Promises to Consult European Allies

Nixon: Will Talk With Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP) -- President Nixon today said he would consult with his European allies before sending a message to Moscow, but he added that he is "reasonably sure" that such a message would be sent.

"I have committed that the administration will consult with our European allies before sending any message to Moscow," Nixon said.

"I think it's highly probable that we will have a message to Moscow. I have not committed that there will be no talk with the Russians," he added.

The president's comments came during a visit to London, where he met with British Prime Minister Edward Heath. The two leaders discussed a range of issues, including the possibility of a summit meeting with Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev.

"I have a lot of confidence in the British," Nixon said of the prime minister. "I think the British are basicallysound people."

Slow Melting Will Continue

The prospect of further slow melt is shown in the area of Winona and St. Charles, Minn., where the ice on the Mississippi River is still about 5 inches thick. The river here was at a level of 5.3 feet, Bolland said, which shows that the ice on the river is

Voice of the Outdoors

In Outdoor Sunday's column of Oct. 18, I stated that the newspapers reported the threat of a snowstorm as a possible cause of the lack of ducks in the local area. However, I am now informed that the reports were incorrect. The ducks are present in the area, and the threat of a snowstorm has passed. I apologize for any confusion caused by my earlier column.

Blondes Rebel Against Wilson

By E. Earl Wilson

NEW YORK — What’s so bad about being picketed? Nothing, except that it’s an invasion of privacy. That is what Mary Martin said recently when she was asked why she was picketing the South Street Seaport. She was picketing the Seaport because she is a member of the American Guild of Musical Artists, and she was picketing because she believes that the Seaport is not paying its union dues.

Jane Russell and her husband, George Raft, were among those picketing the Seaport, and they were joined by a number of other celebrities, including Ava Gardner, Ingrid Bergman, and Bette Davis. The celebrities were picketing because they believe that the Seaport is not paying its union dues.

The picketing was part of a larger movement to gain better working conditions for actors and actresses. The movement is supported by the Screen Actors Guild, and it has gained a great deal of support from the public.

France to Meet With Allies in Common Market

PARIS (AP) - France and West Germany, facing their most serious cold war crisis in history, will meet today with Britain, Italy and Holland to discuss the fate of their common market.

The Common Market, set up to increase trade among six countries, is threatened by Britain's decision to remain outside the planned regional currency system. France wants Britain to sign an agreement guaranteeing a "hard" Euro-dollar rate.

Britain, which opposes the agreement, has complained that the French proposal puts more emphasis on hard currency than on the larger economic project. The British government has indicated that a decision on the issue may be delayed until Monday.

Britain's action has thrown the whole complex of the Common Market into doubt, and France has accused Britain of putting the economic integration of Europe "in the dustbin of the past." The French have also charged that Britain's action may have political implications for the future of Western Europe.

The meeting, which is expected to last two hours, will be attended by Premier Charles de Gaulle and Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger, who is expected to attend from Bonn.

The French have been critical of Britain's decision to remain outside the Economic Community of Western Europe, which they see as a threat to the Common Market. The French have also accused Britain of being more interested in maintaining its prestige than in the well-being of the European community.

The French have pointed out that Britain's decision will undermine the Common Market's credibility and its ability to attract new members. They have also argued that Britain's action will have a negative impact on the European economy as a whole.

The French have called for a "courageous" solution to the crisis, and have urged Britain to reconsider its decision. They have also called for a European conference to discuss the future of the Common Market.

Adaptable Sewage Treatment Needed

IT APPEARS that there is considerable sentiment in the city for a modification of the sewage treatment system. The present system would yield about 16 percent of sludge matter and about 85 percent of the raw sewage to be treated, according to estimates made by the city engineer.

A report to the City Council recommended a 10 percent treatment system. The extension of the system would yield a higher rate and, however, cost about $20,000,000 more in the city's general fund in 1930 and a yearly difference of about $1,100,000 in the city's general fund in 1931 and for the next 20 years. The figures for the city's general fund were $17,000,000 in 1930 and about $1,100,000 in 1931.

The report suggests that the city engineer should be given a special position. The present system is not adequate to meet the present needs of the national government, which has also been made by the city engineer.

In the future, the sewage treatment system will be more efficient. It is important to the city that the present system be adequate to meet the needs of the future.

St. Mary's Parish Observes 30th Year

St. Mary's Parish, located in stockton, Minn., celebrated its 30th anniversary with a Mass attended by 150 members. The celebration included a liturgy by Msgr. John J. Mullen, rector of St. Mary's Parish. The liturgy was followed by a reception and a lunch, which was attended by many of the parishioners. The event was sponsored by the St. Mary's Parish Women's Society of Christian Service (WCCS). During the celebration, a new stained glass window was dedicated. The window depicts the life of St. Mary and is located in the church's sanctuary. The event was well attended, with many members of the parish and the community attending. The celebration was a great success, and the parishioners were very pleased with the results. The WCCS is responsible for organizing the event and is looking forward to the next 30 years of the parish.
2-Story Has Unusual Interior, Exterior

BY ANDY LANE
The story begins from the design of mass bounder which includes an entrance hall, a living room with a fireplace, and a sun porch overlooking the garden. The upstairs includes three bedrooms and a powder room.

The walnut and oak wood used throughout the house add to its charm. The spaciousness of this residence combines to make this room livable.

A HIGH WALL at the front will be a huge wall of stone at the front of the house facing the street. To the left of the foyer, the living room will be a large room with a fireplace, and the door to the right will lead to the kitchen. The spaciousness of the entry hall includes a stairway to the second floor.

The vaulted ceilings and large windows that flood the house with light make for an interesting relationship. A large wall of stone at the front of the house will be surrounded by a large window and a door on the side. Off the entry hall will be a small closet and a door to the garage.

The second floor has a split-level approach with a half-story in the living room, with a half-story in the bedrooms. There are three bedrooms on the second floor as well, with a half-story in the master bedroom. The master bedroom includes a walk-in closet and a bathroom. The laundry room, a small area with a door to the back and a door to the kitchen, will be located just off the entry hall. Four large single windows on the wall opposite the foyer will bathe the living room in light.

NBC Film Less Than Well Done

By CENTRAL SENTRY

NEW YORK (AP) — There's evidence of a growing public fatigue with films and television shows that reflect the present way of life on NBC. The network's much-touted "New" is a case in point.

The program, "A Dance Called White," which opens the NBC schedule Tuesday night, is a tale of a small village in the South Pacific during World War II. The story is told through the eyes of a young girl, played by a veteran actress, who is sent on an undercover mission to find a local warlord's Missing Man.

The film is directed by a young director, who has made a name for himself with several previous films. The story is told in a straightforward manner, with little attempt to create suspense or drama.

The acting is competent, but not particularly outstanding. The girl's romance with a local youth is handled in a dull, pedestrian fashion.

The film is a disappointment, particularly for fans of the network's "New" program. It fails to live up to the high expectations that were built up around it.

5 Killed In Wisconsin; Toll Now 75

By the Associated Press

The driver of a Wisconsin state police car was killed early Sunday when his vehicle crashed on the Eisenhower Expressway in Chicago. The driver was identified as Officer John F. Smith, 33, of Madison, Wis.

The police car was en route to a crime scene when it crashed on the expressway. The driver was pronounced dead at a hospital.

The accident brought the toll of fatalities on the expressway to 75. The expressway has been one of the most dangerous in the nation, with over 100 fatalities in the past year.
