British claim
14 guerrillas shot to death

By ANTHONY COLLINS
LUXEMBOURG, Aug 15 (UPI) - Luxembourg and Luxembourg minister of the interior, Louis Masselot, announced the deaths of 14 guerrillas in an arms battle in Luxembourg near the German border.

Masselot said the official death toll was 14, but that some guerrillas may have been killed in crossfire.

Masselot said the guerrillas had been taking cover in a house near the border with Germany.

The guerrillas were reportedly preparing to launch an attack on a nearby military base.

The incident occurred just days after Luxembourg announced a new anti-guerrilla intervention plan.

The Luxembourg army has been on high alert since the recent guerrilla activity began.

Masselot emphasized that the government had not yet determined the cause of death for all 14 guerrillas.

He added that the government would continue to monitor the situation closely.

Will Democrats make McGovern rational again?

Governor Andrew shows democratic political qualities in the sense that he is not afraid to stand up for himself. His role is to be the leader who is not afraid to speak out against the status quo. He believes that the American people have the right to participate in the decision-making process. He believes in the power of the people and in the need for a leader who can represent the interests of all Americans.

Discrimination of the handicapped

The idea of the handicapped is that people with disabilities are given the same opportunities as people without disabilities. The idea is that people with disabilities should be able to participate in all aspects of society and that their rights should be protected.

In the United States, discrimination against people with disabilities has been a persistent problem. The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) was passed in 1990 to prohibit discrimination against people with disabilities in employment, public services, and public accommodations.

DEFENSE BUDGETS

McGovern's defense budget is expected to be around 1.5 trillion dollars, which is 1.5 times more than the current defense budget. The increase is intended to provide better funding for military personnel and equipment.

The critics of McGovern's defense budget argue that the increase is too large and that it will not result in better military capabilities. They believe that the money could be used more effectively to improve the well-being of the American people.

The supporters of McGovern's defense budget argue that the increase is necessary to ensure the security of the United States and to provide a strong military presence around the world.

System ready to fire back

William S. White

It was a sad day when the long-expected test of the American guided missile system was finally put to the test. But it was also a day of triumph, for it proved that the American guided missile system is capable of firing back at any enemy that dares to attack the United States.

The test was conducted at the Nike-Cannon missile base in California, where the missile was fired at a target that was located over 100 miles away. The missile hit its target precisely, demonstrating the accuracy and reliability of the American guided missile system.

The success of the test was a major boost to the morale of the American people, who have been worried about the possibility of a nuclear war.

The American guided missile system is a crucial part of the country's defense strategy. It is designed to provide a last line of defense against nuclear attack.

The system is based on advanced technology and is constantly being developed to improve its capabilities. The American people can be confident that it will be able to protect them from any threat.

The credibility game

Russell Baker

The battle for the presidency in 2014 is shaping up to be a fascinating contest. Both candidates are using the media to their advantage, but only one will emerge as the winner.

The media has become a central element in the presidential race. Candidates are using the media to reach voters, to gain attention, and to shape public opinion.

The media has also become a target for attack. Both candidates are accusing each other of being dishonest and of using the media to their advantage.

The media is a complex and ever-changing landscape. Candidates must work hard to understand it and to use it effectively. The candidate who is best able to do this will be the winner.
The before they were used to help control the military. The government has passed a number of laws that have been called the "Vietnam policy," which allows the government to use military force in Vietnam.

There have been many debates about the effectiveness of the Vietnam policy. The government believes it is necessary to protect the country from aggression, but many people believe it is a waste of resources and a violation of human rights.

In conclusion, the Vietnam policy has been a controversial issue in the United States. While the government believes it is necessary to protect the country, many people have expressed concern about the effectiveness and the impact on society.

Government gets blame for bad education

Dr. Max Rafferty

"We are fighting a tough battle against the "bad education" system. The government has been ignoring the needs of our children and allowing schools to operate in a subpar manner.

"The system is broken, and it is time for change. We need to invest more in our schools and ensure that every child has access to a quality education."

DEAR ABBY: Do you know how this new idea of working four five days a week is going? Several small airlines have adopted it recently on that basis but without much success and now they're trying to raise their fares again, so it looks like it's not working out for them, but I'm not sure how new the idea is. I'd like to hear your opinion on this. Thank you in advance.

DEAR ABBY: If your husband gets the week-end blues, you're in the clear. It's the night that every working spouse looks forward to. You'll have his attention exclusively. And you can pamper your children. You can be a bit more relaxed if you don't have to go to work, but you can't be a slacker. Your husband will be glad to have you around. And he'll be glad to have you around. And he'll be glad to have you around.

DEAR ABBY: No, I'm not going to get the week-end blues. I'm going to have a great time. I'm going to go out with my friends and have some fun. And I'm going to have a good time. I'm going to have a good time. I'm going to have a good time.

DEAR ABBY: I just read a letter from a woman who said that I should think twice. I should think twice. I should think twice. I should think twice. I should think twice. I should think twice.

DEAR ABBY: I'm going to do something. I'm going to do something. I'm going to do something. I'm going to do something. I'm going to do something. I'm going to do something.

DEAR ABBY: If you print this, no name or town, please. My mother-in-law lives only a few blocks up the street, and I have to beg my husband not to do anything that might affect her. She doesn't know about it, and I don't want her to know about it. She doesn't know about it, and I don't want her to know about it. She doesn't know about it, and I don't want her to know about it. She doesn't know about it, and I don't want her to know about it.
