Special Edition on Advancing Professional Development in Student Affairs

The Summer 2024 Journal of Advancing Education Practice (JAEP) theme is Advancing Leader Development in Students Affairs. The special edition is devoted to the critical importance of student affairs in student growth and development on university campuses. This edition aims to showcase reflective practices, innovative strategies, and empirical research illuminating professional development education's complex and dynamic nature.

Suggested Themes and Topics

- Reflective practices that foster professional growth, such as self-assessment, peer feedback, and mentoring.
- Leadership development programs: design, implementation, and impact
- The role of coaching in enhancing educational leadership
- Technology-enhanced strategies for professional learning and leadership growth.
- Collaborative leadership and building leadership capacity.
- Navigating change and challenges: leadership resilience and adaptability.
- Preparing future leaders: succession planning and pipelines.
- Assessing leadership competencies and growth over time.
- Case studies of successful leadership development initiatives.

Submission Guidelines

JAEP accepts original research articles, conceptual or theoretical papers, literature reviews, and practitioner reflections. Submissions should adhere to the journal's author guidelines and be submitted through the online portal.
