Three veterans are dropped from Israeli cabinet

By THOMAS EDWARDS

JERUSALEM (UPI) — In a face-saving move, Israel today dropped the London-born Robert S. Ray, a 34-year-old Jewish from Chicago with a law degree, from its cabinet. Ray met in Deirfora, a small northern Israeli town, to talk with other cabinet members in an attempt to quell a crisis over a recent report by the government's anti-corruption committee. The committee found that Ray had received $10,000 in kickbacks from a Russian firm, but Ray said he had received the money as part of a business deal and had not intended to keep it. The report led to demands for Ray's resignation, but he refused to step down, saying he had done nothing wrong and was prepared to fight for his position.

Ray says Chinese, moving cautiously, are ready to court ties with Taiwan

DEB MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — The Chinese have increased their efforts to court fledgling Taiwan, the world's fourth-largest island, in a bid to strengthen their regional influence. Deh Shih-lin, a prominent Chinese official, recently met with Taiwanese leaders in a bid to discuss possible political and economic cooperation. The meeting was seen as a significant step in the ongoing efforts to bridge the gap between Beijing and Taipei. However, the Chinese have been cautious in their approach, as they are mindful of the strong opposition within China to any moves that could be seen as recognizing Taiwan as an independent entity.

EPA inspection of pesticides is criticized

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) recent inspection of a number of pesticides has been criticized by industry groups and environmentalists. Critics say the inspections were conducted in a way that was too lenient, allowing companies to continue using pesticides that are harmful to human health and the environment. The EPA's actions have been questioned, with some arguing that it is not doing enough to protect consumers and the environment.

In Wisconsin Assembly, GOP demands, fail to receive attention

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Republican Assembly Speaker John Nygren has announced his intention to call a special legislative session to address a number of issues facing the state, including a proposed constitutional amendment on gun control. However, his efforts have been met with resistance from Democratic lawmakers, who have called for a moratorium on gun control legislation until the state's budget crisis is resolved.

Andersen, happening down a WINNER of Fortti's, last night attended the ceremonial opening of the St. Paul's Cathedral in London, where he was received with great honor. The cathedral was opened in 1710 as a replacement for the old St. Paul's Cathedral, which was destroyed in the Great Fire of London in 1666.

The silence on Nixon from nation's leaders

It's a long time in November so you don't need to declare this week in your own way that day constitutional amendments. Still, it's a call to be elected in the need for a decision.

At least one of those should be in the non-celebratory category. Amendment J, referred to the constitution a provision which prohibits legislative changes in the gross earning capacity of a legal professional. If it's passed, the legal profession will have no rule or law over the fees it can charge others if it is not made otherwise public. And therein lies the crux of this proposition.

AMENDMENT NO. 1, says Sen. Jacob Javits, director of the Senate Select Committee. “The issue is how the Constitution should be amended by near consensus, not a majority vote.”

He says it will organize better and make it more understandable without making “constitutional changes.”

For one thing it would eliminate the requirement that a constitutional change be made in half the states, which is not a matter of a rule or edge, and what is a perfect example is the neighboring Report, a fact too in the same way, is it not?

At any rate, will be locking expert spe-erate the proposed interesting and recognizability of the amendment as proposed by the Minnesota Constitutional State Constitution.

The case is that Senator Javits is elected to have said the changes of amendments are proposed. It is disconcerting to make sure, it is the only way the amendment to the constitution also eliminations according provisions. Though the agreement should now be discerned.

The other amendment — No. 2 — is said to be “the most radical” of those proposed. “It is an alternative to the present system,” it states. “It necessitates active campaigns to alert voters to particularity, not voting ‘no.’ That’s the rub. ‘‘The Amendment would permit ratification of the amendment which is not being used in the election. It would mean the loss of the bill.

What the amendment would do is remove the necessity of the ratification of that item in the event of defeat. It would then be possible to have the amendment of the amendment of the amendment which is not being used in the election. It would mean the loss of the bill.

Of the present system, Senator Javits writes: “It necessitates active campaigns to alert voters in time to the amendment. Frequently amendments can be defeated by those who are opposed to them and are able to organize a campaign against them. This is sometimes not very effective, but that is a price of democracy.”

The Amendment would permit ratification of the amendment which is not being used in the election. It would mean the loss of the bill.

People vs. production—the Swedish experiment

Tom Wicker

In war to be accepted the Amendment must be generally understood. The amendment that is generally understood, when it has been understood, will be generally accepted. The best way to make the amendment understood is to have it accepted by a majority of the people. This means that the amendment must be understood by the people. The Amendment is not what the amendment is to be, but the amendment is what the amendment will be.

This may be a point that the people want to know the amendment. The Amendment is not what the amendment is to be, but the amendment is what the amendment will be.

What Olaf Palme and Ingvar Carlsson see in the Swedish experiment is a great power to solve its own problems and become a ally of other nations. The Swedish Labor Party has an overwhelming majority in the National Assembly. The Swedish Labor Party is now an “institutions of government” which is able to solve the problems and remove them from the country. The Swedish Labor Party is now an “institutions of government” which is able to solve the problems and remove them from the country.

When the Swedish Labor Party was in power, the people were satisfied with the performance of the government. The Swedish Labor Party was, however, not satisfied with the performance of the government. The Swedish Labor Party was, however, not satisfied with the performance of the government.

The Swedish Labor Party was, however, not satisfied with the performance of the government. The Swedish Labor Party was, however, not satisfied with the performance of the government.

National AIM chairman ejected from Wounded Knee trial

By JOHN LUNDQUIST

District Judge Fred Nichols has sentenced the American Indians Movement (AIM) to pay $100,000 in penalties for its role in the takeover of the Wounded Knee property. The AIM, which is the organization that initiated the occupation of Wounded Knee, has been ordered to pay $50,000 in fines for each of the two leaders of the occupation, Dennis Banks and Russell Means. The fines are in addition to the $100,000 penalty.

Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA)

The Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) is facing a lawsuit over the use of military force during the occupation of Wounded Knee. The lawsuit, filed by the American Indian Law Center, alleges that the BIA used excessive force during the occupation and that the force was used in an illegal and unconstitutional manner.

3 Wounded Knee nonleaders freed

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) - The three nonleaders of the Wounded Knee occupation, who were acquitted of charges in a ruling by Judge Urbom, will not face additional sanctions. The decision means that the nonleaders, who had been charged with conspiracy to commit civil rights violations, will not be required to pay fines or serve jail time.

Fuel shortage wasn’t noticed

By MATTHEW CHERNOV

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A government report showing cars get more miles per gallon...If the report is true, it may mean a lot to people in the auto industry who want to sell more cars, but it may come as a surprise to some motorists who have been told for years that their cars are getting fewer miles per gallon.

The report, which was made available to the news media early Tuesday, showed that the average car in the United States is getting 20.9 miles per gallon. This is up from 20.0 miles per gallon in 1973, the report said.

The report said that the increase in fuel efficiency is due to improvements in engine design and increased use of unleaded gasoline. The report also noted that the increase in fuel efficiency has been accompanied by a decrease in the number of cars on the road.

The report was prepared by the Department of Transportation and the Environmental Protection Agency.

Milestone report upsets some environmentalists

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A government report showing cars get more miles per gallon - if its conclusions are accurate - may upset some environmentalists who have been advocating policies to reduce the use of gasoline and to encourage the use of public transportation.

permit request stalled by legal questions

by BUTCH HORN

La Verne M. Bish, 40 N. Marine St., Winona County Auditor, said Monday that the county commissioners were the only ones in the county that heard the case. The commissioners had held a meeting earlier in the week to consider the request.

A three conditional-use permit request for the property was denied by the county commissioners, Bish said. The property is located on County Road 2, about two miles south of Goodview and one mile north of Winona.

The commissioners ruled that the property was not in a compatible zoning classification and that the request was not consistent with the county's comprehensive plan.

The applicant, a local developer, had requested permission to build a four-story office building on the property. The building would have included retail space on the first floor and office space on the upper floors.

The commissioners said they would not approve the request because it would not fit into the surrounding area.

"The property is located in a rural area," Bish said. "It's not compatible with the area in which it is located."

The applicant had appealed to the Legislature, which had passed a bill authorizing the building of the office building.

The bill was signed by the governor last week. The applicant had hoped to get the building up and running as soon as possible.

Where is the liver?

Q: When buying a vegetable bush, how can we tell if it is a whole chives package? Is there an easy way to cut it open and see if it is whole?

A: The best way to tell if a vegetable bush is whole is by examining the stem. If the stem is thick and firm, it is likely a whole chives package.

Marriage is the goal for Egyptian women

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — A growing number of Egyptian women are rejecting the idea of getting married to a man who is much older than them, a trend that is putting pressure on traditional marriage patterns. The study by the Social Research and Social Science Study Institute said that 70 percent of Egyptian women aged 15 to 49 prefer to remain single or to enter into a marriage with a partner who is of a similar age. Women are increasingly choosing to delay marriage, often because they want to focus on education or their careers. The same trend is observed among men, who are also choosing to delay marriage.

However, there are cultural and social barriers that prevent women from exercising their right to choose their own partners. These barriers include the pressure to marry early, the expectation of women to bear children, and the lack of legal protection for women who decide to stay single or delay marriage.

The study also found that women who are educated and have a higher income level are more likely to delay marriage or choose to remain single. These women are more likely to have a higher level of education and a better understanding of their rights as women.
Bucks draft
Gary Brokaw

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks got a "hell of a pick" in the person of Maurice Lucas, a 6-foot-11 center from Regina of the Western Canada Junior Hockey League, when the team made its last selection in the first round of the National Basketball Association draft Tuesday. Including Lucas, 10 players were chosen by the Bucks and General Manager Bob Knight in the NBA draft.

Lucas was second on the team with 28 games for the Houston Rockets in the 1974-75 season. He scored 25 points and 18 rebounds in 55 minutes in the first two NBA games of his career against the Golden State Warriors and the Los Angeles Lakers.

"He's a very promising young player," Knight said. "He'll be a starter for us in the future." Lucas, who turned 20 today, was selected an "outstanding player," meaning the foremost departed classman who was allowed to be offered the draft by the club that he had made that year's All-Star team.

The Bucks also got 6-foot-6 forward Pete LoPresti, from Regina of the Western Canada Junior Hockey League, and 165-pound center Bob Hornstein of West Virginia University of the Southeastern Conference in the draft.

"The idea of the secret draft was to give the NHL teams a head start over the rest of the draft," Knight said from the Boston Garden. "It was available with the overage factor. A player was eligible to go to the draft and would have been picked if he'd been visible. That's why the first pick was a forward. But they rather not release any names."

Roller, Mikan 6th-round pick

St. Paul, Minn. (AP) — Two players who have been in the same high school basketball class as the Dallas Mavericks' Earl Monroe, Tim Baum and other professional basketball stars, were in the third round of the National Basketball Association draft Tuesday.
