idly dismissed with the party structure cracking up and with the prospect ahead of two years of contention with a Congress dominated by a Republican-Southern Democratic coalition. Johnson is unaccustomed to that kind of adversity.

With the northern cities shifting allegiance the election showed another aspect ominous for Democratic prospects two years hence. The South is in revolt. This is not merely opposition to integration as ordered from Washington. There is confirmation for the reports of a widespread hatred of the head of all evils of a troubled time.

EVERY DEMOCRAT returned to Congress will be under compulsion with '68 ahead to prove a bigger foe than the next man of whatever the White House wants. The focal point for the South's opposition will be George Wallace of Alabama, a zealot thirsting for revenge not alone on the political establishment of the North, Republican as well as Democratic, but on the whole apparatus of power with special emphasis on the mass media of press and television. He can count on being generously supplied with funds by rich ultra-conservatives who see him as the instrument to balk the Great Society.

Checking the rot in the Democratic structure in the Northern cities is a large order. The President has shown little aptitude for that kind of task. One reason is his obsession for keeping all the controls in his own hands, foreclosing all options, making all the decisions. The Democratic National Committee has been reduced to a pale skeleton that scarcely performs even the routine functions of political liaison.

IN THE big-city states factional infighting makes even a show of unity all but impossible. California is a prime example. Amateur Machiavellis, contending for power, looked on as the unhappy Pat Brown tried to keep afloat in a sea of troubles. Jesse Urruh, the Speaker of the House, seemed to be acting on the assumption that it was just as well to let Ronald Reagan come in and then in the wake of the Reagan blundering in Sacramento a new wave of Democrats, led by Urruh, would be restored. This ignores the powerful men who furnished Reagan the advertising campaign and who will now be masterminding his every move.

This is in part at least the psychology of the Kennedys and their devoted followers. Forming a sort of government-in-exile they plan for the day when the rightful ruler will be restored to power. The prescription is for personal popularity, youth, the glamour of a name.

WITH THE primary importance of television that may be enough. But, given the state of the party around the

To Your Good Health

Some Goiter Symptoms

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What are the symptoms of a goiter? Does it impair hearing? Is there difficulty in swallowing, or seeming to be unable to get a full breath of air? Does it cause phlegm? If caught in the early stages can it be treated without surgery? — MRS. O. T.

Impairment of hearing is most unlikely but the other symptoms can occur.

Goiter is an enlargement of the thyroid gland in the neck, but there are different types: It may show swelling mainly on one side, or on both; it may be nodular or smooth; it can be toxic or nontoxic; the swelling may be just in the neck, or some of it may be out of sight, below the upper part of the breast bone.

The swelling can impinge on the esophagus, or gullet, giving a sense of difficulty in swallowing. It may also exert pressure on the windpipe, interfering somewhat with breathing, and causing irritation and hence phlegm in the throat.

A nontoxic goiter may cause no symptom except a bulge. A toxic goiter, though, usually presents such severe symptoms (extreme nervousness, rapid heart beat, loss of weight, excessive sweating, possibly prominence of the eyeballs) that the patient loses no time in going to his doctor.

Usually large goiters have to be removed surgically both because of size and annoying symptoms. Some types of goiter, however, can be controlled and slightly reduced in size by medication.

In doubtful cases, medication may be tried for a time to see whether it promises success; in severe cases it is usually best to go right ahead with surgery without wasting time.

country and the shift to the right, there is no guarantee it will be. As a contender for the hatred of the South Sen. Robert F. Kennedy must be acknowledged a close second to the President, and he might even in a trial heat come out ahead.

Democrats taking the hopeful view can dismiss the outcome as merely reflecting the discontents of another off-year election in the midst of an unpopular and little understood war. The same thing happened in 1942 and again in 1946 when all but a few prescient observers were surprised by Democratic losses on the scale of those of Tuesday. In 1944 and again in 1948 the Democrats came back to win national elections and control of the Congress.

That can happen again. The factions can patch up their quarrels, the desire for the privileges and perquisites of office can triumph over the petty feuds looming so large today. Given the divisions within the Republican party, that is more than possible. Yet viewed in another and colder light Tuesday is a watershed election breaking with the past.

Student Needs New Program

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
University of Southern Calif.

Pity the reluctant under-achiever.

His parents know that he is not even trying to work up to capacity — and so do his teachers. He is out of favor with all of them.

The counselor is no comfort to him; he says that tests show the student has plenty of ability that he is not using. But the student feels he is working up to capacity and there is no use trying to do the impossible. He neither knows better methods of study nor how to use to better advantage what he does know.

In this situation counseling that is hurried, casual or trivial is of no help to the student. It merely adds to his discouragement.

It's no wonder that students often become reluctant even to hear still more suggestions for the improvement of their scholarship.

Before a student will listen to any plan he must, somehow, be made to realize that it is, indeed, an approach that he has not heard before. Let me illustrate with an actual case.

Jim was an underachieving high school junior out of favor with his teacher and his parents.

His parents had tried encouragement and, at times, restrictions in their attempts to inspire Jim to better scholarship. Jim's response was negative. His parents were at their wits end. At this point I was asked to help.

As Jim and his father came up the walk for their first appointment Jim lagged several steps behind. I heard his father say, "We are fortunate to get this appointment; Dr. Nason is a busy man and since it is costing me money you'd better listen to him!" I didn't catch Jim's reply but he had a sullen, stubborn look on his face. They entered my office and chose seats, on opposite sides of the room.

Reports from school which his father handed me stated that Jim was making no effort. I realized that before any progress could be made Jim must be convinced not only that he could succeed in school but that the conflict at home could also be eliminated.

I started the conversation by reviewing case histories of high school students who had been in similar situations, and how, with well planned study and test-taking procedures, they had solved their problems.

I suggested to the father that from this point on Jim and I would be responsible for his success or failure in school. Since he and Jim's mother would not now be concerned with his frustration in school, home could again be a happy place for all concerned. The parents were to remove any restrictions that may have been imposed because of Jim's low grades in school. Mr. K. gave his immediate approval and left Jim and me together to lay plans for our part of the program.

Jim was just getting started in trigonometry, and a test was to be given in three days. We set up a study plan for the mastery of the essentials of the subject. I explained that trigonometry, being an invention, the basic ideas must be learned so well that their recall takes no effort. They cannot be "reasoned out" at examination time.

To help fix these ideas in his mind, he was to work one or two problems of each type, starting at the beginning of the textbook. He was to practice writing ALL of the steps of each solution since this would give him time-advantage on the examination. (It is faster to write all the steps than to try to do some of them in his head).

Just before the test he was to make a last minute review of his list of problems.

Jim was to think, "What is the key in the way this question is asked that tells me HOW the problem is to be solved?" On entering the test he was to put his full attention on the first problem, deciding what kind of a problem it was then write out the solution neatly and completely.

He was to work rapidly enough to keep his mind completely centered on each problem in turn. Having completed the test he would go back and give his full attention to a search for errors in arithmetic.

On his next visit Jim reported a better than usual score on the math test. He was now ready and willing to continue the planning that would lead to his becoming a good all round student.

His reluctance had disappeared!!

Catholics Near 'Fish on Friday' Abolition Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Major changes in Roman Catholic practices in the United States — perhaps including abolition of the "fish on Friday" rule — are up for decision.

Prelates numbering some 250 are convening today for an extraordinary episcopal conference, continuing through Friday.

Their massive agenda reflects the history-making Vatican Council, 1962-1965, designed to attune church customs more closely to modern needs.

For the first time the cardinals and bishops will elect a president and vice president from among their number. Hitherto the senior ranking prelate has automatically presided at these annual meetings, and Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York has held the post since 1953.

The change is in line with a worldwide decentralization program going on within the church. National bodies will now share in some of the powers hitherto reserved to the Pope.

U.S. cardinals have taken themselves out of the running for the presidency or vice presidency in this first election. Unofficial speculation centered on three archbishops, John P. Cody of Chicago, John J. Krol of Philadelphia and John F. Dearden of Detroit.

As for the question of abstaining from meat on Friday, regarded as the day of Christ's Crucifixion, the Pope has authorized national bodies in the church to substitute other forms of penance, such as charitable works and prayer.

Federal Aid Declines for Outdoor Plans

MADISON, Wis.—Funds available this year for Land and Water Conservation Act projects (LAWCON) to advance outdoor recreation in Wisconsin are down about 30 percent, according to a report from the state Conservation Department, Madison.

For the 1967 fiscal year, the state's share of the federal fund is $1,273,434, of which $25,469 will be for administration and $5,000 for comprehensive state outdoor recreation plan maintenance.

Of the available remainder, 40 percent will be the political subdivision share, and 40 percent for state agencies, or $487,- 166 each, and the remainder, $248,593, for the statewide contingency reserve.

Of the political subdivision shares, 60 percent will be based on population, 30 percent will be shared equally, and 10 percent will be available without other state aids.

The west central area will share $47,933.55. Of this total, BUFFALO COUNTY'S share will be $3,085.88; JACKSON COUNTY, $3,145.52; PEPIN COUNTY, $2,608.56; TREMPLEAU COUNTY, $5,456.57; PIERCE COUNTY, $5,456.57.

LA CROSSE COUNTY in the southwest area will receive $9,066.14.

Projects for 1967 funds must be received by the Conservation Department by March 1.

By Oct. 1, 134 projects were submitted by counties, cities, villages and towns. Of these, 126 were accepted. Of those accepted, 33 were for acquisition of new or additions to park sites and 93 were for development of park areas.

Total cost of the 126 projects was $2,730,181, with 50 percent cost sharing requested.

Since the funds requested far exceeded money available for this year, it will be necessary to fund many projects over a period of several years.

In addition to the 126 local unit projects, 45 state projects were received and are being processed.

By Oct. 1, BUFFALO COUNTY had applied for six developmental projects at a total cost of $34,291; TREMPLEAU COUNTY, one development project at $4,441; JACKSON COUNTY, one at $6,265, and PEPIN COUNTY, two at $3,475. LA CROSSE COUNTY had applied for three acquisition projects at $17,412; and LA CROSSE COUNTY, six developmental projects at $25,500. Pierce, Monroe and Vernon were among several counties which submitted no projects.

Five Hunters Dead As Season Begins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Five hunters died during opening weekend of Minnesota's deer season and five others suffered bullet wounds.
Three of the victims, including two teenagers, were shot to death.
David Chase, Bena, Minn., was killed and Mike Wold, Minneapolis, was wounded in the shoulder by the same bullet Sunday.
Cass County Sheriff's deputies said Joseph F. Pertler, 49, Minneapolis, picked up a 30-06 caliber rifle in his car when it discharged. The bullet struck Wold, sitting in the back seat, passed through the car's rear window and struck Chase in the chest as he stood behind the car.

Wold was reported in fair condition at a Deer River hospital. The accident happened near Bena.
Scott Hesse, 13, rural Thief River Falls, was fatally wounded Sunday near Grygla when his hunting party was shooting at a deer.
Timmie Hetteen, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Hetteen, Roseau, was hit by a stray bullet Saturday while driving a snow mobile some 10 miles northeast of Roseau.
Robert J. Cook, 15, was asphyxiated Saturday by a charcoal burner as he tried to warm himself with a charcoal burner in his father's car about 18 miles northeast of Park Rapids. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger W. Cook, Robbinsdale.

A sheriff's search party found the body of Earl Hanson, 68, Minneapolis, Sunday morning about nine miles east of Remer. He apparently fell from a tree stand Saturday night and suffered a heart attack, according to a coroner.
The wounded hunters included:
Richard Helley, 15, son of H. A. Helley, Brainerd, shot in the hip while hunting near Warroad.
Clifford Klamar, Gatke, Minn., accidentally shot himself in the heel near Roseau.
Eugene Insley, 40, Aitken, suffered a chest wound as hunters shot a deer bounding past him. He was hospitalized in fair condition.
Henry J. Anderson, 11, Minneapolis, was shot in the left arm and abdomen when he tried to clear the jammed weapon. He is hospitalized at Bemidji in fair condition.

Meanwhile the State Conservation Department reported opening day success was down from last year.
A sampling of 1,000 hunters showed 24 per cent overall success. Highest success area was 25 per cent northwest, 35 per cent in the one-day shotgun zone, 21 per cent northeast and 20 per cent south-central.

But along with this, federal activity continued to rise. The Federal Trade Commission, the Justice Department and the President's Council of Economic Advisors played active roles in regulating business.

The biggest surprise to business came when it realized the voluntary guideposts — limits on prices and wages — had a great deal of federal power behind them. Consensus had become control, they cried.

Price rollbacks occurred in aluminum, copper and steel, enforced by the administration through a call to patriotism, by threats to unload government stockpiles, by the fear of further regulation, by threats to rescind government orders.

Many businessmen hollered when their own companies were denied price increases that the government deemed inflationary. But George Champion, chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank, became a general spokesman.

"In the name of consensus we find government telling labor and management what wages are acceptable, telling aluminum producers what prices are justified, telling banks what rates are permissible," he said.

Strains shivered through each position. Perhaps because of their very natures, government and business found themselves often on opposite sides. And inflation threatened.

The big question by early 1966 was how to handle the inflation: By cutting government spending or increasing taxes? Either would lessen demands on the economy, which was showing signs of overheating.

The administration did neither at first. This as many businessmen viewed it, forced the Federal Reserve to step in with a dampener. It did so, by raising interest rates.

Businessmen now are described as less decisive and certain. Many are waiting to see if the administration feels it should do something further about cooling the economy.

A more subtle change has occurred also. More and more, businessmen turn their senses towards Washington, although they try also to feel the pulse of activity at the state and local levels. This, some say, was reflected in conservatives being elected last week.

Government and business still are searching for the proper stance.

Co-ops Advised On Merging

PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special) — "Merger" is a word that continues to crop up more and more frequently in cooperative management and agricultural marketing organizations discussions.

So that co-op personnel and the general public may better understand the complexities of merging, the University of Minnesota is sponsoring a series of workshops for co-op managers and directors. The workshop here Thursday was one of this series.

WHY MERGE? That question invariably comes first. Martin Christianson, a university marketing specialist, gives several reasons favoring merger.

First — lower costs of operation, economies in accounting, purchasing and marketing. Diversification of merged units allows the new co-op to enter new markets and develop new products.

Reduced risks are involved when two or more small co-ops merge into a large single unit, Christianson notes. Merger will also help attract capital and better management and technical assistance.

"Insofar as co-ops are concerned, greatest activity so far has been at the regional level, particularly among farm supply business." There has been less merger activity at local levels, he added.

Generally, he said, cooperatives have not used merger as a means of growth, to the extent that non-cooperative forms of business enterprise have done so.

FRANK SMITH, also a marketing specialist, said cost elements are the conditions that influence local cooperatives most directly. However, better utilization of a given size of plant, as well as taking advantage of lowered production costs because of increased size, are the main ways of influencing costs, he said.

Merger offers a positive method of taking advantage of cost savings that flow from effective stabilization of plant as well as scale economies, he said.

E. E. Sletton, executive secretary of the Minnesota Association of Cooperatives, discussed individual and community considerations of mergers. Human resources, which include the members, directors, employees and community in which the cooperative operates, are as important as the physical and financial resources, Sletton said.

"The 'people problem' is often more difficult to solve than economic or physical problems," he said.

Good attributes, such as pride in something they have built or organized; status — their position of leadership or power may be at stake; security — they want to keep their job; confidence in their local manager and employees, and loyalty to their community, can all hinder a needed merger.

SLETTON SAID certain conditions must be investigated and considered in a merger. They are: Attitudes toward merger, pros and cons of merger, key personnel and employees, director representation and community reaction.

These considerations create four steps in merging cooperatives: Idea stage, study stage, proposal and compromise stage and member approval stage.

Also speaking at the workshop for Wabasha and Olmsted County people were Gerald W. Emmer, assistant vice president of the St. Paul Bank for Cooperatives, and Ralph J. Godin, director of economic practices, Minnesota Department of Agriculture. Emmer spoke about financial and operating considerations in mergers and Godin explained legal considerations in mergers.

Wabasha County Agent Matt Metz introduced the speakers and acted as host.

Business Mirror

Some Differences With President

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Clouds have formed and a few lightning bolts have struck in that once sunny friendship between American business and the man who courted it, President Johnson.

Perhaps the romance was doomed from the start, some observers speculate. They say the economy was becoming so torrid under clear economic skies that a little rain was needed to dampen things.

Remember the months immediately after Johnson's ascendency? More than one industrialist was quoted as saying, "We have a man in the White House who understands business."

Both Johnson and business were in a euphoric mood. The tax cut was having its warming effect on both the seat of federal government and the board rooms. Incomes were rising, including the governments.

The relationship was referred to as a partnership, and more and more this partnership was called "creative federalism," a concept that envisaged the government joining with private groups toward the goal of improving America.

Many businessmen, sometimes those with large government contracts, devoted speeches to explaining this spirit of cooperation.

Rev. Richard Loomis Talks on Education At Caledonia Meet

DAKOTA, Minn. (Special) — The meeting of the Caledonia Deaneary was held at Holy Cross parish hall following Benediction at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Two new officers took over their duties: Mrs. William Lathrop, vice president, La Crescent; Mrs. A. C. Foegen, secretary-treasurer, Dakota. Mrs. George Kelly, president, Houston, agreed to serve another two-year term.

The Rev. Richard Loomis, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Rushford, and St. Mary's Church, Houston, spoke about "Dealing With World Government." He stressed strongly that it is necessary to teach children the reason for not following the crowds — for being individual, because each must answer to God. Teen-agers must also learn to work alone, seeking a way to God, family, parish, community and to his country, always mindful that the Christian way must be emphasized to produce a mature person, he said.

Mrs. James E. Dandeleit Sr., Dakota, was paid special tribute and a spiritual bouquet for her and for Mrs. L. L. Roerkohl, Caledonia, who has been active in WCCW and NCCW work for 25 years, was sent to the Madonna Plan in place of a floral corsage.

The Rev. J. E. Dandeleit, Spiritual Director of the Holy Cross NCCW, urged the ladies to participate in open discussion; to become more involved in the work of their parish; to study to familiarize themselves with the preparation of children and asked mothers to take note of their children's attire, at home, in public and in church.

Mrs. Kelly asked that trading stamps saved for the Migrant Center. They are to be sent to Mrs. Joseph Schneider, Hollendale, Minn.

This country is in the grips of a PET-tulution explosion. American household pet population is increasing at a rate far exceeding that of people.

Zwach Starts New Career In Washington

ST. PAUL (AP) — John W. Zwach, a wheelhorse in the Minnesota Senate for years, is starting a new career in Washington at the age of 59.

However, the Republican lawmaker looks upon the change as "basically a transfer."

He will become Minnesota's new 6th District congressman in January, having unseated Rep. Alec Olson in last Tuesday's general election. Zwach won by about 4,000 votes over the Democratic Farmer-Labor incumbent in the politically marginal district.

Zwach, who has a 640-acre cattle and hog farm near Walnut Grove, says he is interested in committee assignments in agriculture, education and natural resources, in that order.

One of his first goals, he said, would be to attempt to separate the U.S. Department of Agriculture's consumer functions from its farm programs. The USDA, he said, "can't be both fish and fowl."

"If we need a department of consumers—and perhaps we do—another department probably wouldn't crowd Washington over much."

"I realize the limitations on a freshman congressman," he added at a news conference Saturday.

The Senate majority leader since 1959 attributed his election mainly to the "farm revolt" in his district against federal policies. He said he would seek to prevent the use of farm subsidies as a wedge to drive down farm prices.

Zwach also said he will try

Four Landmark Sites in State

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four Minnesota sites were included among 57 sites in 26 states recommended for Registered National Historic Landmark status, Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall announced Sunday.

The Minnesota sites: —St. Croix Boom Site, three miles north of Stillwater, a major log storage and handling area from 1840-1914.

—Pillsbury A. Mill, a flour mill erected in 1880-81 in Minneapolis.

—Soudan Mine near Tower, a deep underground iron ore mine opened in 1884, the first on the Vermillion Range, closed in 1962 and now a state park.

—Hull-Rust Mahoning open pit iron mine, the world's largest, near Hibbing, developed in 1895 and still operating.

to attain a balanced federal budget and do what he could to get "more mileage out of the people's budgets."

A state legislator since 1934, Zwach said he plans to convene the Conservative caucus later this month but will remain neutral in the selection of his successor as majority leader.

Humphrey to Speak at GTA Meeting

ST. PAUL (AP) — A host of political figures headed by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will speak at the 29th annual meeting of the Farmers Union Grain Terminal Association this week.

An estimated 5,000 delegates and GTA officials will also hear talks by several farm leaders.

Humphrey will be the main speaker at the annual banquet Thursday night, which concludes the meeting. Other speakers at the convention will be Sens. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., George McGovern, D-S.D., Milton Young, R-N.D., Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Quentin Burdick, D-N.D.

Tony T. Dechant, president of the National Farmers Union, and Edwin H. Christianson, president of the Minnesota Farmers Union will address the group Thursday.

Power Firms Try to Protect From Hunters

ST. CHARLES, Minn. (Special) — Shooting insulators off power poles and using transformers as targets apparently has become a major problem for area power companies.

They explain that destroying an insulator will cause the power-carrying wire to drop within four or five feet of the ground, and any human or animal contacting the wire would be killed instantly. If fallen wires are not reported or found immediately, they remain a deadly hazard.

In the event that a hunter hits and cracks an insulator instead of shattering it, the broken insulator will remain in place until a side wind sways the line and pole and shakes it loose. The insulator can also remain, barely hanging, until a lineman, unaware of the danger of the cracked insulator, climbs the pole. The movement of the pole can shake the broken insulator loose, allowing the live wire to drop across the lineman's arms above his rubber glove.

This action could kill the lineman instantly or cause him to fall off the pole. Linemen have had arms burned off at the elbows because of broken insulators.

In addition, such action can cause a delay in furnishing light and power and, of course, replacement expense for the power company.

Some power companies have offered a standing reward of $250 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person damaging power company equipment.

A widow's mite was a mighty help, indeed.

In the 1930's, an educational organization in western New York was saved by an elderly widow's five dollars. The news of her gift, one she could ill afford, spurred a philanthropic fellow-townsmen to say, "I'm not sure I've done my share." He then increased his already generous gift by $35,000.

Few of us can save a college. But almost everyone of us, by doing his share, can help keep one going.

A Circular Foyer Distinguishes Split

By ANDY LANG

There's a crisp, contemporary look to the split level created for the latest House of the Week. It's a pleasing combination of vertical V-joint redwood siding, red cedar shingles and ledge stone veneer with trim hipped roofs.

Planter boxes on both sides of the entrance platform are among the exterior features.

OWNING a house that has a pleasant appearance is, of course, important to a family. Yet, in the early days of the split level, the popularity of this type of residence was due principally to the fact that it fitted so well on sloping land. Its popularity increased when people discovered its other advantages: It eliminated much of the waste space in basements by utilizing this area for habitable rooms and a garage.

It separated the living and sleeping areas with only a few steps rather than a long stairway to climb, as in a two-story house. And it required less land than a ranch with the same amount of square footage on the inside. As a result, prospective home purchasers began to ask for split levels even on flat land.

These days—as in the case of this house—architects are using ingenuity to design attractive, distinctive exteriors for the multi-level structures. Here we have a home that's nice to look at and nice to live in, with eight rooms, 2½ baths and some bonus features ordinarily found in very high-priced homes.

Yet, it's actually a medium-sized house—1893 square feet on the living and bedroom levels and 972 square feet, not including the garage, on the recreation room level. It's overall dimensions are 67 feet 8 inches by 34 feet 4 inches. Since the garage has a front entrance and is within those dimensions, only enough space is required at the sides to conform with local ordinances.

A MOST impressive feature of architect William Chirgott's design is the 1½-story circular entrance foyer, with ceiling-high windows and a large, open winding wrought iron stairway leading up to the bedroom hall and down to the recreation room and garage.

The living room, directly to the rear of the foyer, has a distinctive three-sided glass wall at its own rear. At one side, sliding glass doors lead from the living room to the terrace

PLEASANT SPLIT LEVEL... There's a world of "curb appeal" to this multi-level, three-bedroom house. The architect has tastefully combined redwood, cedar and stone veneer under interesting roof lines to produce the kind of residence with an inviting appearance.

the outer section, at bathtub and water closet in the other. A lavatory and a laundry room are located seven steps below the main foyer, adjacent to the wood-paneled recreation room and a few steps from the garage and full basement. For those who prefer a split level to a ranch or a two-story, and who have the land which can handle this house, the design provides everything for modern, comfortable living.

CAULK TALK

All new wood surfaces must be primed with linseed oil or varnish before caulking will adhere effectively, and should be allowed to dry fully before the filler is applied.

INTERCHANGEABLE?

Latest decorator touch for bathrooms are faucets with interchangeable colored handles. The handles can be matched to the bathroom's color scheme or used to add a bright note to all-white fixtures.

Mystery Plane Bombs Cuba

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — The Armed Forces Ministry said today "an unidentified airplane flying from the north" dropped three American-made bombs on the Cepero Bonilla chemical plant in Matanzas, on Cuba's north coast, before dawn Sunday.

A brief communique published by the Communist party paper, Granma, said one of the bombs caused damage "of little importance to the roof of a warehouse." The plane then flew north, the report said.

In a similar attack made by Cuban exiles on the port of Nuevitas in northeastern Cuba late in September, a plane dropped three bombs and one exploded, causing minor damage, according to the Cuban government.

In Miami, spokesmen for the anti-Castro group Revolutionary Insurrectionary Recovery Movement—MIRR—said the attack was carried out by the organization.

The group is headed by Dr. Orlando Bosch, a 38-year-old former Cuban physician. Bosch has been charged frequently with weapons and explosive-law violations.

The MIRR has claimed several boat and airplane raids against Cuban installations.

Appleton Man Kills Wife, Takes Own Life

APPLETON, Wis. (AP) — An Appleton man killed his estranged wife and then fatally wounded himself early Sunday at her home in the town of Grand Chute, Outagamie County Sheriff Cal Spice said.

They were Kenneth Schwister, 26, and his wife, Donna, 22. Barbara Neubert, 19, Mrs. Schwister's sister, was at home at the time and told authorities that Schwister came to the house, unlocked the front door with his key and began arguing with his wife. Miss Neubert said that after Schwister ripped the telephone off the wall he went into a bedroom where a shotgun was stored, with his wife following.

The sister said she heard one shot, saw Mrs. Schwister stumble into the hallway, and locked herself in the bathroom. She said she heard two more shots before crawling out of a window to notify neighbors.

Spice said Mrs. Schwister had been shot twice and her husband once. He said Schwister had served a 30-day sentence in the county jail in June on a charge of disorderly conduct resulting from "harassment of his wife."

Wage, Price Controls Seen Not Necessary

NEW YORK (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said today the government's Office of Emergency Planning has a standby program of wage and price controls ready if needed, but added: "I don't think it will be needed."

He said the agency wouldn't be doing its job if it didn't have such a contingency plan on paper. Such controls would require congressional approval.

Ford told the Grocery Manufacturers of America that the Johnson administration had done little to fight inflation, but called wage and price controls "a last-resort measure."

LBJ Surgery On Wednesday

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson returns to the White House today, optimistic about the surgery he faces Wednesday, and philosophical about Republican election gains.

"I don't think the country is going to the dogs," Johnson told a news conference Sunday in the modernistic municipal center at Fredericksburg, 15 miles west of his Texas ranch.

Johnson announced he will enter the Naval Medical Center at Bethesda, Md., late Tuesday and be operated on there early Wednesday. Doctors will remove a growth from his throat and repair a hernia along the incision from his 1965 gall bladder-kidney stone surgery.

Saying the twin operations "will take perhaps less than an hour," Johnson predicted he would remain in the hospital "a very few days," then return to Texas to spend much of the time until Congress reconvenes Jan. 10.

Republicans made bigger gains in last Tuesday's national election. But, after citing notable Republican support for administration measures in the past three years, the President concluded this did not mean the country was going to the dogs.

"I think that after an election, our motto is tested," he said. "We have to look at our weaknesses and try to patch them up, try to develop our strengths."

He forecast a more united Democratic party and a strengthened GOP.

Johnson did indicate he would be very mindful of increased Republican strength in readying proposals for the 1967 Congress.

"I would anticipate we will be very careful in our preparation of our recommendations," he said, "and we will try to enlist the support of both parties. I don't anticipate any great trouble."

The President, meeting with newsmen after attending Sunday services at St. Barnabas Episcopal church in Fredericksburg, announced in a separate statement that Bethesda was selected for his surgery because it is a "central location for the many consultant doctors who are located in Minnesota, New York, Georgia and Washington."

Purdue Clinches Rose Bowl Bid

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — In the jubilation of the Purdue dressing room Saturday, Coach Jack Mollenkopf summed up the frustrations of past football seasons.

"We didn't blow this one," Mollenkopf said after his Boilermakers had jarred Minnesota 16-0 to virtually clinch a trip to the Rose Bowl Jan. 2.

In his 11 seasons as head coach at Purdue, Mollenkopf has been close several times to having a paid holiday in Pasadena. Each of those times, he's seen his team upset late in the season to blow its chance.

This year it didn't happen—the upset, that is.

The Boilermakers were ripe for it Saturday.

Youthful Minnesota also had a shot at the Rose Bowl, if it could beat Purdue and then whip Wisconsin this Saturday. The Gophers, bouncing back from a 49-0 thrashing at Michigan three weeks earlier, had maneuvered for a shot at the roses by beating Ohio State and Northwestern.

Purdue, beaten this season only by No. 1 Notre Dame and No. 2 Michigan State, still must beat Indiana Saturday to lock it up for good.

But even if the Boilermakers blow Saturday's game and drop into a second-place tie with Illinois in the Big Ten, they most certainly will go to Pasadena because of the conference agreement that such cases the team which has most recently gone to the Rose Bowl will not be selected.

Purdue has never gone. "It sure has been a long time coming," Mollenkopf agreed.

"We came to play," Mollenkopf was asked if he thinks Purdue will make the Big Ten a good Rose Bowl representative.

"I sure as hell will be proud to take this team to the Rose Bowl," he replied. "And I don't give a darn who we play. We'll give a good accounting of ourselves in Pasadena."

The Boilermakers gave a good accounting of themselves to the Gophers.

With Bob Griese confounding Minnesota with his passing and play calls, and the Purdue defense slamming the door on just about every Gopher offensive thrust, the Boilermakers won convincingly. It really was not even close.

Minnesota's stalwart defense blunted an early Purdue drive at the Gopher 12-yard line by stopping two plays cold when the Boilermakers needed only one yard for a first down.

But soon Griese had Purdue back close, and Griese booted a 30-yard field goal for a 3-0 half-time lead.

Then Griese directed the Boilermakers on a 63-yard touchdown drive in the third quarter. He hit 5 of 5 passes for 54 yards in the drive, and pitched 13 yards to Jim Beirne for the touchdown that made it 9-0.

Purdue's defense set up the other touchdown, with Frank Burke blocking a punt which gave the Boilermakers the ball at the Gopher 31. They scored in five plays, Perry Williams slicing through for a 20-yard gain and Bob Baltzell rambling over from one yard out.

"We just got beat by a better team," Minnesota Coach Murray Warmath said. "They cut us off. I have to presume we weren't getting any blocking."

"The big difference in a ball game like this one was the big boy (Griese). He made the big third down plays when they had to have them."

Griese wound up completing 12 of 17 passes for 124 yards. He hit Beirne six times for 62 yards. Purdue also established a good running attack which garnered 192 yards rushing. Williams gained 91 and Baltzell 83.

Minnesota never established its ground game as Purdue sealed off Curt Wilson's usual rollout option routes and held him to 29 yards on nine carries. Dick Peterson added only 32 yards on 11 tries.

Wilson and Larry Carlson completed 11 of 22 passes for Minnesota and gained 121 yards in the air, but the deepest Gopher penetration was to the Purdue 18 yard line and that threat was killed by a 15-yard penalty.

Minnesota lost center Chuck Killian, tackle Ron Kamzelski and fullback Dennis Cornell for the Wisconsin game, and tackle Ezell Jones is doubtful. Killian dislocated his hip, while Kamzelski and Cornell both suffered knee injuries and Jones lamed an ankle.

Iowa Wins Big Ten C-C Meet

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Minnesota straggled into fourth place as Iowa's little Larry Wiecek set a Big Ten record Saturday in leading the Hawkeyes to the 1966 conference cross country title.

Wiecek, a 127-pound runner, paced five Iowans among the first 13 places as the Hawkeyes outdistanced runnerup Michigan State. Wisconsin placed third over previously unbeaten Minnesota.

Wiecek was clocked in 19:02.5 to slash a full half-minute off the Big Ten record over the Odana Hills Golf Course for a standard double-loop course. He shaved even the conference record for an unmeasured four-mile course.

The 5-foot-7 junior from Maywood, Ill., outdueled Michigan State's Dick Sharkey in what was purely a two-man race for individual honors. Wiecek edged ahead in the third mile, kicked out at the start of the final leg and finished 15 yards in front.

Doubled up with cramps after the race, Wiecek said, "I never hurt so much in my life. Sharkey's the toughest guy I ever ran against."

Three sophomores were bunched behind runnerup Sharkey. Mark Gibbens of Indiana was third, Ray Arrington of Wisconsin fourth, and Bob Gordon of Wisconsin fifth.

Wiecek's time surpassed the standard double-loop record of 19:35.3 set by Michigan State's Gerald Young in 1960 and erased from the books the 19:06 clocking by the Spartans' Henry Kennedy for an unsurveyed course in 1955.

Team scores: Iowa 41, Michigan State 61, Wisconsin 68, Minnesota 73, Indiana 161, Michigan 161, Northwestern 181, Illinois 200, Ohio State 224.

Individual: 1, Wiecek, Iowa. 2, Sharkey, Michigan State. 3, Gibbens, Indiana. 4, Arrington, Wisconsin. 5, Gordon, Wis. 6, Balthrop, Mich. State. 7, Szabo, Iowa. 8, LaBord, Iowa. 9, Hoag, Minnesota. 10, Heinonen, Minn. 19:02.5 (Big Ten record, old record 19:06, Henry Kennedy, Mich. State, 1955, Unsurveyed four-mile course; 19:35.3, Gerald Young, Mich. State, 1960, Standard double-loop course.)

San Diego State Wins C-C Meet

WHEATON, Ill. (AP) — Defending champion San Diego State Saturday won the NCAA college Division national cross country championship with a tidy 58 points.

South Dakota State was fifth with 253 points and Macalester sixth with 276.

Bob Fitts of State University of Cortland, N.Y., the NCAA 6-mile champion, won individual honors in a rather tight duel with second place Ambrose Burfoot of Wesleyan University. Fitts' time was 19:40.6.

Neither S.D. State nor Macalester had anyone in the top 15.

'ALL MY FAULT' - TARKENTON

Field Goals Give Lions 32-31 Win

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP)—The Minnesota Vikings had a wet sparkplug Sunday. Fran Tarkenton coughed and sputtered all afternoon, and the Vikings stalled with him. The same thing happened in Minnesota's first four games this season—when the Vikings lost three games, but managed one tie.

Tarkenton and the Viking offense could really claim only one touchdown in a 32-31 loss to the Detroit Lions, and that score came too late to salvage a victory.

"It was all me," Tarkenton said. "I've got to take all the credit. The only difference in the game was me—it's as simple as that."

"I've got respect for Detroit's defense, but I just gave them the gift of a ball game. I like Harry (Gilmer, Lions' coach), but I don't like him that well... to give him a ball game."

Tarkenton threw five pass interceptions, and the Lions converted three of them into field goals and another into a touchdown. He completed 11 of 24 passes for 106 yards, but four of the completions came in the last five desperate minutes.

Tarkenton's dismal day showed again how much trouble the Vikings have without his usual scrambling brilliance. The defense scored one touchdown on Dale Hackbart's 41-yard pass interception and set up two other touchdowns with an interception and a forced fumble.

Tarkenton remained jovial, however. "I've got to keep laughing to keep from crying," he cracked.

The five interceptions and a National Football League record six field goals by left-footed Armenian soccer kicker Garo Yepremian combined to doom the Vikings to their fifth defeat against three wins and a tie.

Minnesota moved 73 yards in 14 plays the first time it had the ball, but the drive bogged at the Detroit 7-yard line and Fred Cox kicked a 15-yard field goal.

Then Hackbart leaped in front of Lion receiver Ron Kramer and picked off Tom Myers' pass for his touchdown gallop and a 10-0 lead.

The Lions drove 50, 52 and 51 yards to set up Yepremian's first three touchdowns—boots sailing 33, 26 and 15 yards to pull Detroit within one point at 10-9.

And just before the half ended, Mike Lucci intercepted the first of three interceptions he made during the day and ran 16 yards to the Viking 13. Yepremian trotted onfield to kick a 20-yard fielder that brought the Lions a 12-10 halftime lead.

The Viking defense appeared to launch a rout when it handed the offense point-blank scoring opportunities within 1½ minutes of each other early in the third quarter.

First Ed Sharockman romped 38 yards with an intercepted pass thrown by Karl Sweetan to give the Vikings the ball on the Detroit 17. Minnesota scored in four plays, with Dave Osborn carrying over from the two.

Then Jim Marshall hit Sweetan as he tried to pass on the first play after the kickoff, and Roy Winston recovered the fumble at the Lion 12. On the second play, Bill Brown swept left end for the 12 yards. That made it 24-12.

LITTLE MAN, BIG RECORD... Garo Yepremian, 22-year-old native of Cyprus and member of Detroit Lions football team, holds a football with a number "6" on it, signifying the 6 field goals kicked, "soccer-style", against the Minnesota Vikings during National Football League contest in the Twin Cities Sunday. Yepremian's 6 field goals set a new NFL record. Yepremian, who kicks the ball with the side of his foot rather than with his toe, helped the Detroit team to a 32-31 win over Minnesota. (AP Photofax)

NFL REALLY PLAYS FOOT-BALL

Field Goals Figure Big in Sunday Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Washington Redskins missed upsetting the Dallas Cowboys by a foot—Danny Villanueva's right one—and the Detroit Lions get their kicks from Garo Yepremian.

In fact, National Football League Clubs really played FOOTBALL Sunday as 29 field goals were kicked, the most of any weekend this season.

Villanueva kicked only one field goal, but it came with just 15 seconds remaining and gave the Cowboys a 31-30 victory, a 6-2-1 record and moved them to within one-half game of first place St. Louis in the Eastern Conference.

On the other hand, Yepremian booted six field goals for an NFL single game record as the Lions nipped Minnesota 32-31. His eight attempts also tied a single game mark set by Baltimore's Lou Michaels when he was with Pittsburgh.

Still another single game record—11 three-pointers tries by two teams—was set in Pittsburgh's 30-9 upset of St. Louis.

Pittsburgh's Mike Clark made three and Jim Bakken booted a like number for the Cardinals, 7-2-1, playing their first game without quarterback Charley Johnson, who is through for the season because of an ankle injury.

In other games, Baltimore tied idle Green Bay for first place in the West with a 7-2 mark by taking a 19-7 victory over Atlanta; Cleveland whipped Philadelphia 27-7 to move within a game of St. Louis; San Francisco tied Chicago 30-30 and Los Angeles snapped a four-game losing streak by trouncing New York 55-14.

Although Villanueva's field goal won't put him in the record book, it could help put the Cowboys in the book as conference or even league champions.

Dallas, with no time outs left, started the drive for Villanueva's winning 20-yard boot from their own three with only 59 seconds left. Villanueva also converted after four TDs—two of them by the passing combination of Don Meredith to Bob Hayes for 53 and 95 yards.

The Redskins had gone ahead on an 18-yard pass from Sonny Jurgensen to Charlie Taylor. Jurgensen also hit Taylor for a 78-yard TD, and Charley Gogolak kicked three field goals.

"After a while, I think I'll be a good kicker," Yepremian said after breaking the old record of five field goals held by Ernie Nevers of the Duluth Eskimos, Bob Waterfield of the Los Angeles, Bakken of St. Louis and Michaels of Baltimore.

Pittsburgh, which upset Cleveland last week and gets a shot at Dallas next week, took advantage of three interceptions off Terry Hoisinger to beat St. Louis. The Steelers' Clark kicked three field goals and quarterback Ron Smith and halfback Don Hoak threw TD passes. Bakken kicked for all of St. Louis' points.

Baltimore's Michaels kept the Colts within one point, 7-6, in the first half with two field goals. Then after Lenny Moore put the Colts ahead on a one-yard run, Michaels added two more three-pointers.

Frank Ryan passed for two scores, Ernie Green ran for one and Lou Groza kicked a pair of field goals for Cleveland, now 6-3.

A 44-yard field goal by Tommy Davis with nine seconds remaining—his third of the game—gave San Francisco its tie with Chicago. A bad pass from center on a conversion attempt after Ed O'Bradovich ran 11 yards with a fumble for a TD cost Chicago a victory.

Bruce Gossett also kicked two field goals for Los Angeles, but the Rams didn't need them as Roman Gabriel rushed for two TDs and completed 24 of 35 passes for 298 yards and two scores against the hapless Giants. One of New York's touchdowns came on a 100-yard return of a pass interception by Henry Carr.

and LaVerne Bucholtz rapped 544 for Four Aces.

Nord Overland's 533 parked league leading Double O's to 2-197 in the Kings and Queens circuit, while Betty Mlynchak's 170-478 helped Vaughn-Mlynchak to 773. Ben Gorder had 202 for Lefts and Rights.

HAL-ROD: In the His 'N Hers League Martha Richtman waxed 162-465, leading Fountain Citizens to 757. Jim Kauphusman hammered 211-510 for KEK's, and Braun-Konkel totaled 2,130.

Jane Wiecek led Alley Gators to 721-2,165 with her 199-456 in the High School Girls League.

Pat Hopf Paces Weekend Keglers

Pat Hopf, a Winona High School senior, led city weekend bowling by smashing a 214-568 in the High School Boys League at Hal-Rod Lanes.

Hopf paced his Good Players team to 831-2,262.

WESTGATE: Rich Stahmann's 214-559 for Stahmann-Duellman paced the Guys & Dolls loop. Peg Streng slapped 501 to lead Streng-Kuhlmann to 2,189. Hope Dennis had 181 for Niemeyer-Donahue, and Lubinski-Lica counted 759.

Deuces Wild scattered 797-2,198 in the Jack & Queens League as Winnie Drwall paced the way with 159-459. Frank Adams belted 205 for Jokers, CHAMPIONS AGAIN . . . L. Allen Goetzman mounted on Baldy He Wolf and Jim Richtman, Fountain City, on Foxy He Wolf earned annual awards in the Wisconsin Quarter Horse Association. They are shown just after winning first place in the matched pairs class at the 1966 Minnesota State Fair.

Winona Riders Win Wisconsin Awards

Two members of the Winona Valley Riders Saddle Club won end-of-the-year championships in the Wisconsin Quarter Horse Association at the Rain Bow Supper Club, New London, Wis., Saturday.

Baldy He Wolf, owned and shown by Allen Goetzman, earned his second out of state championship by earning 61 points from six shows held in Wisconsin during the 1966 show season. In so doing, Baldy topped horses from Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota. He earned the award in 1964 also. To be eligible for this honor, the owner must be a member of the WQHA and resident in a different state. The reserve championship in this division was won by Put Coe Bonanza, shown by Dean Landers, Des Moines, Iowa.

The first runnerup was Miss Jo Anne Johnson, Winona, with Jim Bob Giant.

Jim Richtman, Fountain City, Wis., was also honored with an award. His stallion, Foxy He Wolf, earned 21 points at Wisconsin approved shows to top the field of 1963 quarter horse stallions at halter. Foxy similarly won this same award last year.

Canada Cup Back to U.S.

TOKYO (AP) — Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, who have a pleasant custom of picking up expensive hardware, retrieved one of their favorite pieces — the Canada Cup — and headed back to the United States today.

And its companion piece, the International Trophy for individual victory, heads back to Canada for the first time in 12 years, thanks to a wire-to-wire victory by young George Knudson of Toronto.

"We came to win the Canada Cup as a team. We're glad we can take it back home," agreed Palmer and big Jack, who have taken it home on three previous occasions.

The 14th annual Canada Cup matches concluded Sunday in rain and cold at the Yomiuri Country Club on the outskirts of Tokyo with these results:

The Nicklaus-Palmer team scored a combined total of 548 strokes for 72 holes, 28 under par, breaking their own record of 554 established in Hawaii in 1964.

The ebullient Knudson finished the 72 holes tied with Japan's husky belter, Hideyo Sugimoto, at 272, tying the individual record set by old Sam Snead in 1961 in Puerto Rico.

Knudson then defeated the Japanese star on the second hole of the sudden death playoff, sinking a seven-foot putt for a birdie two to the theoretical par

Badgers in Same Spot As Last Year

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin's football team finds itself in a position very similar to the one faced by the 1965 club at this time — and that isn't good.

The Badgers absorbed a 49-14 Big Ten drubbing at Illinois Saturday, scoring only after the Illini attack was over, and share seventh place in the standings with Indiana and Northwestern with a record of one victory, four losses and a tie.

Wisconsin ends the season, as usual, against Minnesota this weekend.

After the Illinois game last year, won by the Illini 51-0, Wisconsin had a 2-4 conference slate. A 42-7 loss at the hands of the Gophers gave the Badgers a single standing of 2-5, tied with Michigan for seventh spot.

"Our boys tried hard," Wisconsin coach Milt Bruhn said after the loss at Champaign. "You just can't say much on a day like this."

Illinois coach Pete Elliott said, "This was just one of those days when everything we tried went right and every play we used ran well. This was one of the most fortunate games we've had in a long time."

"We gave them all the opportunity in the world," Bruhn contended, "and with good field position time after time, they cashed in. When we moved the ball something always went haywire and they had the ball again."

"At least we never quit and Williams Toughest For Clay?

HOUSTON (AP) — "I'm not making any predictions but the first one to get in a good punch is going to be the winner. I want to be the first one."

So said Cleveland Williams, a ring-scarred veteran of 33, today as he awaited the starting bell of his long-sought title shot with heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, the 5-1 favorite in the Astrodome tonight. Fight time is 10:30 p.m., EST, for the 15-rounder.

This will be Clay's (or Muhammad Ali's) seventh title defense and his sixth within a year. On the record Williams, a strapping, muscular specimen who once rated as the hardest hitter in the heavyweight division, shapes up as the most dangerous challenger Clay has run into this year.

The big questions are whether Williams can connect with his jolting left hook and smashing right against an elusive dancing master and whether he can take Clay's streams of punching and keep coming.

"I'm gonna get the Big Cat just like I got the Bear (Sonny Liston) and the Hare (Floyd Patterson)," said the undefeated, 24-year-old champion from Louisville, Ky. "But I gotta admit Williams is my most dangerous opponent. He can hit hard."

A crowd of 35,000 or more is expected to pay around $500,000 at prices of from $5 to $50 to see the Big Cat get his first chance at boxing's most prized crown.

10th Annual Winhawk Cage Parents Night

Parents of Winhawk cagers will be honored guests tonight at practice and a social hour in the high school cafeteria, according to Coach John Kewney.

This is the tenth annual parents night at Winona High.

Practice session is expected to get under way about 7 p.m. with the social gathering about 8:45.

Registration Open for Park Rec Cage Teams

Boys who were not able to attend the organizational meeting Saturday and wish to play recreation league basketball may call or stop at the Park Recreation Office in City Hall, Vern Smelser announced Monday.

Boys may register in the following leagues: Bantam, 9-year-olds; Pee Wees, 10-11-year-olds; and Midgets, 12-13-14-year-olds. They can pick up uniforms and schedules at the office.

Play in the Midget and Pee Wee leagues will get under way Nov. 26 at Lincoln school gym and play for the Bantams will start Dec. 3 at Central Elementary school gym.

Ekker Austin Guest Speaker

AUSTIN, Minn. — Ron Ekker, Winona State's head basketball coach, will be the guest speaker at the Austin Athletic Club, Inc., meeting at 7 p.m. this evening. The Athletic Club, a booster organization to promote athletics in Austin, will hold its meeting at the Stardust Supper Club.

NO RED CARPET FOR COACH

Whitehall, Trempleo In Coulee Headliner

TREMPEALEAU, Wis. — It will be homecoming for Ken Stelplug, but Trempealeau won't be rolling out the red carpet for its one-time high school cage star. In fact the river city will probably try to make it as miserable for Stelplug as possible.

Stelplug, who graduated from Trempealeau in 1952 and went on to star on the hard court at Winona State, is now coach of the Whitehall Norsemen. His team is picked to win the Dairyland Conference title this season.

On the other hand, Trempealeau is the Coulee Conference odds-on favorite, and the two teams will clash at Trempealeau Tuesday night at 8 p.m. to get the Wisconsin high school basketball season off with a bang.

Whitehall will bring a team to Trempealeau that returns four of last year's five starters who helped compile a 12-9 record. One of those losses was a season-opening affair to the Bears by a 47-45 margin.

All five of the Norse starting lineup will stand at exactly 6-0. They are Elliot Solsrud and John Everson at guards, Keith Johnson and Bruce Ausderau at forwards and John Windje at center. But though the height is balanced, Whitehall will be giving away plenty of size to the rangy Bears.

"We're going to have to hit from the outside," said Stelplug. "We won't be able to work the ball in on their small court. Their court probably gives them a 10-point advantage."

But Trempealeau coach Dean

Mewhorter, who led the Bears to a 13-5 record in his first year at the helm a year ago, doesn't think so.

"We scrimmage on a big

floor (Alma)," and we looked a lot better there than we do on our own," said Mewhorter.

Trempealeau may not be at full strength for the game, however, since 5-10 junior guard Paul Becker suffered a sprained ankle in practice last week and was still hobbling as late as Saturday.

"I doubt that he'll start," said the Trempealeau coach.

"This is going to hurt a little bit since he's our No. 1 man back there and we haven't had too much practice. But we have some other good boys who can do the job."

Mewhorter has only three of his starters set. They will be 6-6½ junior Steve Johnson and 6-3½ senior Tom Johnson, brothers. One of the guards will be 6-0 Bucky Salsman. The other two starters will come from 6-0 John Gamoke, 6-½ Gerald Eichman, 6-½ Kurt Barenthin or 5-10 Jim Nehring.

"Whitehall should be one of the better teams in the area," mused Mewhorter. "They're fast. It should be a good game."

Both teams favor the fast break, but Stelplug feels that the small court and size differential will cut his team's running ability. "We hope to run if we get a chance," he said, "but getting the ball off the boards will be a problem." The success of Stelplug's homecoming will probably depend on it.

Red Guard Youth Flees From China

MACAO (AP) — A 19-year-old member of Red China's Red Guards has fled to this Portuguese colony.

He declined to be identified by name for fear, he said, of possible reprisals against his parents, who are still in China. Refugee authorities said today the youth swam through the turbulent Pearl River to Macao this weekend.

He said he was a student of the Red Guards mountain university near Macao. He reported he was selected with seven fellow students to go to Peking as members of the Red Guards. "Chairman Mao Tse-tung reviewed us three times," he said. He said he fled Communist China because of lack of freedom.

Luci Will Be With Father During Surgery

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Luci Johnson Nugent, the President's 19-year-old married daughter, is flying back to Washington to be with her father during his surgery this week.

She'll join Mrs. Johnson and older sister, Lynda, at Bethesda Naval Medical Center during the President's operations to remove a throat growth and repair an incision hernia. The President's surgery is scheduled for early Wednesday morning, but he will enter the hospital Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Johnson, as she did during the President's gall bladder operation a year ago, will move into the hospital suite to stay throughout her husband's hospitalization.

The President said he timed his return to Washington today so his wife could keep an afternoon engagement at the White House.

The First Lady's date turned out to be tea with 150 women, 80 of them from Texas who are in Washington to make plans for a women's pavilion at the 1968 Hemis-Fair International Exposition to be held in San Antonio, Tex.

Alcohol Found In Pilot Killed In Plane Crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board said today a plane crash last Jan. 22 that killed two persons near Dalton, Minn., was due in part to the amount of alcohol in the blood stream of the pilot.

The CAB said the pilot, Nels Roman, 54, of Wheaton, Minn., and his passenger, Gary Streho of Fergus Falls, Minn., died when their plane stalled and spun into a lake.

"A witness reported he observed the pilot drink two beers prior to the fatal flight," the CAB reported.
