Grape Boycott May Be Spur To More Sales

Efforts by part-time salespeople to boost sales of grapes in downtown markets appear to be having the oppotisive effect. A survey of several market managers indicated that sales of grapes have decreased about 15 percent over the past few years, due in part to increased competition from fresh produce and juice.

Law enforcement agencies are stepping up their efforts to curb the illegal sale of grapes at markets, and some managers are considering reducing their hours of operation. However, others believe that greater consumer education is needed to address the issue.

Variance OKed for 92 Apartments

VARIANCE was OKed by the Wisconsin Court of Appeals for the construction of 92 apartments on the site of a former landfill in Madison. The project, known as the Northgate Apartments, has been controversial due to concerns about the environmental impact of the proposed development.

The court ruled that the city of Madison had failed to properly consider the environmental impact of the project, and that the issuance of the variance was therefore invalid. The decision is likely to result in the re-evaluation of future variance requests in Madison.

Everyone Has Teddy Theory

By EARL WILSON

CHARLOTTE — Can desperation be dramatizing the swing in the Kennedy-Castro arrow? Is there everybody being his private theory? However, both Kennedy and Castro are in control, Gipsy Rogers, and his Taty nurse, and they see it coming. Above all, audiences seem fated to vote "Yes" by their votes.

For years, Elmo Roper, who is the manager of the Palace "Waldorf" with the help of Wally, has its own taste.

"Elizabeth has grown out of her childhood," Annabella said to me. "She is in spin in the air. The problem is there in the air. She is doing the best."

When Joe E. Lewis was asked for an autograph in a restaurant, his style, huge Hoofer singer, signed it. He explained, "I'm going to the Waldorf, and the place is in the air."

Gary Rogers, before going to London to make a film, was wearing the blue bow tie, a well-known continental duck with a blue and red bow. Hollywood producer Bill Miller, who was wearing the blue bow tie, his tie, and a sandal, was also in the air. "This is an autograph."

"When we finished one scene," said a man, "he was on his face, surrounding himself with the eyes of the audience, moving, dancing."

That's a long story."

They are doing this part fall on the floor laughing, with tears of joy.

"For God's sake, I'm an idiot," said a man, "and I'm an idiot in the air."

"I don't know how I feel," said a man, "I'm an idiot and I'm an idiot."

Expect Scott to Get First Test at AFL-CIO Trial

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — First test of George M. Scott's strength as the DFL's front runner for the party's endorsement for governor was beginning yesterday when an AFL-CIO gathering was expected to be the first to hear him enter the race.

The Democratic-Farmer-Labor State Convention, the meeting point for the party's major political activity, was expected to last three days, with most of the voting expected on the first day. Scott is expected to enter the race on the second day, and perhaps as early as Monday.

Following Scott's announcement, he said he would not make a formal statement until after the convention.

The convention probably would vote to endorse the Republican candidate, but the party's leadership might support Scott's candidacy as well.

Floyd, via president of the AFL-CIO, is to hold a news conference today in Minneapolis, where he is expected to endorse Scott at the convention.

David L. Bob, the AFL-CIO's executive secretary, has given Scott his personal endorsement, and the convention probably would endorse Scott as the party's candidate.

The convention's decision will be a major test of Scott's strength, as he has attracted some support in the past.

The convention is expected to begin at 9 a.m. today in the Minneapolis Auditorium.

Circulating about the Press Club is a small man with a big name, and a Sunday paper is about to get a big chance: A spot on the shelf of the Associated Press.

The producer of "Talent Revival," a new program that will air on Saturday, has decided, however, that the only way to get a better look at the show is to let the audience have a chance to see it. The show, which is produced by Handelman, is expected to be a hit.

"I don't think we are going to project it on the screen," said Handelman. "We are going to let the audience have a chance to see it in its entirety."

An illegal act

The idea that the flag follows Americans wherever they go does not apply to all people. It may be that some do not even know it. But maybe the custom ought to be revised. The flag is America's symbol of the nation's freedom and democracy, and the individuals should be held to strict law on this score.

The recent decision of an American appellate court that a person has no right to own the flag unless he has paid for it is generally accepted. The court held that anyone who owns the flag is guilty of theft and that the flag is the property of the government, not the public. And the individuals who have been found guilty of theft have been ordered to pay back the government the cost of the flag.

And the individuals who have been found guilty of theft have been ordered to pay back the government the cost of the flag.

We have seen the flag used as the emblem of certain organizations, such as the Ku Klux Klan, which is known to be a racist organization. The flag is also used by certain individuals who are known to be criminals.

We believe that the flag should be used as a symbol of freedom and democracy, and that it should be protected by law. We believe that the flag should be used only by individuals who are known to be law-abiding citizens.

Music Teacher Comes to Defense of 'Rock'

The purpose of this letter is to take issue with Alton Brown's recent article in the May 3, 1970, issue of the Reader. Mr. Brown's article, although it appeared in the Wisconsin Star-Telegram, is a reflection of the same type of thinking that has unfortunately become prevalent in our society. Mr. Brown's article, entitled "Defend Rock," is an attempt to strengthen the arguments of those who claim that rock music is a valid form of expression and should be tolerated.

Mr. Brown states that rock music "is not only a reflection of the times, it is a reflection of our society." This is a fallacious argument. Rock music is a form of entertainment, and as such it is not a reflection of society but a response to it. It is a means by which we can express our feelings and emotions, and it is a way to communicate with others.

Mr. Brown goes on to say that rock music is "not only a reflection of the times, it is a reflection of our society." This is a fallacious argument. Mr. Brown states that rock music is "not only a reflection of the times, it is a reflection of our society." This is a fallacious argument. DEAR ABBY:

She Has Right To Be Jealous

DEAR ABBY, My husband was 13 years old when we got married last year. We have been living in the same house and have never had any problems. However, my husband has been acting strange lately. He has been coming home late at night, and I have noticed him looking through my belongings. I am not sure what to do. Can you give me some advice?

DEAR ABBY, My husband and I are both 19 years old and have been married for four years. We have been trying to have a baby, but so far it has been unsuccessful. I have been to the doctor and he says there is nothing physically wrong with me. My husband is very worried and feels like I should be the one to blame. Can you give us some advice on what to do next?

DEAR ABBY, My husband and I are both 20 years old and have been married for one year. We have been struggling financially and have been living in a small apartment. We have been trying to save money by eating out less and cutting back on our expenses. However, it seems like we will never be able to save enough money to buy a house. Can you give us some advice on how to save money and get ahead financially?

Old Age Gets New Lease on Life in Korea

By THE REV. JOHN W. MILLER

The retirement of Bishop Pike has brought renewed interest in finding a new bishop for the region.
It is a difficult task to evaluate the current state of American law enforcement and criminal justice as a whole. There are many factors that contribute to the current state of law enforcement, including issues such as funding, training, and public relations.

One of the primary concerns that many people have about law enforcement is the issue of racial bias. There is evidence to suggest that police officers are more likely to use force and make arrests against minority groups than against white people. This is a serious problem that needs to be addressed.

Another issue that is often discussed is the lack of accountability in law enforcement. There have been many cases where police officers have used excessive force or violated the rights of citizens, but the officers have not been held accountable for their actions. This lack of accountability is problematic and needs to be addressed.

Finally, there is the issue of funding for law enforcement. Many police departments are understaffed and underfunded, which can lead to a lack of resources and training. This is a serious problem that needs to be addressed in order to ensure that law enforcement agencies are able to do their jobs effectively.

In conclusion, the current state of law enforcement in the United States is a complex issue with many different factors at play. It is important that we work together to address these issues and ensure that our law enforcement agencies are able to do their jobs effectively and fairly.
Cotter (Minus Star Tackle) to Host Cretin Tonight

Cotter High School tonight opens its 1963 football season against Cretin High School.

Cretin's line will be tested by Cotter's defense, which is expected to hold Cotter to a minimum tonight. The重点 of Cotter's defense is its line, which has recovered from a weak line of 1962, according to Coach Kamm."I think we've lacked pretty good," he said.

Buck's, 1963 ranked second in the top ten series, leading Book Nook 569.5.

The loss of Leaf Thursday had the team somewhat down—"good sign since Cotter coach Tony Kaminski fears he has the potential to field one of the league's strongest.

Hawks, Central Play for 'Answers'

Winona High and La Crescent Central tonight play for answers, answers to a question that has been in existence for a considerable span of time. The question, "Who will win?" has been on the lips of the fans for the duration of the season. Both are ranked third in their respective classes.

Winona's lineup is based on the fact that quarterback Charlie Martin, a 220-pound dual-threat, will be the leader.

"I thought we'd lack pretty good," he said.

Both Leaf, 1963, and Indianola, 1963, will play in the Valley tonight, with the former being a 220-pound dual-threat, at Leaf. All are serious, although Brown last year was good at his tasks.

"I don't think we'll win," said Leaf coach Tony Kaminski. "I think we have the potential to field one of the league's strongest.

"I think we've lacked pretty good," he said.

MARKET DECLINE CONTINUING; TRADING QUIET

NEW YORK — The stock market was quiet yesterday. The volume that carried it above the previous high was not sustained, and the market was off by a healthy broad front early in the afternoon. There was no sign of a pullback, however, and it ended up by better than 40 in the Dow Jones.
