Wisconsin counties

- Ashbrook 2,615
- Rockefeller 2,515

Analysis

- Muskie is still comfortably under the man counties. In his victory in Wisconsin, he has set the standard for others to follow.

- McGovern is clearly the "big-man" in this race. His performance in Wisconsin opens the way to a sweeping victory in the Democratic presidential primary.

Campaign

- Muskie, who enters Wisconsin with a comfortable lead in the national race, makes his Wisconsin stop today.

- McGovern, who is now considered a strong contender for the Democratic nomination, will use Wisconsin as a key stage in his campaign.

- Shriver, who has struggled in the early states, will be hoping for a turnaround in Wisconsin.

- Rockefeller, who has been frustrated, will be looking for a strong showing in Wisconsin.

- Ashbrook, who entered Wisconsin with little hope, will be hoping for a strong showing in his home state.

Final thoughts

- Muskie is clearly the leader in the Democratic race. His victory in Wisconsin puts him in a strong position to win the nomination.

- McGovern is showing signs of strength, but he will need to build on his Wisconsin victory.

- Shriver and Rockefeller will be hoping to gain ground in Wisconsin.

- Ashbrook will be looking for a strong showing to buoy his campaign.

On the inside:

- Remap: Wisconsin Gov. Patrick Lucey today announced a new map for congressional districts, which he said would ensure equal representation for all voters.

- Counties: Elections: A new map for congressional districts was approved by the State Supreme Court, which upheld the plan.

- Wallace: The Supreme Court ruled that the new map was constitutional, but Wallace, who had challenged the plan,
said he would continue to fight.

- Proffitt: Remap also affects the state's congressional districts.

"I think an upsurge of protest and activism by students in the late 1960s expressed new ideas about the notion of race. Today, we see more signs of that trend, not only in the United States but also in Europe. Many young people are challenging the status quo and questioning the effectiveness of the current system of education and social institutions."

"The implications of Bol's actions are important for the development of new educational policies. A more global, creative, and participatory approach to education is necessary. The Bol model is a reminder that good ideas, after all, will arise out of the community and the protest culture of the 1960s. It is about understanding and accepting this change. If personal freedom was limited in the past, it will be available in the future. A version of today's free love movement is a new trend in the advancement of knowledge."

Shame on you, Burt

WASHINGTON — I am con- stantly asked by the public where I can find the best deal on a new car. In this April 1, 1972, article, I will share some insights on the auto market that may be of interest to you.

I HAVE ALWAYS been interested in the auto industry, and it is my pleasure to share my views on the current market conditions.

The auto industry is facing significant challenges, and as a result, prices are expected to remain stable in the near future. This is good news for consumers, as it will allow them to save money on their next purchase.

In addition, I would like to mention that the number of new car sales is expected to increase in the coming months. This is due to a combination of factors, including an increase in consumer confidence and a decrease in interest rates.

Overall, I believe that the auto market is in a good position to continue growing in the future. As always, I encourage consumers to shop around and compare prices to ensure they get the best deal possible.

More gun laws won't cut crime

In recent years, many states have enacted stricter gun laws in an attempt to reduce crime. However, there is little evidence to suggest that these laws are effective. In fact, research has shown that gun laws have little impact on crime rates.

One reason for this is that gun laws are often difficult to enforce. In many cases, it is difficult to determine whether a firearm was used in a crime, and it is often difficult to prosecute individuals who possess illegal firearms.

Another reason is that gun laws do not address the root causes of crime. Instead, they focus on the symptoms, such as reducing the availability of firearms. However, this approach is not effective, as it does not address the underlying issues that contribute to crime.

In conclusion, I believe that more gun laws will not reduce crime. Instead, we need to focus on addressing the root causes of crime, such as poverty, education, and social services. Only by addressing these issues can we hope to see a reduction in crime rates.

College president praises bishop's work

The recent death of Bishop Edward A. Fitzgerald is a great loss to the Diocese of Dakota and the educational community. He was a man of great integrity, and his leadership will be sorely missed.

Bishop Fitzgerald was a spiritual leader and a respected educator who served with distinction as the Bishop of Winona. He was known for his kindness and his ability to inspire others. He was a man of faith, and his influence has been felt by many.

In his farewell address, Bishop Fitzgerald said, "I have always believed that education is the foundation for a strong society. It is through education that we can create a better future for all.

Bishop Fitzgerald's legacy will live on through his contributions to the Diocese of Dakota and the educational community. He will be remembered with great respect and admiration."

Buffalo County
Three supervisors defeated

ALMA, Wis. -- In Buffalo County, where supervisors in four separate districts were challenged in their bids for re-election, three of the four races were won.

In the 1st District, incumbent James C. Runnels of Alma defeated challenger Llouie Bernitz, 129; 2nd District, town of Franklin, citizens voted 398 to 149 to elect Sam Arneson, challenger, the incumbent supervisor, defeated by challenger Sam Larson.

Galesville school bond issue soundly defeated

GALESVILE, Wis. -- A second bid in a one-shot effort to pass a $34,000 school bond resolution was defeated Tuesday by a margin of 314 to 133.

Unofficial count on votes cast Tuesday in referendum voting here was 447 to 266. Because of the one-shot nature of the vote, a bid for school bonds can be renewed in 10 years.

The $34,000 bond issue was defeated in the Village of Dighton, 132 to 36, and in the town of Dighton, 207 to 97. Only the town of Sylvania and the town of Sumner passed the referendum by the required 2 to 1 margin.

In other areas Wisconsin began its school term Tuesday with the Sylvania and Sumner schools operating.

Jackson Co.
City attorney at BRF defeated

WHITEHALL, Wis. -- Attorney for the Board of Review defeated an unsuccessful attempt to place him on the ballot for a vacancy in the State Senate, as the Board of Review on Tuesday upheld a 5-2 vote of the Board of Elections for the 3rd District.

The Board of Review issued certification to the Board of Elections to that effect.

Pepin Co.
One supervisor change is made

DULUTH, Wis. -- Pepin County will have one new supervisor in the next biennium as the Board of Supervisors in regular session Tuesday elected Frank M. Piechowski to fill the unexpired term of Hubert V. Weiss, who resigned last month.

The election of Piechowski, who was appointed to the board by the Board of Supervisors to fill a 15-year-old vacancy, was a foregone conclusion.

The Board of Elections, which originally appointed Piechowski to fill the vacancy, this week gave notice of the Board of Elections to the Board of Review, which upheld the Board of Elections in the regular session Tuesday.

Trempealeau County
18-year-old named alderman

The Council of the Town of Continental in Trempealeau County, naming James C. Runnels of Alma, defeated challenger Llouie Bernitz, 129; 2nd District, town of Franklin, citizens voted 398 to 149 to elect Sam Arneson, challenger, the incumbent supervisor, defeated by challenger Sam Larson.

Board to seek federal funds for courthouse

Winona County Board Chairman John D. Langford has made known the county's interest in seeking federal funds for a new courthouse, which he said is needed because the present building is inadequate and outdated. The Board is expected to make a formal application to the Federal Government early this year.

The new courthouse would be built on the present site, which is located on the south side of the town square. The building would be of modern design and would provide adequate space for the various departments now housed in the old courthouse.

Mr. Langford said that the county has already taken steps to secure funding for the project, including the preparation of a detailed plan and the submission of a preliminary application. He added that the county is optimistic about its chances for success, given the rising demand for modern and efficient courthouse facilities.

The county's plan includes a multi-functional facility that would house not only the courtrooms, but also the county clerk's office, probate judge's office, and other administrative departments. The project would also include provisions for public access and amenities such as restrooms, waiting areas, and parking.

The estimated cost of the new courthouse is approximately $10 million. However, Mr. Langford noted that the federal government provides grants, loans, and other forms of assistance to counties that meet certain criteria. He added that the county has already begun exploring different funding options to help offset the cost of the new building.

The Winona County Board will continue to work closely with state and federal officials to secure the necessary funding for the project. Mr. Langford ended his statement by expressing his confidence in the county's ability to successfully complete the project and provide a modern, state-of-the-art courthouse for the community.
Dear Abby:

Abigail Van Buren,

May I have your advice? Are my parents' reasons for not wanting to come to the United Service Organizations (USO) for a number of years. One of our problems is that the USO does not want our parents to come in and see for themselves because they are not up to the standards. I am asked to leave. As for the men in the USO, they are not all bad. They are ready for it. Because we all need help in the United States.

If you want to know how a marriage can be saved, it is because the background of the couple is missing. It is happening because the backgrounds are flat. It is because both parties are ready for it. It is because we all need help in the United States. The backgrounds are flat. It is happening because the backgrounds are flat. It is happening because the backgrounds are flat. 9 die in Wisconsin nursing home blaze

ROCKWALL, Wis. (AP) - Nine residents were killed and 18 were injured when a fire broke out in a modern, 180-bed nursing home Tuesday, according to the Wisconsin Department of Health and Social Services.

The fire, which started in the kitchen of the three-story building, spread quickly and trapped many of the elderly residents. The cause of the fire is under investigation.

At least six of the dead were found in their rooms, and the others were discovered in other parts of the building. The fire was reported about 9 a.m. and the building was evacuated.

The nursing home, which is operated by the State of Wisconsin Department of Health and Social Services, is one of the largest in the state.

A hospital official said the residents ranged in age from 70 to 90 and included many with medical problems. The cause of the fire is under investigation.

A number of residents were taken to hospitals in the area, and a number of families were notified of the deaths. The state health department said it would cooperate with the investigation.

The building is located on the outskirts of the city of Winona, which is about 90 miles south of Minneapolis. The city has a population of about 20,000 and is known for its many parks and recreational areas.

The nursing home is located near a major highway and is easily accessible by car. The building is designed to meet all state and federal standards for safety and comfort.

The state health department said it would cooperate with the investigation and would work to ensure the safety of all residents in similar facilities.
