Judiciary Committee OK's Haynsworth Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate Judiciary Committee today approved the nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. for the Supreme Court, clearing the way for a confirmation vote by the full Senate. The vote was 10-3, with Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., opposing the nomination. Haynsworth's judicial experience, it was suggested, was not great enough to merit his appointment to the Supreme Court. If confirmed, Haynsworth would replace the late Associate Justice William J. Brennan Jr.

Minnesota-Operated Meat Inspection Program Set

By GERRY NELSON
ST. PAUL (AP) — Minnesota meat processors may operate a small state meat inspection program under a new law that takes effect July 1.

The program was signed into law by Governor Al Quist last week. It was approved by the legislature in March, with little opposition and no debate.

Under the law, the state will operate an inspection program that will operate at the same time as the federal meat inspection program. The state program will be operated by the Minnesota Department of Agriculture.

The state program will be operated by the Minnesota Department of Agriculture. The state agency will be responsible for enforcing the law and conducting inspections.

Not broad enough

The reading of a committee to evaluate the merits of Vinova public school teachers appears to be a formal one, with the purpose of determining whether the teachers meet certain standards. The committee, appointed by the state board meeting, is expected to examine five teachers for certification under state standards for school administrative personnel.

Unless the composition of this committee is limited to teachers or education specialists, it may fail to meet the standards of broadness.
Congress Cuts Nixon Plan on Clean Waters

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House, although nearly unanimous in the amount requested by President Nixon, has reduced to $600 million from $214 million the amount recommended by the Environmental Protection Agency for water pollution control appropriation for fiscal 1970.

The reduction was made after the narrow defeat of the $600 million measure yesterday by the House Appropriations Committee, which had earlier sent to the Senate the $214 million figure. The defeat came on a roll call vote of 220-216.

Rep. William E. Minshall, R-Ohio, leader of the 120-member Conservative Coalition, said his group did vote to spend $600 million, rather than the $214 million the Environmental Protection Agency had recommended to Congress. After the defeat, the group voted for the $600 million figure.

Rep. Minshall, who led the group of Republicans who supported the increased spending, said the $600 million figure was necessary to pay for additional monitoring facilities, administrative expenses, pollution control projects, and water pollution control on the nation's rivers and streams.

The House Appropriations Committee had agreed to increase the pollution control appropriation from the $214 million the House had voted last year to $600 million last year.

The group of Republicans who supported the increased spending, led by Rep. Minshall, also voted against the $600 million figure. After the defeat, the group voted for the $600 million figure.

DEAR ABBY:

'Tis the season for love to be in the air. In the case of this lady, she runs around with other men. (We know this because our parents have to dump the dishes.)

DEAR ABBY: Do you consider tipping 'under the table' to another man? Some days I have such a bad head, some days I have headaches. I have such a head, some days I have headaches. I have such a bad head, others call our numbers and ask us to baby-sit. We can use the money. ACHING BACK no time.

DEAR ABBY: I was talking to a friend when suddenly she reached for me and pulled me over to his side. I have such a backache some days, no matter how many times we turn her down, she calls us again. I think about it all day long. She always brings home a briefcase full of paperwork to look at.

DEAR ABBY: I believe that my parents are right, it doesn't matter if she's inclined to run around. Her Sam may stay healthy. I've been told that her Sam may stay healthy. I've been told that.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hackbarth, rural Houston, and Mr. and Mrs. Eli Rowekamp, rural Houston, were among the winners in the 1970 Winona County Soil Conservation District soil conservation awards.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowekamp were awarded the Silver Farmland Protection Award for their 92-acre farm. The area has been farmed for 130 years by the Rowekamp family.

The Hackbarth farm was awarded the Plowman of the Year Award. The farm received a 150 percent rating for soil conservation practices.

Mr. and Mrs. Hackbarth said they are pleased with the recognition, but said they feel they could do more.

The farm was rated 150 percent due to the use of contour strips, planting for wildlife, and the use of a manure composting system.

The awards were presented by the Winona County Soil Conservation District and the Winona County Soil Conservation Committee.

The Soil Conservation District is part of the federal Soil Conservation Service, which promotes soil conservation practices to reduce erosion and improve water quality.

Groppi Begins Second Week in Jail as Lawyers Renew Fight

MADISON, Wis. — The trial of a man accused of murder opened in Wisconsin's state Supreme Court today, as the defense lawyer renewed his appeal for a new trial.

The case involves the shooting death of a 17-year-old boy in Madison last year. The defendant, who is 21, was charged with first-degree intentional homicide.

The defense attorney said there was insufficient evidence to support his client's conviction and called for a new trial to be held in another county.

Meanwhile, the prosecution argued that the evidence presented during the trial was sufficient to support the conviction.

The trial began with opening statements by both sides and is expected to continue for several days.

ARMY'S ACTION: Kickbacks from performers were charged by a firm in the business that also owned the Walter Kerr Theater. Contractors, taking a page from the corrupt movie industry, have been trying to make the military pay them kickbacks for years, according to the Army. The Army is trying to combat this practice by establishing a new policy that will force entertainers to pay kickbacks. The policy is expected to be effective in the next few weeks.

LUNAR ROVER: The lunar rover was designed to carry a crew of two astronauts to the moon's surface. It was developed by NASA and used in the Apollo missions. The rover was capable of driving on the moon's surface and had a range of 20,000 miles. It was also equipped with a television camera and a high-speed computer to assist in the mission's success.

TELEVISION REVIEW: "The Virginian's" review is based on the show's recent episode, which featured a dramatic scene in which the main character faces a difficult decision. The show is known for its historical accuracy and its depiction of the westward expansion.

Finch ('Job Exciting') Has Case of Frayed Nerves

WASHINGTON (AP) - Robert H. Finch has a gold price is about 40% of his worth, in part because of a standard 10-year mortgage on a house he owns in a wealthy suburb of the city. He says, "The job is too exciting to be too exciting, that's why I was hired."

Finch took his job as the new head of the Department of Housing and Urban Development under President Jimmy Carter. The position is one of the most important in the federal government, and Finch says he plans to use it to further his goals of improving housing and urban development in the United States.

In his first few months on the job, Finch has already faced challenges, including a housing crisis in the nation's capital and a budget deficit that is forcing him to make difficult cuts in programs.

Finch is a graduate of Harvard Law School and has worked as a lawyer and a government official. He served as the U.S. ambassador to South Korea from 1977 to 1981.
