WASHINGTON (AP) — Nixon veto threat reinforced despite compromise reductions. Congress is moving toward a final decision on the fiscal year appropriation bill. The House has passed the measure and the Senate is expected to act soon. The White House has threatened to veto the bill unless Congress reduces spending levels. However, the Senate has already made significant reductions, including cuts in foreign aid and defense spending.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 30 mayors of the nation's 30 largest cities met in Washington this week to discuss how cities can work together to improve quality of life in American communities.

Among the topics discussed were affordable housing, education, and public safety.

Mayor John H. Neely of Houston, who chairs the U.S. Conference of Mayors, said the conference is a valuable forum for sharing ideas and best practices.

"It's a great opportunity to bring together local leaders from across the country and share solutions that can help make our cities even stronger," Neely said.

Representatives from cities such as New York, Chicago, and Los Angeles discussed various initiatives they are implementing to address these issues.

"We want to make sure that our cities are not just places where people live, but places where they thrive," said Mayor Rahm Emanuel of Chicago.

The conference is held annually and brings together mayors from cities across the United States.

"It's a chance for us to connect with our colleagues and learn from each other," said Mayor Ed Lee of San Francisco.

This year's meeting comes as cities across the country face challenges such as rising unemployment, budget cuts, and increased crime.

"We're working hard to find creative solutions to these issues," said Mayor Bill de Blasio of New York.

The conference also provides a platform for Mayors to discuss their cities' efforts to implement the Obama administration's agenda.

"We're really proud of what we're accomplishing," said Mayor Pete Buttigieg of South Bend, Indiana.

The meeting concluded with a focus on the future of the Mayors' Cities Network, a platform for mayors to collaborate and share best practices.

"We're excited about what we've accomplished together," said Mayor Bill de Blasio.

The next Mayors' Conference is scheduled for September in San Diego, California.

Mothers of Mongoloids plan appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — An organization of mothers of Mongoloid children plans an appeal of a court order that prohibited the research program at a federal laboratory.

The research program at the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness was being challenged by the program directors, including Dr. Paul MacLean, and the mothers' organization, which was represented by Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey.

"Let's go on to another program," one of the mothers said. "If we can't have a program, we'll have to find another." Another mother added, "I'm not sure I even saw it."

Macleod J. Adams, a professor of psychology at the University of Illinois, said he was surprised by the decision. "I couldn't believe it," he said. "I thought we had a solid case." Adams was a member of the program's advisory committee.

No comment on Gettysburg closing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Staff members at the Gettysburg National Battlefield Museum said Friday they were disappointed by the announcement that the museum would close next month.

"We're very sad," said museum director John L. Wilson. "We've been here for 15 years and we've worked hard to make it a place for people to learn about history."

The closure, which was announced on Friday, is expected to take effect in June. The museum, which is located in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, is one of several national battlefield museums.

Urges quick desegregation in deep south

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil rights leaders urged the Supreme Court to require deep south districts under the new desegregation plans.

"We appeal to the Supreme Court to do anything necessary to ensure that the Supreme Court's will be carried out," said Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The appeal was filed by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which represents several civil rights organizations.

The court will hear the appeal on Monday.

Wisconsin residents cut down on smoking

MADISON — Wisconsin residents are cutting down on smoking, according to a report issued Thursday by the Wisconsin Department of Revenue. The report said that cigarette sales in Wisconsin declined 2.2 percent last month, compared to the same month in 1969.

The report, which is based on data collected by the Wisconsin Department of Revenue, said that cigarette sales in Wisconsin declined 0.2 percent in November compared to the same month in 1969. The decline was attributed to a decrease in the number of cigarettes purchased by smokers.

The report also said that the average price of a pack of cigarettes in Wisconsin increased by 21 cents last month, compared to the same month in 1969. The increase was attributed to a rise in the cost of tobacco products.

The report said that the decline in cigarette sales was unexpected, given the increase in the price of cigarettes. The report said that the decline in cigarette sales was likely due to a combination of factors, including increased awareness of the health risks associated with smoking and the availability of substitutes, such as electronic cigarettes.

The report said that the decline in cigarette sales was likely to have a positive impact on public health, as smoking is a leading cause of preventable death and disease. The report said that the decline in cigarette sales was likely to have a positive impact on the environment, as tobacco production is a major contributor to air and water pollution.

The report said that the decline in cigarette sales was likely to have a positive impact on the economy, as the tobacco industry is a major contributor to employment and government revenue. The report said that the decline in cigarette sales was likely to have a positive impact on the state budget, as the tobacco industry is a major source of tax revenue.

The report said that the decline in cigarette sales was likely to have a positive impact on the quality of life in Wisconsin, as the decline in smoking rates is likely to lead to a decrease in the prevalence of smoking-related diseases, such as lung cancer and heart disease.

The report said that the decline in cigarette sales was likely to have a positive impact on the state's overall health status, as the decline in smoking rates is likely to lead to a decrease in the prevalence of smoking-related diseases, such as lung cancer and heart disease.

Israelis angered by U.S. Mideast peace proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. administration moved slowly and cautiously Monday toward a renewed peace proposal for Israel and Arab states, but Israel officials said they would not respond to it.

The proposal, described by the Administration source as "very strong and acceptable," would have been issued Monday but was delayed because of the weekend holiday, said a White House official.

Israel's Foreign Minister Abba Eban, returning home from Washington, said he had held four hours of talks with State Department officials before he was called back to Israel because of the weekend.

Eban said he would not withdraw from the occupied territories captured in the 1967 war, and Israeli-Jordanian talks on the Jordan River's west bank would continue.

Eban said he would not respond to the U.S. proposal.

"We have no plan to withdraw from the occupied territory," he said, indicating that no peace talks would be held until the U.S. was ready to deal with the West Bank, the Golan Heights and the rest of the occupied territory.

"We have no plan to negotiate with the Palestinians," he said, indicating that no peace talks would be held until the U.S. was ready to deal with the West Bank, the Golan Heights and the rest of the occupied territory.

U.S. peace proposals have been shaped by the U.S. desire to achieve a lasting peace in the region.

GLENDALE — It doesn't take a genius in your home to realize wrought iron's appeal to the eye. But, what is it that gives wrought iron the 'certain something' that makes it so popular? Surprisingly, it's not the eye appeal that wins the day, but rather the practical aspects of wrought iron that make it a successful home addition. After all, you must be able to do something about the wrought iron, and this is where the practical aspects come into play.

Mets pull biggest surprise in history of baseball

By RICH EICK
All Newspaper Sports Editor

The Mets surprised the football world on Friday night when they defeated San Francisco, 20-10, at Candlestick Park in San Francisco. This was the first time the Mets had ever beaten the San Francisco 49ers.

The Mets were led by quarterback Cuozzo, who threw three touchdown passes and ran for another. His performances were aided by a strong running game from backfield mates Koosman and Brown. The Mets scored all their points in the second half, and held the 49ers to just 10 points.

The Mets had a difficult road to the win. They were down 10-7 at the end of the first quarter, but Cuozzo's touchdown pass to Brown gave the Mets a 14-10 lead at the half. In the second half, the Mets scored 10 points, while holding the 49ers to none, to win the game.

The Mets' victory was especially sweet for their fans, who had been hoping for a winning season since the team was formed in 1962. With this win, the Mets are now 5-3-3 on the season and are currently in second place in the National League East.

Your son is a big boy now

By ABBEY VISSERS

Dear Abby, I have a 14-year-old son who is very much the male gender. He is a hard worker and has always been a good student. However, he has a problem with attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD). He is always in trouble with his teachers and has had difficulty holding down a job. What can I do to help him?

Dear Abby: Our marriage is on the rocks. I am 39 years old and my husband is 42. We have been married for 10 years and have two children. We have been struggling to make ends meet and have a lot of stress in our lives. We have decided to separate and are going to consult a lawyer. What advice can you give us about the process of separation and what to expect?
