Outdoor Living Stressed in Colonial

By ANDY LANS

As I left the house heading towards the dormitory for my first class, I noticed that the colonial-style housing at my university was starting to show signs of wear. The dormitory buildings, once majestic in their design, now exhibited cracks and peeling paint. The walkways, once wide and inviting, were now narrow and obscured by an overgrowth of weeds.

As I entered the dormitory, I was greeted by the smell of old paint and dust. The halls were dimly lit, and the air was thick with the musty odor of countless students. The lockers, once a source of pride, now held mysterious items, their contents hidden from prying eyes.

As I made my way to the classroom, I couldn't help but wonder about the history of these buildings. What stories did they hold? What secrets were locked away in their walls?

After class, I returned to my dormitory, my mind still buzzing with thoughts of the past. The colonial-style housing was a reminder of the struggles and triumphs of the past, a symbol of the resilience and determination of those who came before us.

As I lay in bed that night, I couldn't help but think about the future. What would the next generation of students bring to these halls? Would they cherish the history of this place, or would they allow it to fade away, a mere memory of what once was?

As I drifted off to sleep, I couldn't help but smile. Despite the wear and tear, the colonial-style housing was still beautiful in its own way. It was a piece of history, a reminder of the past, and a beacon of hope for the future.

Ominous Note Sounded For Christian Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP) — The North Dakota Christian Democrats held their annual meeting this weekend and voted to accept a resolution rejecting proposals by the Democratic-NPL for a "Christian" party.

The resolution, which came after a heated debate, was passed by 45 votes to 5. It called for the party to continue its current policies of working within the Democratic-NPL, and for the state chapter to drop its proposal to form its own "Christian" party.

The resolution was introduced by state chairman Ralph Moos, who said the party should not splits from the Democratic-NPL. He cited the success of the party in the recent election, in which it won 13 of 57 state legislative seats.

The resolution was opposed by state senator Mike Fichter, who argued that the party should form its own "Christian" party to compete with the national Republican Party.

"We need a strong Christian party," Fichter said. "We can't afford to be part of the Democratic-NPL."

The resolution was later amended to add the words "Christian Democrats." It was then passed by a vote of 44 to 6.

In other news, the party elected state senator John Rathbun as its new chairman.

"I'm looking forward to working with the party," Rathbun said. "We have a lot of work to do."

The last thing you need is another problem

You are feeling a little unsure. You'd like to borrow money. But you don't know if your request will be approved.

Maybe you're looking for that second car or wall-to-wall carpeting. Maybe you've just moved and want to build a new room for the kids.

You need money, and you have something better than a credit card that you can borrow against.

With your car, you can borrow up to your loan limit against the vehicle's value in the event of a default. If you are approved for a line of credit, it's available throughout the year.

You can choose how you use the money — for any purpose you'd like.

When you need money, you should know that you may not have heard of a better financial product that will go a long way to meet your needs.
