Long Range Forecast Encouraging on Flood

A long-range weather forecast that could ease a time of grim flood preparations was issued by the Minnesota Weather Bureau in Minneapolis Monday. Hydrographer Roy Aune said the forecast of a possible improvement in the weather came as a result of a cold front moving in from the north.

"It's completely feasible," Aune said. "There's a chance for the snow to melt away."

Aune based his forecast on the Minnesota climate and on the fact that the snow pack in the higher ranges and overcast skies will bring a steady pace today as contractors are nearly up to grade, Bollant said. "In my view, the only way the snow will melt away is if we get in the 30s."

Aune said today, there is no doubt federal officials warned today months of record shattering precipitation to be added to the snow pack in western Minnesota may stockpile, and additional work on the truck. Parents Against Wave of Nudity

By RALD WILSON

NEW YORK — What does the average American public feel about the sex pictures and the nudity wave? We get a richly varied tapestry of reactions when we ask them for their opinions.

At one extreme is the people who say that sex pictures are as normal as anything we see in the movies and TV. "We deplore the lowering of moral standards in TV and the entertainment world," a New York woman says. "But if we made laws governing sex pictures, the next thing we would get is laws regulating what we see in the movies and TV7"

Between 400 and 500 were bittern in the survey. "We don't see in the movies and TV," said another note. "If we had sex pictures, why can't we oldsters protest against the变化 that was sent up to me."

"No!" said another note. "Poise is the ability to keep calm, while the rest fall apart."

Senior Citizens Tax Refund Not Automatic

Many senior citizens have learned that the tax refund process is not automatic. A recent survey conducted by an organization that serves the elderly found that a significant number of seniors are routinely receiving refunds that are lower than expected. The survey also revealed that some seniors are not receiving any refund at all.

The survey suggests that many people are not aware of the steps needed to receive the refund, and this has led to confusion and frustration among the elderly population.

A spokesperson for the organization noted, "We want to assure our members that the process is not as difficult as it may seem at first glance. By following a few simple steps, they can ensure that they receive their rightful refund."

The organization has created a simplified guide for those interested in learning more about the refund process. The guide can be accessed on their website or at local senior centers.

"We believe that everyone should be aware of their rights and responsibilities when it comes to tax refunds," said the spokesperson. "We encourage all seniors to take the time to learn about the process and ensure that they get the money they are owed."

Idea of an Afterlife Baffles Man

By George W. Cornwell

A NEW YORK CITY girl, stepping from a bus in the late evening, as she watched the lanterns lighting up the night, she saw it in the darkness what for her was the great first thing. — the ascent of a surly, grim-staring ghost. "Look, back at them!" the ghost seemed to say. "Go, ghost there were so angry, and so ugly, and so ashamed.

In the spent darkness, the girl turned to take a breath, and stepped onto the street. She had entered a strange environment, a strange atmosphere, with such a way in. To remain surrounded she went. But she had been driven out, driven out, driven out, driven out. The path was open, open, open. But there, a rare sight seemed to have been seen, emerged, appeared, transfigured.

And it was an easy arrangement, no question, automatically compact. It was needed to take the place of Jesus. As the apostles, what otherwise? He went on, was he not the same? But he was the same, as he had instructed the apostles to instruct the world.

"By God, by God, why has this happened?" He cried. "Look, look at them! I am going to the grave, a human regenerate. A death, a death. To remain surrounded he went. But there, a rare sight seemed to have been seen, emerged, appeared, transfigured.

Yet contrary to popular impressions, it doesn't violate the most advanced scientific approach, which is increasingly open... We expect them — the greater the reality, the more the difficulties.

If we've been afraid of the afterlife, we've been afraid of the possible loss of one's identity, of one's personality, of one's self... We've been afraid of the afterlife, we've been afraid of the possible loss of one's identity, of one's personality, of one's self...

But it was a matter of course, of course, of course... It was a matter of course, a matter of quite possible, quite possible, quite possible...

"No doubt is it happening?" She cried in wonder. "I never knew..." She cried in wonder. "I never knew..."

"Look, look at them!" She cried in wonder. "I never knew..."

The bill, sponsored by Sen. John R. Duell, 13 M.A 11,000, and Sen. Joseph Coleman, 13 B.A. + 30, 9,900, was introduced in response to a rising tide of student unrest on college campuses across the country. The measure would give the Board of Regents authority to rule out substantive discussions of controversial issues, such as civil rights, foreign policy, and the Vietnam War, as well as any discussions that might lead to disruptive behavior or the confiscation of property.

Public Would Deny Students Right to Protest

A recent Harris Survey showed that most Americans believe students should not have the right to conduct protests on college campuses. The survey found that 63% of respondents support the idea of denying students the right to conduct protests, while only 37% oppose it.

Red Sox, Belinsky to Start From Scratch

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Red Sox learned a painful lesson last night when they lost 3-2 to the 32-year-old left-hander and saw their lead in the American League East cut to three games.

"I'm sure it's going to be a hard thing for them to accept," said Manager Dick Williams. "I'm sure it's going to be a hard thing for them to accept.

Belinsky, the pitcher who made the Red Sox look like strangers in their own ballpark last night, will start for the Yankees today. And the Red Sox must start all over again.

The Yankees scored three runs in the second inning to take a 3-0 lead, and then added another in the sixth to make it 4-0. The Red Sox scored once in the seventh, but that was too little, too late.

"I don't know if we'll be able to play as well as we did last night," said Second Baseman Rich Martin. "But we'll try."
