WASHINGTON — Crime is up 10 percent in the nation's capital this year, compared with the same period in 1970, the FBI said today.

According to the latest figures, which were released today, the nation's capital now has a crime rate of 10 percent higher than it did four years ago.

The FBI said the increase is due to a number of factors, including an increase in population, an increase in the number of crimes being reported, and an increase in the number of police officers on the streets.

Some states call for moratorium on utility advertising

By Jean Miller

An Associated Press survey of fuel and power shortages reveals that the winter weather has provoked a major state to call for a moratorium on utility advertising in order to conserve energy. In states such as New York, where fuel and power shortages are severe, the state government has taken steps to restrict advertising to conserve energy. This is an unusual move, as most states do not impose restrictions on utility advertising.

Army spaying menaces U.S. ex-GI warns

CHICAGO (AP) — Talking of "waging, winning, exterminating" a "thoroughbred" blackmailer against critics, a furore over the menaces of a "ruthless" blackmailer, a young man who plans to place under mortal threat, and a few other matters, President John F. Kennedy on Friday asked me to resign from my position as President of the United States.

John F. Kennedy, in his Presidential address to the nation, said he had decided to resign from his position as President of the United States.

He explained that he had been advised by his doctors that he was suffering from a "malignant" heart condition and that his health was "seriously impaired".

He said: "I have been told by my doctors that my health is not sufficient to enable me to fulfill my duties as President of the United States."

He added: "I have therefore decided to resign from my position as President of the United States."
Advice for the chief

WASHINGTON - President Nixon spoke yesterday about the state of the nation, Lincoln did. And who is to say that the new leader does not look a bit like the old one? At least the passages are similar, and the views too.

As he came to talk about the situation, our President told us that he was finding it difficult to make a clear distinction between the two. But let us not take this as an indication of his change of heart. It is only a matter of style, and the titles of both speeches are the same.

We are not sure whether Mr. Nixon is trying to be a stickler for the Constitution or not, but it seems clear that he is planning to make his next move in the direction of the old one.

A measure of tolerance

Harri Survey

The year 2002 was marked by tensions around group discrimination as the United States has rarely seen such modern times. For instance, a recent article indicates that the American people are more tolerant of discrimination, accepting it as a part of daily life. The study, conducted by the Harvard University Law School, found that more than 80% of the respondents were willing to tolerate discrimination against others.

WASHINGTON (AP) - In a recent report, the government showed a 20% increase in the number of complaints about intolerance. The average complaint was filed by a person who had experienced discrimination in the past year. The report also revealed that the majority of the complaints were filed by African Americans, followed by Hispanics and Asians.

GOP assembly dissidents see 'pressure' in special session

MADISON (AP) — Republican legislators who have go public or private to pressure their colleagues are putting them in the “tormenting position” of Democratic Speaker of the House Steve Ripin, who said the pressure could lead to a recall. The legislature met Monday for a special session, the first since late January, according to a spokesman for Ripin. The legislature was meeting to consider legislation that would have the power to recall the governor, who is under investigation for financial dealings.

A statement issued by a Democratic legislator who does not want to be identified, said the dissidents were putting pressure on Ripin and predicating a recall under the state’s constitution.

“Elected officials and other important people of government will become more involved as a result of this pressure,” the statement said.

The statement was signed by four legislators, three Democrats and one Republican.

Ripin, in a prepared statement, said the pressure was aimed at getting reimbursement for expenses.

State legislators have reimbursement for travel expenses from their federal government jobs.

The statement said:

“The statement signed by legislators and pressure will form the basis for discussions with the legislators,” the spokesman for Ripin said.

Khrushchev: 'ambitious...a wide streak of honest peasant'

What was there about this capacity for indignation, alternatiive thoroughness, the side of the people, that made Khrushchev so different in his younger days from almost everyone with whom he came in contact? Whatever it was, it continued consistently, even when it might not have been the way to do things. It was, perhaps, the easiest way to do them.

President Malcolm Moos spoke at the ceremony to award doctorates to 1,546 graduates Saturday morning. His address was a prelude to the ceremonies of the Southern Methodist University's 83rd graduation day. The graduates included 348 of the 800 students receiving master's degrees and 244 doctorates. Moos spoke at the ceremony and said the American nation was "in a period of great trouble" and most everyone with whom he came in contact had a way of contradicting him. Perhaps this instability, this fear of others, this fear of being caught, had a way of helping Khrushchev rise high in Stalin's government. Snowmobile hits crowd of spectators

COCHRANE, Alta. — Five person were injured when a snowmobile jumped out of a race course and into a crowd of spectators Sunday.

The accident occurred at the finish line during a snowmobile race 1.5 miles northeast of Lake St. Anna, said Forest County authorities.

The snowmobile was one of two taking part in a race for the Largest Snowmobile "Buck". Both snowmobiles were powered by Engines and had front-wheel drive.

The race was sponsored by Public Health Service experiment that one person was killed and five were injured.

The experiment showed that NTA was associated with the mechanical failure of the plastic lenses in the experiment.

The experimental lenses failed because they were exposed to excessive moisture and were more susceptible to mechanical failure.

However, the lenses failed because they were exposed to humidity and were more susceptible to mechanical failure.

The government action was prompted by a petition from the Canadian Commonwealth
Department of the Interior.

Phosphates are considered harmful to the environment, health and to the economy.

The government's announcement will help reduce the use of phosphates in the detergent industry to quit using phosphates, officials said.

"We have now invested $6.8 million for conversion to NTA in its detergent products," he said, "we are able to use NTA in certain of our products, even though it is more expensive.

Heath, head of his country's Conservative Party, was recalled last November from a meeting during a tour of South America to form a government in Britain. Key to the situation was the unexpected death of the former Prime Minister, Sir Edward Heath, who had served as Prime Minister for the Conservative Party under the Labour government.

Heath arrived in Washington, D.C., for a two-day visit last Friday at the request of President Nixon. In a news conference with President Nixon, Heath said the current state of the Middle East, including the issue of Israel's recognition by Arab nations, is moving to a 'critical point' and that a solution must be found in the near future.

Nixon said the current situation in the Middle East is a crucial point in the region and that a solution must be found in the near future.

WINONA, Minn. (MCT) — The Edina Community Lutheran Church, the largest Lutheran church in the Twin Cities area, has ordained its first female minister, Barbara Andrews, a 34-year-old woman with cerebral palsy.

Andrews, who has been an associate pastor at the church for two years, was ordained last Sunday in a service attended by a crowd of about 700 people. She was called to the ministry by the Rev. Dale Andrews, her father, who is also a pastor at the church.

Andrews, who has been a member of the church for 20 years, said she was excited to be ordained because she had always felt called to the ministry.

She is one of two women who have been ordained in the United States in recent years, and is the first woman to be ordained in the Lutheran Church in America.

The service was held in the church's sanctuary, which was filled with people of all ages and backgrounds. Andrews was accompanied by her father, who gave a brief speech about his daughter's ordination.

Andrews said she was looking forward to helping others and serving her community as a minister.

She is currently working on a master's degree in theology and plans to continue her education and training for the ministry.
