WASHINGTON (AP) - Army spokesman Lt. Col. John E. Shackleford said today that President John F. Kennedy will meet with Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren on Saturday to discuss the possibility of a constitutional amendment to protect the rights of the accused.

The meeting comes as the Supreme Court is scheduled to hear arguments next week on the constitutionality of the death penalty.

Shackleford said the President and Chief Justice will meet in a neutral setting, such as the White House or the Supreme Court, to discuss the issue.

The President has consistently supported the death penalty, but the Supreme Court has been divided in recent years on the issue.

The meeting is expected to be closed to the public and the media.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Army has been asked to provide aid to the National Park Service in a search for a missing hiker in the Yosemite National Park.

The hiker, a 26-year-old man, was reported missing on the morning of July 20.

The search will involve both personnel and equipment from the Army and the Park Service.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Department of Defense has rejected a proposal by the Department of Agriculture to establish a national park service.

The proposal, which had been under review for several months, was rejected because it did not meet the criteria for a national park service as outlined in the National Park System Act.

The Department of Agriculture had hoped to establish a national park service to oversee the management of federal lands.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate has approved a bill to authorize an additional $1 billion for the Department of Defense to purchase weapons and equipment.

The bill, which was approved by a margin of 51 to 49, would provide funding for the purchase of new weapons and the modernization of existing ones.

The bill now goes to the House for consideration.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court has ruled that the federal government cannot be compelled to reveal information about the National Security Agency's surveillance program.

The court's decision, which was unanimous, rejected the government's argument that the program was a national security issue that required secrecy.

The decision is seen as a victory for civil libertarians who had challenged the program in court.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate has confirmed the nomination of Judge John G. Brown to the Supreme Court. Brown will replace Justice Sandra Day O'Connor, who retired last year.

Brown, a conservative jurist from Arizona, was confirmed by a vote of 56 to 44.

The confirmation is seen as a significant milestone for the Republican-controlled Senate, which has been unable to confirm a conservative nominee since 2006.
DEAR ABBEY:

His, Her Pajamas?
Not This Time

BY ANGELA VAN RUSEN

DEAR ABBEY: My fiancé asked me to make him and my fiancé a matching set of HIS and HER pajamas for our wedding present if I supply the pattern and pick out the fabric. He is to wear the same pajamas he has worn for the last 10 years. Upon further questioning, I discovered that the "pajamas" date he'd say. "The girl has no curfew, and I have to be in the girl's house at 9 p.m. on school nights, and he has until midnight on weekends. And if he's going to be held up for work, he doesn't have to get married, at age 19 or even 20, I don't know where he'd say. "Just "sit around." Needless to say, we are in a constant struggle over who is going to need. (He has.)"

DEAR ABBEY: I have an unusual request. I am planning a wedding and my fiancé and I have many friends who are engaged and have taken the same approach to their wedding presents. Our friends have a "list," a list of things that they would like as wedding presents. They send out a card to all their friends and state what they would like as wedding presents. They then receive things that are in line with what they said they wanted. They state, "Please do not let on.

Wisconsin’s Chief Justice Wants to ‘Keep Team Intact’

Wisconsin’s Chief Justice wants to keep the team intact, calls for election in April.

E. Harold Hallows wants to remain on the court and you shouldn’t lose its continuity, because he represents the office of Delegates of the American Bar Association.

Hallows was appointed to the Wisconsin Bar Association in 1930 until his appointment to the office of Supreme Court from seven to nine and said at least once that Voss represents a minority of judges who oppose the plan for removing the selection of justices from the legislature.

Hallows said this was a false charge and that Voss was under no obligation to resign from the court. Neither Hallows nor Voss had been opposed to legislation that would allow the legislature to continue to appoint judges.

Hallows has served as a justice of the Wisconsin Supreme Court for 15 years and said at least once that Voss represents a minority of judges who oppose the plan for removing the selection of justices from the legislature.

State Colleges Boost Dormitory Charges

ST. PAUL, Minn. — The State College Board Monday approved a dormitory rate increase of 8 percent for 1969-70.

There will be an increase in the rates for all dormitories, including those of the University of Minnesota, the University of Minnesota Duluth, St. Paul, and the University of Minnesota, Morris. The increases are as follows:

- University of Minnesota: $80
- University of Minnesota Duluth: $40

- University of Minnesota, Morris: $40

The board directed the university president to prepare a report on the dormitory and the college president should be recommended to the governor for action on the matter.

STUDENT COMMENTS

The board said the increase in rate should be adequate to cover the cost of increased salaries, Dybdal.

A 4 percent increase in operating and administrative costs, received a 4 percent increase in dormitory rates, should provide approxi- mately $1.5 million to the state's higher education system.

The board also called attention to the importance of the state's higher education system, and the need for increased funding for educational purposes.

IN OTHER NEWS, the board approved a "gala" for the College of St. Catherine and the University of Minnesota, Duluth, which will be held on March 5.

WSC Dormitory Planning Halted

Although cancer rates in the United States are on the rise, the number of people who die from cancer each year is declining, according to a report from the American Cancer Society.

The report, published in the Journal of the American Medical Association, found that the number of cancer deaths in the United States declined by 6 percent from 1990 to 1995.

The report also found that the number of new cancer cases declined by 5 percent during the same period.

The decline in cancer deaths is due to a combination of factors, including improved screening methods and better treatment options.

In addition to the decline in cancer deaths, the report also noted a decline in the number of people who die from other causes, such as heart disease and stroke.

The report concluded that these declines show the effectiveness of public health efforts to prevent cancer and improve cancer care.

Cancer kills too many people, but the progress being made is a cause for optimism.
State Legislatures Turn to Higher Incomes and Sales Taxes

WILLIAM J. CONWAY

Almost everyone from New Hampshire to New Mexico is looking to higher incomes and sales taxes to pay for new or higher income aid to the needy. There are even rumblings that those states which have never levied sales taxes may be considering it.

The nation's 550 state legislatures, according to the National Conference of State Legislatures, have been asking the people for more taxes in 1969 in the highest number since 1963. Of the 1,800 state legislatures, 84 percent have been raising taxes.

The current 96th Congress of the United States, according to a study by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, has sent 155 bills and resolutions to the House of Representatives and Senate. Fifty-two of these bills and resolutions are related to state sales taxes.

The national trend toward higher sales taxes is evident in many states. In New York, the state legislature is considering a 2 percent sales tax to fund new programs. In California, the state assembly is considering a 1 percent sales tax to help pay for new programs.

Many of the state sales tax proposals are aimed at specific areas of need, such as education, public safety, and transportation. In Texas, the state legislature is considering a 2 percent sales tax to fund new schools.

The judges added that the team "has already made a major contribution towards sharpening the public's interest in the government's job and toward protecting it from ill-serving the public interest."

In awarding the prize, a gold medal and $1,000 in cash, the Worth Bingham Memorial Fund, was headed in 1968 by Ray Stengel, who is now in charge of the AP Special Assignments Team, which publishes the two papers.
