10 ways to wring every dime out of your telephone.

If you're using the phone improperly, you may be wasting more money every month than the recent rate increase amounts to on your bill. Here are some tips that will help you use the phone more efficiently.

Most of them will save you time and money. Some of them will also save us time and money that will help us give you more economical service in the long run.

1. Dial Station-to-Station calls direct and save.
Example: Dial station-to-station direct between Minneapolis and Duluth weekdays. It'll cost you 82¢ for 3 minutes. That's 88¢ less than the $1.00 rate for an operator-assisted call. On longer distance calls, today's dial-it-yourself rates are an even bigger bargain. Weekdays, 8:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M., a person-to-person call to either coast costs $3.10 plus tax. You can dial station-to-station direct for $1.25. Talk twice as long, and you're still ahead.

2. So you don't know the out-of-town number.
Without a thought, you dial "0" for some capable human help and ask the operator to get the number and place the long distance call for you. Right? Right. And you're into your "operator-assisted" call. If you had simply dialed 1, then the area code, if different from your own, then 505-132, you could get Charlie's number in Cleveland yourself without charge, and then you could dial it direct.

3. Don't make bad business out of a bad connection.
Suppose you get a wrong number, or you can't hear or Charlie in Cleveland! Now you should talk to the operator. After you murmur to yourself, and before you dial again, tell the operator you got a wrong number or a bad connection. You won't be charged.

4. It pays to call when we're least busy.
On an in-state, direct-dial station-to-station call after 5:00 PM evenings and all weekend, for instance, you can talk 10 minutes for $1.30 or less on the new Gopher State Bargain Rate. Or, if you call any evening during the "quiet hours" (between 11:00 P.M. and 7:00 A.M.) the Gopher State Bargain Rate gives you 20 minutes for $1.30 or less. The same 20 minute call direct dialed before 5:00 weekdays would cost up to $7.22... and it would cost up to $8.27 operator-assisted. (Gopher State Bargain Rate does not apply 7:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. Monday thru Friday nor on the legal holidays of Christmas, New Year's, Independence Day, Thanksgiving or Labor Day.)

5. What do you know about busy signals?
Did you know there are two kinds? One buzzes once a second. That means the number you tried to call is busy. Wait awhile and try again. The other buzzes twice a second. That means the circuit is busy. Hang up and try again. If you're calling in the evening, the best way to avoid a busy circuit is to avoid calling precisely on the hour or the half hour when long distance calling is heaviest. A little thing, but it may save time and tempers. And, since it makes more efficient use of the existing equipment, it helps delay the need for additional expensive switching and transmission gear.

6. You could still look it up.
On local calls, instead of dialing Directory Assistance, keep a record of the people and places you call most often. There's even a place for them in every phone book. The Minneapolis Phone Book alone, incidentally, costs $1 million to publish. Yet, just in Minnesota, we spend over $51 million a year looking up numbers, 70 percent of them already in the book. Naturally, you share that cost.

7. Repair service.
The Telephone Company will repair your phone promptly without charge. Call as soon as you can so that you can get the maximum use at all times out of your telephone.

8. Call before you drive.
Even if you don't always buy by phone, call and check to see whether the store has what you're looking for. Even if you don't drive all the way downtown or to the shopping center. The gas savings will pay for a lot of phone calls. Another tip: Be sure to call ahead to make or confirm reservations when you travel.

9. Call before you dig.
If you operate a dozer, a dragline or a ditch-digger, please call before you dig. A whole community can be cut off in one quick scoop if you're not careful. And a cut telephone cable can cost as much as $100,000 to repair. That's costly for everyone.

10. Plan before you install.
The installation charge is the same to have 1, or 3, or 6 phones put in, so long as you do it all at once. Add-as-you-go, piecewise installations add up fast. Other tips in your planning: Call your Telephone Business Office well in advance if you plan on moving so that installations can be made on the day you desire. Also, it pays to make sure all information provided is accurate so that our installers can find your new location.

Racial busing broadly opposed

By LOUIS DAVIS

Racial busing has become a major issue in education, and the attitudes of Americans towards it are strongly divided. A Harris Survey released today indicates that 73% of Americans oppose busing school children to achieve racial balance, while only 20% support it.

The survey, conducted by Louis Harris and Associates, Inc., was based on interviews with 1,507 people from all parts of the country. It found that the opposition to busing is strongest among older Americans, with 87% of those aged 65 and over opposed to it.

The survey also found that 69% of whites oppose busing, compared to 31% of blacks. This disparity in opinion, the survey suggests, is largely due to the perception that busing is a policy aimed primarily at helping blacks.

The survey further revealed that the opposition to busing is stronger among those who believe in traditional family values and who live in rural areas.

In contrast, those who support busing are more likely to be younger, better educated, and live in urban areas. They are also more likely to believe that busing is a necessary step to achieve racial balance.

The survey findings are consistent with previous research, which has shown that opposition to busing is strongest among those who believe that school desegregation should be achieved through voluntary means and that busing is an unwarranted invasion of privacy.

The Harris Survey results are consistent with national trends, as busing remains a contentious issue in American education. The survey data suggest that the public is largely opposed to busing as a means of achieving racial balance, and that the opposition is likely to persist in the future.
Looking like husband's mother bothers wife

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are planning to marry by civil ceremony. After the ceremony, we intend to have a reception at 8 p.m. Saturday in Lincoln Center of ceremonies.

Finding a band, country and western music, is the problem. My husband likes the idea of country and western, but his mother believes that weddings should be formal. I don't know how to reconcile this situation. Can you give me some suggestions on handling this situation?

Sincerely yours,

[Name]

DEAR [NAME]: You may not enjoy this answer, but I suggest you tell your husband that if his mother encourages the idea of formal music at the wedding, you may need to hire a string quartet to provide the music. If his mother insists on country and western music, you may need to hire a band to provide that style of music. You may also want to consider hiring a DJ to provide a mix of music that you and your husband enjoy.

Sincerely yours,

[Abigail Van Buren]

What is MSG, is it harmful?

Q. Having read a lot that excessively using MSG is a deterrent to health, I have heard that it is not good for the use of the digestive system and affects the kidneys. Is this true? And what is the percentage of MSG in a single-serving 1 oz. of food? Could you please specify what the properties of MSG reveal to cause the above symptoms? I would pics to have this clarified.

A. The amount of MSG in food is not regulated. It is derived from a natural compound present in seaweed. It is used as a seasoning in various foods and is commonly added to processed foods.

Q. I have seen articles stating that MSG is harmful. Is this true? Other research studies show no definite harm. What is the truth about MSG?

A. MSG is a sodium derivative of glutamic acid, which is a naturally occurring amino acid. It is used as a flavor enhancer in many foods. Studies have shown that MSG can cause symptoms such as headache, flushing, and a sensation of pressure in the head. However, the FDA considers MSG safe for most people. Some individuals may experience adverse reactions to MSG, but there is no scientific evidence to support the idea that it is harmful to most people.

Q. Do you think it is safe to use MSG?

A. MSG is generally considered safe for most people. However, some individuals may experience adverse reactions to MSG, such as headache, flushing, and a sensation of pressure in the head. These reactions are more likely to occur in people who are sensitive to monosodium glutamate (MSG). If you experience these symptoms after consuming foods containing MSG, you may want to avoid using it.

Q. I have been buying a particular brand of salad dressing that contains MSG. Are there any other dressings that I could use instead?

A. You could try making your own salad dressing at home or using a different brand of dressing that does not contain MSG. There are many alternative flavorings that can be used in salad dressings, such as lemon juice, vinegar, and herbs.

'Punishment squad blamed in beating

BELFAST (AP) - A "punishment squad" of the Ulster Free State has been accused of beating, painting and feathering a woman from a Catholic, national socialist family.

The punishment squad from the small town of Cappagh, located 20 miles north of Belfast, allegedly beat the woman, who was found with bruises and feathering, on St. Patrick's Sunday. The incident occurred during a period of tension in the area, with reports of violence between Catholics and Protestants.

Police are investigating the incident, and the punishment squad has denied any involvement.

Nixon watches signing of germ warfare treaty

WASHINGTOt. (AP) - President Richard Nixon watched Thursday as the heads of the Soviet Union and the United States signed a treaty outlawing the biological weapons race.

The treaty, which prohibits the development, production, and use of biological weapons, was signed at the United Nations by the two leaders. It marks a significant step in global efforts to contain the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction.

College Republicans call for repeal of laws on morality

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) - The Duluth City Council voted Thursday to initiate a program to review and consider the repeal of all laws related to morality.

The council members argued that the current laws are outdated and that they should be replaced with more modern and inclusive regulations.

Several members of the council expressed concern that the current laws are enforced unevenly and disproportionately affect certain communities.

Youthful drinkers cause trouble

MADISON, Wis. (AP) - A Wisconsin law that allows teenagers to purchase liquor has led to a surge in youthful drinking and associated problems.

According to a new report, the number of underage drinkers has doubled in the past year, and the cost to society is estimated to be $2 billion annually.

The law has also led to an increase in fatal crashes and other accidents caused by impaired drivers.
Astronauts are positive of need for continued exploration

By HOWARD BENEDICT
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — It is important that we not lose sight of the fact that the first few months on the moon will be a challenge for the astronauts.

The moon's gravity is about one-sixth that of Earth's, which means that the astronauts will have to work harder to maintain their balance and stability. The lunar environment also presents unique challenges, such as the lack of atmospheric pressure and the constant presence of dust and micrometeoroids.

In addition to the physical challenges, the astronauts will also face mental and emotional challenges. They will be away from their loved ones and the familiar environment of Earth for an extended period of time. The isolation and confinement can take its toll on the astronauts' mental well-being.

Despite these challenges, the astronauts are committed to their mission. They are trained extensively and are equipped with the necessary tools to overcome these difficulties.

"It's not about the Lunar landscape, it's about the human system," said one astronaut. "We are here to explore, to learn, and to push the boundaries of human knowledge."

The final landing on the moon of Apollo 11, July 20, 1969, was a landmark achievement that marked the end of the Apollo program. The program was a joint effort between the United States and the Soviet Union, and it represented a significant milestone in the history of space exploration.

The landing on the moon was the result of years of planning, engineering, and technological development. The astronauts were trained extensively and were equipped with the necessary tools to carry out their mission. The program was a massive undertaking that required the coordination of numerous government agencies, private companies, and scientific institutions.

The Apollo program was a symbol of the United States' commitment to space exploration and its pursuit of knowledge. It was a demonstration of the power of human ingenuity and the potential for cooperation between nations. The program's success was a source of national pride and a source of inspiration for future generations.

The Apollo program's legacy continues to be felt today. The United States continues to invest in space exploration, and it is a leading nation in the field of aeronautics and space technology. The Apollo program's achievements serve as a reminder of the importance of investing in science and technology to advance the frontiers of human knowledge.

The Apollo program's success also serves as a reminder of the potential for cooperation between nations. The program was a joint effort between the United States and the Soviet Union, and it was a testament to the power of collaboration and the pursuit of common goals.

The Apollo program's achievements continue to inspire awe and wonder in people around the world. The landing on the moon was a moment of human achievement that will be remembered for generations to come.

Blair protests 3-2 loss

By PAUL LINDB

Losing goalie Barry Melrose and St. Louis Blues right wing Bob Probert have had some heated past encounters, but neither goalie nor player will admit to a grudge.

In fact, both are highly complimentary of each other's abilities.

"I think he's a great goalie," said Bobrecht, who had just been beaten by Melrose in the first of his overtime, 3-2 St. Louis loss. "He's got a great glove, and he's a great competitor." Melrose, who had just stopped Probert from getting a shot on goal, echoed the sentiments of his opponent.

"He's a great player," said Melrose. "He's a hard worker, and he's a great competitor." Melrose, who had just stopped Probert from getting a shot on goal, echoed the sentiments of his opponent.

Despite the respect and admiration for each other, Probert and Melrose both admit to a certain amount of dislike towards each other.
