Nixon to Ask $662 Million For Transport

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — President Nixon said today he will ask Congress to authorize $662 million to develop a supersonic transport aircraft in fiscal 1972. Over the next two years, he said, the project would cost another $1.2 billion.

In addition to the need for continued U.S. leadership in aerospace, the president said, the project was also vital to the country's economy and to its relations with other nations.

Opponents of the project contended that the government already has spent $1.8 billion on the SST and that, if the government wants to continue the program, it should first do a better job of planning and budgeting.

It is understood that the president will not make any specific budget recommendations on the SST until next year, when the costs have been better studied and his own budgetary position has been re-examined.

The president wants to examine the SST project to make sure it is economically justified and that the country is getting the best return on its investment.

Senate Debates Housing Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate called up for debate today a $1.3 billion housing bill that, for the first time in its history, would allow the government to give a part of the rent of public housing.

This would rise to $314 million in fiscal 1972, and then progressively fall to $1891 million in fiscal 1972, according to the Senate.

The bill would allow the government to give a part of the rent of public housing to those who can pass certain tests.

Spokesmen for the legislation said the bill was designed to increase the efficiency of the federal housing program.

The bill would also provide a part of the rent of public housing for those who can pass certain tests.

Senators said the bill was designed to increase the efficiency of the federal housing program.

The bill would also provide a part of the rent of public housing for those who can pass certain tests.

The Senate later rejected a proposal to turn the nation's postal system over to a government-owned corporation. A board of directors would be responsible for name-owned corporation.

Postal Corporation Proposal Rejects Government Ownership

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's postal corporation proposal voted down today was ordered by Secretary of the Treasury, who is responsible for the proposal that was ordered by the president.

The bill was ordered by the secretary to provide for the first time in the nation's history that the government would provide a part of the rent of public housing to those who can pass certain tests.

The bill would not become law unless the Senate voted to allow the government to give a part of the rent of public housing to those who can pass certain tests.

The Senate later rejected a proposal to turn the nation's postal system over to a government-owned corporation. A board of directors would be responsible for name-owned corporation.

Postal Corporation Proposal Proposal Does Not Pass

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — President Nixon's postal corporation proposal was voted down today by the Senate, sponsored by Senator Joseph Sisco and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

Although the bill essentially represented a major change in the postal service, the Senate voted to reject it.

The bill would provide a part of the rent of public housing for those who can pass certain tests.

By the terms of the bill, the government would provide a part of the rent of public housing for those who can pass certain tests.

Doctors at the University of Minnesota said that Melson, who complained of symptoms for a month, had had the symptoms of posttraumatic stress disorder.

Admit Errors in Recording
Presence of House Members

WASHINGTON (AP) _ There might have been a pattern of human error during the recording of House members' presence at plenary sessions of the House of Representatives in 1953.

Price said the study showed there may have been a minor error during the recording of the presence of House members from the 83rd
Congress, which ended in 1953.

The study by this panel showed no evidence of complicity,
Price said in calling for a mod-erized, error-proof system in recording the presence of House members.

The trailer tax bill was passed at that time, and the tax didn't help get votes.

Current repeal efforts recall the trip, the communique said.

ers was small, the error was clearly the sensitivity of this system, Price said.

legislative admission:

"If we require the House to defend one of the six Green Beret officers charged with murdering a Viet Cong official, we should take the best and we have got the best," Young said.

This has a particular charm for to others it seems rather a futile

Tentative Approval
Given Budget Issues

By FRANK LIKARD
Red Eye News Editor

With the end of the fiscal year, the next phase of the fiscal year begins. This is when most departments are expected to release their budgets. The City Council will receive their budget requests in the next few weeks.

The budget request process begins with the City Manager, who submits a tentative budget to the City Council for their review. The City Council, in turn, will review the budget and make any necessary adjustments before finalizing it.

The City Council will hold a public hearing to discuss the tentative budget. This is an opportunity for residents to voice their concerns and provide input into the budget process.

The budget for the next fiscal year will be approved at the next City Council meeting. This is a critical time for ensuring that the budget meets the needs of the community and aligns with the City's goals and objectives.

School Costs Will Increase, But Mill Rate May Go Down

By C. GORDON HIELKE

Superintendent, Winona Independe

There are a few changes to the budget this year. The school board is looking at increasing the mill rate, but they are also looking at ways to reduce costs.

One of the biggest changes is the increase in the mill rate. The mill rate is currently set at 1.877. It is proposed to increase this to 1.912. This is a slight increase, but it will have a significant impact on property taxes.

The school district is also looking at ways to reduce costs. They are looking at cutting back on the number of employees, and they are also looking at ways to reduce the amount of money spent on supplies.

Green Beret trial begins in U.S.

Rosemary Schiliro

WASHINGTON - The Army will try Sgt. Maj. Henry E. Johnson Jr., the only Green Beret for murder in recent years, and the verdict may be followed closely by the Vietnamese government, with whom the United States has been at war since 1955.

Johnson, 36, a former Green Beret, is charged with murder in the death of an American civilian who was killed in Vietnam in 1969.

Johnson was convicted of murder in a civilian court in 1971, but the conviction was overturned on appeal.

Johnson, who was discharged from the Army in 1973, was arrested in Vietnam in 1974 and held without charge for more than a year.

Johnson has been held in solitary confinement in a government prison for more than a year.

Johnson's trial is expected to last several weeks, and the outcome is uncertain.

In the meantime, Johnson's case has sparked controversy in both the United States and Vietnam.

Some Vietnam War veterans have called for Johnson's release, while others have condemned his arrest.

The Vietnamese government has expressed concern about Johnson's treatment, and has called for his release.

The American government has defended Johnson's arrest, and has said that it is a matter of national security.

The trial is expected to be a major test of the American government's commitment to the rule of law.

The verdict is likely to be closely watched by the Vietnamese government, and by other countries in the region.

The trial is expected to end in late 1975, and the outcome is uncertain.

The trial is expected to end in late 1975, and the outcome is uncertain.

In the meantime, Johnson's case has sparked controversy in both the United States and Vietnam.

Some Vietnam War veterans have called for Johnson's release, while others have condemned his arrest.

The Vietnamese government has expressed concern about Johnson's treatment, and has called for his release.

The American government has defended Johnson's arrest, and has said that it is a matter of national security.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to point out that you often paint with a broad brush. Your statement that this is true is quite accurate. However, I think it's important to consider the specific circumstances in each situation.

For example, when you write about the importance of water conservation, I believe it's essential to recognize that some communities have a greater need for water resources than others. Similarly, when you discuss the role of nuclear energy, it's important to acknowledge the potential benefits and drawbacks of this technology.

In conclusion, I recommend that you provide more context and detail in your future articles. This will help your readers to better understand the issues you're addressing and make more informed decisions.

Sincerely,
[Your Name]

Housewives Promise More Boycotts

NEW YORK (AP) — Housewives who contributed to the successful gasoline boycott in New York City have pledged to use even more pressure on retailers to cut prices temporarily, but their movement is in jeopardy of being snuffed out by advertising and sales.

The movement is gradually gaining momentum, and City Manager Brandtner said a "good start" in August but has been "hit by a wave of advertising" and "a wave of skepticism." The successful bid on gasoline was $3,079.90. American was the only bidder. The city attorney ruled that American was the only bidder.

Asks 'Squeeze' Be Put on For Welfare

MALDEN, Mass. — A state housing official made a strong plea Thursday for a federal welfare program that would allow more than 100,000 Massachusetts families to receive aid.

The official, Housing and Urban Development Commissioner John A. Connolly, said the program would help more than 100,000 families in Massachusetts.

Connolly said at a press conference that the program is long overdue and has been discussed for years.

The program, which Connolly refers to as a "squeezing" program, would allow families to receive welfare benefits based on their income level.

Connolly said the program would help families who are already struggling to make ends meet.

He added that the program would be implemented in phases, with the first phase expected to begin next year.

Connolly also said that the program would be funded through a combination of federal and state dollars.

Biden: 'Families Deserve Better'

WASHINGTON — President Joe Biden on Wednesday called for a "squeezing" program that would provide additional assistance to families in need.

"Families deserve better," Biden said in a statement.

"We are committed to working with Congress to ensure that this program is implemented in a way that is fair and affordable," Biden added.

The program, which Biden said he would support, would provide additional assistance to families who are already struggling to make ends meet.

Biden said the program would be funded through a combination of federal and state dollars.

He added that the program would be implemented in phases, with the first phase expected to begin next year.

Biden also said that the program would be designed to help families who are struggling with the high cost of living.

"We need to do more to help families who are struggling to make ends meet," Biden said.

"This program is a step in the right direction," Biden added.

Mays Cracks 600th Home Run

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Willie Mays took his place in the baseball pantheon yesterday when he became the sixth man in history to hit 600 or more career home runs.

It was a momentous occasion. Mays, slowed by age and injury, had hit his 399th home run on July 26 as a pinchhitter Monday night at Atlanta's Fulton County Stadium. The crowd roared as he raised his bat and stepped in to bat. But it wasn't until the next day that the Associated Press reported the news. Mays had accomplished something truly remarkable.

Mays, already one of baseball's greatest players, had added another milestone to his illustrious career. He was the fourth player to hit 600 home runs, joining Babe Ruth, Mickey Mantle, and Ted Williams. Mays had been expected to reach the 600 milestone earlier in the season, but injuries had slowed his progress. But on that July 26 night, he finally achieved his goal.

It was a thrill to see all the fans coming together to celebrate this historic occasion. Mays' teammates and opponents alike expressed their admiration for his achievement. It was truly a moment to remember.

Guppy Sessions

Begin Saturday

The first session of the fall guppy swimming is to start Saturday at 11 a.m. at Lake Center Pool in Winona. The sessions are open to the public and will be held every Saturday until October.

IS THIS A GOOD TIME TO INVEST?

Blair & Company invites you and your investment-minded friends to attend a free lecture on Should You Own Stocks or Funds?

- Mutual funds and the growth-minded investor. What is the total range of mutual fund performance?
- Special report on computer stocks
- How do funds offer a potential hedge against inflation on a long-term basis?
- What about the much-discussed CHECK-A-MONTH plans for retirement?

This meeting is designed to give definite answers to these questions. Different objectives for stocks and funds will be discussed. Prospectus and complete descriptive literature will be given to you for ready reference after the meeting.

Discussions will be led by Blair & Company representative, Joseph Roche, who has counseled thousands of investors. It is open to the public, and will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, September 25, in the Holiday Inn in Winona.
