Borge recalls White House visit

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Victor Borge, the Danish-Jewish comedian who has become a major television personality since his show went off the air, returned to the United States for a one-man show in New York last week. The show was a great success, but Borge was not satisfied with the performance. He felt that there were some technical problems that needed to be solved before the show could be carried on successfully.

Borge said that he had been invited to perform in New York by NBC, which had been trying to promote his work for some time. The show was scheduled to be held in the NBC studios, but Borge insisted on having it held in a theater so that he could have more control over the performance.

Borge also indicated that he was pleased with the reception he received from the audience. He said that they were very friendly and that he enjoyed their company. However, he noted that there were some technical problems that needed to be solved before the show could be carried on successfully.

State court throws out Minneapolis teacher settlement

By CARL LINDBERG

The Supreme Court today upheld the constitutionality of a $35 million settlement of a class action lawsuit against the school district attorneys of Minneapolis Public Schools.

The court ruled that the settlement agreement, which was approved by the school board, was fair and reasonable under the circumstances.

The settlement, which involved claims of discrimination and retaliation, was reached with striking teachers in 1970.

Cranberry bog fertilizers blamed

The Cranberry Bog Fertilizer Manufacturers Association has issued a statement blaming cranberry fertilizers for the recent increase in water pollution.

A spokesperson for the association said that fertilizers containing nitrogen and phosphorus, which are used to boost cranberry growth, are contributing to the problem.

The association urged growers to use fertilizers that are less harmful to the environment and to take steps to reduce runoff.

The statement came as a counterpoint to a recent report by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) that found a link between cranberry fertilizers and water pollution in cranberry bogs.

The EPA report, which was based on data collected from 60 bogs, found that cranberry fertilizers contained high levels of nitrogen and phosphorus, which can lead to eutrophication, a process in which nutrients stimulate excessive growth of algae and other aquatic plants.

The association argued that cranberry fertilizers are an important part of the cranberry industry and that efforts to reduce runoff should focus on other sources of pollution.

“Cranberry fertilizers are a crucial component of the industry. We need to focus on reducing runoff from other sources,” said the spokesperson.

The association also pointed out that cranberry growers are already taking steps to reduce runoff, such as using buffer strips and implementing best management practices.

However, the EPA report was critical of the association’s efforts to reduce runoff and called for more action.

“The association needs to do more to address the issue of runoff,” said the EPA spokesperson.

The association said it would continue to work with growers to find ways to reduce runoff and improve water quality in cranberry bogs.

In a separate development, the EPA announced that it would propose new regulations to limit the amount of fertilizer that can be applied to cranberry fields.

The regulations would limit the amount of nitrogen and phosphorus that can be applied to fields to levels that are consistent with water quality standards.

The regulations are expected to be proposed in the coming months and would be subject to public comment.

The association said it would review the proposed regulations and provide feedback to the EPA.

“Above all, we need to work together to find solutions that protect water quality and support the cranberry industry,” said the spokesperson.

Dear Abby:

Brother becomes unwanted guest

BY ARNOLD VAN BUREN

Dear Abby: My brother and I have been estranged for 50 years. It started when he brought a girl home from school, and she was not good enough for his wife. I thought the girl was the greatest, and she was. I tried to win her away from him, but he wouldn't let me. He told me to stay away from his family and I did. I promised never to contact them again. But now I want to. I want to help her. She needs me.

Dear Abby: I can't figure it out because she is no dummy. Please give me another, therefore my sister stakes him to meals, shows, my mother and says he doesn't have a family anymore. I promised to my boss to write to Dear Abby for some advice.

DEAR ABBY: This is a first for me, since I never before have been locked out of my home and my letters have to go through the mail. I have been locked out of my home 10 times and it has been a real problem. I want to get a new lock on my door. I want to be able to go in and out of my home without having to go through the mail. It is a real inconvenience. I want to be able to go in and out of my home without having to go through the mail. It is a real inconvenience. I want to be able to go in and out of my home without having to go through the mail. It is a real inconvenience.

Dear Abby: I never thought I'd be warning you, but here goes. My brother got married a year ago, at 22. At first, he was happy until his wife refused to leave. Last week, Mama was locked out of her own home, and your lawyer says she can't do much. You need another lawyer. He can do it. I see you are alone and have no children. Can you help her? You need another lawyer. He can do it.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the one who was "emotional" about the move. She left his home and he was sad. She was so emotional, I was surprised. I tried to help her, but she just wouldn't let me. She said she was too upset to talk about it. I don't know what to do. She needs me.

UAW moves to Chrysler Corp.

BY HUGH MORRISON
DETROIT (AP) — After months of wrangling between the United Auto Workers union and Chrysler Corp., the union said Wednesday it will seek a new contract.

The UAW said it has offered Chrysler a contract that includes a pay increase of $1.2 billion over three years and a two-year pact.

The offer also includes a one-time bonus of $2,000 for members who agree to a two-year pact.

The contract includes a new pension plan that would provide workers with a guaranteed pension for life.

The union also said it will seek to negotiate a new contract for the company's 37,000 workers.

The UAW has been in talks with Chrysler for several months, and the news comes as the company is in the middle of a major restructuring.

Chrysler is trying to emerge from bankruptcy protection, and the union wants to ensure that workers are well compensated during a transition period.

The new contract, if reached, could be a key step in the company's recovery.

The UAW has been working on new deals with other automakers as it looks to secure the future of the industry.

No Vietnamese will come to the New World.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Elliot Richardson, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, announced today that a California village near the South China Sea will be closed to Vietnamese people.

The decision comes after the United States government decided to close all Vietnamese refugee camps.

The move is aimed at preventing the arrival of more Vietnamese refugees in the United States.

The United States has been receiving thousands of Vietnamese refugees each year, many of whom have fled persecution in their home countries.

The decision to close the camps follows a series of diplomatic efforts to persuade the Vietnamese government to accept responsibility for its citizens.

President Nixon, however, urged heavy reliance on economic sanctions and other measures to keep Vietnamese refugees from reaching the United States.

The United States has been providing economic aid to Vietnam to help to stabilize the country.

The aid, however, has not been enough to halt the flow of refugees into the United States.

Mayors battling over SST

By MICHAEL J. HUBER
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A re-summing of opposition to the planners of the nation's mayors has benounced the end of their initiative to make the nation's mayors more independent, a major step in the development of the "SST" plan for the nation's mayors.

After the meeting today at the 50-anniversary of the national mayors meeting, Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco, a regional leader of the movement, said the opposition to mayor's plans "will continue to spread until a plan is found to finance the mayors' activities.

The "SST" plan was announced by Mayor Lindsay of New York, who warned that the opposition would continue unless the mayors finance the plan.

"We will not be silenced by the mayor's plan," Lindsay said. "We will continue our efforts to find funding for the plan.

Mayor Alioto said the "SST" plan would not be "simplistic" and would require the cooperation of many mayors across the country.

"We will continue to work with the mayors to find funding for the plan," Alioto said. "We will not be deterred by the opposition.

Mayor Lindsay said the "SST" plan would be "a major step in the development of the mayors as leaders in the nation.

"We will continue our efforts to make the mayors more independent," Lindsay said. "We will not be silenced by the opposition.
WASHINGTON (AP) - The State Department unveiled today a broad self-reform program aimed at giving new life into a diplomatic corps it admits has grown stuffy.

Praised by Secretary of State William P. Rogers, the plan urges faster promotions for younger foreign service officers and encourages them to argue policy with their bosses. Out of it all emerges the image of a fast-moving, quick-thinking diplomat bypassing older counterparts in deciding how the U.S. gets along with the rest of the world.

Acknowledging department shortcomings in carrying out the President's mandate that it take charge of U.S. government activities abroad, the diplomat-reformers portrayed the department as all too cautious, stand-pat, and parochial.

"The traditional mode of reflection and detachment cultivated by diplomats trained in the old school," they said, "must be reinforced by a more dynamic and aggressive style if the department is to play the role which the President expects of it."

In all there are 500 changes drawn up by some 250 professional diplomats under Deputy Secretary William B. Mcombber.

No single proposal in the 610-page report is drastic. But if adopted in complete form, the changes would amount to the most sweeping reorganization since World War II.

Publication of Concordia paper halted

MOORHEAD, Minn. (AP) - Suspension of publication of the student newspaper at Concordia College by the college president Monday has placed a basic American tradition in jeopardy, the paper's editor said.

Omar Olson, senior from Luverne, Minn., added that freedom of the press should apply to college publications as well as any other publication.

President Joseph L. Knutson ordered the suspension because the paper demonstrated what he called "defiance of the purpose and goals of the college."

Knutson criticized specifically an advertisement in Friday's issue for an abortion clinic in New York. And he added that "drugs and sex seem to be the dominant thing among Concordia students" as represented by the Concordian.

Knutson said the suspension would be in effect "until all interested parties come to some agreement as to the nature and purpose of the Concordian in harmony with the ideals and goals of Concordia College."

Concordia is affiliated with the American Lutheran Church and has 2,360 students.

NEW YORK (AP) - Mayor John V. Lindsay says he'll go along with being narrator in a musical production of "A Christmas Carol," but he'd really rather play the role of Scrooge, the crusty old tightwad.

"I'd be the best Scrooge in town. I have the urge to be Scrooge," the mayor said as he took time out Monday from his budget-planning chores to rehearse his part at the Robert F. Kennedy Theater for Children.

Lindsay will narrate the first of nine performances of the Charles Dickens' Classic, which annually draws an audience of 30,000 youngsters.

Ky claims Nixon assures 'hands off' Viet vote

SAIGON — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam says he has a "clear understanding" from President Nixon of a U.S. hands-off policy toward the 1971 South Vietnamese elections.

Returning today by air from a two-month visit to Paris and the United States, Ky declined to say whether he was planning to seek the South Vietnamese presidency.

"The most important factor is to keep the anti-communist people and the armed forces united," he told newsmen at the airport. "I will never do anything that will harm that unity."

Hawks top two shot down by Milwaukee win

By ROB GREENE

MILWAUKEE (AP) -- Alan's Lou Hudson and Pete Maravich and the Milwaukee Bucks missed his layup. The Bucks won the National Basketball Association title in 1971 and were the New Orleans Jazz in the 1971-72 season. The story about the Bucks was that they were a team that had no championship to their name. The Hawks' new coach, Brown, a winner, but also a realist. He was better than what a couple of games have shown his team.

The Hawks' Lou Hudson and Pete Maravich and the Milwaukee Bucks won the National Basketball Association title in 1971. The story about the Bucks was that they had no championship to their name. The Hawks' new coach, Brown, a winner, but also a realist. He was better than what a couple of games have shown his team.

New Richmond ousts Ellsworth from big knot

The Hawks are now 3-0 in Dairyland play which is good for a share of the loop peak.

Steve Fedie's last-second basket from the free-throw line enabled the Buffaloes to win.

The Panthers have four more games left to play before entering the Dairyland tourney, and apparently the decision has been made.

The Hawks could manage only 17 points in the game's final period.

Fred Thomsen contributed 18 points to Eleva-Strum's 85 points.

Ellsworth didn't get a point from the line, but Whitehall's consolation victory against Spring Valley was a real highlight.

The lone player to escape the loss was John Dobija who was a standout in the game.

Lake LaSalle is a welcome practice area for Redmen

St. Mary's second-year head coach, Dan David (left), with all six of the Redmen's forwards and five of his six reserves in the lineup at the start of the season, has been able to keep the home team competitive. St. Mary's bench was active, with Dan David and Pat Gassman both leading 13 and 11 points respectively in the game's opening match. The home team expected. Both squads were history. But an 18-point margin experienced relatively little resistance from St. Mary's Redmen Pat Wiltgen and Bob DeWitt, who were history. But an 18-point margin.

The Redmen finished in the card's opening match. St. Mary's was 13-7 overall.
